Fisherman's Players To Present 'The Passion'

The Passion, a dramatic poem by Richard D. Waters, will be presented by the churches of Andover on Sunday, March 31 at 7:30 p.m., and performed by the renowned Fisherman's Players of Cape Cod, directed by the author.

The Passion is more than another play. It is a deeply moving and inspiring drama designed to create an experience of the life-giving words and deeds of the Gospel. We see Jesus as He might have been seen through the eyes of Pontius Pilate, Mary Magdalene, Judas or Mary His mother.

We sit as His feet as He preaches the Sermon on the Mount. We are among the mob as they shout His own words back at Him and taunt: "He saved others, but Himself He cannot save!" "You who would build a temple in three days, now have nails in your hands. If you are the Christ, come down from the Cross!"

The Passion by Richard D. Waters celebrates the life and sacrifice of Jesus Christ and promises to be an evening that will not soon be forgotten by those who attend.

Tickets may be obtained at any of the cooperating churches: Baptist Church, Christ Church, Ballard Vale United Church, Faith Lutheran Church, St. Augustine's Church, South Church and West Parish Church, or by calling ticket chairman, Edward Ammick.

Produce With Latin Touch

Produce counters are bursting this week with excellent field-grown tomatoes, cucumbers and even strawberries, as the harvest from Mexico pours in, reports the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture (MDA).

This is good news for the consumer, but little comfort for the greenhouse growers of the Bay State, as the huge farming operations south of the border get into full swing.

The trend has been expanding in the last decade, as big growers in the U.S. southwest have bought thousands of acres in Mexico and shifted winter operations there. With labor costs lower than comparable U.S. wages, and little or no fuel cost in that climate, the ability to ship fresh, handsome, flavorful and reasonably priced produce even as far as New England is proving to be stiff competition for local greenhouse growers.

Because of high fuel cost and limited availability here, plus the necessary labor costs, our native under-glass crops are being started later than in past years. Our local greenhouse harvest of luscious tomatoes and cucumbers will come in early May, when Mexican crops will be finished.

New England farmers remain adaptable, as one must in this climate. But the greenhouse trend here is down: in 1964, we produced more than one million pounds of tomatoes under glass; last year saw only some 200,000 pounds. Our own bountiful field-grown crops come in August and September, well after the end of the southwest harvests.

Good red peppers and green beans are arriving from Florida, and California citrus are in good supply at reasonable prices.

If you're planning a home garden, buy seed, fertilizer, lime, etc., right now, the MDA recommends, as supplies are short. Onion sets, for example, were non-existent in the wholesale market last week.

Church League Showdown

By Rick Harrison

A winter's worth of hard work all boiled down to one game, with St. Robert's B duelling West Parish A for the Senior Division championship of the Andover Church Basketball League.

The crucial clash was played last night, after TOWNSMAN presstime, and it matched two clubs with identical 8-1 records on the final night of the regular season. The victor takes home all the awards.

The showdown was set up last week in playoff action, which saw St. Robert's B blast St. Augustine A, 58-23, while West Parish A was slipping past St. Robert's A, 38-34.

The loss dropped St. Robert's A out of the title picture with a 7-2 record. They had led the division virtually throughout the season, sweeping to seven straight victories before two successive losses.

St. Robert's B, the most potent offensive team with 468 points, entered last night's battle riding an eight-game win streak. The lone loss was a 40-39 setback to West A in season-opening play.

The only defeat suffered by West A came at the hands of St. Robert's A, but that loss was avenged last week.

In a third playoff game, which had no bearing on the championship, Bible Chapel raced to a 38-20 triumph over West Parish B.

Making The Finals

St. Robert's B inched to a shaky 6-5 lead after one quarter, but then went on an 18-0 tear to sit on a commanding 24-5 half-time cushion en route to its 58-23 decision over defending champ St. Augustine A (5-4).

Joe Terrior, divisional scoring leader with 172 points in nine games for a hefty 19.1 average, poured in 20 this time to practically outscore St. Augustine A by himself.

Rick Collins scaled twin digits again with 10 points, all in the pivotal second period.

Bob Moynihan dunked 8 points, Mark LaLonde and Owen Keegan bagged 6 each and Mark Spire flipped in 4 markers during the last stanza for St. Robert's B.

Rounding out the assault with single buckets were Frank Griggs and Kevin Fogarty.

The St. Augustine A counter-attack was sparked by Tom Curtin's 10 second-half points.

Mark Moriarty notched 5 markers, Bob Kramer 3 and deuces were scored by Terry Schwing and Sean Carney. Jim Morin swished a first quarter charity toss.

Revenge!

West Parish A, smarting from a 47-35 early-season loss, came back to nudge St. Robert's A 38-34.

West vaulted to a quick 11-4 lead after one period, but St. Robert's rebounded nicely for a 21-19 halftime advantage. West regained a 27-25 lead after three periods and then hung on to win.

Lefty Bob Zwicker led all marksmen for West A with 17 well-spaced points. Eric Sullivan and Steve Serley pumped in 8 markers apiece, while Dave Heidt scooped through 3 second half points and Carl Wetterberg delivered a key last-period basket.

For St. Robert's A, whose two losses came by a total of six points, the offense was typically well-balanced.

John Weitz, Bill Ashe and John Kleschinsky were tri-leaders with 8 points each. John Carroll fired through 5 markers, T.J. Caveney contributed 3 and Chris Fortune dumped in a second period bucket.

Joe Koravos chipped in a fine floor game for St. Robert's A.

Winning Early

Bible Chapel, now 5-4 in its rookie season of participation, applied the KO punch to West Parish B early by jumping to a 13-3 first period lead and stretching it to 22-7 by intermission.

Bruce Lenes popped in 10 points to pace six Chapel scorers, while Tim Dewhurst and Jerry Pineault arched through 7 points each.

Bernie Fallon hooked in 6 markers, Jack O'Keefe 4 and Pat Loudino also netted 4 points. Don Lydick was a defensive standout.

West B had a brace of 6-point performances from Ed Goodman and Scott Bitler. Jeff Smith was held to 3 points, while Mark Paro and Andy Campbell dropped in single baskets. Joel Smith swished a foul shot in the opening canto.

The title-clinching Globetrotters closed within one victory of a perfect season, and the Knickerbockers assured themselves of a second-place finish, as both registered wins in Junior Division games of the Andover Church Basketball League last week.

The 'Trotters' boosted their overall ledger to 8-0, trimming the Bucks 20-10. The Knicks improved their record to 7-3 by edging the Raiders, 14-9.

The final clash saw the high-scoring Celtics conclude their season with a convincing 24-6 romp over the Lakers.

The regular season was slated to close for everyone last Tuesday night, after TOWNSMAN presstime, with two games at the East Junior High.

A divisional All-Star Game next week will wrap up all Junior activities.

Kelley's Combine

The Globetrotters' brother combination of Ted and Dick Kelley proved to be too much for the Bucks, who finished the campaign with a 5-5 overall slate.

The Bucks double and triple-teamed divisional scoring king Ted Kelley in an attempt to spoil the Trotters' perfect record.

However, Kelley still managed to net 10 points. And when he was unable to shoot he passed off to younger brother Dick who chipped in 8 valuable markers.

single bucket to complete the victors' offense, as they bid to become the first undefeated Junior team.

Mike White continued his superb all-around play for the Bucks, dumping through 7 points to keep his club in contention. Charlie Frazette bagged 3 markers for the losers.

Six Marksmen

The Knickerbockers, who finished the season riding the crest of a three-game win streak, featured six different scorers in the 14-9 conquest of the Raiders.

Dan Kimball powered the attack with 5 points, while solo baskets were hooped by Ken Saliba, Erik Hamel, John Kropke and Mark Bolan. Craig Lebowitz rounded out the Knicks' charge with a free throw.

For the Raiders, who made constant improvement throughout the year, Jim Terrion was the big gun with 4 points. Mike Damphousse and Gonsalo Cabral netted two-pointers, while Tewksbury's Tony Romano converted a charity toss.

Celts' Erupt

The high-powered Celtics, whose 129 points were second only to the Globetrotters' 164, belted the Lakers 24-6 as George LeMaitre, Ed L'Italien and Joe Zemis poured in 6 points apiece.

John Atanasoff chipped in with 4 markers and Chris O'Reilly stuffed one basket for the victors.

The Lakers, now 3-5, countered with two-pointers by Paul Marad, Dave Kirkland and John Kramer.

We want you to have the facts about your electric bill.

In January, oil suppliers raised the average price of fuel oil used by your electric company to $9.70 a barrel. We had no alternative but to pay this price in order to keep our customers supplied with electricity.

This increase in fuel prices by our oil suppliers has resulted in a 67% increase in the fuel adjustment charge on your electric bill. It is the reason why your current bill is so much higher.

It is important for you to know that every cent of the fuel adjustment charge on your electric bill is paid directly to our fuel suppliers. We do not retain any of this amount.

Our Average Cost for Residual Fuel Oil

Since the beginning of the fuel crisis last Fall, the fuel adjustment charge which goes directly to our fuel suppliers has gone up 300%. However, in the past year, your basic electric rate has gone up by only 6%.

We do not like these increased costs any more than you do. However, like all utilities, we have no choice but to pass the added fuel cost along to you. At present prices, the total increased cost of oil to our System would amount to over $176,000,000 (176 million) a year. This is more than 4 times as much as our annual net earnings. Our earnings, which are limited by regulatory commissions, are the minimum amount needed to keep our company financially sound so we can provide our customers with reliable service.

We are doing all that we can to reduce our costs and to lower your electric bills by making the most efficient use of the fuel we now use and by converting to coal at those generating plants where coal can be used. Coal is somewhat cheaper and certainly more available than oil.

We do not completely accept the present high prices we must pay for residual fuel oil in order to keep you supplied with electricity. We have sent telegrams to both the Internal Revenue Service and the Federal Energy Office requesting an investigation into some of the extremely high prices we have had to pay for residual fuel oil shipments. These shipments were arranged by the Federal Energy Office. We also will continue to shop for lower fuel prices.

At present, we cannot predict when or how much fuel costs will come down. However, be assured that we are doing all that we can to keep our costs down and your electric bill as low as possible under these very difficult circumstances. Your understanding and cooperation will be most appreciated by all of our employees.

West Parish A Takes Lead

Augustine B and St. Robert's A with just two games left on the schedule for each team.

St. Robert's A kept its championship hopes alive with a 21-11 conquest of South B.

St. Robert's B and C made it a high-scoring clean sweep for that church this week, as the 'B' quintet trampled Baptist 49-20 and the 'C' team stampeded past West Parish B, 48-8.

St. Augustine C handed intra-church rival St. Augustine D a 24-12 setback, while revitalized St. Augustine A scored a minor 23-20 upset triumph over South A.

Eighth Straight

West Parish A never trailed against St. Augustine B while moving to its eighth straight win, 34th in the past 35 league starts and 131st during the past six years when the overall record has been 131-12.

West held a precarious 4-3 edge after one quarter, stretched it to 17-9 by halftime and 20-11 after three periods.

Bill Hall was the big gun with 14 points, including 7 in the final stanza. Jeff Rosen bagged 10 points and Pete Newton added 7 first-half markers.

Mike McDonald, Glen Johnson, Phil Harnden and Paul Newton also played well for the league-leaders.

St. Augustine B had a brief two-game win streak snapped. Powering the attack was John Walsh who tossed through 9 points. Paul Sirois canned 4 points, Charlie Heseltine notched 2 markers and Tom Walsh swished a fourth quarter charity toss.

Pete Walsh, Bill Hart and Chris Kelly also starred for the losers.

Hot Second Half

St. Robert's A, racing to its seventh consecutive victory, broke a 5-5 halftime deadlock with an 8-2 third period burst.

Big Dan Bradley once again paced the charge with 8 points, all of which came in the pivotal second half.

Mike Terrior pumped through 4 points for St. Robert's A, while Ben Bram collected 3 markers and solo buckets were delivered by Scott Praetz, Mike Murray and Paul Weitz. Greg Praetz was a defensive wizard.

In the battle of the giants South B's Bob Kilgo came up with 5 points. Single shots were fired in by Rich Caughey, John Sagaser and Tim Plass.

Speedy Rich Marciano also cracked double figures with 12 markers, while Ted Liszewski netted 6 points, Vinnie Keegan 4 and Frank Byrne scooped in a third quarter basket.

Amboian Erupts

St. Robert's B continued to show off a high-powered scoring machine in its 49-20 romp over Baptist. It was only 10-8 after the opening stanza, but St. Robert's assumed control 25-10 by halftime and 37-16 after three quarters.

Recently-returned center John Amboian poured in a season-high 25 points for the victors, including 12 in the final session.

Bob Fitzgerald spearheaded Baptist's well-balanced five-player attack with 8 points. Jim and Steve Rathbun stuffed 4 markers apiece, while Tim Whitton found his shooting eye for a first period bucket and Jeff Parker connected in the last canto.

All-Out Assault

St. Robert's C, the division's top scoring team with a 26.9 per game output, exploded for an 11-0 first period edge and never looked back while dumping West parish B, 48-8.

John McNamara and Carmen Frederico applied their personal 1-2 knockout punch again, netting 19 and 13 points respectively.

Ira Gold arched through 8 markers for the winners. Todd Zimmerman dunked 4 points, Howie Lebowitz 2 and Jamie Lebowitz a deuce.

Countering for West B, now 6-4, were Steve Doherty with 6 points and Gary Johnson a second quarter lay-up.

Other West B stalwarts included Bruce Belbin, Mark Newton and Jody Yameen.

Third Straight

St. Augustine C captured its third straight win, lifting its overall ledger to 5-6 and making it a distinct possibility for a .500 season.

Mark Bedell and Bob Oelwang did the bulk of the damage with 7 points each in the 24-12 decision over St. Augustine D.

Lending a valuable helping hand with 4 markers apiece were Jay DiIorio and Joe Torrisi. Jeff Roy tossed in a first period basket, while Chris Bedell and Bill Caselden contributed hustling two-way efforts.

Steve Morin drilled the nets for 6 second-half points to guide the 'D' offense. Single baskets were garnered by Will Dufresne, Steve Moriarty and Kane Grecoe. Other consistent performers were Jim and John Dwyer.

Gusmini & Paradis

Rich Gusmini and Steve Paradis pocketed 11 and 6 points respectively, showing the way as upstart St. Augustine A secured its second straight win by shading South A, 23-20.

Also picking up the slack in the absence of Charlie Wiseman (injured foot) were Tom Haskard, Dave Gusmini and Bobby Bartley with key two-pointers along the way.

Jim Cunningham contributed several big passes and rebounds for the victors.

South A featured 8 points from Marc Winer, 6 by Jim Gardner, 4 from Andy Cobin and 2 by Marc Robichaud. Doug Taylor was another sparkplug.

Schedule

Games involving the three top teams next Monday night have West Parish A meeting South A, St. Augustine B battling St. Augustine D and St. Robert's A facing Baptist.

Book Review In-Depth Witchcraft Study Flowers

SALEM POSSESSED:
The Social Origins of Witchcraft

By Paul Boyer and Stephen Nissenbaum

Every school year brings a new group of students to the library to learn all they can about witchcraft - in Andover, Salem, or elsewhere. The facts are thrilling, perhaps more so because many events happened here in our own Essex County, and often inspire trips to the witch houses in Salem. Two associate professors of history at the University of Massachusetts, not content with the facts already known and puzzled by the sudden rash of events in Salem and nowhere else, have published a book which goes far beyond the well-known facts sought by our junior high school students.

Claiming to be the first historians to search the primary records of Salem Village, Paul Boyer and Stephen Nissenbaum present an in-depth study of the social conditions of this early farming village and attempt to establish grounds for the outbreak of witchcraft. The authors uncover many small-town issues which divided the townspeople into factions and often pitted the Villagers against the Townspeople. The church became a political arena and the whole concept of Puritan morality, of the public good versus the private will, was questioned. In addition to moral issues, the growing pains of a rural agricultural community tempted by the fruits of capitalism brought new areas of political and economic strife to the town.

Boyer and Nissenbaum study several individuals in detail as examples of positions and opinions proliferating in Salem in the 1690's. They also offer a collective profile of the witches and suggest psychological reasons why they were singled out by the afflicted women for prosecution.

The authors do not offer a lot of first-hand accounts of trials and accusations, probably realizing that these are available elsewhere. What they offer, instead, is a fascinating glimpse of a small town in New England where all the petty problems and jealousies associated with any small, closely-knit group of people suddenly got out of hand and erupted into the now infamous Salem witch trials.

This book, a Harvard University Press publication, is available now at Memorial Hall Library.

By Polly Bradley

Now that the snows are melting and the crocuses are popping up their cheerful green shoots and courageous snowdrops are already bursting into bloom, it's once again the season of the Tourist Flower.

That's what my father used to call the sparkling white Kleenex blobs and the shiny tin cans which we saw blossoming on the roadsides whenever we went on a vacation.

Out West where we travelled, it is so dry that things take a long time to decay, and the vegetation is so sparse it doesn't hide much mess, so the Tourist Flowers are even more noticeable than they are in the East.

Except in the spring. When all the accumulation of litter which has collected all winter, and which remains unchanged because it's too cold for even the biodegradable to decay, blooms in full glory. Later some will decay and some will be covered by plants, but now it's there for all to see.

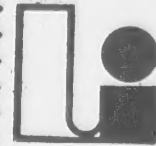

It's also easier to pick up right now. No wading through the weeks... no missing a pile of beer bottles under a rose bush... no poison ivy.

So now is the time to organize a litter pick-up in your town.

If you can't organize an anti-litter campaign, join someone else's.

Then maybe the Tourist Flowers won't bloom so profusely next spring.

The Schools

At the first meeting of the school committee with its new majority, so called, Supt. of Schools Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert commented rather significantly, we think, "the community vision of education in 1969, is apparently not the same in 1974 and the school committee should articulate in what direction the system should be moving."

The significance of the comment comes from the apparent mandate of the residents of the community who have changed the format of the school committee.

It is not the first time there has been a change in the thinking, the philosophy, or whatever, as characterized by the makeup of the school committee.

Andover is not particularly notable for its oft-changing majority of various municipal boards and committees. From time to time, the thrust of the majority of the school committee in particular has swung from one faction to another.

In 1974, it would appear that the education pendulum has made the full arc from its position of 1969 and it now rests with the majority to determine the course of public education in Andover.

We do not hold to the foreboding pre-election predictions of what would happen here, should the "traditionalists" gain the upper hand.

The time has come now for performance.

The election is now history. It is time to shunt aside the differences of opinion and carry forward an educational program as expressed by the electorate.

This will fall in the domain of Chairman Dr. Francis E. Griggs, Jr. who is to meet with Supt. Seifert and outline the educational philosophy for Andover's schools in the coming weeks.

Hopefully the direction will be articulated by sometime in May.

Underlying all this, is the firm feeling that despite some lingering doubts due to personal feelings of some in the community, that the Andover school system will survive and continue to serve the youth of the town well. And, despite some probable political or parental obstruction, the youth of the community will continue to be molded into tomorrow's leaders in Andover's public schools.

Suffice it to say, we would just as soon make this the valedictory for the school committee campaign of 1974 and issue a challenge to get on with putting the school system in order.

The Auction

The Recycling Committee is apparently attempting to outdo the state's sweepstakes commission with its innovative ideas, and with equal success.

The group which a year ago urged consideration of a recycling program as both economical and ecological for the community, has had considerable success with the town wide pickup of recyclable items.

It has been a revenue producing program for the community.

Now the committee is planning a more extensive program on an annual basis.

It's to be known as an auction, but could be considered a town of Andover Garage Sale.

Scheduled for April 27 at Recreation Park, the Recycling Committee is asking that Andover residents save all the items they intend to dispose of to be auctioned off in a family carnival atmosphere.

What it amounts to is something that is no longer useable to you might be quite welcome to someone else. With a little luck and the right price, the auctioneer's gavel could fall your way on April 27, while the youngsters are enjoying the park facilities or some of the refreshments to be offered.

And, the town treasury is to be the beneficiary. All funds received will go to the town's free cash account, which is annually tapped to relieve the taxpayer.

Sounds like a beneficial program all around.

Al Ober

It is with regret that we learn of the retirement of Elmer S. Ober as veterans agent, due to reasons of health.

Mr. Ober has handled the office of veterans affairs in Andover well for the past decade, having succeeded Francis P. Markey in the post.

One could easily assume that in a town such as Andover, there is little call for the services of such an agency, which is devoted principally to assisting those in particular need.

But there is an adequate caseload, of which the public is generally unaware. To carry out such work takes a capable, discerning hand to cut through the myriad of red tape to provide the assistance when needed.

In addition to carrying out the work of the office, Mr. Ober has also diplomatically united the town's veterans organizations for annual patriotic tributes on Veteran's Day and Memorial Day.

While assisted in this work by members of the participating organizations, the principal responsibility was his to line up speakers programs and parades.

We join with others in the community in expressing appreciation for his efforts.

Off The Top Of The Desk

Nationally the "streakers in sneakers," are causing campus police to frown, but for one company, the streaker's miles are bringing smiles.

Converse Rubber Co., of which Tyer Rubber in Andover is a division, manufactures basketball shoes and other athletic, recreational and leisure footwear, and has national headquarters in Wilmington.

According to a Converse spokesman, ever since the streaking fad began, there has been an upsurge of sneaker orders from stores in college towns.

The only explanation the spokesman can give is that perhaps the streakers seriously believe what the company claims that "Converse is specified by more coaches and worn by more players in basketball competition than any other shoe."

Could streakers follow suit?

For the benefit of those who are unfamiliar with New England weather, some past history might abate the feeling that winter is over.

In our down the years column this week we note the effects of a terrific March blizzard 50 years ago.

And, this past weekend, weather forecasters in Boston reminded us of two winter storms of a few years ago which deposited 15 inches of snow between March 29 and 31.

Hopefully such matters are just for the history books, except in the north country for the ski buffs.

That doctor's building under construction at Haverhill and High streets may be fostering patients for future tenants.

Based on the theories of one of the prospective tenants who is anti-obesity and anti-smoking, the workmen may be lining up for visits on completion.

Frequent trips by there will give evidence of a rolling kitchen with many workers puffing away and consuming coffee and sandwiches or delicacies.

Andover's Recycling committee has some enthusiastic words for the youngsters at the Sanborn school.

A recycling pilot project was started at the school and met with considerable success, leading the committee to use the "Sanborn Plan" for recycling paper, glass and tin in all public schools in Andover in September.

Applications are now being accepted for admission to the two-year collegiate School of Fashion Retailing at the Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute.

The program offers an associate degree of applied science, and includes study in merchandising, retail sales, textiles and fabrics, fashion and related subjects. Students are prepared for careers as department managers, fashion coordinators, store buyers, and fashion consultants, and receive paid on-the-job training with cooperative employers in the afternoon and early evening.

High school graduates interested in obtaining complete information should call or write Timothy Wright, Guidance Department, Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute, Hathorne, Mass., 01937. This program is tuition free to Essex County residents.

The handicrafts of colonial America will flourish in the steel and concrete environs of Boston's Prudential Center during Plimoth Plantation's month-long preview for its annual Spring opening.

Professional craftsmen and native Indians, who are among the very few today perpetuating what were once common skills, will demonstrate coopers (better known as barrel making), thatching, fence making, mat weaving, fish netting, embroidery and decorative porcupine quillwork.

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago - March, 1899

Several residents have protested an increase in the price of a loaf of bread. A loaf from any of our fine local bakers now costs 5 cents and is indeed, we feel a bargain, considering the rising cost of flour and the need for the bakers to make a decent living.

The local plumbers, in an advertisement, call to the public's attention that they are not increasing their prices, having purchased sufficient supplies before recent cost increases. They will respond to your calls on request with competitive prices.

The school board has organized for the year and elected J. Newton Cole as its chairman. The committees are made up similarly to that of a year ago with some of Mr. Odlin's work reassigned.

Andover Milk Price Increase

Due to a change in Federal regulations, which in turn was adopted by the Mass. Dept. of Nutrition it is now possible to serve alternate types of milk with a Type A meal in school lunch.

Because of this change and due to another increase from our milk supplier, the cost of a la carte milk to the student will be $.07 and $.11 to the adult.

As of Monday, March 18 the student will have his choice of chocolate or white milk with his lunch, and the new prices will go into effect on the same day.

Ice cream will again be sold in all schools as soon as the freezers are delivered.

'A Thousand Clowns'

In two-and-a-half hours of fast-talking cartoonist and playwright Herb Gardner of "A Thousand Clowns" fame, gives us a vignette of New York life - a reeling marriage and a mad apartment village.

Valerie Harper and Richard Mulligan star in this nineteen character play set in a honeycomb of high-tariff apartments. Two school teachers, married to each other and now disillusioned. Dreams of their kid times, tenement history and burning ideals hang like stale cigarette smoke over their almost burnt out marriage. A dozen years. Even a baker couldn't add another. But, friend, be of good cheer. By play's end - Martin and Sally Cramer are together again in their gypsy-like flat, without furniture and now minus squabbling. In short, they rescue each other.

After words, words, speeches, actions, questioning and happenings they get the message. Nineteen comic characters fill this charade. A blustery, wonderful Cabbie (Irwin Corey), a peeping Tom, a nosey neighbor, a sleepy doorman, snooty apartment dwellers, a Southern Jezebel, an urchin who rips off half the "set" and various policemen, derelicts make up this Hieronymus Bosch "Garden of Delights" - Manhattan style.

Don't be scared. The mood is blue. But not the material. No one is unfaithful. All confess their weaknesses. People - after stealing one another's time, emotions and things - repent.

We meet a chastened group at evenings' end.

The expletive - the Lord's name is overdone.

What we have is some restless acting. Presence is uncertain with Valerie Harper.

A load of fans of hers, from her performances in "Mary Tyler Moore" show as the witty, Rhoda Mogerstern fill the audience.

The role of Sally Cramer is no easy one. It's an endurance test for Valerie and will no doubt launder out beautifully - in time.

Richard Mulligan is Richard Mulligan. He frowns a lot. Blank stare. Has his usual big sleepy / intoxicated / alone dramatic scene. A chase by the cops sobers him up - and into the arms of his wife, "Sally."

Activities buzz in the apartment complex. Unique citizens tell us who they are, where it hurts and they cry aloud. It's not a pretty world - this madcap Manhattan. But our friends survive and they get the message: almost biblical - "Celebrate Life - there's time - accept it, use it, appreciate it and I-i-v-e-!"

Share the message yourself. Spread it. Even better see the play and laugh and squirm through East Side adventure. It's a cartharsis. At the Shubert until March 16.

Roberts In Return From Antarctic

Navy Chief Personnelman Francis R. Roberts, son of David R. Roberts of Waverly Road, and husband of the former Miss Mary J. Bernardini of 64 Saunders St., North Andover, returned to his home base, Point Mugu, Calif., after four months duty in the Antarctic.

He serves with Antarctic Development Squadron Six.

During the deployment Roberts helped fly more than three million pounds of supplies to stations on the frozen continent. The missions were in support of the U.S. Antarctic Research Program. More than 15 countries are involved in scientific experiments in Antarctica.

Federal Grant For JOBS

Congressman Paul W. Cronin (R-Mass) has announced a grant of $50,000 to Jobs for Massachusetts, Inc., to create job opportunity for the state's unemployed.

Cronin said that the Economic Development Administration has approved the $50,000 grant to help continue a program of planning to create industrial jobs for the unemployed in Massachusetts. The program concentrates on areas, such as the Fifth District, suffering from long-term unemployment.

Jobs for Massachusetts, Inc., is a non-profit development organization with a board composed of individuals from government and industry. In the past year it has developed a marketing plan to attract new industries.

Cronin said, "This grant is an important step in reversing the trend of unemployment in our area. Jobs for Massachusetts, Inc. was an important influence in Hewlett-Packard's decision to build a new plant in Andover."

The firm will match the EDA grant to meet the $100,000 total cost of operating the program this year.

Audubon Film Lecture

As spring comes, the naturalist finds much beauty and excitement in the changing world about him. In West Side Story: Mexico to Alaska, Walter Berlet has followed the sun up the west coast of North America from the heavy tropical forest growth of Mexico to the Alaskan tundra where the short summer season of the midnight sun soon hints of the long winter to follow. Sponsored by the Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary, some of the highlights of this Audubon Wildlife Film are the macaws and jaguars of the rain forest, the migrating birds of the western fly-ways, the seals, giving birth to their pups on the icebergs of Glacier Bay.

The film will be shown on Thursday, March 21 at 8 p.m. at Masconomet Regional High School in Boxford, Endicott St. exit off Route I-95. Tickets may be purchased at the Sanctuary on Perkins Row in Topsfield or at the door.

A Focus On Photography

The Museum of Fine Arts opens its first original loan exhibition of contemporary photography March 15. 'Private Realities: Recent American Photography' explores the rich imagery in the selected works of ten contemporary photographers from all over the country.

One hundred and thirty photographs, on exhibition in Gallery DD through May 12, represent a departure from the classic documentary tradition of 20th century photography. David Batchelder, John Benson, Linda Connor, Judy Dater, Benno Friedman, Emmet Gowin, Les Krims, Jerry Uelsmann, Cary Wasserman and Kelly Wise employ a variety of techniques to create profoundly personal images.

The imagery is the unifying factor of these subjective, provocative and ambiguous works. Startling, moving, insulting, these images are surreal, fantastic, literary, autobiographical.

Many of the uncommon effects are achieved through manipulation of the medium. Objects are arranged, figures posed, forming contexts to be photographed. Some of the photographers use soft-focus for a pictorial effect, others work with multiple negatives and transform the image in the darkroom.

All of the photographs on view were produced within the last decade, many from the 1970s, and display creative experimentation with the medium. The majority of the photographs on view are in tones of black and white.

And the gal who's coordinating the local effort, and who's hoping to overshoot the $7812-worth of items donated from Andover last year - is the Lawrence Area Chairman, Mrs. Hal Rubin of Spring Grove Road, Andover.

Actually, Mrs. Rubin says, "Upper Merrimack Valley" is more descriptive, since the area takes in Andover, North Andover, Lawrence, Methuen, Groveland, Georgetown, Haverhill, Amesbury and Merrimack. Together they contributed a total of $19,636.52 in merchandise and cash in 1973.

Serving directly under Mrs. Rubin are "team captains" - including Mrs. Karen Hepworth and Mrs. Barbara DiAdamo for Andover, and Mrs. Cecily Coughlin in North Andover. Then came the Go-Getters.

'Go Getters' Seek New Goal

While the local spots are pretty much filled, Mrs. Rubin says volunteers are still needed in Methuen and Lawrence.

One "untapped source" that Mrs. Rubin sees for the donation of items is the family attic. While most of those donations now come from merchants and businessmen, and from artists and craftsmen contributing their works, she says it's possible that residents have antiques in their attics that they don't want - but that someone else might be happy to pay for.

"Not just second-hand furniture," she is quick to add, but genuine antiques that might, for example, have turned up when an old family home was broken up.

In the past, the way residents have helped out was largely through cash donations - and, of course, through buying items at the auction itself.

Many of the 57 item donations from Andover last year, Mrs. Rubin goes on, were in the form of gift certificates - for rounds of golf, tennis lessons, tuition, clothing, camp, dancing lessons, dinners, vacation weekends and the like.

In addition, local painters and craftsmen donated 13 artworks - three of which were chosen for the special pre-auction art show at the Prudential Center.

This is a very good opportunity for artists, Mrs. Rubin adds, to have their works seen by a large audience.

All of the 32 area chairmen, their team captains and the "go-getters," are invited to a champagne preview of the art show - and are also eligible to participate, along with their husbands or wives, on the air during the auction itself.

While liquor can't be auctioned by law, Mrs. Rubin says, champagne can be donated for the preview.

Mrs. Rubin, who had been a team captain for two years before accepting her present job, served at the auction last year as a "bid runner," - carrying bids from the telephone takers to the bid writers who put them up on the board.

"It's fun - but exhausting," she adds.

Mrs. Rubin was first recruited to work for the auction by a friend - but her interest was already there. "I think a lot of young mothers like Channel 2," she smiles, "Sesame Street," you know, and adds that she and her husband also were both great fans of Channel 2's "Masterpiece Theatre."

Natives of Upstate New York, the Rubins moved to Andover three years ago, via North Andover. Mr. Rubin is a resident manager with Alex, Brown & Sons, stock brokers in Boston, and they have two daughters at Pike School - Jennifer, 9, and Susanne, 7.

While she's never been involved with any other charitable cause "quite like this," Mrs. Rubin has also been especially interested in the "S.S. Hope," on which her brother served as a doctor, the Audubon Society, and UNICEF. In her spare time, she enjoys playing the piano, refinishing furniture, and indoor gardening.

Anyone who hasn't been contacted by a Go-Getter, but wants to donate merchandise, art, or whatever, to the Channel 2 auction, may call her, Mrs. Rubin, says to set the program in motion.

While cash of any amount is happily accepted, she adds that the auction has set a $35 minimum this year on the worth of donations.

"It had gotten to the point," she says, where they either had to set a limit, or extend the length of the auction - which will already run this year from May 31 to June 8.

The auction provides about one third of the revenue for the running of the publicly funded station, perhaps most well known, in addition "Masterpiece" and "Sesame," for "The Advocates," "Bill Meyer's Journal," "The French Chef," "Evening at the Pops," "ZOOM," and for the Watergate and other hearings.

Donations to the auction are tax-deductible, she goes on, and businesses get the bonus of being mentioned twice on the air, first when their item comes up for auction, and second, when it is sold to the high bidder. Last year the viewing audience totalled more than a million.

The Lawrence Area made an admirable showing last year, Mrs. Rubin adds, despite the fact that an "all-out effort" for the auction here only started three or four years ago.

On the other hand, she says, many towns nearer Boston, have been involved for most of the auction's nine years.

Anniversary Of Postal Union To Be Celebrated

The 100th anniversary of the Universal Postal Union will be celebrated locally March 23 and 24 by SOPEX, the annual bourse and show sponsored by the Samuel Osgood Stamp Club, at the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational Technical School, Andover.

The U.S. Postal Service and UN Postal Departments are expected to attend with their latest stamp issues.

The UPU, which is now a specialized agency of the United Nations, was formed by a treaty of 22 nations meeting in Bern, Switzerland, in 1874.

Each member nation now sends to Bern a certain number of every new stamp issued, and the samples go on to each member country so they can alert their postal workers. The Union also determines if a stamp is too near that of another member, and should be changed.

The first movement toward an international agreement was started by U.S. Postmaster-General Montgomery Blair in 1863, though England had started a stamping system to prove prepayment of mail, in 1840.

In 1862, in the middle of the Civil War, Blair invited every nation in the world to an international discussion in Paris to solve problems of mail crossing foreign borders.

Fifteen nations responded, and later went home to try to get something "official" passed by their governments. Heinrich von Stephan, of North Germany then proposed a postal union plan for all nations, and that proposal brought on further negotiations. They were interrupted, however, by the Civil War, and the Franco-Prussian War, and the talks didn't resume until 1873, and end until 1874.

The nations who signed that first agreement were Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Egypt, France, Germany, Great Britain, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Romania, Russia, Serbia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey and the U.S.

Vanilla, a Mexican orchid, is a vine that needs much rain but blossoms only during a dry spell. The yellow flowers last one day and are hand pollinated for commercial purposes. The pod ripens in ten months, and the aroma develops only during the curing process. The Spaniards called it vainilla (small pod) because they could not pronounce the Aztec name, tlilxochitl, the Massachusetts Audubon Society tells us.

'A Nite To Remember'

For the first time since its founding in 1960, St. Robert's is coordinating a full evening of enjoyment which promises to be the

He founded Christian Youth, Inc. in 1951 which he directed until it merged with the New England Fellowship of Evangelicals and became director of the latter.

For the past 25 years he has been active in various ministries to teens and adults through New Life Bible Clubs, roller rallies, Rumney Bible Conference, Camp Pineridge, Cathedral Pines, Happy-T-Ranch, Boylston Home for Girls, Ski retreats at Rumney. He also directs five teachers who reach over 3500 boys and girls throughout New England with Bible study classes.

The Commonwealth

Spring To Bloom At Boston Armory Saturday

Nine Blooming days!
That's what it will be when the New England Spring Garden & Flower Show opens at Commonwealth Armory Saturday.

This annual festival, which continues through March 24, is nine days of Spring at its best, with over two acres of perfect blooming flowers, plants, trees, and shrubs.

All the colors of the rainbow are included - yellow daffodils, pink azaleas, red roses, purple African violets, orange begonias, blue crocuses, and all of Nature's shades.

And the mixture of the colors make the garden settings simply breathtaking. Imagine a pink and white flowering dogwood tree with bright red azaleas at its base, or hundreds of Spring flowering bulbs growing on the edge of a flowing brook.

The Flower Show is always more than an exhibition, but really a joyous experience requiring the Flower Show visitors to use all of their senses. They can enjoy the smell of Spring, including the beautiful aroma of blooming gardenias, or the feel of Spring, touching everything from fuzzy gloxinias to prickly cacti.

It is also an educational experience, with demonstrations, literature to take home, and many experts on hand to give free answers to gardening questions.

Apartment dwellers and homeowners alike can learn how to care for their houseplants, do flower arrangements, and even landscape their backyards!

All the newest horticultural trends and techniques are included. One exhibit will even demonstrate how to grow vegetables inside the house year-round, and another will show how to grow herbs for cooking.

In essence, the Flower covers the entire horticultural alphabet from A to Z - aescynanthus to zygocactus, and has something in between of interest for every member of the family.

In addition, one entire section of the show will be devoted to all the equipment and supplies needed by the home horticulturist, and a sidewalk cafe will serve meals throughout all show hours.

Sponsored by the Mass. Horticultural Society, the Flower Show will open Saturday, March 16 at noon, and continue that day to 10 p.m. Show hours for the remainder of the nine blooming days will be: 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily, except Sundays, 1 to 8 p.m.

As a special feature, the Horticultural Society will sponsor a special free shuttle bus from the Boston Common Underground Garage to the Armory throughout all show hours on the weekends and after 6 p.m. on weekdays.

All proceeds of the show benefit the many civic and education programs conducted by the society, a non-profit membership group founded in 1829.

The Commonwealth Armory is located at 925 Commonwealth Avenue, and is easily reached via the MBTA's Green Line, which stops right in front of the main entrance to the show.

The oldest and largest continuing exhibition of its kind in the country, the Flower Show has been presented since 1870 by the Horticultural Society, which also maintains the largest horticultural library, and prints Horticulture Magazine at its offices, 300 Massachusetts Ave., Boston. In addition, the society offers a number of courses, classes and lectures; and sponsors several other smaller exhibitions, such as the Rose Show, Daffodil Show and the Camellia Show throughout the year.

will be on display at the George Sherman Union Gallery, 775 Commonwealth Ave., Boston.

Petronzio, whose works have been compared to Grandma Moses, came to America in 1912 from San Giovanni, Italy. He has been a barber in Hyde Park, a restaurateur in Beverly, and a dairy farmer in Danvers, his present home.

He started to paint at the age of 64 after a limited amount of encouragement from his son, Frank, a high school art teacher. Frank advised him not to take lessons, but to develop his own style. The first thing Petronzio painted was a surplus of pumpkins from his vegetable stand. "I had all these pumpkins on the stand and I decided that I had to do something with them. Soon I started painting little designs on them - a cart, a donkey, things like that. The kids loved them," he said.

The exhibit runs from March 11-29 and is free to the general public. The George Sherman Union of Boston University is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday-Friday.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

There will be no relief from sky-rocketing electric light bills if the power companies continue using nuclear power.

Experience has shown that when a power company "goes nuclear" it immediately asks for a rate increase, since nuclear power creates many special costs which would not recur if only non-fission energy is used.

Consider just the extra costs for repair.

Consolidated Edison of New York admitted that it took 7 months and 700 men to repair a pipe at its atomic power plant in 1970. In order not to exceed radiation exposure limits, every qualified welder in the Con. Ed. system had to be used. Said Con. Ed. President, "A similar repair effort if made on a conventional plant would have required 2 weeks and would not have involved more than 25 men."

Savings from a moratorium on nuclear plants would include:

1. Extra cost of having to dismantle 800 radioactive plants at end of their 40 years' service.
2. The Budgets-40 yrs. at least, required to build and operate Federal, State and local monitoring networks for radioactive pollutants.

Although man has put the lemon to more uses than any other citrus fruit it was Greek to the ancient Greeks who never heard of it. Originating from central or eastern Asia, the lemon was carried by the Arabs to western Asia, north Africa and Spain around 1000 A.D.

What Our Readers Say

3. The Budgets - 40 yrs. - at least - for A.E.C. licensing, regulatory and litigation staffs.

4. The huge "contributions" from the taxpayers for the nuclear breeder research and demonstration plants.

5. The huge "contributions" from taxpayers for the insurance against nuclear accidents.

6. The huge costs of improving and expanding uranium enrichment facilities.

7. The costs of extra cooling towers.

8. The costs of storing atomic wastes forever.

The President's Office of Science and Technology concluded in 1972 that if solar development programs are adequately supported, synthetic fuels from organic materials could reach public use in 5 to 8 years.

A giant investment will have to be made in the many safe energy systems - solar, geothermal and modern coal technology anyway in order to supply the bulk - 75 per cent - of U.S. energy which nuclear fission cannot provide even by 1980.

Since non-fission energy sources could easily do the whole job without any contribution from fission, the extra expenses of fission should not be tolerated.

A nuclear power moratorium would protect the American life, property and national security from the hazards of nuclear fission power plants.

See Dasher, The Newest Volkswagen, At Park-Hegarty VW

Volkswagen is now introducing the perfect car for its time - the new Volkswagen Dasher, displayed here by Henry Wrigley, your Andover sales representative at Park-Hegarty Volkswagen, 248 Haverhill Street, Methuen. See him soon and take a test drive in this exciting new answer to the gas and economy problems.

The new Volkswagen Dasher does everything you want a car to do, and does it on about 25 miles per gallon. That's why it is the ideal car for today. Dasher does a powerful 0 - 50 in only 8.5 seconds. It seats five people comfortably.

It has front-wheel drive and gives you control you've never felt in any conventional car. For example, Dasher has the amazing Skidbreaker which prevents skidding under the most adverse conditions. It needs maintenance at only 10,000 mile intervals. And it is covered by the Volkswagen Owner's Security Blanket. Nobody else is even close to Dasher, a new kind of Volkswagen!

Park-Hegarty Volkswagen offers the VW Computer Diagnosis you've heard so much about. One half of the most advanced automotive check-out system is already built into every new Volkswagen. The other half, the Computer, in the hands of experts at Park-Hegarty, can tell you what's right or wrong with vital parts of your car. You get the results quickly, accurately and in language you can understand - plain English. This Computer Diagnosis system is the most technical, most automated check-up a car can possibly have.

See the new Dasher, and all the Volkswagen family at Park-Hegarty Volkswagen's beautiful showrooms at 248 Haverhill Street, Methuen, your local headquarters for Volkswagen

Green turtle eggs have hatched at a commercial turtle farm on Grand Cayman Island in the West Indies. Four thousand eggs were laid, and artificially incubated. 470 Is An Andover Number Steady growth in the Andover area has resulted in the introduction of a new "470" telephone number code for the Andover telephone exchange.

Martin E. Costello, local manager for New England Telephone, said telephone numbers beginning with "470" are being assigned now to some Andover area residents requesting new telephone service.

"We previously had one telephone number code - 475 - in the Andover exchange," he said. "There are only so many numbers available in each code - and what happened is that growth in the area had nearly exhausted our number supply."

"That's why we've introduced the 470 number code. This won't mean, however, that all new customers will have 470 numbers - since other numbers in the 475 group will become available as people move."

There's more to assigning numbers than just assigning numbers. For each directory number there has to be equipment available in the Andover switching center to route calls to and from the number.

To ensure that the equipment is available for Andover customers, the company has been adding steadily to the equipment at the center, and placing more cable within the community itself to carry the growing number of calls.

be accompanied by an exhibit of seventeenth century artifacts, household items, costumes, and photo murals describing the lives of the colonists and Indians.

The live crafts demonstrations will take place daily 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. weekends. Closed-circuit television will facilitate close-up viewing for easy observation by the public as well as school groups, clubs and organizations.

Jim Blog, one of two known coopers in the United States specializing in hand-made 17th century objects, will demonstrate the making of barrels as it was done in the original colony by John Alden. Jim, a native of London, spent seven years of indentured apprenticeship in coopering before being employed by an English brewery.

His co-worker, Peter Slevin, who comes from Donegal, Ireland will be busy making a wattle and daub fence for the live goats, chickens and Plimoth's canine mascot that will be part of this special exhibit. Like his father, Peter was trained to be a thatcher and he will be demonstrating this as well as broom making in the Tower Lobby.

Peter and Jim will be joined by Suzanna Davis who will demonstrate colonial embroidery techniques using silk thread on linen and show popular colors and patterns of the era. To accent their presentations, the entire staff will be dressed in authentic Pilgrim garb.

This year celebrate April Fool's Day in a way you may never have tried before: Fool yourself by kicking the cigarette habit. Many people who attended the Essex County Health Association's Three Week Series of Quit Smoking Classes found that "choosing not to smoke," was not the impossible task they dreaded.

The next series will begin on April 2, at 7 p.m. and continue until April 18 in the offices of the Essex County Health Association. The schedule includes seven classes: 3 the first week (April 2,3,4); 2 the second week (April 8,11); and 2 the third week, (April 16,18). A $3.00 registration fee will be charged and includes literature, refreshments, and other supplies. Class size will be limited to thirty.

Classes will emphasize the psychological, physical, and social factors involved with the cigarette habit and help participants develop motivation and "battle plans" to quit. Graduates of past classes conducted by the Association will provide constant encouragement and guidance in small group discussions. Discussions will include goal setting, weekend planning without cigarettes, dieting, and health effects of smoking. Group work will be supplemented with lectures by various speakers.

Don't be an old fool this April! If you need or want to quit smoking, write or call the Essex County Health Association, local lung association for a registration form: Address: P.O. Box 288, Topsfield, Mass. 01983, telephone: 887-6055.

The advantages of a telescope in stargazing will be examined in the spring course, "Seeing Stars," at the Hayden Planetarium of Boston's Museum of Science.

The Planetarium will show participants how to get the most out of their telescope and how to photograph celestial objects through them.

Starting April 9, the course will make it possible to see the rings of Saturn, the craters of the moon, multiple star systems, and a host of other phenomena not visible to the naked eye.

Persons aged 16 and older are eligible if they have had a general course in astronomy or receive the consent of the instructor. Conducting the course is Jeffrey Baumgardner, a member of the Planetarium staff. Mr. Baumgardner holds a B.A. in astronomy from Boston University and is the planetarium's telescope expert.

Class sessions, held in the Planetarium, Museum classrooms, and outdoors, will meet eight successive Tuesdays from 7:30 to 9. The fee is $26 or $22 for Family and Contributing Museum members. To register, call 723-2500, ext. 274.

from the Tewksbury Town Line to I-93.

Selectman Alan French said that Route 133 has been a sore spot in the past with traffic tie-ups, particularly during rush hours.

Roger Welch, for the bus firm, said the service will run between Raytheon plants in Andover, Lowell and Bedford, and Raytheon's Spencer Labs in Burlington.

It would make it possible for an Andover employee, for instance, to park at the Andover plant and bus to work in Bedford.

Welch said the service will run "all day" from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m., and could mean "five or six" buses in Andover each day.

In other action, the Selectmen drew three names for jury duty, formally "laid out" several of sub-division streets, and granted a license to Charles Garabedian to store 8,000 gallons of gasoline in an underground tank at 191 Chandler Road. Garabedian's firm, Precision Electronics, is in a business zone and the tank was approved by the Fire Chief.

Jury duty on April 1, at the Superior Court in Lawrence, was drawn for Ruth M. Roehrig, 22 Hidden Road; and duty on the same date at Superior Court in Salem, was drawn for Allan R. Kenney, 8 Chatham Road, and Constance Barous, 98 Central St.

FinCom Chairman Views Rate Drop

Prediction of a $1 decrease in Andover's $54 tax rate is viewed by Finance Committee Chairman Francis J. Byrne as "a gamble, but close."

The FinCom report containing the board's recommendations on budget and town meeting articles, went to the printers this week.

The report contains the cuts it had recommended over and above those made by the selectmen in the general town budget. It further does not contain the budget recommendations of the selectmen as requested.

Byrne said that the request had been received too late. It would have resulted in additional expense and work to cut in a third column in the budget section, Byrne explains.

As for meeting with the selectmen and town manager to again review the FinCom budget recommendations, Byrne said the selectmen had requested a meeting and they will be placed on the agenda for Tuesday night.

As for his prediction, Byrne noted there are still factors to consider, such as the additional $123,000 cut by the school committee from their budget last week. Also, there is the $650,000 teacher pay deferral item and possibly some additional funds needed to be placed back in the veterans service budget.

The FinCom chairman feels it will be necessary to have the Cherry Sheet figures from the state by April 15 if a firm prediction on the tax rate is to be made, but feels that provided FinCom recommendations are followed the $54 rate can be broken.

The 112-page FinCom report is expected to be ready for processing and mailing by the end of this week and on the way to voters by early next week.

Makeup of the report will differ somewhat this year, Byrne said. It will contain pictures, graphs and other art work which has been done by

An Inspector In Every Sense Of The Word

In order to satisfy state and town regulations, Arthur Peatman now has two titles, both having duties of a similar nature.

As enforcer of town building laws, and in accordance with the Andover zoning bylaws, he is to be known as building inspector.

To carry out the dictates of the state building laws and to comply with Chapter 802 of the General Laws he is to be known as Inspector of Buildings.

The selectmen made both appointments Monday night.

Mr. Peatman will carry out the duties of both offices at the single salary rate.

Selectmen, Manager View Budget Cuts

The selectmen and town manager are hopeful of reconciling differences in budget cuts as proposed by the Finance Committee at meetings next week.

Meanwhile, Town Manager J. Maynard Austin is continuing his review of the budget figures which show that the whittling process exercised in his $7,812,000 budget presented last December, is now about $326,000 lighter.

This is a result of the selectmen and manager working together to cut out in the vicinity of $214,000 and the FinCom attacking an additional $112,000.

The FinCom a week ago, and before they went to print with their annual report and town meeting recommendations, were accused of "fly-speck accounting," by selectmen who were critical of their slicing off items in the $10 to $50 category in the town budget.

Town Manager Austin said this week that he would not make any judgments on the tax rate, based on current figures. He said he would reserve judgment until he sees the completed FinCom report and also the Cherry Sheet figures, containing state reimbursements, due in early April.

The selectmen seem willing to go to town meeting beginning

Manager's Appointees Approved

Appointments of several town officials by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin were confirmed by the selectmen Monday night.

William H. Russell was reappointed to a three year term as assessor, Atty. Alfred A. Daniels to a one year term as town counsel, Atty. Frederic S. O'Brien as assistant town counsel, Dr. Robert A. Walsh to the board of health for three years, and Dr. Richard V. Lindsay, inspector of animals for one year.

Other appointments: Wilfred Blanchette, Patrick Flynn and John Lewis, Patriotic Holiday Committee; Irene H. McCarthy, Towle Fund Trust; Chief David L. Nicoll, keeper of the lockup; Benjamin C. Brown and Thomas P. Eldred, constables; Forrest H. Noyes, Jr., game warden, James W. Deyermond and Eugene A. Zalla, Jr., deputies; Philip K. Allen, Stanley E. Butcher and Philip A. Dargie, Historical commission; Mrs. Gail Anderson, Mrs. Sue Dennett, Mrs. Alix Driscoll, Mrs. Elaine Katz and Mrs. Lolli Sumberg, recycling committee.

CENTRAL STREET LOT for which rezoning is sought at town meeting will allow access to the remainder of the Andover Savings Bank property. It is the site of the former McArdle homestead, the building having been taken down after purchase of the property by the bank for development and improvement of the downtown area.

Bank Seeks Lot Rezoning

Rezoning of a plot of land on Central street from residential to business use holds a key to improvement of the downtown business area currently in the planning stage by the Andover Savings Bank.

The land involved, familiarly known as the former McArdle property, is owned by the bank which purchased the property to the rear of its existing building at Main and Chestnut streets, and extends down Main street to the alley across from town hall.

The Central street property will provide access to the entire area, and will also provide additional parking facilities

It is located between what is now the McArdle professional building and a residence. After acquisition of the entire plot last year, the bank had the existing wood structure torn down and the property leveled.

Executive Vice President Richard MacGowan of the bank, reports that the financial institution is planning development of the area for retail and commercial space, although nothing is firm in this regard as yet.

Initial plans call for providing a three-tiered parking area with access from Central street.

2 Townsman Hope To Advance

THE TOWNSMAN, MARCH 21, 1974

On Saturday evening, March 23, the Andover Townsman hope to move up the scale in their competition with eight other choruses of Division VI of the Northeastern District of the Society For the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, Inc. taking place at the West Junior High School, commencing at 7:30 p.m.

The competition is very keen when facing choruses of the caliber of The Sounds of Concord and The Gateway Guardians of Framingham. The former are International Finalists.

The Greater Lawrence Chorus will sing as their first number Dr. Val Hick's arrangement of "Yes Sir, That's My Baby," followed by another Hick's composition - the ballad - "That Summer When We Were Young."

The Townsman will also be represented in the novice quartet competition. The Newcomers will sing "Sweet Suzie Comes Steppin' By." This four has former Chorus Director, Carl D'Angio of Reading singing baritone, present Townsman Director, Jack Lathrop of Bedford singing bass, Tommie Adams of Billerica singing lead, and Dave Ernst of Beverly on tenor.

Greater Lawrence is the host chapter for an afternoon and evening of harmony. The afternoon Division V competition will start at 1 p.m. Choruses from New Hampshire and Maine will vie for the top spot.

On President's List

Karl R. Dehaas, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Karl J. Dehaas of 14 Cheever Circle, Andover, was among 41 students named to the President's List at Champlain College, Burlington, Vt.

Mr. Dehaas is a senior at Champlain College, majoring in human services.

FOR THE OLD SCHOOL. Sam Waterston, a native of North Andover, and Lois Chiles, are two members of society's rich, swept into the turbulent passions of the jazz age in David Merrick's production of Jack Clayton's film, "The Great Gatsby," which will have its local premiere at Cinema 3 Chelmsford, April 2. The premiere will benefit the Pike School, where Waterston obtained his early education.

North Andover Native In Benefit For Pike School

On April 2, a special premiere and benefit performance of "The Great Gatsby" will have special significance for many viewers at the Cinema 3 Theatre in Chelmsford.

Sam Waterston, who was raised in North Andover, will play the role of Nick Carroway, narrator, in F. Scott Fitzgerald's enduring love story of Jay Gatsby (Robert Redford) and Daisy Buchanan (Mia Farrow).

The David Merrick production, heralded in advance for its beauty and authentic reproduction of the "Jazz Age," will be sponsored by the Pike School Parents' Association as their major fund-raising event of the year. The choice of movie is particularly fitting since Sam Waterston and his family attended the Pike

The role of Nick Carroway is the latest in a series of major roles both in theatre and film for Waterston. As Carroway, Waterston has the difficult role of presenting and interpreting the volatile balance of reality and dreams in a sophisticated society of another time.

The Great Gatsby, so many people's "favorite book" has immortalized the yeasty spirit that bubbled to the surface in the twenties - sentimental dreaming and disillusioned cynicism which surrounded the charismatic Gatsby and his friends. Waterston, as Narrator Carroway, helps sort out those contradicting values, ambitions, and morals of the period piece. When asked about his role in the $6.2 million Paramount production, Waterston said "... I like the humor and irony of Carroway's point of view, and also his objectivity. He stands apart from the crowd."

Waterston too is standing apart from the crowd, as his versatile talents as actor are being acknowledged. The recent New Yorker review of the New York Shakespearean Festival presentation of the Tempest has much praise for Waterston's current performance as Prospero:

It is an astonishing performance that never loses its urgency and it works. (At least it worked for me who until now considered the voice of John Gielgud in "The Ages of Man" the only acceptable Prospero) ... Even the great speeches do not detain Mr. Waterston. He speaks them well.

In December, Waterston played Tom, Katharine Hepburn's son, in Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" on ABC Television. But Sam feels his first major break after ten years of theatre work in New York and Hollywood came with his performance in Joseph Papp's production of "Much Ado About Nothing."

His parents, Eliza and George Chychele Waterston, now live in Waterville Valley, N.H. His father for many years headed the English department and taught languages at Brooks School; his mother is an artist and taught in the local schools. Sam attended Pike and the Andover public schools before graduating from Groton Academy and Yale College.

Tickets for the April 2 benefit premiere of "The Great Gatsby" are available at the Pike School office. Please send self-addressed, stamped envelope. Showtime is 8 p.m.

Ellis Is Commended By Chamber

The Board of Directors of the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce at their March meeting, formally commended outgoing Chamber Executive Vice President James E. Ellis for his four years of service to the Greater Lawrence Chamber.

In a unanimous vote, the Board instructed President William E. Banton to prepare a letter to publicly commend Ellis for his "invaluable service" to the community as the Chamber's Chief Executive. Ellis will report April 1 to his hometown of Asheville, North Carolina where he will assume the position of Executive Vice President of the Asheville Area Chamber of Commerce.

At the meeting, Ellis addressed the board saying he has mixed feelings leaving Lawrence. He also stated that only an outstanding professional opportunity as this would have been able to make him leave the area which he feels his adopted home.

Ellis began his Chamber management career in 1961 on the staff of the Asheville Chamber. In 1965 he moved to Hickory, North Carolina as that Chamber's Executive and stayed there until January of 1970 when he came to Lawrence.

The Board also approved the appointment of Madeleine C. Abati as acting Executive Vice President of the Chamber. Ms. Abati, an employee of the Lawrence Chamber for the past 17 years, is currently serving as manager of the Lawrence Intown Division of the Chamber. Her appointment is effective April 1 and will continue until the hiring of a new permanent Executive Vice President.

A selection Committee, made up of President Banton, President-Elect George B. Stern, Past Presidents Theodore L. Russem, Roger N. Bower and William F. Lucey, Jr. was also announced. This committee will screen all applicants for the Executive Vice President position and will select a candidate for recommendation to the Board of Directors.

Appointed To Bradford Study Group

Albert P. Manzi of Great Pond Road, North Andover has been named to a Committee on Long Range Goals for Bradford College which will have its first meeting Wednesday, March 27 at the college.

Authorized at the September meeting of Bradford's Board of Trustees, the committee includes representatives of all segments of the Greater Bradford community - trustees, college officers, alumni, faculty members, students, parents and other friends. Its purpose is to study and define the goals that should guide Bradford's activities, particularly its educational program, during the next decade.

Mr. Manzi is the father of Annmarie Manzi, a senior at the college.

The committee will be asked to review Bradford's activities of the last ten years; to examine the changing demands of college education in the United States as they can now be forecast for the next decade; to study the problems Bradford will face in this changing educational environment; and to define the purposes which should guide Bradford's responses to these problems.

The committee will decide how to direct the college in the near and the more distant future, with the question of what kind of college Bradford should be in 1984 the central focus around which decisions will be made. These questions belong not only to Bradford College; they are central to the issue of what a liberal arts education means today and what is going to mean in the next decade.

Pre-School Program

The Andover pre-kindergarten program for parents of youngsters who will be entering school for the first time next fall, will be held Wednesday, March 27, at 7:30 p.m. in the West Elementary school auditorium.

30 Structures Estimated In Flood Plain Area

Many streets such as York, Carisbrooke, Argyle and Arundel Street in Shawsheen Village that were flooded in 1936 are not included in the Planning Board's proposed flood plain zone.

Reason for this, according to information supplied by the Planning Board, is selection of the 100-year flood as the standard and the effect of flood control projects constructed upstream since 1936 which have reduced flood hazard areas. In fact, the Corps of Engineers report published in March, 1972, on which the Planning Board based its delineation, states that an IRF or 100-year flood would be about 10 feet lower than the 1936 flood along this part of the Shawsheen River. However, it also points out that it would be about four feet higher elsewhere along the river, that is, approximately from the center of town through Ballardvale to Lowell Junction. Because the flood plain is so narrow in most places along both the Merrimack and Shawsheen Rivers, the Planning Board estimates that only 23 residential structures and seven business on industrial structures actually are within the proposed zone, although some lie close enough so that a precise determination would be needed for construction purposes.

The Planning Board points out that very much larger floods which would affect a bigger area are possible but much less probable. The IRF or 100-year flood was selected because imposition of land use controls for a larger but much less probable flood might cause unnecessary hardship and because it was the standard adopted by the Federal Insurance Administration for participation in the flood insurance program. More properly stated, the 100-year standard represents the flood level that on the average will have a one per cent chance of being equalled or exceeded in any given year. It has also been referred to as the minimum safety flood.

The Federal Insurance Administration prepared a position statement for Congress on its selection of the 100-year standard. The following is a short excerpt from that statement:

First, the term "100-year flood" is probably a misnomer. It is actually what the Corps of Engineers refers to as an "intermediate" flood and is a compromise between minor floods and the Corps' "standard project flood" which is the greatest flood though likely to occur in a given area. Thus, in many cases, the 100-year or intermediate flood is already far below the flood of record.

Actually, the "100-year" flood is simply the flood level that is estimated to have a one per cent chance of occurring each year in a given location. It does not imply that no greater flood is likely to occur nor that such a flood will not happen more than once in every 100 years. Hurricanes Camille and Agnes and this year's Mississippi River floods all involved flooding substantially in excess of the 100-year flood.

In 1972 there were 45 Presidentially declared flood disasters, of which 50 per cent were equal to or greater than the 100-year flood. Thus the real question is whether such a moderate standard is actually adequate in light of recent flood losses and recent excessive building along coastlines and waterways.

In administering the newly enacted Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973, the Federal Insurance Administration is adhering to the 100-year flood standard and the Andover Planning Board

Bank

Without this access, Main and Chestnut street entrances and exits would have to be used and are not considered practicable.

There will be 23 parking spaces developed in the lot subject to town meeting rezoning alone. Current plans in the formation stage, call for about 122 parking spaces in all on the three tiers to be developed below the Main street level.

MacGowan, who appeared before the selectmen Monday night with plans for the development, stressed that the petition before town meeting is presented by ASB Development Corp., which is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the bank.

Purpose of the corporation is to allow the Andover financial institution to develop the property and maintain control over the development. It is the intent of the firm to keep development in harmony with Andover and local merchants.

The bank official said that he had met with abutters to the property on Central street and no objection had been presented. He has also presented the plans to the planning board and chamber of commerce directors.

The selectmen Monday night, while not taking an official stand, looked approvingly at the plans.

The lot to which the Central street lot is to afford access, has been under consideration for development by other firms in the past, but the banking institution is the first to acquire the overall property and move toward improvement of the downtown area, coupled with adequate parking provisions.

Selectmen

April 1 asking that the budget adopted by them, with the $214,000 reduction be adopted.

New Chairman Milton Greenberg, said that it is the hope of the board that the differences can be reconciled prior to town meeting to provide for a smooth flow of the session.

The selectmen had requested the FinCom to include a third column in their report indicating the board's recommendations on the budget items. The FinCom, however, failed to accede to their wishes, stating that time would not permit such action.

Town Manager Austin had some of the FinCom cuts under consideration early this week.

Major reductions are in an equipment outlay account where $39,650 was taken out for the purchase of outside readers for water meters, an attachment which permits the reading of meters without going into private homes.

An additional cut was in the sewer maintenance account where $15,000 was taken by FinCom particularly from the overtime provisions.

The FinCom has also cut the $9,000 mosquito control account, which has been a controversial item in the past.

Summer help for the library has also been deleted at a cost of $5,642 and the pension fund was dropped by $39,400 when county officials said this amount would be sufficient for the coming year.

The manager views the FinCom recommended reductions as in the class of "hopeful" savings and program reductions.

Such items as snow and ice removal are unpredictable and fall in the category of hopeful items. These accounts have realized savings due to weather conditions in the past few years, but there is no way of predicting what will happen in another winter. Signs of savings are evident in the tonnage of salt used in the past three years which has decreased from 2,991 two years ago to 1,911 last year and 1,248 this year.

As for the sewer department account reduction, the manager notes that if a line blocks up on a weekend and the funds have expired, then the problem will have to wait to be resolved on Monday.

Program reductions will be effected by the budget cuts in the library and recreation departments.

Meetings next week may resolve the differences between the FinCom and selectmen, which will be after the FinCom report is en route to the voters of the community and only a few days before the April 1 opening of the annual town meeting.

Re-Elected Chairman Of Board

Thomas P. Eldred has been elected to his third term as chairman of the Andover Housing Authority. Eldred was elected during the annual organization session last week which follows the town election.

John B. White was elected vice chairman, Winston Blake, treasurer and Thomas R. Wallace, assistant treasurer.

Atty. Richard Savrann, the state appointee to the local housing board, was named secretary.

James E. Manning was reappointed by the board as executive director, with Louise A. Roberge, secretary and Walter J. Pendak and Clifford Ross, maintenance men.

6 Recycling - A Plus For For The Treasury Gym Hockey Program Planned

By Helen M. Eccles
What's so great about old newspapers?
$35 a ton, that's what, - - up from $6 a ton last July, when Andover's recycling program began.

There's a great national shortage of all paper products and the Essex Wastepaper Company in Lawrence, which supplies paperboard manufacturers, paid the Town of Andover $1,878.87 for wastepaper for February alone. The $1,878.87 was for the grocery bags full of newspapers, and some separately tied bundles of folded corrugated cardboard, which residents put out for recycling with their red bags on the first and third rubbish collection days of February.

Add February's $137 net take on the sale of recycled cans and a chunk of the $1200 Andover just realized from recycling several months worth of glass - - the total just about covers the $500 a week the town pays to Andoverite Donald Craig's Industrial Services for picking up recyclables on the same day another contractor picks up the red trash bags.

Andover's Federal Coordinator, John Lewis, who fields citizens' questions about recycling at Town Hall, says that slightly less than 50 per cent of the town bothers to put out recyclables. Check it yourself as you drive down a street when the red bags are out. Yet still the recycling income has begun to pay for the program's cost. "So any increase in recyclable newspapers, bottles or cans, as the other half of the town starts to cooperate, is pure gravy - - dollars flowing into the town's free case, which goes to reduce taxes. That's why the new slogan on red bags reads "Recycling Is Your Investment in Lower Taxes."

Lewis looks to the new Municipal Recycling Auction on Saturday, April 27, as another big money maker for the town's free cash. This spring's auction at the Recreation Park will be a town function, managed by the Recycling Committee appointed by the Town Manager, to give townspeople a chance to get rid of usable articles they no longer need by donating them to the auction. The profits will go into the town's free case, to reduce taxes. Everything will be auctioned off by Ballardvale's Ralph Sharpe and by former Selectman Philip K. Allen in a carnival atmosphere, with coffee, doughnuts, hot dogs and cold drinks set up at the town's recreation center.

The auction idea originated with Lewis, who had been receiving calls from householders wondering what to do with things they no longer need which are too good to throw away. "A woman about to move to Florida had a toboggan, snowshoes, ice skates, a whole truckload of good equipment and furniture she didn't want to take to Florida. She didn't want to have a garage sale or go around asking neighbors if they wanted it, and the landfill was closed. It's amazing what people throw away - they've turned up perfectly good color TVs at the landfill in the past. Just plug them in, they work. We'd rather recycle them to people who want to buy them, and have the money go into the town treasury. So go through your attic and cellar for things to donate to the auction."

Newspapers are the biggest moneymakers in Andover's recycling program, but bottles and cans pay for themselves too. The glass goes to Dayville, Conn., where a glass manufacturer will pay for color-sorted glass to melt down for new bottles.

It's better to reuse glass than to manufacture it from scratch, according to glass people. Why? Because soda ash, a vital ingredient, has become scarce and expensive; also, recycled glass melts at a lower temperature than the raw materials of sand, soda ash, so it saves both energy and wear and tear on the machines to make glass from old glass. So it is worthwhile to separate out glass from our trash for recycling. There's one hitch; the householder must separate the bottles into three grocery bags, when setting it out for collection on the second trash collection day of each month.

Why? Because no one has been able to invent a machine which can sort the green, amber and clear glass from each other at the plant. Hand labor is too expensive and a little chancy; by that time, much of the glass is broken. If glass of different colors is mixed together for melting down, an undesirable spotted murky glass results. Andover now recycles 25-28 tons of glass per month, and realizes about $250 per month, which would rise with cooperation from more householders.

Recycling of cans netted Andover $137 for February and this amount, too, will rise with greater participation. Andover cans go to the Continental Can Corporation in Malden, which can sort them out by machine, fortunately, and reuses them to make new cans. All householders need to do is open the bottom of the can, and flatten it so it will take less space in the home container and on Donald Craig's trucks which pick up cans on the fourth collection day of each month. The cans bring Andover $20 a ton currently, minus a shipping charge of slightly under $10 a ton, for a net of more than $10 a ton.

John Lewis' view is that the town's recycling program is for everyone. "If your only recycling interest is money, the program has now come into the black with cooperation from about 50 per cent of the town. Every increase in the volume of recycled materials, as some of the other 50 per cent of the town joins the recycling effort, will be all profit - - dollars in the town treasury to reduce taxes. If you're an environmentalist who is interested in recycling for ecological reasons alone, you have plenty of reason to support it. The Wall Street Journal pointed out in November that every ton of paper recycled is equal to 15 trees. At that rate, our monthly newspaper collection of 50-60 tons saved a good 800 trees, by Andover's action alone, besides bringing in more than $1,800 dollars to the treasury.

"And speaking of recycling, save things for the Municipal Recycling Auction in April. We'll have phone numbers to call for auction collection in another week or so."

Morehead Award For P.A. Student

Paul Douglas McGarry, son of Colonel and Mrs. Robert S. McGarry of 5540 High Tor Hill, Columbia, Md., has received a Morehead Award to study at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

The announcement is made today by Hugh G. Chatham of Elkin, N.C., chairman of the Board of Trustees of the John Motley Morehead Foundation.

McGarry is a senior at Phillips Academy in Andover, where he is a proctor, member of the Blue Key Society and captain of the varsity wrestling team.

He is one of 60 young men who have received 1974 Morehead Awards presented to students of superior achievement. Academic standing, character, leadership and ambition are the qualities looked for in a Morehead Scholar.

The scholarships currently are worth $16,300 for out-of-state students for four years of study at UNC.

McGarry's selection followed a year-long screening process which culminated in final interviews in Chapel Hill Feb. 28 - March 4. All finalists who did not receive Morehead Awards were tendered North Carolina Merit Tuition Scholarships funded by the Morehead Foundation.

By 1859, national unions had been founded in the United States by printers, stonecutters, hat finishers, molders, machinists and locomotive engineers, according to "A Brief History of the American Labor Movement," a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Gym Hockey Program Planned

Six gym hockey programs are included among the 175 Spring Term programs being offered by the Andover-North Andover YMCA. Registrations for all are being accepted only at the Andover YMCA office, 10 Brook St. The programs take the form of intra-mural league competition where enrollment is adequate for four or more teams. Groups with small enrollment meet as a class.

Five leagues for boys are planned. In the Andover YMCA building a boys' league for grades 2 and 3 is scheduled for Saturday 9-11 a.m., another for boys in grades 4-6 will meet on Saturdays 11 a.m. - 1 p.m., and a third for boys in grades 6-9 will meet on Wednesdays 2:45 - 4:15 p.m. At the North Andover YMCA building two groups will meet on Saturday morning. A program for grades 1-3 is scheduled 9 - 10:30 a.m. and grades 4-6 from 10:30 - 12 noon.

A program for girls in grades 1-3 will be conducted at the Andover building on Mondays beginning at 3:30 p.m.

During the recently concluded Winter Term program of the YMCA a total of 19 groups were involved in gym hockey. Enrollment totaled 157 with an attendance of 1,448. All the leagues were conducted at the Andover YMCA with only a group of boys in grades 1-3 meeting at the North Andover YMCA building on Monday afternoons as a class.

Four teams were entered in the grade 2-3 league with the Bruins defeating the Canadians for the League title. Members of the Champion Bruins include: Tom Powers, Dennis Regan, Daniel Regan, Steve Savoy, Tom Maginnis, Larry Torrisi, Bryan Looney. Six teams were entered in the League for boys grades 4-6. The first half winners, the Penguins, defeated the second half winners, the Rangers, in a play-off game with a score of 7-6. Members of the first place Penguins team included: Robert Barry, Mark Walsh, Ira Gold, Andy Dion, Mike Dion, Paul Thoday, Scott James, Michael Flynn and Richard Callaghan.

In the four team league for boys grades 6-9, the Black Hawks, undefeated in regular season play, defeated the Flames in the play-offs 8-0. A sportsmanship award was presented to Don Cunliffe. Award winning members of the Black Hawks were: Robert Park, Mike Brennan, Andy Sambucco, Mike Franzese, Dennis Griffin, Chris Veillette and Dave Wilson.

The Crusaders defeated the Sharks 7-3 in the final game of the league for girls in grades 4-6. The sportsmanship award went to Laurel Dana. Individual awards were presented to the following members of the winning Crusaders: Mary Ellen Wesson, Katie Scanlon, Jackie Cracraft, Mary Reming, Melissa Bachner, Lisa Reynolds, Kathy Bolduc.

Selectmen Give Street Approvals

The selectmen have approved for acceptance at town meeting several town streets.

New streets to be accepted as official town ways, include Hanson Road, Chaise Circle and Landau Lane in the Carriage Chase Subdivision; Surrey Lane in Carriage Hill Estates; Bradley Road; and Forest Hill Drive, Bittersweet Lane, Aspen Circle, Wintergreen Circle and Deerberry Lane in the Forest Hill Commons Subdivision.

Irish Fortnight Series Continues At College

The "Irish Fortnight," a unique series of free public lectures by Ireland's top cultural authorities, will be presented at 7:30 p.m. through March 31 at Merrimack College.

The series, which has been endorsed by the President of Ireland, will collectively cover the cultural inter-relationships between Ireland and Western Civilization in these respective disciplines: Archaeology, Art, Folklore, History, Literature, Music, Painting and Theatre. The Fortnight is being co-sponsored here by Merrimack College and the Irish American Cultural Institute.

Among the lecturers are Edward Golden, one of Ireland's best known actor-directors and a 25-year participant in the world renowned Abbey Theatre. Others with equally impressive credentials will lecture in these fields: Basil Payne, Entertainment; Paddy Moloney, Music; Kevin Danaher, Folklore; Brian Ferran, Painting; Seamus Deane, Literature; Donal McCartney, History; Brendan O Buachalla, Literature; Etienne Rynne, Art; John Murphy, History; and Michael Herity, Archaeology.

The Honorable Erskine Childers, the President of Ireland and Patron of the Institute, recently endorsed the Fortnight as "renewing pleasant memories for those who have already visited Ireland or whose forebears came from this land, while opening to strangers our island and its history with a rewarding view of Irish life and culture."

Dr. Eoin McKiernan, who arranged the two-week program and is Founder and President of the Institute, noted that all lectures are free and that no solicitation of contributions will be made. He said this city was selected because of the growing interest here in Ireland's contribution of world culture.

The "Irish Fortnight" schedule of lectures follows:

March 21, Painting, B. Ferran; March 22, Literature, S. Deane; March 23, History, D. McCartney; March 24-25, Literature, B. O Buachalla; March 26, Theatre, E. Golden; March 27, History, D. McCartney; March 28-29, Art, E. Rynne; March 30, History, J. Murphy; March 31, Archaeology, M. Herity.

Further information on lectures is available from the college switchboard.

Zamkochian To Appear In Methuen

Berj Zamkochian, organist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and Boston Pops, will present an organ recital on the world famous Methuen Memorial Music Hall organ on Sunday afternoon, March 24 at 3 p.m. The concert, to benefit the Gomidas Organ Fund, will include works by Widor, Bach, Bossi, Atayan and Liszt.

The Methuen Memorial Music Hall organ was built in Germany in 1857 at a cost of $153,000. Built by the firm of Walcker, the tonal design was made by the great composer Franz Liszt. Until the turn of the century and the building of Symphony Hall, the organ dominated the stage of the old Boston Music Hall. Since the massive instrument could not be placed in the new Symphony Hall, it was sold to a private owner in Methuen, who built for the instrument, a unique and very special concert hall.

¹⁰ Nicolai Gedda To Appear In Concert On Sunday

THE TOWNSMAN, MARCH 21, 1974

Metropolitan Opera tenor Nicolai Gedda will perform in concert at Merrimack College on Sunday, March 24 at 8:30 p.m. in the Collegiate Chapel on the college's North Andover campus.

Nicolai Gedda's concert will be the final event in the 1973-74 Celebrity Series at Merrimack College. Other featured artists in the Merrimack College Celebrity Series, now in its sixth year, have included Canadian vocalists, Lois Marshall and Maureen Forrester, Flamenco guitarist Carlos Montoya, and the famed American pianist, Van Cliburn.

The most recorded tenor in history with 109 albums to his credit, Nicolai Gedda has already sung four roles at the Metropolitan Opera this season. He has appeared as Gherman in "Pique Dame," Rodolfo in "La Boheme," Elvino in "La Sonnambula," and Don Ottavio in "Don Giovanni." His Fall concerts in New York this season have included Verdi's "Requiem" with the Cleveland Orchestra and "Excerpts from Palestrina" by Pfitzner with the New Jersey Symphony.

Following his concert at Merrimack, Nicolai Gedda flies to Europe to complete the season with performances at La Scala, the Paris Opera, and the Vienna State Opera.

Born in Sweden of Russian-Swedish parents, Nicolai Gedda studied at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Stockholm. He made his professional debut at the Royal Opera, Stockholm in 1952 as Chaplou in "Le Postillon de Longjumeau." In 1953, he made his debut at La Scala as Don Ottavio in "Don Giovanni" and sang at the Paris Opera in 1954 as Huon in "Oberon."

Nicolai Gedda made his Metropolitan Opera debut during the 1957-58 season in the title role of Gounod's "Faust," and has been a regular member of the Metropolitan Opera since then. He created the tenor lead in Menotti's "The Last Savage" at the Metropolitan in 1964.

One of the tenor's most cherished honors was conferred upon him in 1965, when King Gustav VI titled him "Court Singer to the Royal Court of Sweden," an honor accorded fewer than twelve artists in over 200 years. Nicolai Gedda's extensive vocal repertoire covers the works of modern and classical composers, operas as well as folk songs, which he sings with fluency in ten languages.

A limited number of $4 tickets for the Nicolai Gedda concert are available at the McQuade Library at Merrimack College.

St. Robert's Division Champs

By Rick Harrison

St. Robert's B, using its superior speed and a potent fast break to open the game up, raced to a 49-37 victory over West Parish A in their showdown battle for the Senior Division championship of the Andover Church Basketball League last week at the West Junior High.

All-around hustling efforts by divisional scoring champ Joe Terrion (192 points) and Rick Collins sparked St. Robert's B to its ninth straight win and a final record of 9-1. West A closed at 8-2.

Other season-ending action saw St. Augustine A upset third-place St. Robert's A, 37-20, while St. Augustine B trimmed West Parish B, 45-35, and Bible Chapel posted a 2-0 forfeit triumph over South.

Copping The Title

St. Robert's B outscored West A in every quarter and trailed only once (8-7), but the 12 point difference at the end was the biggest lead the champs had in the game.

Coach Don Terrion's victors inched to a 7-4 first period edge, as both teams were tight with numerous turnovers and missed shots.

West A took its brief 8-7 lead after quick buckets by Steve Serley and Eric Sullivan to open the second period, but a pair of fast-break lay-ups by Joe Terrion after fine outlet passes from Collins gave St. Robert's a lead it never relinquished.

Eight Straight

With the lead only 12-10 midway through the second frame, St. Robert's reeled off eight unanswered points to make it 20-10.

Kevin Fogarty played a key part in the surge by swishing two 10-foot baseline shots and escaping on a fast-break, while Collins and Terrion penetrated for some driving hoops.

West A refused to wilt, however, and chipped away to cut the deficit to 25-20 by half-time. Steve Serley, who pocketed eight points in the period, hit several long bombs from the corner.

An 8-1 run by St. Robert's at Collins chipped in 16 points, several key rebounds and steals and a half-dozen pretty assists.

Kevin Fogarty tossed in 6 points, big Bob Moynihan netted 3 markers and numerous rebounds before fouling out midway through the last period, and solo baskets were bagged by Lanio and Frank Griggs.

Other St. Robert's standouts included Mark Spires, Mark Lalond, Owen Keegan, Dave LaFleur and Kenny LaFleur.

Steve Serley paced West A with 16 points and some effective work on the defensive boards. Bob Zwicker collected 9 points and also rebounded with authority.

ST. ROBERT'S B secured the Senior Division championship of the Andover Church Basketball League last week, closing out the campaign with a 9-1 final ledger. Front row (l-r): Bob Moynihan, Mark Lalonde, Ken LaFleur, Mark Spires and Owen Keegan. Back row (l-r): Vic Lanio, Dave LaFleur, Kevin Fogarty, Coach Don Terrion, divisional scoring champ Joe Terrion, Rick Collins and Frank Griggs. St. Robert's B lost its opening game by one point, but then proceeded to reel off nine straight victories.

the start of the second half, again sparked by Terrion and Collins, jacked the lead up to 33-21. Later in the stanza Vic Lanio hit a key basket on a shot that struck the back rim, bounced high in the air and dropped cleanly through the net.

Last Challenge

Trailing 37-27 entering the fourth quarter, West A made one final run at St. Robert's and sliced the difference to seven points (42-35) behind the accurate foul shooting of Serley, Sullivan, Zwicker and Mark Ketzler.

Once again it was Terrion and Collins to the rescue, as Joe scooped in a bad angle driving lay-up off the boards and Rick pulled down an offensive rebound and hit a 10-foot turnaround shot.

Final Stats

Terrion finished the evening's activities with 20 points, the sixth time in nine games he reached or topped that figure.

Eric Sullivan closed with 5 points, Mark Ketzler swished 3 markers and single baskets were notched by Chris Elliott and Carl Wetterberg.

Dave Heidt also played well for the losers.

Arnold, Moriarty Hot

St. Augustine A, which finished strong by winning three of its last four games to tie Bible Chapel for fourth place, handed St. Robert's A its third loss in succession with the convincing 37-20 romp.

The victors were never in danger, bolting to a 7-0 first period lead and stretching it to 15-6 by halftime and 20-8 after three.

Jim Arnold, whose hot hand produced double figure performances in every game down the stretch, poured in 12 during the finale. This included 8 markers in the fourth session.

Mark Moriarty dumped through 11 points, Bob Kramer 7, Tom Curtin 4 and Jim Morin 3 points.

St. Robert's A, perhaps flat after losing two close games to drop it from the title race, was powered by Bill Ashe with 8 points.

T.J. Caveney chipped in 4 markers and solo fourth quarter baskets were garnered by John Carroll, John Kleschinsky, Chris Fortune, Mike Carroll and John Weitz. Joe Koravos also turned in a fine two-way effort.

Reaching .500

St. Augustine B, featuring three players in double figures, won its second straight game and closed at .500 after its 45-35 conquest of West Parish B.

Once again the issue was never in doubt. St. Augustine "streaked" to a 15-3 first period lead and upped the cushion to 27-10 by intermission. West B chopped the deficit slowly over the last two quarters.

Shawn Reming flipped in 16 points, Dave Hajj 15 and John Silva 12 to propel the victor's triangular attack.

Tim Paris canned a first period deuce, and other standout players were Mike Brennan, Ted Paris, Tom Busta and Mark Ruggerio.

The West B honors were shared equally by Jeff Smith and Scott Bitler with 12 points each. Ed Goodman stuffed 7 markers, and fourth quarter two-pointers were registered by Tim Sweeney and Andy Campbell.

Joel Smith and Mark Paro also played well for the losers.

Team Stats

St. Robert's B finished as the highest scoring quintet with 517 points and a 51.7 per game average. St. Robert's A boasted the best defense, allowing 217 points for a 21.7 mark.

The Raiders, meanwhile, put it all together for the first time and nudged the Lakers by a 14-10 score.

Tight Struggle

Although West Parish's only lead of the game was 2-0 following Alex deConstant's early bucket, the Globetrotters had all they could do in preserving the undefeated season to make them the lone unblemished team out of 29 in the league's three divisions.

Junior Division scoring champ Ted Kelley (118 points) once again sparked the Trotters with 8 points. Single baskets were added by Dick Kelley and Steve Farrington.

Alex deConstant pocketed 6 points for West Parish, while Scott Harnden notched 2 markers and Tom McDonald swished a free throw.

Also playing well for the champs were Tim Corkery, Mark Paradis and Greg McDaniel. Other West Parish standouts included Steve Johnson, Roger Henderson, Andy Johnson and Jimmy Lowe.

Terrion, Romano Hot

The Raiders clicked on all cylinders thanks to the red-hot shooting of Jim Terrion with a season-high 10 points, and Tony Romano who pumped through 4 markers.

Brian Moriarty tossed in 6 points and Matt O'Hara bagged 4 more in a losing Lakers' cause.

Other Raiders' leaders were Mike and Ed Damphousse, Tom O'Brien and Bob DeGregorio (no relation to Ernie). The Lakers received top-notch efforts from Dave Kirkland, John Kramer, Paul Marad and Jeff Fleming.

All-Star Game

The Junior Division was slated to conduct a pair of All-Star Games and a shooting contest to conclude all activities for 1973-74 last Tuesday night, after TOWNSMAN presstime.

Scoring Leaders

Trailing Ted Kelley in the individual scoring chase were Mike White of the Bucks with 69 points, Alex deConstant of West Parish with 46, Steve Johnson of West Parish and Joe Zemis of the Celtics with 26 apiece, Brian Moriarty of the Lakers with 25 points and Ken Saliba of the Knicks with 24.

The Celts were the most balanced scoring club with seven players hitting in double figures for the season, while the Knicks had 10 boys who scored at least one point.

The Globetrotters, however, racked up the-most total points with 176.

Buddy Werner League

By Carrie Smotrich

This past Saturday the first Buddy Werner League Regional Championship was held at Pats Peak in Henniker, N.H. This meet, which was organized by Ed Hostetter of Andover, will become an annual event in which all Eastern states having BWL programs will compete. This year's competition which was hosted by Massachusetts saw teams from Massachusetts, Vermont and New York competing.

As in all the BWL ski meets, competition was both at the team and individual levels. In this meet the Massachusetts team was victorious with New York placing second and Vermont third. All three competing teams were awarded beautiful silver trays by ESA. Individual awards were made in division I, Boys and Girls 12 and 13; division II, Boys and Girls 9, 10 and 11 and division III, Boys and Girls 8 and under. Division awards to the first three finishers were Olympic size gold, silver and bronze medals.

The Massachusetts team included all racers who placed in the top five positions at the recent Eastern Mass. Finals held at the Waltham Ski Area. Representing Andover were Elizabeth Gardner, Mike Smotrich, Dave Roberts and Jim Barrett. All of the Andover racers contributed to the Massachusetts teams winning efforts with Mike Smotrich leading the scoring with a second place silver medal in the 8 and under division. Mike, who has been a consistent winner this year, won his silver medal in spite of a fall on his second run. Dave Roberts won a third place bronze medal in a close competition with Rich Wholley of Bradford and Steve Willey of Sudbury in boys 9, 10 and 11. Elizabeth Gardner placed fifth in the girls 8 and under and Jim Barrett placed fifth in the boys 9, 10 and 11 competition. Other Andover racers who earned points were Carrie Smotrich and Rick Heislein. Massachusetts racers who acted as fore-runners were Laurie Harris and Cindy Harris of Bradford, Sue Landy, Doug Roberts and Greg Eaton of Andover. The course was set by Andover's Ted Sutton. Contributing to the smooth running of the championship were: Robert Thomson, President ESA; Richard D. Hanson, Director ESA/Racing Chairman at Pats Peak; Ed Hostetter, Chairman BWL-ESA; Carrie Smotrich, Secretary BWL-ESA; Ted Sutton, Head Coach BWL-ESA; Bud Eaton, Chairman Massachusetts and Rhode Island BWL; Gerry Sears, Vermont BWL; Hays Penfield, President Eastern Mass. BWL; Charles Niebes, Assistant Alpine Program Director ESA and Kay Scanlon, Editor of Skier Magazine.

'Catering' Toward Public Service

By Linda S. Corbett

Phillip Gonet doesn't mind telling you it's not easy to catch him at home.

A Merrimack College senior, Phillip is a political science major, though he's treasurer of the business club -- to say nothing of his participation in intramural football, basketball, hockey and baseball.

He's also a member of the representative town meeting in Danvers, where he lives, part-time cook and sometimes head chef at the Harp and Bard there, and last, but not least, a three-day-a-week intern in town administration in the Andover town house.

"I tell my folks (who now live in Batavia, N.Y.), to call me at 2 a.m.," he says, "I'm pretty sure of being home then."

As for the future, Phillip hopes to combine a public administration and law degree in graduate school -- but for the moment sits secure with one acceptance under his belt, (Pennsylvania State University) while he waits to hear from several others.

A native of Danvers, Phillip started working at the Harp and Bard, doing odd jobs in the kitchen, when he was in high school. When he graduated, he agreed to go help open the new Harp and Bard in Norwood, as head bus boy. But the very first day, "one of the cooks didn't show up, and they told me I was going to cook."

"I couldn't boil a potato when I started," he says. "I could cook a hamburger or maybe a sandwich, and that's about it."

Leo Lemieux, a French chef at the Harp and Bard at the time, "taught me everything I know," Phillip says.

While he works parttime during the school year, he works full-time -- maybe 60 hours a week -- in the summers, and has served as interim head chef there for the past two years.

One of his favorite foods to prepare is Steak Diane -- a sliced steak that is flamed with brandy.

I like to really "whoof" it up, he says. "It always gets quite a reaction from the customers" -- who watch it all at ringside, since the kitchen is out in the open.

Phillip also likes to make fresh vegetables, though he never liked them as a child. It wasn't until after he started cooking them that he found out how good they are.

The wildest time of the year, he says, was the past weekend. "Everyone thinks they're Irish on St. Patty's Day," he says, and they turn out in droves.

About the time he got into cooking, he got into politics too, running at 19 to fill a vacancy left by a town meeting member -- and winning. He ran again in 1973 for a one-year term, and this year, if he decides to run again, it would be for a three-year stint.

It was his interest in town government that led to the internship here -- he was recommended for the gratis job (his pay is six credits toward graduation), by Dr. James St. Germain, chairman of the political science department at Merrimack.

St. Germain, he says, has been promoting public administration, recommending that he take courses in business -- economics, accounting, statistics, computer science.

His internship, Phillip says, is applying those courses from the business department to theory learned in political science.

On regular basis, he has been working with Town Manager J. Maynard Austin and Assistant Manager Sheldon Cohen, and has also been helping John Lewis with the "red bag" project. He checks on the recycling program, for instance, or recently he left notices for residents of changes in their garbage pick-up routes. He has also been making a lot of charts for various budget presentations.

In addition, as an intern, he has had to develop a major project acceptable to both Austin and St. Germain. That project is a comparison of the open town meeting, as Andover has, and the representative town meeting, such as Danvers has.

While the study is yet underway, he admits his prejudices for the representative type, "because it has worked so well in Danvers."

"My main question," he says, "is how a town this large can function with an open town meeting." Most town managers, he says, prefer the representative type, as a more effective way of governing.

"Townpeople will come in here and tell you that the open town meeting is the last form of pure democratic government," he says. "But I think it can be undemocratic because it is a public forum for interest groups. It's easy for a controversial item, such as a dumping site, to be defeated by 600 people, when the

Another consideration is that if there's a issue, a lot of people not, there may be a quorum.

Another consideration, he says, is that if there's a controversial issue, a lot of people turn out. If not, there may be trouble getting a quorum.

On the other hand, he says, elected representatives feel a greater responsibility to show up. If they aren't there, they won't get the votes next time around.

He said he also feels that the same people who are active at open town meeting would be the ones to serve as representatives.

In any case, he feels his project should help make Andover aware that there is another choice.

Phillip says he feels today's public administrator has to be fairly proficient in law -- hence his goal to get that degree in somewhere along the line. But, he feels, there's plenty of time to make his career decisions.

Meanwhile, he's playing a lot of golf, bowling, cooking, studying.

"I have a lot of things to do," he says, with an absolutely straight face.

The public is cordially invited to attend a Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Pops Concert at Central Catholic Gymnasium on Thursday, April 4. A champagne hour commences at 7 p.m., with the concert at 8.

Sponsor of the annual fund-raising event is the Lawrence Rotary Club Scholarship Program. Tickets are available at various locations in Greater Lawrence and at the door on the night of the concert. Donations of $5 per person will be accepted.

The funds raised from the event will be used for scholarships awarded annually to graduates of Greater Lawrence high schools.

M.S. Degree

March 15, Alfred University announced the January 1974 graduation of Mark R. Powers of 13 Kingston St., North Andover. Powers was awarded a master of science degree in education.

Stephen G. Kurtz, Dean of the College at Hamilton College, has been elected Principal of The Phillips Exeter Academy in Exeter, N.H. The announcement was made by Dr. Calvin H. Plimpton, President of the Trustees, and James A. Newman, Chairman of the Search Committee. Mr. Kurtz, who will assume the principalship on July 1, 1974, will succeed Richard W. Day, Principal since 1964. Mr. Day has been named Principal of The Montclair Kimberley Academy in Montclair, N.J.

Ends Training

Carol E. Emberly, a senior at Notre Dame College, Manchester, N.H., has successfully completed supervised teacher training, a requirement for teacher certification, by spending a semester at F.C. Underhill School, Hooksett, N.H. Mrs. Emberly, of 5 Stinson Road, Andover, is an elementary education major.

On Dean's List

Mark E. McGovern, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester A. McGovern, has been named to the Dean's list at St. Francis College, Biddeford, Maine, for exceptional scholastic work during the first semester of the current academic year.

He is majoring in Elementary Education at St. Francis College and is presently a student with advanced standing.

What Our Readers Say-

To The Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

I am not a frequent letter writer but I must share my amusement at the frequency of the phrase "a mandate back to basics" in the news reports of the Andover elections. It's almost as though we had to be reminded who won and why.

In terms of what it takes to win, the victors have certainly scored a sufficient margin to come out on top. No one could question that. However, a little study of the vote, in my opinion, tempers the strength of the so-called "mandate". Sixty per cent of those who bothered to vote amounts to about one-fourth of the registered voters. That is, one person in four favored the top vote getter.

On a precinct by precinct basis, about 1/3 of those voting favored the winners, with the notable exception of precinct 6, where the vote was rather evenly divided among the top four candidates each receiving about one-fourth of the votes cast. This study should not be interpreted as an effort to detract from the significance of winning, but rather as an observation of the peculiarities of a "vote for two" slate.

No candidate received a majority of the votes in any precinct, but because of variations in the way the candidates were paired by the voters, two emerge as winners. Furthermore, as the number of candidates increases, the number of votes needed to win decrease.

In view of these facts, I hope that the objectives expressed by the voters can be achieved with a generous measure of common sense and that those who are interested in the education of our children continue to keep a watchful eye on the fulfillment of so called "mandates".

Accounting

It would appear that we are now in the pre-town meeting debate on establishing the tax rate.

The Finance Committee has gone to press with its recommendations on the municipal budget for 1974-'75, and made some substantial cuts along the way.

The budget cuts are over and above those already made by the selectmen who labored over the town manager's original budget presentation last December.

A week ago the selectmen viewed the FinCom suggested cuts as "fly-speck accounting," a term we find particularly appropriate.

It might not be fashionable to look askance at the FinCom predictions of further tax rate cuts, as predicted. But, we feel that the action of the FinCom in practically extracting pepper from a barrel with boxing gloves, leaves something to be desired.

The selectmen, in their budget examinations with the town manager for the past several weeks, perused each item, line by line seeking justification for the expense.

We feel they did an adequate job in providing a true economic picture for Andover voters - no frills, just pure municipal needs.

The FinCom apparently looks upon the budget differently, and either is seeking postponement of some projects, or establishing a hopeful economy.

Further meetings are scheduled between the FinCom and the selectmen in the remaining days before the annual town meeting begins on April 1.

It would be in the best interests of the town, if the selectmen and FinCom could agree on the budget figures to be presented to town meeting prior to April 1.

We see no areas where the differences are irreconcilable.

Based on cursory examination of the figures submitted by the selectmen, if approved, there is still some room for pleasant surprises when the official tax rate setting time rolls around.

Enforcement

The selectmen appear reluctant to arm the local police with sufficient enforcement power to prevent public drinking on streets, parks and public buildings in Andover.

Two articles will be before town meeting this year, which will ask the creation of bylaws to prohibit public drinking, a problem faced by local officials last summer.

Action taken at that time resulted in the selectmen regulating use of parks and property under their jurisdiction as park commissioners.

The bylaw, which is being presented to town meeting in articles 52 and 53 of the warrant, provides the police with the power of enforcing the no drinking ban throughout the town, rather than at selective points as may be designated by the selectmen.

The problem at The Park, across from the East Junior High school and at "The Wall," in Elm Square, last summer was abated somewhat by two factors, according to Police Chief David L. Nicoll. The lowering of the drinking age to 18 sent those so inclined to legal places to imbibe. The weather was also a factor in preventing youthful gatherings.

The selectmen seem somewhat inclined to continue to ask the police to halt such problems when they arise by issuing no drinking directives for the effected areas.

This, as we see it, does not afford the police with sufficient power to do their job. It leads to a brush-fire attack to a problem - regulating areas as they arise.

The broader powers afforded the police through enactment of a bylaw which allows arrests to be made if persons are found drinking or in possession of alcoholic beverages, provides the enforcement agency with sufficient tools to do their job.

It also relies on the discretionary action of the police, or the use of common sense, something we believe the department members possess.

In other words, we do not foresee any innocent person being arrested walking through the park with recently purchased refreshment from a package store, which some selectmen view as a possibility.

Due to the liberal views of the courts, police work today is, at best, difficult. But armed with sufficient tools they can do their job.

As for this particular problem, public drinking, and resultant littering of public ways with cans and bottles, it appears it can best be remedied by enactment of an adequate bylaw as requested by Chief Nicoll.

We recommend a YES vote on Articles 52 and 53.

The Chairman

It will be interesting to view the proceedings of the board of selectmen in the year ahead, with Milton Greenberg as its chairman.

During his first term in office, Mr. Greenberg was constantly annoyed by the statutory incidentals of the office, such as pole locations and street openings for utilities.

He has also been desirous of emphasizing the role of the selectmen as the policy makers of the town.

At his first meeting this week, he asked his colleagues to prepare lists of subjects for future meetings. He will then sit down with the town manager and schedule such items for consideration at future meetings.

We anticipate that Mr. Greenberg will be bringing to the office some of the practices which have led his industrial firm to success.

Off The Top Of The Desk

The first robin of the spring has been spotted hereabouts.

Rita Sherwood of Andover spotted the robust redbreast on the lawn of the former Pike school property on Porter Road Monday afternoon.

We hope that Tuesday's brief reminder of winter in the form of snow, did not prove discouraging and that the robin will be more cognizant of the calendar which indicates that spring officially arrived here on Wednesday.

For the benefit of those who are lulled into complacency at elections with the feeling of what does one vote mean, this reminder from Ipswich.

A recount looms there as the result of Mrs. Annette George recently winning a school committee seat by one vote over incumbent Chairman Robert K. Weatherall.

Regardless of the outcome of the recount, there is significance in the single vote margin.

An interesting item in the latest edition of Massachusetts Wildlife, the publication of the Massachusetts Division of Fisheries and Game focuses on new life for the Merrimack.

It features the movement of salmon and shad up the river and use of the fishways at the Lawrence and Lowell dams. It is indicative of the abating of pollution in the river.

Bell Labs engineers at Chester, N.J., have added a new twist to plowing that may help the Bell System put more telephone cable underground.

They have developed an experimental vibrating plow that enables small tractors to do the job of large tractors in many cable-burying operations, making the job more economical.

The plow's unique design causes the blade to vibrate rapidly in a circle (instead of just up and down, or back and forth), reducing by 10 to 20 times the force required to draw the blade through the ground. This means the plow could be drawn by a rubber-tired vehicle one-fifth the size of large metal-tracked vehicles (such as bulldozers) now required to pull conventional plows.

The plow was designed to help the Bell System speed and ease cable-burying jobs, and at the same time control costs. The Bell System, the world's largest user of cable, last year buried 58,753 miles of sheathed cable. Its policy is to bury all new cable whenever feasible, with an ultimate goal of having no Bell System wires above ground. The new plow would handle cable up to two inches in diameter, which includes about 85 per cent of the cable now buried in the Bell System.

A prototype of the "superplow," in tests under typical field conditions:

- Proved effective in hard and rocky soils.
- Proved effective in frozen soil.
- Demonstrated it would be feasible to design a plow that could be extended from either side of the tractor, and still be effective.

A hard-rubber suspension system on the shaker assembly also isolates the plow vibration from the frame, a problem common with conventional vibrating plows.

Louis J. Scerbo, project engineer, said Bell Labs was discussing the design with interested manufacturing firms.

Can you justify your idea of life on some other planet?

If you can, enter the Alien Life Forms Contest at Boston's Museum of Science.

In addition to submitting an original drawing, painting or model of an extraterrestrial life form, you also write 100 words or less about the hypothetical conditions of the world on which your imaginary life form exists and how it adapted to those conditions.

Prizes will be given in three age categories: 12 and younger; 13 to 17; and 18 and older.

The contest closes April 15. Winning entries will be displayed in the Planetarium lobby. Entry blanks and rules may be obtained in the Museum.

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago - March, 1899

Baseball has received quite an impetus in town this year. The boys at Punchard have formed a team, purchased uniforms and worked on development of a diamond. The playing field this year will be located in the rear of the Punchard building and running north and south instead of east and west.

The sanitary condition of the town house is to be improved. The selectmen have ordered adequate plumbing and mapped out the plans for the improvements.

The selectmen have received a letter from J.E. Pitman, the contractor, informing them that plans to extend Barnard street to Bartlet street will cause severe damage to the property he leases at the corner of Park and Bartlet.

Congressman Knox has announced that he will make his summer home here in Andover, leasing the house on Main street owned by Mrs. C.E. Briggs. The Briggs family will summer in Lexington.

A homeopathic physician has located at the residence formerly occupied by Mrs. C.A. Booth on Punchard Avenue. Dr. Clarke comes here from Wellesey where he has an excellent reputation.

50 Years Ago - March, 1924

To the amusement of all, a piece of motor fire apparatus clanged outside the town hall Saturday afternoon as vote on the purchase of such equipment for the fire department was voted upon. The truck was brought from the Boston Auto Show for display purposes.

Garbage collection at a cost of $2,000 and the swimming beach program at $2,000 are new to the budget approved at town meeting in the amount of $473,270.

W.C. Crowley, speaking for the Punchard scholars and expressing the need for such facilities, led a successful fight for an appropriation of $4,500 for bleachers at the playstead at town meeting.

Frederick S. Boutwell of the Andover Savings Bank will discuss, "Thrift From A Banker's Viewpoint," before the Shawsheen PTA tonight.

The new salaries for town officers include $1,000 for the town clerk annually and $1,800 for the treasurer. The clerk of the selectmen will receive $400.

25 Years Ago - March, 1949

Punchard won the Class C Tech Tourney at Boston Garden Saturday night topping Monsignor Prevost, 56-48 in overtime. Chetson and Deveaux starred.

The League of Women Voters will give the second in a series of radio broadcasts, "Accent on Andover," this week. Speakers will be Mrs. David Darling, Mrs. J. Kendrick Butler and Miss Miriam Putnam.

Physical Education Director Donald D. Dunn is seeking use of a trampoline for the annual school gym exhibit in April. If obtained he will have students from Gardner High school give an exhibition.

Gordon Colquhoun was elected chairman of the school committee this week with William A. Doherty named secretary. Receiving votes for chairman were Mrs. Dorothy Partridge and Atty. Vincent Stulgis.

10 Years Ago - March, 1964

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new Knights of Columbus home on Osgood street took place Sunday.

Andover High's gym team won the state tournament in Springfield last weekend.

The selectmen were unable to solve the impasse between local boards, neighbors and owners of the Florence street business lot.

Solid Waste Exhibition Planned By Chamber

The Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the Greater Lawrence Solid Waste Committee and the Massachusetts Bureau of Solid Waste Disposal, is planning a Solid Waste Exhibition April 17 - 20 at the Methuen Mall.

Chamber Solid Waste Task Force Chairman Donald W. Danforth, whose committee is coordinating the event for the Chamber, stated this week that letters of interest have been sent to more than 25 firms across the country involved in the solid waste processing field. The event, according to Danforth, is being held to "acquaint the people of the area, as well as public officials of the Merrimack Valley communities, of the tremendous technological advances in the field of solid waste processing. We want to show that solid waste processing is no longer a burning dump or a smoky incinerator."

The names of the firms were gathered from lists of companies which have bid on other new solid waste facilities in the New England area. The program is expected to highlight new advances in resource recovery and energy conversion, areas which many experts feel will turn the processing of solid waste into a profit-making business in the future.

The Greater Lawrence area has been designated the state's top priority for the establishment of a regional solid waste facility and district by the state Bureau of Solid Waste Disposal, headed by Alden R. Cousins. Mr. Cousins has been meeting regularly with the Greater Lawrence Solid Waste Committee, made up of officials of the four local communities, in an attempt to arrive at a solution to the region's growing solid waste problem.

Representatives of every Merrimack Valley community are being invited to attend the exhibition. The proposed facility would possibly have the capacity to process solid waste from communities outside the Greater Lawrence area.

It is generally accepted that a new facility for Greater Lawrence should be completed within three years because of current fill-up projections in local landfills and the termination of contracts between Lawrence, Andover and private solid waste firms.

The Douglas-fir tree, giant of the Pacific Northwest, is the most valuable tree in the U.S. It supplies the world market with more products for man's use than any other species of tree, the Massachusetts Audubon Society says.

The rowing will begin on Sunday, March 31, 2-4 p.m. and will continue at the same hours for a total of 8 Sundays. If interest warrants it may be expected that a similar program will be conducted next Fall. Prior registration is required at the YMCA, 10 Brook St., Andover where an information sheet is available. Questions may be addressed to Dick Cate or Elaine Kent.

Top Scientists

The Sixth Grade students at West Elementary school have presented a Science Exhibit for their parents and their fellow students in other grades.

The first prize winners were Sandra Curtis, Most Scientific project and Most Interesting Project, The Life of a Chick; Thomas Dengler and Eric DiDio, Most Artistic Project, A Beaver Dam; and a tie for Most Original Project between Daniel Sirois with The Suspension Bridge and the team of Glen Rousseau and David Fogarty with the Underground Fort.

Mass. Transportation, a subject of great concern to everyone, will be the other topic discussed by a panel of experts.

The public is invited to participate.

Senior Citizens Honored

At the annual banquet of the Friendly Circle, held recently at the Vocational School Coffee Shop, 18 senior citizens of the Andover Baptist Church learned the identities of the Friendly Circle members who had been their Secret Pals for the past year. The "Golden Agers" found their Secret Pal dinner companion by matching halves of "jigsaw cut" paper hearts.

Before dinner was served to the 43 members and guests attending, Mrs. William Hughes, chairman of devotions, read an appropriate devotional poem on Friendship.

Mrs. Robert Stocks, Mrs. Norman Guild, Mrs. Charles Towne and Miss Helen Thompson were in charge of arrangements while Mrs. Lyle Estell had charge of the program.

Following the dinner the program included a bathing beauty contest held with old time photographs which the senior citizens had been asked to bring. Tears of laughter dotted the paper ballots used by Circle members as they voted for the pictured "beauty" they thought best. Mrs. Edith Bell's picture won the honor.

Another fun filled hour was spent finding a prize for each honored guest as they answered such fun questions as who had the smallest feet and the biggest waistline. The senior citizens who attended the banquet were: Katherine Ward, Hazel Wilson, Edith Bell, Harold Livingston, Harry Butler, Marion Norton, Florence Dennison, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Newman, Irene Foster, Mary Hunter, Edith Stevens, Eudora Shattuck, Helen Stott, Ruth Ward, Lena Heinz and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Otis, former long time members of the church who came from their present home in Sanborneville, N.H. to be present at the banquet.

Samel Honored

Hiram M. Samel of Andover, was presented a certificate of recognition for his participation with the junior varsity squash team at the annual winter athletic awards dinner at St. Paul's School, Concord, N.H.

Festival Of Hymns

In response to a nostalgia for some of the lovely old hymns, the Free Christian Church has arranged a Hymn Festival for this coming Sunday evening, to begin at 7 p.m.

Many requests have already been received from members of the congregation and other requests may be sent in to the church office before Sunday. While the festival will cover a lot of congregational singing it will also include items by the senior and junior choirs as well as soloists.

Following the Hymn Festival there will be a coffee fellowship in the upper parish hall.

This event is open to all who wish to share in it. An offering will be taken during the evening.

Quiet Lenten Meditations

The public is invited to attend Quiet Lenten Meditations from 12 noon to 12:30 every Wednesday through Lent at the Free Christian Church.

The service consists of thirty minutes beginning with a Scripture Reading and closing with a prayer. Soft devotional organ music provides a background for meditation. Worshippers may come and go during the half-hour if they so wish.

Residents Assist In Production

A number of Andover residents are involved in the Living Presence Experimental Theatre production of "The King and I" to be held March 21, 22, 23 at Denworth Hall, Bradford College, Bradford at 8 p.m.

Dr. and Mrs. Glen Gulezian, 8 Pioneer Circle, are co-producers of the production involving over 75 young people from the Merrimack Valley Area.

Assisting as ticket chairmen, box office attendants, and cast party coordinators will be Mr. and Mrs. Sam DerAnanian, 1 Dean Circle.

Serving as stage manager and coordinator of all backstage props and scenery will be Gary Gulezian, 10 Arthur Road. Assisting will be Vahey Gulezian.

Under the direction of Miss Eileen Miller, Bradford, the show includes such popular songs as "I Whistle A Happy Tune," "Getting To Know You," "Something Wonderful" and "Shall We Dance."

Set against the exotic background of the imperial palace in mid 19th century Siam, "The King and I" unfolds an odd yet compelling story of an English School Teacher and the "uncivilized" Siamese King. She is the "west;" he is the "east" and the two meet in electric conflict and warm understanding.

Advised by a staff of volunteer adults, the young people of the Experimental Theatre create their own sets and costumes.

Working with and among the youth of the Merrimack Valley, the object of the Living Presence is to involve young people in positive activities with an awareness that all talents are God-given.

Tickets may be purchased from any of those mentioned above as well as at the door.

A Book On Yoga

"Yoga Is For You"
By Sue Luby

An Andover woman who has gained national note as a teacher of Hatha Yoga exercises is author of a new yoga instruction book published by Prentice-Hall, Inc., and available locally within the coming weeks.

Sue Luby, founder of the Yoga Teachers' Association of America, has just received her first hardback and paperback copies of "Yoga Is For You," her primer of yoga for men, women and children from youth to Senior Citizens' age.

Mrs. Luby already has been featured in a national family magazine and has recorded a double album on yoga which sells nationally. Her book has the added advantage of several good-sized photographs of the author to illustrate each yoga position described. "Yoga Is For You" takes the beginner through 50 yoga postures with approximately 150 photographs to lead the student through the beginning and intermediate stages of Hatha Yoga, step by step.

Mrs. Luby, who teaches 300 students locally, both men and women, and has led yoga as an after-school activity at West

Sue Luby

Elementary School, is a firm believer in the benefits of the technique for all ages. "Yoga is not a religion, it is a technique which increases vitality, gives relaxation and peace of mind. I ought to know, I sure didn't start out that way."

The Andover yoga instructor is her own best advertisement. She began yoga more than ten years ago when she had gained 30 pounds after the births of her two children, and suffered from a painful back problem.

"Finally, I stumbled onto a yoga class conducted by Marcia Moore, one of the nation's best known yoga teachers, and studied under her for two years," Sue Luby relates. Sue gives yoga credit for the new Sue Luby that emerged - slim, relaxed and full of new energy. "The change, both inward and outward, was so great that my friends and neighbors wanted me to teach them the secret. I worked with them through the summer, and by that fall, was launched as a teacher and lecturer on yoga." A feature in Woman's Day followed, which Sue saw as a means of spreading the good word about the Hatha Yoga as a means of unlocking energies, increasing physical fitness, bringing composure and peace of mind. Mrs. Luby trains yoga teachers to carry on her no-nonsense, positive approach to yoga. She also has been giving free private lessons to children with a combination of asthma and poor motor control, to help them build up self-confidence and control their asthma through controlled, related breathing.

Prentice-Hall Inc. is releasing the Yoga Is For You simultaneously through its Trades Departments and College Divisions, which fits Mrs. Luby's aim to reach Physical Education treatments of schools and colleges. "The curriculum in most physical education programs emphasizes competitive sports so much that it leaves out a vast majority of students who do not excel in sports. I want to reach them with Hatha Yoga as an enjoyable, deeply effective way of increasing their physical fitness, appearance and self confidence through proper breathing and spine care, and fit them to better handle life as it is today."

THE STUDENT AND HER HELPERS. Mrs. Elizabeth Conway, student nurse of the year has had plenty of family assistance while studying toward her new career as a nurse. In back, Edward Conway, Jr., Edward Conway, Sr. and Patricia Ann. Middle row, Shawn, Liz and her mother, Mrs. Grace O'Neil Dupuis. Front, Maureen, Christopher and Michael.

Student Nurse Of Year Has A Motherly Instinct

By Linda S. Corbett

All those years Liz Conway of North Andover was a Marine Corps wife and rearing six children, the idea of being a nurse was in the back of her mind.

On June 2, in graduation exercises in the Merrimack College chapel, it'll come true.

But along with her R.N., Liz has earned a very special award - she has been named Student Nurse of the Year at Lawrence General Hospital. And by June, her honors may go even further, as her name has now been entered for the state-wide student nurse title.

Liz will be the first, however, to pass along credit to the family. "It just wasn't something you could jump into without cooperation," she says of the past three years of class, student training, and now, in addition, working Saturdays in the operating room at The General.

"I couldn't have done it without Ed," she says of her husband, a retired Marine recruiter, who served in Vietnam, and now heads maintenance at Merrimack College.

"And the kids have all been great," she says of Patricia, 19, who works for Liberty Mutual in Andover; Eddie, 16, a sophomore at North Andover High; Michael, 12, in Middle School; and Shawn, 11, Maureen, 10, and Christopher, 7, all in Bradstreet School.

She also praises her mother, Mrs. Grace Dupuis of South Lawrence, who also works at Merrimack, "but has more energy than I do." She comes over and helps with the ironing and all.

A native of Lawrence, Liz had taken the nursing course at Lawrence High School, but she and Ed got married soon after.

While he was a recruiter in Lawrence most of his Marine career, Ed served a while in Okinawa and also in Vietnam. The only time Liz could go with him was for a stint at Camp LeJeune, N.C., which was "too far away," and he was reassigned to Lawrence.

They've been back in North Andover 11 years.

While she'd thought about nursing off and on over those years, one day in 1971 Liz "just picked up the phone" and called for an application. She didn't tell anyone besides Ed, she says, because she had to take the SATs, and after several years of being out of school, didn't know how she'd do.

But she made it and everyone went along.

On Saturday, for instance, when Liz works at The General - she leaves a list of chores for the children.

"They might not do it the way you or I would," she says of housecleaning, "but they do all right."

I made up my mind when I started back to school that I would have to concentrate on my studies and couldn't worry about everything being in order. I get caught up on holidays."

In the beginning, she says, she had to have peace and quiet for studying. But it's all in learning how to concentrate again, she says, and now she can have the radio on and people all around.

If she had trouble in a subject, she said, she'd go over to the Merrimack dorm and sit on the floor with the other student nurses, and they'd work it out together.

When her schedule allows, Liz tries to get dinner ready before she goes off to do her student nursing. But when she can't, she has a good substitute.

Before Ed was a Marine, he served in the Navy for four years - as a cook. In fact, Liz says, "he's taught me all I know. When I first got married I burned everything." He likes to make all these fancy roasts and things," she goes on. "He likes to decorate them and all. Me, I just throw it in the oven."

Gravy, she adds, is one of Ed's specialties.

While there was little socializing in the first years of class, there is now, and Liz even finds time for herself. Twice a week, she goes over to Slender Trap to exercise.

She never misses a JV basketball game (son Eddie is on the team), and rarely misses a varsity game. If she does miss - as she did last Wednesday when the varsity beat St. Peter's in Brockton, or the all-star game at the Garden, but catches it on the radio.

Liz also makes all the hockey games when sons Michael and Shawn play.

"I'm a loud mouth in the stands there, too," she laughs.

Liz hopes for an operating room assignment, come graduation. Meanwhile, she says, she was especially pleased to be - "Student Nurse of the Year," because she was elected by her fellow classmates, after a faculty committee had narrowed the field to five.

"But nobody was more surprised than I was," she says.

Homelands Festival Planned

The 25th Homelands Festival, an international pageant of folk art, festivities and ethnic foods, will be held Thursday through Sunday, April 25-28. The festival will be open to school groups on Thursday and Friday and to the public on Saturday from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Sunday from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. The Homelands Festival will be held at the YWCA, 38 Lawrence St., Lawrence.

More than 20 different nationalities from Greater Lawrence and Boston will participate in the four-day fair. India, China, Puerto Rico, Japan, Cuba, Ecuador, French Canada, Mexico and the Ukraine will be represented.

According to David Rodger, Executive Director of the International Institute, the festival, co-sponsored by the Institute and the YWCA of Greater Lawrence, will "bring together representatives of the major nationalities in Greater Lawrence, to work together on a common project and to exchange the best of each others cultures."

Handmade articles and traditional pastries will be among the items offered for sale at a variety of displays and booths. Also on sale will a reprint of the International Institute's classic 1938 Cookbook.

A special feature of this year's festival will be a Continental Cafe, featuring international coffees and wines.

An International Buffet will be held on Saturday, April 27 from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. The buffet will feature such foods as Syrian Kibbie, Norwegian Bread, Italian Lasagne, French Meat Pastries and German Saurbrat with noodles.

On-stage entertainment, scheduled at different times during the day and evening will feature a variety of musicians, singers and dancers.

Craft demonstrations will include Chinese brush painting, pottery making and egg decorating.

Over three thousand people attended the Homelands Festival last year and according to Rodger, the sponsors hope to double the attendance this year. For advance tickets or more information, contact the International Institute at 430 North Canal St., Lawrence of the Lawrence YWCA, 38 Lawrence St.

Benefit Bridge Is Planned For April 10

Members of the Board of Directors of the Greater Lawrence Chapter of The New England Home for Little Wanderers are coordinating plans for a Benefit Bridge afternoon on April 10. As in previous years, the site of the pleasant occasion will be the November Club, Locke St., Andover.

The purchase of a ticket will include a convivial sherry hour at 11 a.m., followed by a buffet luncheon including a tempting array of homebaked pastries and coffee.

Area women are invited to reserve tables for bridge or the game of their choice, or simply join "friends" for luncheon. Persons remaining for the entire afternoon should plan to bring their own cards. An incentive to thoughtful "gamesmanship" will be table favors, in addition to a surprise raffle. Play will end at 3 p.m.

This year's reservations are being accepted at the response of word-of-mouth and other publicity as the board will not mail individual invitations. All interested participants should contact one of the following board members: Mrs. George L. Cady, 5 Shipman Road; Mrs. Lawrence Farrington, 7 Charlotte Drive; Mrs. Robert Ramsdell, 70 Holt Road; Mrs. Howard Cobin, 28 Wolcott Ave.; Mrs. Frank Simons, 1 Longwood Drive; Mrs. Andre Paradis, 89 Abbott St.; Mrs. R. Students
Get Glimpse Of Jr. High

Seventh grade students from West Junior High school visited the sixth grade at West Elementary school recently.

The purpose of the visit was to relate their experiences at leaving the elementary school and entering the junior high school. Discussion groups were formed in each sixth grade class and the conversations covered many areas. Homework policies, foreign language classes, school rules and special activities highlighted most of the groups. An informative and frank question and answer session followed.

It is planned that this activity will be a first step in the annual orientation of sixth grade students to the junior high school environment. The use of seventh grade speakers allows for interaction of children who have experienced the change with those who will do so in September.

former Town Manager Richard J. Bowen, the FinCom chairman reports.

The budget will be contained in the center of the book.

The chairman's message will be in the front and contain observations on issues which relate to municipal finances.

Byrne makes some commentaries on county government which he notes costs local taxpayers huge sums with no voice in the expenditures. He also comments on growing regionalization programs which he says may need the view of regional finance committees.

The FinCom has approved 12 of 15 money articles in the warrant totalling $1,460,922.

The committee may take a stand on a proposed rezoning item which concerns an apartment complex on Beacon street. Byrne says the proposal appears to be a costly one as far as town services are concerned, and the FinCom may make such observations at town meeting.

Another factor, still unknown in the budgetary planning is the amount to be included for employee compensation plan. Public safety departments are currently negotiating a new contract with the town and a figure for inclusion in the town meeting has not as yet been decided.

Briggs To Leave CD Position

Winston C. Briggs of Arundel Street, has resigned as civil defense director, after having served in that department for over 25 years.

Briggs, who has been director of the department for the past two years, had served for many years as head of the auxiliary police department.

Increased pressure of personal business was given as the need to retire from the CD post.

Limited Operation At Landfill

Operation of the landfill site on Chandler Road has resumed on a twice-weekly basis for disposal of such items as leaves, brush, grass, and recyclables only.

The landfill will be open on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on Wednesdays from noon to 4 p.m.

No building materials or building debris will be permitted. There will be no disposal of household refuse or like material.

Andover To Host Caucus

Andover will be host for the next meeting of the Greater Lawrence Legislative and Business Caucus, to be held Friday, March 22, at 8 a.m. at the Andover Inn.

Current issues facing community leaders in the Greater Lawrence area are discussed at this forum instituted by the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce.

The membership in the caucus includes state representatives and senators and affords an opportunity for elected officials of the area communities to discuss issues at the state and local level.

Warrant Meetings Scheduled

The town warrant will be discussed at three meetings of the League of Women Voters of Andover next week.

At the beginning of the meetings league members will be recommending possible topics for study on the local level for next year.

Monday, March 25, a meeting will be held at noon, at the home of Therese Reichert, 49 Cheever Circle.

On Tuesday morning, March 26 the meeting will begin at 9:15 a.m. at Christ Church. Please call Linda Carpenter, 74 Argilla Road, at least two days in advance.

Thursday the meeting will be at 7:45 p.m. at the home of Lillian Pease, Nathan Hall West, Chapel Ave.

All interested citizens are invited to attend.

Open House

Thousands of high school students, parents, educators, dignitaries and the general public will attend the annual all-day open House at Wentworth Institute on Wednesday, April 3, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

More than $1,000,000 in equipment in all the laboratories will be on view as well as work done by Wentworth students.

2 To Address Membership Dinner

THE TOWNSMAN, MARCH 28, 1974

The annual membership dinner of the Lawrence General Hospital will be held on Wednesday evening, April 3 at the Andover Country Club.

It was announced today by Mrs. Albert P. Manzi, Chairman, that the principal speaker of the evening will be Dr. Mitchell T. Rabkin, General Director of the Beth Israel Hospital in Boston.

Dr. Rabkin, who is also an Assistant Professor of Medicine at Harvard Medical School, has been a leading innovator in bringing new standards of excellence to the delivery of health care. Under his imaginative direction, the Beth Israel Hospital has been in the fore-front of many of the advances that have taken place on both the local and national medical scene. Deeply concerned with the total care of the patient at Beth Israel, Dr. Rabkin authored the brochure "Your Rights As A Patient At Beth Israel Hospital", now in its second printing.

Several months after the hospital published the rights brochure, the American Hospital Association followed with its version. As a result of his recent appearances on the Today Show, CBS Morning News, The Barbara Walters Show, and many local TV and radio programs as well, Dr. Rabkin has triggered nationwide interest on this sensitive aspect of patient care and hospitalization.

EXAMINING THE HISTORY BOOK TO BE REPRINTED are representatives of the Andover and North Andover Historical Societies. Shown, from the left, are Edward Marsden, President of the North Andover Historical Society, Donald Hayes, Jr., vice president of the Andover Historical Society, Mrs. Walter Flinn, Educational Coordinator for the North Andover Historical Society and Thomas A. Emmons, President of the Andover Historical Society.

Will Offer Historic Book

The Andover and North Andover Historical Societies will commemorate the Bicentennial of the American Revolution by underwriting the reprinting of Sarah Loring Bailey's Historical Sketches of Andover, first published in 1880.

This joint venture of the two Societies will offer a total of 300 copies of the book to the public, with members of the Societies given priority.

The book has long been one of the basic sources of the history of present day North Andover and Andover. Miss Bailey's book is also an extraordinary history because she saw and heard much of what she relates; the tales she tells are still fresh.

Copies of the book that are infrequently found in secondhand book stores cost around $40. The Historical Societies will offer the reprint at a pre-publication price of $12.50 and after publication on May 1 at $15. Printed by the Edwards Brothers Press in Ann Arbor, Michigan, the book will be bound in a facsimile of the original green cloth binding. Copies may be ordered from either Historical Society.

Miss Bailey, who died in 1896, was a local school teacher. Her great uncle, Bailey Loring, was a minister at the North Parish Church in North Andover. Her youngest brother lived in the Parson Barnard House and it was his widow who sold the house to the North Andover Historical Society.

Miss Bailey's book opens with a chapter on prehistoric Andover and then covers the history of the area from 1639 to 1880. It provides important research material as well as charming anecdotes of people and events during this period.

Members of the Societies who are working on the project include Thomas A. Emmons, president of the Andover Historical Society, Edward Marsden, president of the North Andover Society, Donald Hayes, Jr., vice president of the Andover Historical Society and Mrs. Walter Flinn, Educational Coordinator for the North Andover Historical Society.

To Discuss IGE Plan At Session

"The ABC's of I.G.E.," an information program for all interested citizens in the Merrimack Valley area, will be held at Shawsheen School, Andover, on April 4.

I.G.E., or Individually Guided Education, is the name of the program developed by the University of Wisconsin and Kettering Foundation, which emphasizes multi-level materials, continuous pre and post assessment, teacher training, flexible grouping and multimedia.

The evening will begin at 6:30 with a tour of the Shawsheen School, which has been recently renovated to provide more flexible teaching-learning space.

A new slide-tape entitled "Parent Power," filmed in the 14 I.G.E. schools in Merrimack Valley Project League will "premiere" at 7, and includes shots of parents in action in diverse volunteer capacities.

Two discussion series will follow at 7:30 and 8:15, with participants selecting those topics which most interest them. Questions to be covered include: What Is I.G.E.? What do test results show? What does it cost and who pays?

Las Vegas Night

St. Augustine's Parish, Andover, will hold its second annual "Las Vegas" night, Friday, March 29, at the Andover Country Club. Doors will open at 7 p.m.; a buffet and dancing is included. Tickets are available at the Rectory.

Ham, Beans and Supper Planned

By popular demand, the Friendly Circle of the Baptist Church is planning a Ham and Beans Supper and Dinner to be held in the church vestry hall from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Friday, March 29.

The Circle usually has a supper in the Fall and Spring, but last Fall's supper was cancelled because of bad weather and spiraling costs.

According to president, however, so many members were disappointed about the cancellation and wouldn't have paid the increased price for the menu, that the decision was made to hold the supper this year.

Retailer Of The Year Honored

Austin E. Anderson, proprietor of the Andover Gift House for the past 14 years, has been named "Retailer of the Year" by the Andover Chamber of Commerce. The award was presented at a dinner meeting of the Retail Task Force last Thursday at The Andover Inn.

Anderson moved his shop to its present Main Street location from Park Street about 10 years ago.

A native of Western New York State, Anderson worked for Jordan Marsh upon graduation from Yale with three-and-a-half years out for the Army's medical administrative service during World War II. In 1946, he moved to Daniel Low in Salem, where he was general manager before coming to Andover. The store had the same general line of merchandise as the Andover Gift House.

Anderson is a past president of the Andover Chamber of Commerce and former chairman of its Retail Task Force, as well as a past president and member of the board of directors of the Andover Co-Op.

Ham, Bean Supper Planned

By popular demand, the Friendly Circle of the Andover Baptist Church is making plans for a Ham and Bean Supper to be held in the church vestry on April 6 from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.

The Circle usually sponsors one supper in the Fall and one in the Spring, but last Fall's supper was cancelled because of meat shortages and spiraling prices.

According to president, Shirley Guild, however, so many people told Circle members they were disappointed about the cancellation and wouldn't mind an increased price for the traditional menu, that the decision was made to hold the Spring Supper. Despite an increase in price there will be no change in the homemade goodness of the baked beans, potato salad, cole slaw, rolls, relishes and pie or the quantities of ham all still to be served family style.

The supper committee, under the direction of Mrs. Robert Stocks, Mrs. Fred Otis and Mrs. Ernest Stocks, met at the home of Mrs. Otis Monday to finalize plans for special committees which will be announced next week.

Donal Coleman of Flint Circle, Andover, a student at the University of Massachusetts, has been named to a special study committee by Gov. Francis W. Sargent.

Coleman will serve on a special commission to investigate and study the future utilization of training schools in Essex and Middlesex counties and the site of the Shirley school.

Town Meeting

anticipating the meeting will run three nights, with the first night devoted almost solely to the budget. The second session will be on Monday, April 8. The third meeting date is still to be decided upon. Monday, April 15 is a legal holiday and also the first day of the annual spring school vacation, thus town officials do not foresee calling a session that week.

Consensus is that the succeeding Monday schedule will be followed, making the third night, April 22, but this will be decided probably on Saturday morning.

Monday night, at 9 p.m., action will be halted on the regular warrant to allow voters to consider three articles in a special town meeting warrant, the major one being paying deferred salaries for teachers. The item calls for $650,000, but may be reduced before Monday.

This week's joint session between the selectmen and FinCom accomplished little in the way of reconciling differences.

FinCom Chairman Frank J. Byrne and Mrs. R. Milton Cole both asked for rationale to support the selectmen's request that the budget cuts be restored.

Chairman Milton Greenberg, after reading a long list of agreements on office supplies, but mostly disagreement with all other monetary cuts, said, "there is an honest difference of opinion."

Greenberg said the selectmen will provide the voters with an informational sheet explaining their budget requests and will be prepared to support their stand beginning Monday night.

Mrs. Cole said she objected strenuously to the action and attitude of the selectmen. She said that she came prepared to listen to justification for restoring the budget cuts, but apparently the selectmen were unwilling to show cause why the funds should be put back.

Charles Wesson of the FinCom said he objected to the insults aimed at his board through terms such as "fly-speck accounting" with which the selectmen described the budget cut action.

Greenberg said this was a term used in industry all the time and there was no intention of insulting anyone. He said the board recognized the FinCom had a responsibility to the town but that there is an honest difference of opinion. "We took a positive stand on these items and the townspeople are entitled to know our feelings. This information will be provided at town meeting."

Greenberg reiterated his feeling of an honest difference when FinCom Byrne said "the issue here is not the budget cuts, but a hard-nosed battle between the selectmen and FinCom challenging the duties of the FinCom under terms of the town manager charter."

Thus, the stage is set for a budget battle, unless some sudden changes are made by either the selectmen or FinCom prior to Monday night. Neither board appears ready to compromise or move toward reconciling differences as the meeting date moves closer.

With the Monday budget session out of the way, town meeting will then move on to such items as rezoning, providing funds for continuing surface drain improvements and providing a sewer line in Ballardvale. Flood plain zoning will also be on the agenda, probably due for action on the third night.

school. He will succeed Judge Joseph B. Silverio who has reached the mandatory retirement age of 70.

Fenton, 43, resides at 154 Berkeley St., Lawrence with his wife the former Theresa A. Regan.

Among his many community interests are the Bon Secours Hospital, where he serves as legal counsel and has served on many boards and in many offices; the Mary Immaculate Nursing Home, where he is president and member of the advisory board; the Greater Lawrence Mental Health Center, the United Fund, the Greater Lawrence Sanitary District Commission, the Chamber of Commerce, Catholic Charities, the Joint Hospital Building Corp., the Elks, and the Lawrence High Alumni Association.

Last year, Fenton served as chairman of a Special Charter Study Commission which reviewed the Lawrence City Charter and issued a report calling for major reforms in the city's form of government.

Fenton attended Lawrence schools and was graduated from Lawrence High with Great Distinction in 1947. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Holy Cross, graduating Cum Laude, in 1951; a Juris Doctor degree, ranking second in his class, from Boston College Law School in 1954 and a Master of Laws from Harvard Law School in June, 1955.

more thought to consolidation of the central business district."

Chairman Milton Greenberg added that he felt the Town has to decide the size and shape of the central business district and stay within those bounds.

They also opposed changing a residential parcel between Route 93, the Frontage Road, and the Knights of Columbus property, to industrial (Article 54).

The board gave the nod to acquisition of the 10-acre Conway conservation strip abutting the Harold Parker Forest, (#25) and the five-acre Sumner-Bacon parcel between Pine Street and Lucerne Drive (#61). They withheld, however, recommendation on three parcels between the Town playground area on Cuba Street and the West Junior High grounds (#26), and the 75-acre Boyle property which runs between High Plain Road and Lowell Street (#48).

In other action Monday, the Selectmen drew for jury duty in Lawrence Superior Court April 1, Thomas Price, 38 Mary Lou Lane, and for Superior Court duty in Newburyport April 16, Charles Burns, 51 Marilyn Road, Anthony Servello, 1 Hawthorne Circle, and Grace Hatch, 116 Wild Rose Drive.

The Selectmen also okayed excavations for underground conduits by Mass. Electric Co. for some 150 feet on River Road, in the Heavens Way vicinity, and on Prospect Hill Road, east of Route 125 near the proposed Buchan Road.

Passion Play Sunday

The Passion, a unique dramatic poem, carefully designed and directed by Richard D. Waters, and performed by the well-known Fisherman's Players of Cape Cod, will bring to life the ministry and sacrifice of Jesus in living poetry at the South Church on Sunday, March 31, at 7:30 p.m.

The Passion is considered one of Mr. Waters' best works. It is a sensitive and reverent rendering of certain themes and events in the life of Jesus with the result that the viewer seems to participate in them. Jesus is always seen through the eyes of individuals who run the gamut from love to hatred for Him. We follow Him through the eyes of Mary Magdalene, Judas, Pilate, Mary His mother, and others.

The churches of Andover have united to make this event possible for the people of the town. Tickets have been on sale for awhile, and some are still available at the cooperating churches, Ballardvale United Church, Baptist Church, Christ Church, Faith Lutheran Church, Saint Augustine's Church, South Church and West Parish Church for a small donation.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

West Parish A swept to its fourth straight Intermediate Division championship, and fifth in the past six years, following a 46-14 victory over South B during the final round of regular-season Andover Church Basketball League play last Monday night at the East Junior High gym.

The win, West A's 10th straight this season and 36th in the past 37 league starts, gave the club a final record of 11-1.

St. Robert's A once again finished second, edging South A by a 26-23 count to close out the campaign at 10-2 with a nine-game victory streak.

Third place was secured by St. Augustine B, a 29-27 conquerer of West Parish B which settled the winners' final ledger at 9-3.

St. Robert's C blasted St. Augustine D, 50-7, and thus ended tied with idle St. Robert's B for fourth place at 8-4.

West Parish Takes Title

WEST PARISH A captured its fourth straight Intermediate Division championship in the Andover Church Basketball League last Monday night, sweeping to its 10th consecutive win to close the season at 11-1 in the league and 23-4 overall. West A teams have also won the divisional title five of the past six years, and have lost just one of their last 37 league starts. Front row (l-r): Jeff Rosen, Pete Newton, Paul Newton. Back row (l-r): Billy Hall, Mike McDonald, Coach Rick Harrison and Phil Harnden. Missing when the photo was taken was Glen Johnson.

record at 6-6 by zipping past Free, 35-5, and St. Augustine A registered a 2-0 forfeit triumph over Baptist.

Title Charge

West A, sparked by Jeff Rosen's 10 first quarter points, raced to an 18-6 lead over South B and then built the advantage up gradually en route to the championship.

Rosen led all scorers by pouring through 14 points, while consistent Billy Hall cracked double figures again with 12 markers.

Pete Newton tossed in 8 points, Mike McDonald bagged 6, Paul Newton swished 4 and Phil Harnden netted a deuce as six West A players entered the scoring act.

Tim Plass led the way for South B by dropping through 9 points. Big Bob Kilgo was stifled by Rosen's defense and held to just 4 points, while Jason Russell canned a last period free throw.

Other leaders in a losing cause were Rich Caughey, Mike Morris and Robbie Finlayson. South was minus the services of John Sagaser, while Glen Johnson was absent for West A.

Bradley Dominates

Undermanned St. Robert's A, playing without three key performers, eased past South A (26-23) on the strength of big Dan Bradley's 17-point effort.

The game was tight all the way. The victors led 8-4, 12-10 and 17-14 at the first three checkpoints. South closed to within 24-23 and had several chances to go ahead, before Paul Weeks banked in a clutch lay-up for St. Robert's with 12 seconds to go.

Weeks fired in 5 points and Mike Murray added 4 second-half markers for St. Robert's A, which also received good performances from Ben Bram and Rich Danner.

Lefty Will Washburn powered the South A offense by pumping in 9 points. Mark Weiner chucked through 6 markers, Jim Gardner 4 and Andy Cobin 4 points.

Doug Taylor and Dale Lattanzio also played well for South A.

Nip-and-Tuck

St. Augustine B handed West Parish B its fourth close setback of the season, rallying from a slim two-point deficit in the closing minutes to gain the 29-27 victory.

West B led 7-5 after one quarter. It was 14-14 at the half, but West inched ahead 23-21 during the third stanza of the tight battle.

John Walsh emerged as top gun for St. Augustine B by stuffing 10 points. Brother Tom Walsh pocketed 7 markers, Paul Sirois 6 and Bill Hart 6 points.

Game-high honors were reserved for Gary Johnson of West B with 11 markers. Jody Yameen notched 8 points, Chris Doherty 6 and Jay McLeod flipped in a solo basket.

Double Trouble

Divisional scoring champ John McNamara (153 points) and runner-up Carmen Frederico (137) once again powered high-scoring St. Robert's C (376 points) to its 50-7 romp over St. Augustine D.

The prolific pair, who came on especially strong at season's end to overhaul West A's Billy Hall (130), dumped in 12 and 18 points respectively in the finale.

Todd Zimmerman aided the attack with 8 points. Tom Daley gunned through 6 markers, Ira Gold had 4 and Jamie Lebowitz tossed in a first period bucket.

The issue was never in doubt as St. Robert's C led 16-2 after one stanza and 28-2 at the half.

Will Dufresne deposited 5 points and Steve Moriarty had 2 more for St. Augustine D, which played without sparkplugs Steve Morin and Richie Aumais.

John and Jim Dwyer, along with Mike Dufresne, contributed fine all-around efforts for the 'D' squad.

Bedell Erupts

St. Augustine C fell behind Free 2-0 after Doug Awley's bucket in the opening seconds, but rebounded for a 5-2 first quarter edge and made it 15-3 by halftime en route to the 35-5 triumph.

Mark Bedell drilled in 15 points to pace the victors' well-rounded charge. Jay DiIorio popped in 8 points, Jeff Roy 6, Bob Oelwang 3, Chris Bedell 2 points and Bill Caselden swished a charity toss.

For Free, high-scorer Steve Smith arched in 3 points to back up Awley's bucket. Other standouts were Doug Kirkland, Dave Gagnon, Scott Lindstrom, Alan Green and Jon VanDerZee.

One Man Shy

Baptist came up one player shy of the necessary five and was forced to forfeit its game to St. Augustine A.

However, the rivals held a spirited scrimmage anyway and closed with a 17-17 tie.

Rich Gusmini tossed in 6 points for St. Augustine A, followed by Bob Bartley with 4, Tom Haskard 3 and single baskets from Dave Gusmini and Charlie Wiseman.

For Baptist it was Steve Rathbun tops with 8 points. Jim Rathbun notched 6 and Tim Whitton 3, while Jeff Parker and Bob Wholley (who was on "loan" from St. Augustine A) also played well.

All-Star Games

The Intermediate Division will conclude all 1973-74 activities with the annual shooting contest and a pair of All-Star Games next Wednesday evening at the West Junior High.

Ted Kelley (Globe) the regular-season scoring champ, was once again with 10 points victorious North.

Craig Lebowitz (Kred) in 6 markers a Moriarty (Lakers) corner attack with a bucket.

The well-balanced assault featured 4 points by Joe Zemis (Celt) McDaniel (Globetrotter) Jim Terrion (Raiders).

Solo free throw registered by Jeff (Lakers) and Mike (Bucks).

Juniors In Season Windup

The Junior Division (8-9 years old) of the Andover Church Basketball League wrapped up its second season of operation with an All-Star Game and shooting contest at the East Junior High gym last week.

In the tightly-contested Star contest the North team edged the South squad, 18-14.

Ted Kelley (Globetrotters), the regular-season divisional scoring champ, was high man once again with 10 points for the victorious North.

Craig Lebowitz (Knicks) tossed in 6 markers and Brian Moriarty (Lakers) completed the attack with a bucket.

The well-balanced South assault featured 4 points apiece by Joe Zemis (Celtics), Greg McDaniel (Globetrotters) and Jim Terrion (Raiders).

Solo free throws were registered by Jeff Fleming (Lakers) and Mike White (Bucks).

Shooting Contest

The shooting contest, based on the same premise as the "Around the World" game, offered each boy a chance to take five shots from around the key area and five additional free throws.

Ted Kelley emerged as the individual shooting champ, hitting a sizzling 9-of-10 in his first set of shots and then winning a second shoot-off against other team champs.

The team prize for the best overall accuracy was captured by Kelley's team, the undefeated divisional champion Globetrotters.

Boast Record Of 9-3-1

The Andover Squirts now sport an impressive 9-3-1 record. As coaches Dunn, Milne and Zussman thought the boys played excellent hockey in the Heart Fund Game, but Westford broke the Squirts winning streak of 6, with a 3-2 win. In any case, the boys came back after they lost, to bomb Masconomet, 13-1.

Brian Lincoln was the main factor in the Heart Fund game, as he figured in all 4 goals. His first of two goals came at 11:33, unassisted, as he made his graceful rush up the ice. His second was when Ricky Abgar laid a picture perfect pass on his stick as Brian put it away. Peter Dunn tipped in a slapshot from Brian Lincoln at the point to make the score 3-0 Andover. Tom Fabiani caught a Brian Lincoln pass and put the game out of reach at 5:48, as Andover won handily 4-0, and both Donny Bliss and Scottie Round collected their second combined shutout.

At Nashua Garden, Andover faced a fast skating Westford team Westford jumped out front 2-0, but Andover's Chris Doherty drew the puck back on a face off and Peter Dunn picked the corner, to make it 2-1. Once again Westford caught Andover napping, but Tommy Hetley picked up the puck in his own end and sent Chris Doherty in all the way to make it 2-3. It was to be of no help for as the last second ticked off, Westford had won 3-2.

Last Thursday night, March 21, Andover Squirts faced off against the Masconomet Squirts; Masconomet was far from being in the Andover class, that Andover is in, as they put 13 goals by Masconomet's goalie. Twelve different people figured in the scoring. Assistant Captain, Chris Doherty lead the scoring with 4 points, and the teams first hat trick of the season. There were four boys who scored 2 goals, Bob Leber, Tom Fabiani, J.J. Pelegrino and Ricky Abgar. Doug Price had 3 assists and David Deloury 2.

Scoring

GP-G-A-Pts.
Doherty	13-13-9-22
Derby	13-10-6-16
Lincoln	13-8-6-14
Dunn	13-6-8-14

Abgar	13-4-4-8
J.J. Pelegrino	13-4-2-6
Banfield	12-3-3-6
Price	7-1-5-6

The D-line (Doherty, Derby and Dunn) now have 2 over the 50 mark with 52 points, 29 goals and 23 assists. While the F.A.M. line (Fabiani, Abgar and Milne) have 20 points with 10 goals and 10 assists. The P.P.B's line (Pelegrino, Price and Banfield) are right behind the F.A.M. line with 18 points 8 goals and 10 assists.

By Rick Harrison
The 1974 Andover High baseball team, prepping for its April 16 Merrimack Valley Conference opener at home against Dracut, has been working out for the past two weeks at the Phillips Academy cage and in the high school gym.

Varsity Coach Fred Polgreen and JV skipper Ed Kelley greeted some 51 candidates at the opening drills, and this number will have to be trimmed to approximately 33 within the next two weeks.

Veteran Club

This year's edition of the Golden Warriors is a veteran-laden outfit, with no less than eight regular performers back from the 1973 team which finished well below .500.

The record was deceptive, however, as Andover lost eight one-run games including a pair in extra innings.

The JV squad came through with a fine 11-6 ledger last season, and several of its key performers figure to crack the varsity lineup this Spring.

There are also some promising sophomore candidates, up from the East and West Frosh teams which both posted winning records one year ago.

A recent poll of MVC coaches rates Andover as one of the several potential league stalwarts along with newcomer Lawrence, Methuen, Lawrence Central and defending champ Tewksbury.

Co-Captains

This year's co-captains are senior Mark Sweetser and senior Bob Burrow, both three-sport standouts at the high school.

Sweetser is a catcher who boasts a strong arm and the solid type of all-around defense needed behind the plate. Mark finished last season with a respectable .259 batting average.

The 6'1, 180-pounder also quarterbacked the Golden Warriors' football team to an undefeated regular-season and a shot at the Eastern Mass. Division II Super Bowl game last Fall.

In the winter Mark's interest turns to basketball, where he was a rugged rebounder for Andover's 14-7 tournament hoop squad.

Burrow was voted to the All-State baseball team last season, and was probably the best outfielder in the Conference. Bob hit a blistering .382, but perhaps his biggest asset is speed. He possesses excellent range in centerfield and is a smart baserunner to boot.

Burrow was also an integral part of Andover's 9-0 grid squad, and Coach Dick Collins rated him as the best cornerback he ever had which is quite a tribute.

When the cold weather hit this speed merchant was a consistent top finisher on Andover's championship indoor track team, competing in the dash events.

Added Experience

Returning at shortstop for AHS is junior Steve Fabiani, who batted .309 last year with 10 RBIs and 13 stolen bases.

Fabiani, who had also been a starting halfback on the football team and a goaltender in hockey, had his athletic career interrupted in the Methuen grid game last Fall when he suffered a broken leg.

Steve is not expected to see too much action in the field this time around, but Coaches Polgreen and Kelley are looking for his bat to provide some valuable hits.

Senior Keith Verrette has added another dimension to his game this season, and could be used as a pitcher as well as an outfielder.

Verrette hit .259 with good power a year ago, and on the mound he offers a fine variety of breaking stuff which he used a couple of summers ago in several effective relief appearances for the Greater Lawrence Babe Ruth All-Stars in the State Tournament.

Senior Dave Mosher is back with the varsity, and his versatility is born out by the fact he can play third base, shortstop, second base, the outfield or pitcher.

The coaches cite Dave for his good baseball sense and baserunning prowess. His largest contribution should be on the mound, where he'll most likely take a regular turn. He is also a fine outfield prospect.

Chris Bresnahan is another returnee, although his availability is questionable because of an Intern Program that has him working in Boston.

Chris batted at a .265 clip last year and his speed made him a solid defensive player in leftfield.

Senior Bob Driscoll saw very limited service with the varsity last Spring, but is the man to beat at first base this time around.

Bob was 1-for-4 (.250 average) in 1973, but has been hitting well in the pre-season. Driscoll boasts a quick glove around the bag and accomplishes a lot on desire alone.

At present the No. 1 spot in the pitching rotation appears to belong to senior veteran Jerry Skinder, who came on strong at the tail end of last season and during the summer in Police League play.

Skinder is a powerful righthander with a good fastball and a curve that developed well over the summer. Skinder also played football and has been training diligently for the diamond campaign.

JV Talent

Top prospects up from the JVs and bidding for a varsity berth include Craig Traub, Bob Gildea and Steve Danforth.

Traub is a senior third baseman who hit .667 last year, although making just three appearances at the plate for the varsity. Craig was the best defensive infielder on the JVs, and is termed by Coach Kelley "a great competitor who will never hurt you."

Gildea is a pitcher-outfielder who came a long way as a junior in 1973. He fired a no-hitter for the JVs, and his strengths are excellent control and the ability to adjust to all situations.

Danforth, a senior outfielder, was the best hitter on the JV club last season with a .375 average, two homeruns and a fine on base percentage of 60%.

Good Potential

Exhibiting potential in the early workouts are underclassmen Jim Mower, Paul McIntyre, Mark Botsch and Paul Fortier.

Mower is a junior catcher who comes to play. He led the JVs in runs batted in last year and had a superb summer in the Police League.

McIntyre has a good throwing arm and can hit with power, while Botsch is termed "a comer" and Fortier excels defensively in the pastures.

Could Crack Varsity

Juniors Jeff Winters and Ed Caselden, both out for the first time, have impressed the coaches during the indoor sessions.

Winters can play virtually any position and hits with power, while Caselden is a rangy infielder with the knack of improving day-by-day.

The No. 1 sophomore prospect is Glenn Verrette, a lefthanded pitcher-infielder-outfielder who enjoyed two good seasons with Coach Ted Boudreau's East freshmen and the Andover Babe Ruth team in 1973.

Verrette hit well over .300 and won a number of games for the 9-3 East club, then slugged the ball at a .400 clip with power and posted an earned run average near 1.00 in Babe Ruth action.

"He can do it all and stands a great chance of stepping into the varsity lineup," offered Polgreen and Kelley.

Billings may be lost with torn cartilage in the knee, however.

Among the other candidates working hard to be one of the select 33 are outfielder Dave Mirisola, catcher Dave Packard, infielders Mike Foote and John Fox and outfielders Bob Moynihan and Greg Gantz.

Schedule

Following is Andover's 18-game MVC schedule for 1974:

April: 16 - Dracut, 1:30 p.m.; 18 - at Law. Central, 1:30 p.m.; 22 - Wilmington; 24 - at Chelmsford; 26 - Austin Prep; 29 - at Lawrence.

May: 1 - Methuen; 3 - at Billerica; 6 - at Tewksbury; 8 - at Dracut; 10 - Law. Central; 13 - at Wilmington; 15 - Chelmsford; 17 - at Austin Prep; 20 - Lawrence; 22 - at Methuen; 24 - Billerica; 28 - Tewksbury.

Jaycee Drive To Continue

The Andover Jaycees will be continuing their efforts to assist the state Jaycees with their summer camp program, by selling jars of Apple butter at Andover supermarkets this weekend.

Members will be at the Andover Co-Op, Purity Supreme and DeMoulas on Friday and Saturday, as part of the state-wide program, "Light The Way," which raises funds for summer camp opportunities for the mentally handicapped.

Rummage Sale

A rummage sale will be conducted in the lower parish hall of Free Christian Church on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

By Linda S. Corbett

When the curtain goes up on the St. Robert's musical production "Let's Get Away From It All" Saturday night, it'll be a theatrical first for the West Andover parish.

But it's far from a debut for the man in the director's chair.

The first directing job the Rev. Jon C. Martin readily admits to was a neighborhood production of "Cinderella" and "Little Red Riding Hood" in Methuen, when he was 10. It was at very least a financial success, netting $6.80 for the March of Dimes.

With a little persuasion Father Martin will go back a couple of years even further to a backyard cavalry and Indian affair, complete with ketchup blood and a rainstorm that kept everyone away but his mother.

Saturday's show, safely indoors and part of a whole "Nite To Remember" which includes Mass, champagne, buffet, show and dancing, was written and arranged by two friends, Margaret Doyle of Methuen and Barbara Janson of Lawrence, with whom Father Martin worked "years ago" at St. Monica's Dramatic Club in Methuen.

The show will take place on the "S.S. Holiday" at the Christian Formation Center at 8:30 p.m., and will include many "oldies" and favorite songs. Also scheduled is a surprise routine by Father Martin and the Rev. Joseph Smyth, personnel director for the Archdiocese, who is in weekend residence at St. Robert's.

Father Martin was born in Maine, but grew up in Methuen, Lawrence and, for a short time, North Andover.

He graduated from Tenney High in Methuen and credits Roger Quinlan of that town for teaching him about everything he knows about acting and directing. Quinlan, he says, worked in New York when TV was live, not taped, and on Playhouse 90, among others.

While in St. John's Seminary in Brighton, Father Martin acted or directed seven productions. One of the more interesting ones being "My Fair Lady," with a few changes. Since there were no women in the seminary, a newsboy named "Walbel" for ("With a Little Bit of Luck,") was the lead. Among the other productions were "The Inspector General," in which he played the lead of Anton, and "The Prisoner," which he directed.

Father Martin was ordained by Cardinal Cushing at the Holy Cross Cathedral, Boston, on Feb. 10, 1965, and was assigned to St. Michael's in Lowell, until he moved to St. Robert's as associate pastor last June.

At St. Michael's he directed "capsule versions" of musicals designed, he said, to enhance the interest of parishioners in theatre. While trying to imitate Broadway productions closely with design and scenery, he says, they shortened them by cutting some dialogue and songs. They also adapted them to "theologizing."

Directing A Theatrical First

Fr. Jon C. Martin

residence at St. Robert's.

Father Martin was born in Maine, but grew up in Methuen, Lawrence and, for a short time, North Andover.

He graduated from Tenney High in Methuen and credits Roger Quinlan of that town for teaching him about everything he knows about acting and directing. Quinlan, he says, worked in New York when TV was live, not taped, and on Playhouse 90, among others.

While in St. John's Seminary in Brighton, Father Martin acted or directed seven productions. One of the more interesting ones being "My Fair Lady," with a few changes. Since there were no women in the seminary, a newsboy named "Walbel" for ("With a Little Bit of Luck,") was the lead. Among the other productions were "The Inspector General," in which he played the lead of Anton, and "The Prisoner," which he directed.

Father Martin was ordained by Cardinal Cushing at the Holy Cross Cathedral, Boston, on Feb. 10, 1965, and was assigned to St. Michael's in Lowell, until he moved to St. Robert's as associate pastor last June.

At St. Michael's he directed "capsule versions" of musicals designed, he said, to enhance the interest of parishioners in theatre. While trying to imitate Broadway productions closely with design and scenery, he says, they shortened them by cutting some dialogue and songs. They also adapted them to "theologizing."

For instance, he says, in the clambake sequence in Carousell, different people bring things to share and they celebrate being together just, he says, as each person, no matter what his background, brings something to the church community.

"June Is Busting Out All Over," from the same show, he says, represents spring, which in turn can signify the Resurrection and a new life.

When Sanche sings "I Really Like Him" in the "Man of LaMancha," Father Martin goes on, he may seem like a fool in the eyes of the world, because he says he'd follow his master anywhere. "A Christian may seem so for following Christ, but he too has a vision beyond."

"Aldonza asks 'What Does You Want of Me?'" Father Martin says, while Don Quixote sees only the goodness in her, not her earthly life. He gives her a new image. So, Christ brings a new man out of the old."

Three of the shows - "Carousell," "Mame" and "LaMancha," which Father Martin directed and also starred in as Don Quixote, were also televised. And the Rev. Frank McFarland, assistant director for the Boston Catholic TV Center, is coming to Saturday's performance. "He may be able to glean something from it for another production," Father Martin says.

A renewed musical program at St. Robert's - which includes an organ and choir concert at the Methuen Organ Hall this spring - is only a part of Father Martin's ministry.

For 13 years, he has been program director for a one-week camp (during his vacation) for exceptional children at Camp Fatima in Gilmanton, N.H. The rest of the year, he takes a slide show to various organizations to raise money to support the 120 campers and 240-man volunteer staff. Last year he raised $3,000.

He also recently conducted three-day retreats in the Lawrence Jail, and has conducted retreats for high school seniors and college students all over Greater Boston, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Upper New York State.

At St. Robert's, he makes a 45-minute presentation every Tuesday night to 200 junior high school students. But his ministry, he says, really cuts across all ages.

At St. Michael's he was considered the "good will ambassador" for the Lowell Golden Agers, and he directed a youth choir which toured senior citizen homes.

But then song, he says, is one of the greatest ways of bringing people together. And that's what Saturday's trip on the "S.S. Holiday" is all about."

Editor Guest For Workshop

On Thursday, April 4, the Andover Recreation/Community Schools Department will sponsor the fourth in its series of Senior Citizen Workshops. Robert Finneran of the Andover Townsman will discuss "The Community Weekly Newspaper."

Mr. Finneran has been managing editor of the Townsman for the past six years. Before this, he was a reporter covering Andover news for the Lawrence Eagle Tribune. Mr. Finneran's talk will emphasize such areas as the responsibility of a weekly newspaper to the community it serves. The workshop will be held at the Haven at 2 p.m.

'The Cookie Monsters'

The nineteen "mother's helpers" currently enrolled at The Free Church Co-operative Nursery School gathered eagerly last week in the large church kitchen where each prepared his very own batch of cookies to fill his family's cookie jar.

Equipped with ingredients and utensils from home, the young bakers measured, sifted, stirred and amply decorated their baked edible creations.

This bake-off is one of the many learning experiences offered by the Free Church Co-operative Nursery program under the guidance of teacher-director Mrs. Priscilla Seewald. Other events enjoyed throughout the school year include visits to a commercial bakery, the library, fire station, post office, police station, Stoneham Zoo, a national bank, Drumlin Farm, Lawrence General Hospital and The Children's Museum.

Fundamental to the co-op school philosophy is the concept that parents assist in running the school program and contribute time participating in their children's activities. The mothers assisting at this sticky but enjoyable bake-off were the following: Mrs. John Logan, Mrs. John Appleton, Mrs. Richard Alden, Mrs. Paul Driben, Mrs. Paul Twomey and Mrs. William Bride, Jr.

When you're making cookies, which was the project for the Free Church Pre-School last Friday, you start with whipping up the ingredients, as Lynda Lounsbury is diligently doing here and then.

Mac Morgan Soloist At Service

In addition to many recitals throughout the country, he has performed with major symphony orchestras, especially The Boston Symphony Orchestra, both in Boston and Tanglewood.

A Winning Day For Kathy

A big winning day for Kathy Kirk of Haggett's Pond Road was the Rockingham Pony Club's annual Horse Show last weekend at the North Andover Riding Club.

Miss Kirk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Kirk, rode her mare, Nance's Page, to four first prize ribbons, a third ribbon and a fourth ribbon, in a show that lasted a grueling 12 hours, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., due to the large number of entries in each class.

Taking so many firsts was all the more remarkable since the Andover rider is a freshman at Colby College home on vacation; she has not had the opportunity to work with her mare for the month and a half previous to the show.

Kathy took first ribbon in the Pony Club Horsemanship for C's and above (the more advanced riders); Adult Equitation, also Pony Club Championship and Open Working Hunters' Stake, both involving jumping fences. She won third prize in the Open Pleasure Horses Class, and fourth in the Bridle Path Hacks. Most of these classes had over 25 entries.

Miss Kirk is a graduate of Andover High School and a member of the Rockingham Pony Club, led by Mrs. Virginia Hammond.

Amusing

We are somewhat amused by the recent concern expressed by School committeeman William L. Lane, who is questioning the legality of so-called secret meetings being conducted by members of the school committee.

We, of course, do not condone such secretive processes as suggested by Mr. Lane, but we are not so naive to view them as something new on Andover's political scene.

For many years, official meetings of the town's major boards often were preceded by "warmup" sessions, either by telephone or in private residences have been held by consenting majorities.

Thus the practice continues, illegal though it may be, with the only safeguard being that no business of an official nature is transacted until the regularly scheduled meeting is held. The selectmen, in recent years, have conducted what has been termed "work sessions," sometimes in town hall and once-in a while at breakfast sessions at a local restaurant.

The press has been a welcome observer at such sessions, and we can assure the public that the word "work" is generally descriptive of the activity. The boardmembers go over sometimes vexing items seeking equitable solutions in the town's best interests.

In our experience with activities of the selectmen at "work sessions," it has been obvious to us that the intent was not to conceal any activities from the public.

Such is quite conceivably the case with the members of the school committee who have been guilty of "clandestine meetings."

This is not meant as any protective covering for such activity. We are aware of the necessity of open meeting laws and the need for such in a democratic society.

Pre-ordained activity at official meetings always offers tell-tale signs which are evident to observers of the municipal scene and can be dealt with accordingly.

What strikes us as a bit amusing is the sudden alarm expressed by Committeeman Lane, who may never have been clued in on some of the warmup sessions during his years on the committee, but must have been aware that such things have happened in the past.

It's sort of like depending on whose ox is being gored.

Town Meeting

Andover's annual town meeting gets underway Monday night at 7:30 in Memorial Auditorium of East Junior High school.

It seems almost unnecessary to stress its importance.

It is through this annual exercise in true Democracy that New England communities such as Andover carve their financial destinies for the coming months.

It is easy for one to sit back and be critical of the operation of government, or the expense of running a community. But it takes only a little effort to be a part of the decision making process. Attendance at town meeting affords that opportunity.

The issues this year, are not as controversial as in the past, at least in numbers, but if history is any sort of teacher, what might on the surface appear to be the most insignificant item in the warrant could arouse the populace on any given night.

There will be no doubt considerable debate regarding the annual budget. Both the school and general government monetary requests have been worked over for several months by selectmen, school committee and finance committee.

As town meeting approaches there is still no firm sign of unanimity among the groups on the figures. Hopefully, explanation of the budget requests will allow voters to make sound judgment and approve the sums based on expressed and justified need.

Andover's future and your individual tax bill will be determined by the action taken beginning next Monday night. That should be sufficient to produce the voter turnout necessary to insure that proper decisions are made on the town meeting floor.

A Need

For too many years a downtown Andover lot has remained idle and been an eyesore to the community.

Now, after several proposals to improve the particular lot by developers who failed in their efforts to transform the property into something useful, has come some solid planning for the land extending from Main to Central street, diagonally across from town hall.

The ASB Corporation, a wholly owned subsidiary of the Andover Savings Bank acquired the particular parcel which extends along Main street from their property to the alley across from town hall.

They are committed to development of the area for parking facilities and improved commercial buildings, although no definite planning has been done as yet regarding the latter.

Key to proper development is the rezoning of a parcel of land on Central street which will provide safe and proper access to the property.

It will allow vehicular movement in and out of the proposed area without interrupting already congested traffic flow on Main and Chestnut streets.

We are committed to the firm belief that the neighborhood concept of shopping in downtown Andover is its most vital asset. The financial institution is likewise interested in proper development of the downtown Andover area and has assured the town it will proceed with its planning and development as a corporate citizen of Andover.

We feel that the rezoning of the particular lot is vital to the life of downtown Andover and the community in general and strongly recommend approval of Article 15 in the warrant.

Off The Top Of The Desk

A somewhat puzzled Finance Committee, examining Andover's expenses for 1974 in the library Tuesday night peered precariously out the window to view snow flurries.

With utmost faith in the weather in the year ahead, it failed to alter their consideration of the snow removal budget.

A recent visitor to Kansas, where streaking has blossomed with the spring bulbs, reports that at least one store offers a 25 percent discount to streakers - between the ages of 17 and 75.

The Committee on Local Affairs has given a favorable recommendation to a proposal by Essex County Commissioners to initiate the first joint town-county sponsored project in Massachusetts funded with county revenue sharing funds.

The Legislative Committee has approved a proposal to allow the County Commissioners to expend $10,000 from revenue sharing for planning for the development of American Legion Park in Georgetown for a year round recreational site open to all Essex County residents.

The eight acre park and 50 acre adjoining pond would be opened for swimming, basketball, softball, a picnic area, skiing, skating and sliding.

The project is being undertaken in co-operation with the Georgetown Park and Recreation Commission.

Earlier, the proposal had won approval of the joint Committee on Counties.

An 8-week course on basic horse management will be conducted in the evening adult education division at the Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute. Classes will meet one evening a week from 7 to 10 p.m. with registration at the first session on April 4 in Extension Hall.

The course will include lectures and field trips covering selection of a suitable pleasure horse, feeding and stable care, horse psychology, and understanding the horse as a basis for training.

The program is offered to area residents free of charge.

Now that the gasoline crunch has eased (at least temporarily), the American Automobile Association recommends that you have your car checked over for such things as oil, battery, radiator water, and tire pressure.

"Many motorists have been so busy trying to get gasoline, they have neglected or postponed routine maintenance formerly taken care of at their local service station or garage," said Thomas M. O'Neil, Manager of the Emergency Road Service Department of the Automobile Club of Merrimack Valley. "Station attendants have been so busy pumping gas they haven't had time to 'check under the hood.'"

"So now is a good time to catch up on the important maintenance chores. When car maintenance is forgotten, usually more serious and expensive troubles follow. Maintaining your car in good running condition is one of the best ways to save on gasoline."

The AAA official said that it is still probably too early to have your snow tires taken off, but he suggested getting other work done necessary to pass the Spring inspection (April 1 - May 15). Metal-studded snow tires must be removed before May 1. Some key items to have checked are: windshield wipers which may be scuffed up from ice and snow, headlights, taillights, muffler, and exhaust system.

What Our Readers Say:

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Now that the Andover town elections are over, and self-labeled "traditionalists" hold four of five seats on the Andover school committee, close attention should be given to this committee's actions. One of the indispensable benefits inherent in a board composed of several viewpoints is the free and open exchange of information from several perspectives. Policy should be arrived at after serious discussion of all sides of a given issue. To be sure, there is no single educational philosophy or methodology that pretends to hold solutions for all educational problems, and no single approach can adequately substitute for the merits derived from consideration of several alternative policies.

There exists a danger that with a four-to-one polarization on the school committee alternative views will not be given fair consideration, and the potential benefit of wisdom emerging from real dialogue will be lost. Witness, for example, the report in the local press of the four Andover school committeemen holding closed meetings and then defending this action. Did Andover voters endorse such partisanship, the excluding of one school committeeman from meetings whose minutes are apparently not accessible? Further, these secret meetings, according to Wragg, include such topics as budgets and "how to keep things under control in town," whatever that ominous clause implies.

Surely these reported going-on are anathema of townspeople who hold representation in town government inviolate. Are we to conclude that the resultant four-to-one imbalance on the school committee will be exploited as license to engage in backroom politics?

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

I would like to take this opportunity to offer a sincere apology to each and every graduate of Punchard and Andover High for any offense they might have taken from a pre-election distribution which I co-signed. No insult was ever intended or aimed at Punchard or Andover High graduates although this could have been and apparently was interpreted. Andover has an outstanding school system which has accomplished a great deal in the past and will I'm sure in the future. New philosophies concerning the educational process will continue to evolve and be subject to debate, but the goal of academic excellence within the Andover School System will never change. To this goal I will always be committed.

To The Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Town Meeting begins Monday evening, April 1, with important decisions to be made by the townspeople. The budget and special articles, totaling over $17 million, are due to be examined and voted upon at this and subsequent sessions.

Open Town Meeting survives as one of the last remaining ways for a citizen to participate directly in government. But it will continue to survive in Andover only if the citizens care enough about this privilege to make the effort necessary to attend.

Don't let others make the decisions for you. The League of Women Voters urges you to be there Monday night.

Flower Show

Andover residents took at least six honors in the New England Spring Garden and Flower Show last week at the Boston Armory.

Mrs. Robert H. Lange, of the Andover Garden Club, won a first prize and the Creativity Award in the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts' exhibit at the show.

Entitled "Boston Tableau" that exhibit interpreted famous Hub landmarks - Boston Harbor, Haymarket Square, Beacon Hill, Government Center and Chinatown - via floral arrangements.

Winners from Andover's Four Seasons Garden Club included Mrs. Barbara Webster, 4 Chadwick Circle, with a blue first prize ribbon in the flowering terrarium class, and Mrs. Tammy George, 125 Dascomb Road, with a blue for a plant grown from a cutting (Jasmine officinale) and a yellow (third prize) for a plant grown from seed (Asparagus Sprengeri).

Mrs. Webster had also entered a harefoot fern in a coconut shell, in the recyclable container class, and Mrs. George, an Oxalis Rebrum in the hanging plant in bloom class. Mrs. Fran Jennings, 21 Beech Circle, also of Four Seasons, also entered the flowering terrarium class.

Annual Alumni Meeting

The Punchard-Andover Alumni Association, will conduct its annual meeting and dinner dance on Saturday, April 20 at the Andover Country Club.

The event this year represents a change in policy from previous meetings. In other years, the association has had a spring dance and a fall dinner dance.

The April 20 affair is the consolidation of both meetings and is aimed at honoring reunion classes where possible. In some cases, anniversary classes are holding pre-dinner-dance reunion events, then attending the affair at the Country Club.

Special decorations are planned and tables may be reserved by contacting committee members. The event will begin with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. with a dinner served at 7:30 to be followed by dancing to the music of the Bill Laroche orchestra.

Tickets and further information may be obtained by contacting Alex Thompson, Judy Barnes, Homer Judge, Vera Konjoian, Cynthia Dyer, Barbara Cannon, Mary Martin, Al Cole, Doug Hamilton, Barbara MacKenzie, Betty Frederickson, Kathy Cronin or Mike Brennan, president of the association.

Effect Of Bill Would Be Little

Town Assessor William Russell told the Board of Selectmen Monday night that House Bill 932, due for hearing at the State House this week, would actually have little effect on assessing practices in Andover.

While it's designed to force other communities into line on assessing property at 100 percent of fair cash value, he agreed with the Selectmen that it might not have the punch to do so.

At least four Supreme Court decisions saying that towns must revalue to 100 percent have so far had little effect.

Meanwhile, towns such as Andover, which abide by the 100 percent law, are being penalized by a quirk in the reimbursement formula and aren't receiving a fair share of state monies.

Russell, however, said he would support the bill with some modification. It would, he said, give the Commissioner of Taxation broader powers than he already has, such as power to remove assessors, arrange for administration of the local offices and set up standards for assessing personnel.

Russell said he would rather see a board, not the commissioner alone, to be the one to qualify assessors in the state.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin said the bill represents a "fascinating challenge of two principles."

"We are concerned that the community is not receiving its fair share of state monies," he said, "but we are also concerned about the loss of home rule. There is no way we will get fair treatment until we have qualified, non-political assessors."

Town Counsel Alfred Daniels said he didn't like the bill because he feels it would add to bureaucracy. "I can't see why four Supreme Court decisions haven't been implemented," he said. "This is almost superfluous."

The Drawing Boards Are Busy As H-P Preps Andover Address

The drawing boards are busy at Hewlett-Packard as site and plant design work for the new Andover facility progresses on target, just a year after an Andover town meeting provided the green light for the medical electronics firm.

Bert Dole, general manager for H-P, who will be in charge of the Andover operations, reported Wednesday that architects are currently about in the middle of design work for the buildings which will be placed on the West Andover site.

Site plans have been completed and approved, Dole reports, and the building design process is expected to be completed this summer.

Actual construction work could begin this summer, the general manager reports, with completion expected by 1976.

The firm has reached the point of having architect's renderings of their plans and models of their buildings ready.

The first of seven buildings planned for the former Shattuck Farm property, will be 160,000 square feet and employ about 350 people currently working at the H-P Waltham facility.

The company will be hiring people from the Greater Lawrence area when it opens and projects an employment buildup to 800 in its first building.

Phase two of the overall plan will follow with two additional buildings anticipated to be ready for occupancy by 1979-'80.

The medical electronics firm and Arkwright/Boston Insurance company projected their planning to the town a year ago, at which time Andover was asked to provide a trunk sewer line to the West Andover area.

The sewer line had been in the planning stage for some time and additional funds were needed to provide the necessary utility.

In the process of discussion, conservation land was granted the town along the Merrimack to provide a continuing trail system.

The consulting firm of Camp, Dresser and McKee is working on the surveying and final planning for the construction of the trunk sewer which will tie in with the Lawrence system.

The engineering work is coinciding with H-P's development and building plans.

Both H-P officials and Arkwright/Boston representatives have been before the planning board in recent weeks

$4 Million Down $12 Million To Go And 68 Articles

By Robert E. Finneran
Managing Editor

Andover voters, numbering 648, viewed a reconciled board of selectmen and finance committee at the opening session of town meeting Monday night and approved $4,464,505 of a $16,176,750 budget for the coming fiscal year before adjourning to next Monday night.

Approved were 71 items in a 100 item budget with only two differences of opinion - mosquito control and a tape recorder for the police - between the selectmen and FinCom settled in favor of the town's policy making board.

Also, the voters approved granting bonding of $500,000 to pay deferred teacher salaries, if the need arises. This was granted in a special town meeting within the annual meeting.

Cruising on a course which could lead to a continuation of the $54 per thousand tax rate, voters approved revised figures in the budget as presented by the selectmen.

Meetings between the selectmen and FinCom up to the start of the session at 7:30 Monday, resulted in both boards agreeing to the figures to be presented. The two boards had been at odds on the monetary items, and remain so on a few items still to be acted upon.

Still to be acted upon when the meeting resumes next Monday night at Memorial Auditorium are the remaining budget items, including an $8,341,795 school budget, and the 68 remaining articles in the warrant which more or less assures at least two more nights before the 1974 session can be completed.

The two differences of opinion on budget considerations between the FinCom and the selectmen were in the area of the mosquito control program at a cost of $17,000 and in the recorder for the police department at $7,000.

$30,260 More

Coupled with the other differences the voters supported the selectmen to a tune of $30,260 above the FinCom recommendations.

Chairman Milton Greenberg of the selectmen addressed the session at the outset, explaining the philosophy of his board on the non-school portion of the budget.

He traced the reviews made by the board of the town manager's budget presentation which resulted in reductions totalling $250,000.

"Once our overall objective was achieved, namely, a roughly 'hold-the-line' tax rate we felt and still believe for the long term viability of Andover's town manager form of government that recommendations of details is his responsibility. It is the sincere wish of your board of selectmen and the town manager

Sailing Proposal Faces Rough Water

Response to a proposal to permit sailing on Haggetts pond has been good on the part of the public but the plan may be in for choppy waters when it gets before official boards for action.

David Pratt of 1 Tobey Lane, and Andover High school senior and Nancy Demrow, 11 Linda Road, have been working on obtaining signatures on petitions to appeal to the town fathers to permit the use of up to 16 foot sailboats on the pond.

But, Public Works Director Robert E. McQuade, whose responsibilities include maintenance of the town's main reservoir and public drinking water supply is definitely opposed to the idea.

Pratt has been a sailing enthusiast for the past few years and looks upon the use of Haggetts as an additional part of the town's recreation facilities.

He has already obtained 100 names of persons interested in the idea and obtained a good response from standing at Memorial Hall library one night presenting his proposal to residents.

He feels the 16 foot maximum craft would not harm the town's water supply and emphasizes that sailing activities would be regulated to insure against not only accidents but the possibility of people falling into the pond.

He has asked residents in support of the idea to contact either himself or Nancy Demrow.

One of the items which is delaying an official request for

Garden Land To Be Made Available

Families or individuals wishing to garden this summer who do not have land to do so, may use conservation commission land in West Andover for this purpose.

The commission has set aside land next to Deer Jump Reservation for plots to be planned and plowed for a modest sum if sufficient interest is shown.

Persons interested should contact Mary and Everett Gendler, 227 Haggetts Pond Road, Andover.

There will be an organizational meeting called in a few weeks. In order to make the program a success, enthusiasm, support and co-operative effort will be needed.

Chosen For State Honors

By Linda S. Corbett

A local nurse-to-be and mother of six, has been named Student Nurse of Massachusetts.

Mrs. Edward Conway of North Andover, who recently was chosen Student Nurse of the Year at Lawrence General Hospital, received the state title at a conference of the Massachusetts Senate of Student Nurses in Wakefield last Thursday.

Now Liz is eligible to compete for the national title and the winner will be announced at a nursing convention in Salt Lake City, April 24-25.

Liz, who will receive her nursing diploma in June, had taken a nursing course in high school, and always had it in the back of her mind until she began the Merrimack-Lawrence General course in 1971, when her youngest, Christopher, was in kindergarten.

The other helpers, to whom she gives much of the credit for helping on the home front while she was at school, are Maureen, 10, and Shawn, 11, who are in Bradstreet School with Chris, who is now 7; Michael, 12, in Middle School; Eddie, 16, a sophomore at North Andover High; and Patricia, 19, who works for Liberty Mutual in Andover.

Her husband Ed, a retired Marine recruiter who now heads maintenance at Merrimack College, helps out with the cooking (he was also a Navy cook), and her mother, Mrs. Grace Dupuis of South Lawrence, also lends a hand.

In addition to her studies, Liz also works Saturdays as an operating room technician at The General, and hopes for OR duty upon graduation.

A faculty committee had narrowed the student nurse field at The General to five for the "home" honor, and Liz was then elected by her fellow students.

That made her eligible for the state-wide contest, for which she also had to write an essay on the "Essence of a Good Nurse."

"When I started nurses training," she said, "I thought that all nurses were good. But then you find out there is such a thing as a really good one."

She said that a couple of her instructors, who have had a great positive influence on her, fall into that category.

Also in her essay, Liz spoke of the Spanish-speaking community in the Lawrence area, and how a good nurse should use all available resources for communication including interpreters and learning some of the language herself.

"How else," she asks, "can you tell if someone has pain and where, or wants something to eat or drink?"

Liz said she expected that her essay would be sent along with the other qualifications to the national contest.

Quannapowitt Players To Perform

The Quannapowitt Players, Inc. of Reading will present a one-act play "Please No Flowers" at the April meeting of the Andover Community Theatre.

They are a very active and accomplished group and have been in existence many years. The play will be presented in the auditorium at West Elementary School on April 10 at 8 p.m. The public is invited to come free of charge.

Following the entertainment there will be the general business meeting of ACT in the Faculty Room.

There are several important items on the agenda for the meeting. The first being the presentation of a slate of officers for the elections in May. Besides those names presented, nominations will also be taken from the floor.

Tryouts will be held by Ed Stoddard who will be directing a reading and a one-act play this spring.

The reading will be presented in May as part of a series of entertainments held by The Lawrence Eagle-Tribune from May 5 thru May 12.

A new look at miracles

About two thousand years ago, lepers, life-time cripples, and the insane were healed by Christ Jesus and many of his followers.

But somehow their accomplishments have not become a natural way of life for most people, who regard them as strictly a phenomena of the past.

The fact is, though, that instances of healing and regeneration through "miracles" are going on today. Every day.

You can hear some outstanding examples - and how they were brought about - in a talk by

To Enforce Disposal Regulations

THE TOWNSMAN, APRIL 4, 1974

The Andover Board of Health will enforce regulations covering the disposal of solid waste as they pertain to disposal of construction and lot clearing debris.

Dr. Robert A. Walsh, chairman, reports that all contractors working in the community will have to dispose of construction waste at dump facilities approved by the state health department.

The two areas so approved are Shaffer's Dump in Billerica and the town dump on Hunt Road in Amesbury.

The regulations will be enforceable within 90 days, the time period being granted to allow contractors to adjust and meet the new rules.

Health Agent Neil MacDowell reports that some contractors in town have been disposing of wastes on lots, or burying debris on lots near the construction area.

In essence the builders, in some cases, have been creating mini-dumps within the subdivisions or construction area, a practice which will be stopped.

Drawing Boards

with plans for the installation of roadways to the industrial property off River Road. The planners currently have the proposals under advisement.

The developers have also made offers to purchase residential property adjacent to the industrial site.

General Manager Dole states that the company's timetable for development is on schedule.

Andover is ready to move forward with the utility line construction.

The engineering work is completed and plans ready to be placed out to bid.

Actual construction work is dependent on decisions to be made by Hewlett-Packard and the board of selectmen.

The agreement approved by town meeting provides for the selectmen to authorize the bonding and construction work for the new plant, as soon as Hewlett-Packard affirms their construction commitment.

Since Andover gave its approval a year ago to the new industrial firm, both local and corporate officials have been busy finalizing their plans. There is every indication the drawing boards have not been idle and that substantive indications of Hewlett-Packard becoming an Andover neighbor are just around the corner.

Town Meeting

that moderating influences will temper any erosion of this budget by special interest groups even though such effort may be well intentioned," Greenberg said.

He went on to praise the Finance Committee for its extended review of the budget noting, their recommendations are slightly below that of the selectmen. There was some give and take between all parties and we and they are essentially in agreement after many meetings.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin spoke of the need for the restoration of the $7,000 in the police department expense account to provide for the tape recorder.

Austin explained that he felt it necessary to adequately record the calls to the department, to provide for such things as checking on requests, timing of responses to calls for assistance, etc.

The department had the use of a recorder for a time, but it has since broken. He said that often calls come from persons excited and information can be checked to verify addresses or other pertinent information.

He expressed the need for the instrument as a part of modern police work and the voters approved.

Mosquitoes

There was the anticipated discussion of the mosquito control item, with debate not lasting too long, and a continuance of the program initiated at the October town meeting of 1972.

Atty. John C. Doherty presenting the Finance Committee opposition to the expenditure explained that there was little to measure the effectiveness of such a program.

Doherty said that surrounding communities do not have similar programs and that mosquitoes drift into Andover.

He also indicated that there was sufficient funds remaining in the mosquito control account from the past year to continue the program.

Selectman Alan French, while sympathetic to the town meeting desire for such a program, argued in a similar vein to the FinCom's Doherty.

Selectman Mrs. Janet Lake said she felt the town had issued a mandate in previous town meetings for such a program and that it should be continued. The additional funds will provide for larvaciding this spring and spraying through the summer when necessary.

The voters concurred and provided the funds.

A new position provided for brought some discussion before winning approval.

New Post

An account of $12,468 was provided for inspection services, a position, Town Manager Austin declared, "one of the most important items you will act upon this year."

Austin explained that the inspection service is to provide a safeguard for the town in reviewing all subdivisions in process in the town. There are now 21 approved subdivisions in the town and constant inspection is necessary to insure that roads and utilities are installed properly, he said.

Atty. Vincent Stulgis said that he felt the position unnecessary since the planning board could order a bond to insure proper completion.

DPW Director McQuade said that a bond would not cover the matter, and that inspection is necessary before improvement is made.

The question of sewer use charges for the town was again questioned. A resident pointed out that some taxpayers in the community are being assessed for sewer costs when not provided with such service.

When Chairman Greenberg said the selectmen would be focussing on this matter after town meeting, the resident responded that it was the third time such a promise had been made and wanted some assurance, event to having the moderator appoint a special committee.

DPW Director McQuade said the matter has been discussed with the board during the past year, but no decisions made since the Environmental Protection Agency has just within the past few weeks issued guidelines.

Recycling

Edward Cole had some questions concerning the recycling program, when the adoption of the sanitation and waste disposal budget was presented.

Cole quoted some figures on the recycling program and indicated that only the collection of paper was paying its way, as opposed to some information which would lead to the belief that the town was realizing a profit.

In response to his pointing out that the selectmen had promised a review of the program, Selectman Alan French said that indeed the board would be reviewing the matter. French expressed dismay at the decrease in participation in the recycling program in recent months.

He felt the program needed time to prove itself, the value going beyond a simple dollars and cents.

Director McQuade affirmed that the program was getting closer to the break-even point and said that it eventually will prove a tremendous saving to the town.

The account was approved in the amount of $390,633, representing a full year cost of the collection services initiated by the annual town meeting last year and began in July.

Action by the state legislature may allow the town not to resort to bonding the funds to provide for the deferred teachers salaries. The payments will be due in July and August this year.

The legislative action would permit permanent deferral of the debt service item. Approval of the special town meeting item in no way commits the town to bonding the amount.

If town meeting continues in the docile, approving manner shown Monday night when budget action resumes next Monday, the town's budget for the fiscal year will be $16,176,756.

CONTEMPLATIVE. Chairman Francis Griggs, right, of the school committee ponders some budget items, with pencil ready for action and John Wragg likewise attentive to discussion on the stage at Monday night's session of town meeting.

Tuition At Merrimack To Remain The Same

Risking a deficit situation for the first time since its founding in 1947, Merrimack College President, Very Rev. John R. Aherne, O.S.A. has announced that parents and students of the North Andover college would not face a tuition increase for the next academic year.

"There will be no tuition increase for the 1974-75 academic year," promised the outspoken Merrimack president. "Although mounting costs justify an increase, Merrimack will attempt to assist all the families it serves by not passing on increased burdens to the consumer. Enough is enough," he chided.

Father Aherne said the move is symbolic and "hopefully it will be recognized by decision makers in all walks of life as a small sacrifice to take some pressure off America's overburdened middle-class families."

He said that a tuition increase this year on top of over-inflated family budgets would tear at the heart of too many.

Father Aherne said that he has asked college personnel to continue the austerity program initiated one year ago. Pointing to its success, Aherne noted, that although national estimates show that college costs will rise by 9.4 per cent next year, Merrimack has been able to hold the line at 3.3 per cent. Although there has been no cut in academic services, Father Aherne noted that many sacrifices have been made by college personnel. Most have accepted minimum salary increases and all offices have participated in the ongoing austerity program.

The Merrimack president said that a modest increase of $100 will face resident students next year and that increased costs in other areas will be met, hopefully, through expanded fundraising activities, including a voluntary parents fund drive.

Bowdoin Night

Bowdoin College alumni and their families, faculty members, students and friends will gather at Symphony Hall in Boston May 9 for the 27 annual "Bowdoin Night at the Pops". The program will feature the Boston Pops Orchestra, under the direction of Arthur Fiedler, and an appearance by the Bowdoin Meddiebumpsters.

"Bowdoin Night at the Pops" is sponsored by the Bowdoin Club of Boston.

Named General Manager At Hewlett-Packard

Lewis E. Platt

Dean O. Morton, vice president of Hewlett-Packard Company in charge of medical electronics products, announced today that Lewis E. Platt will become General Manager of the Waltham Operations on April 1. In this new position, Platt will be responsible for research and development, marketing and manufacturing of patient monitoring systems, respiratory care instruments, and consumables products. HP's Waltham Operations, to be under Platt's direction, employs more than 700 people.

Platt joined Hewlett-Packard eight years ago as a manufacturing engineer in the Waltham plant. He became Plant Engineer in October of 1966 and subsequently held positions as Industrial Products Marketing Manager, Manufacturing Engineering Manager and most recently, Division Research and Development Manager.

A Binghamton, New York native, Platt received his undergraduate education at Cornell University (1964) and earned his M.B.A. from the Wharton Graduate School of the University of Pennsylvania in 1966. He is a member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers, and the Association for the Advancement of Medical Instrumentation. He resides in Sudbury, with his wife and two children.

In naming Platt to the position, Morton commented on the effect of significant growth projections for HP medical electronic instrumentation on planning for both the Waltham facility and a new site being developed by HP in Andover. "Although the first Andover building will not be ready for about two years, our Andover Operations group has been a fully functioning organization of 350 people for nearly one year, under General Manager Burton A. Dole, Jr. They presently occupy quarters close to the Waltham plant. By this June, we expect our Waltham plant addition will be completed, effectively more than doubling our space here. The organizational changes we're now making are an integral part of this growth," Morton continued, "to allow us to give more management attention to our business, make better resource allocation decisions, and provide a framework for continued development of all our people."

Brian Zeger In Concert

Jankaukas To Address Valley Group

Stephen Jankaukas, chairman of Andover's Special Education department, will be the featured speaker at the 8 p.m. Monday, April 11 meeting of the Merrimack Valley Association for Children with Learning Disabilities. His talk will be on "Hyperactivity, Emotional Disturbances, and Learning Disabilities." It will bring out practical steps that parents can take to assist their children in being more adaptable to their own and their families' needs. He will talk about the kinds of rewards that parents, and of course teachers, can offer to induce self improvement by the child and with equally important effects on the parent or teacher who is trying to motivate the child.

Steve plans to have the talk on an open discussion basis so that the audience will hear the "real" problems that are "actually" happening today, and so that the audience will hear success stories from those teachers and parents who have had some success.

All the free regular meetings of non-profit MVACLD have been held at the Ballard Vale United Church, Clark Road at Hall Avenue, Andover, on the second Monday of every month. The association is attempting to service the public at large and the communities of Lawrence, Methuen, Andover and North Andover in particular. The association is also interested in helping set up new chapters in other towns. Following the regular discussion period there will be coffee and refreshments and an opportunity for individuals to talk with the other parents and teachers attending.

The Association, and its officers, believes many parents will need help in assessing their opportunities under the new Chapter 766 law and the organization is ready to assist individual parents in getting help.

Directors Elected By Auto Club

The Automobile Club of Merrimack Valley held its 51st Annual Meeting recently at the Merrimack Valley Motor Inn.

The following were elected for a three-year term to the Board of Directors: William H. Heath, Haverhill; John F. Reilly, Jr., Lowell; Irving E. Rogers, Sr., Andover; Kenneth F. Romprey, Salem, N.H.

In making his annual report, David J. Christensen, Executive Vice President, stated that the Club grew to 1,342 members during 1973 and at the close of the year had a total membership of 46,281 members. He noted that the Merrimack Valley Club has the heaviest penetration of members to registered cars for our area compared to any other AAA club in the northeastern part of the country.

The effects of the emergency crisis were discussed at length by the officers and directors and Mr. Christensen stated that the Club was now providing new service to its members as well as all motorists by giving current availability-of-fuel information to the news media and to members because it was felt that this was a most valuable service at this time.

Alternatives to using the automobile for summer vacations were reviewed and the Club has arranged special motor coach tours as a suggested alternative to the family automobile being used for a vacation this summer.

The Club handled 46,802 requests for emergency road service during 1973, an increase of 7,623 calls over 1972. It was noted in that department that the cooperation of the contract stations was more important now than ever with many garages closing evenings, Sundays and holidays. The Club continues to provide 24-hour emergency road service to its members.

Physical Ed Topic For Bancroft

On Wednesday, April 10, there will be a PTO meeting in the Bancroft cafeteria. Both parents and children are invited to attend the meeting which will begin at 7:15 p.m.

Jack Gleason, physical education instructor for Bancroft, will open the meeting with a demonstration of the movement education approach to physical education as it is employed in the primary unit. Movement education is a problem saving approach to teaching physical education in elementary grades involving elements of time, space, force and flow. Children from the third loft will demonstrate the method.

The second half of Mr. Gleason's presentation will consist of a gymnastic demonstration by members of the Bancroft gymnastics club which is comprised of both boys and girls in the upper lofts or more specifically, grades four, five and six.

After Mr. Gleason's presentation, there will be a brief meeting of the general membership present in order that PTO officers for the coming year may be elected. The nominating committee will submit their proposed slate of officers for the PTO board of 1974-1975. Then an opportunity will be given for nominations from the floor, prior to the vote, as is required by the by-laws.

The Halls Top The Newtons

The West Parish Intermediate basketball team, champs in the Andover Church Basketball League for the fourth straight year, staged their annual Father-Son basketball game last weekend at the West Junior High gym.

At the conclusion of four "gruelling" 10-minute periods, the Hall squad had edged the Newton team, 66-60.

The winners led from the outset, jumping to a 20-14 first quarter lead and stretching it to 40-26 by halftime.

The Newtons chipped away throughout the second half, eventually closing to within 60-58 with 56 seconds left before the rally died.

Bob Hall paced the victors' streak with 12 points, while Dave Nardone also cracked twin digits by scoring 10 points.

Rick Harrison, Ed Kelley and Billy Hall pumped through 8 markers apiece. Adding 4 points each were Chris Doherty, Bruce Belbin, Mark deConstant, Jay McLeod and Mike McDonald.

Other standouts for the winners were Todd McLeod, Scott Belbin and Alex deConstant.

The Father-son combo of Vin and Steve Doherty, respectively, powered the Newton team with 16 points apiece.

Jack Johnson stuffed 8 markers and Ted Kelley hooped 6, Gary Johnson and Jody Yameen pumped through 4 points each, while solo buckets were netted by Lloyd Belbin, Pete Newton and Steve Johnson.

Also playing well for the losers were Wayne Newton, Dick Kelley and Mark Newton.

A number of trophies were also awarded prior to the game.

Jeff Rosen was voted Most Valuable Player on the West 'A' team, while the 'B' team MVP was a three-way tie among Steve Doherty, Gary Johnson and Jody Yameen.

Rookie-of-the-Year on West Parish 'A' was Mike McDonald, and a similar award for the West 'B' team went to Bruce Belbin.

Phil Harnden was selected as the Most Improved Player, while Pete Newton earned the Sportsmanship Award and Billy Hall won the High Scorer Trophy for his 130 points and 10.8 per game average.

Dave Nardone captured the MVP Trophy for the West Parish team entered in the Lawrence JCC Biddy Basketball League.

Dads Take Annual Classic

The West Parish Senior Division Basketball team coached by Frank Monette held their annual Father and Son game with the Dads coming out on top 37-29.

The Dads, took an early first quarter lead of 8-4 on the strength of Sam Bitler's 4 points, but the Sons came back in the second quarter as Jeff Smith canned 6 points and Scott Bitler 4 to tie the score at the half 14-14. In the third quarter Pat Ketzler led the surge with 6 points for the Dads and built up a 23-17 third quarter lead. In the final quarter the Dads Fred Serley's tossed in 8 points and Becky Kenney 4 points to offset the Sons Steve Serley's 6 points and Jeff Smith's 4 points as the Dads outscored the Sons 14-12 for the victory.

For the Dads, Fred Serley was high for the game with 8 points as Pat Ketzler and Becky Kenney chipped in with 6 points each followed by Alan Paro's breakaways for 4 points and 4 points by the pivot man Sam Bitler.

Dick Heidt scooped in 3 points, and (Dandy) Don Ketzler rumbled through the lane for 2 points with Larry Smith banking in a couple from the corner of the court. For the Sons Jeff Smith was high scorer swishing 12 points as Big Scott Bitler and Steve Serley each pumped in 6 points. Chris Elliott, Tim Sweeney, and Mark Paro stuffed 2 points apiece and Mark Ketzler and Carl Wetterberg each dropped in a charity shot.

Compile Winning Record

The Andover Squirts completed their regular schedule season with an 11-3-1 record. Coaches Dunn, Milne and Zussman said "We knew that they had it in them and once they get going they're hard to stop."

Andover faced off against Westford, who had previously beaten Andover 2-3 in Nashua. The Squirts wasted no time as Tim Derby got his first one at 10:51 and the entire D-line (Doherty and Dunn) combined for the first goal. In the second period it was an instant replay as Timmy Derby and his linemates hit again. Kenny Banfield took J.J. Pelegrino's pass in for Andover's third goal. Westford came alive in the third when they put the puck in the net, at 10:58. But Andover pumped in 3 more, Tom Fabiani, Chris Doherty and Doug Price each lit the lamp.

Their last game was against North Reading. Where Tom Fabiani received the teams second hat trick, and his first of the season. Brian Lincoln, right winger and Doug Price had very pretty goals as the Squirts won handily 5-1.

The Andover Squirts are now entered in Merrimack's Spring Hockey Tournament on April 11. It is a single elimination tourney.

The D-Line (Dunn - Derby - Doherty) ended its regular season with 32 goals and 30 assists for 62 points in 15 games. A record that will definitely be hard to break in the future. The F.A.M.-Line (Fabiani, Apgar and Milne) with 14 goals and 15 assists for 29 points. The P.P.B.s (Price, Pelegrino and Banfield) had 11 goals, 12 assists for 23 points. The defense were not ideal during the season and as they combined for 11 goals, 18 assists totaling 39 points.

West Parish Seniors Titlists

Coach Frank Monette's West Parish Senior Division Boys Basketball team won the Lawrence Jewish Community Center eighth grade Grammar League Playoff Championship against St. Mary's of Lawrence by the score of 49-31 recently.

Two weeks ago the West Parish Club won the seasonal championship with a 13-2 record, then topped the fourth place St. Theresa's 40-24 to meet the second place St. Mary's team in the finals.

The much taller St. Mary's team dominated play in the first quarter and led by as much as 9 points before West Parish cut the deficit to 5 points by the end of the quarter. The St. Mary's team had a 13-8 lead entering the second quarter as Coach Monette changed from a zone to a tight full court press for the rest of the game and it seemed to bother the St. Mary's team because the West Parish Club caused several turnovers and steals and outscored the St. Mary's team 23-3 in the second quarter for a 31-16 halftime lead.

In the second half West ran into foul trouble as three players fouled out and three more players were playing with four fouls on them, but West Parish battled and stayed with them in the second half for a 16-15 edge over the last two quarters for the 49-31 victory and Championship. West was called for 29 fouls during the contest.

It was a fine team victory as Steve Serley had the hot hands for West with 23 points. Bob Zwicker did a tremendous job collecting most of the rebounds against St. Mary's big men and making the quick outlet pass, while scoring 8 points. Sean Callahan made several key steals and put the West club ahead in the second quarter with 7 points and weaving through the St. Mary's press with fine dribbling control. Tim Sweeney also showed some fine ball control and dribbling tactics while tossing in 4 points. Forward Mark Paro swished in 4 key points besides playing an aggressive defensive game and tying up his much taller man on several occasions. Dave Heidt hit three clutch points in the second quarter and helped guard the tough players for the West players who were in foul trouble. Guard Chris Elliott and Forward Dave Callaghan also played an aggressive game for West. St. Mary's was led by their two big boys Caruso with 11 points and Iannio 10 points and Bresnahan 6 points. Two players missing from the West Parish squad who were ill but contributed much during the season for West were starting forward Eric Sullivan and Guard Eddie Goodman.

The West Parish boys completed a fine season as they also competed in the Andover Church Basketball League and finished second to St. Roberts (B) in a Playoff game after finishing in a three-way tie for first place. The West Parish club was rolling along in that league undefeated until they lost their starting center and starting guard with injuries and played the remaining schedule with an all 13-year-old team the youngest starting team in the league in the 13-15 year old division. The West Parish Club ended up with a (15-2) record in the J.C.C. League and a (8-2) record in the Andover Church League for a combined league record of (23-4). The boys also played many out-of-town games and had two weekend tours, one being in New Hampshire and the other being down on the Cape. The boys played a total of 46 games during the season for a (30-16) seasonal mark.

Steve Serley led the club in scoring with 378 points for a 9.9 points per game average and led in foul shots made with 76 and a 51 per cent foul shooting accuracy. Eric Sullivan was second in points scored with 361 and third in points per game with 8.8 and led the club in Field Goal percentage with 46 per cent accuracy. Bob Zwicker was third in scoring with 359 points and tied for first in points per game with 9.9 and led the club in rebounding with 288 rebounds. The West Parish club averaged 40 points a game compared to their oppositions 30 points.

Following is the team record:

Steve Serley	151-76-378

Layoff Fails To Hamper Bantams

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Bantam 'A' traveling hockey team returned to the ice wars after a brief layoff, and the inactivity didn't seem to hurt a bit as the locals posted back-to-back shutout victories over North Reading (2-0) and Hampton, N.H. (9-0).

Andover's last previous action was a three-game series against the Oshawa Canadian Corps at Phillips Academy, which saw the visitors register a 6-4 opening win before battling Andover to 0-0 and 2-2 ties.

The latest results gave Coach Dick Neal's team an overall seasonal record of 16-8-4.

North Reading

Andover started slow against North Reading in their match at Merrimack College, but after a scoreless first period the locals received second stanza goals from linemates Lee Apgar and John Lyons just 18 seconds apart.

Apgar opened the offense with the game-winner at 7:43, taking a pass from defenseman Mike Cullinan and depositing a 10-footer behind the North Reading netminder.

John Lyons followed with his fifth goal a mere 18 seconds after the ensuing center-ice faceoff. Apgar garnered the lone assist, setting Lyons up for a 25-foot slapshot.

This turned out to be the only scoring of the contest, with the third period marred by four penalties including a pair of majors.

Goaltenders Jeff Hubbell and Steve April split the net chores equally, combining for the team's sixth shutout.

Redman, Gurry Star

Three-goal "hat tricks" by Chuck Redman and Joe Gurry highlighted one of Andover's top offensive outbursts of the campaign, as Hampton, N.H. was swamped 9-0 at Merrimack.

Redman, the top scorer on the club, lifted his overall goal output to 18 and his point total to 30.

For Gurry it marked his first three goals since coming from the Bantam 'B' squad to replace injured Bob Daly just prior to the Canadian series.

Off-and-Running

Gurry, centering a line with left winger Kevin Sirois and right winger John Fahey, opened the scoring at 8:00 of the first period by deflecting home a blue-line slapper from the point by rear-guard Kevin Moore.

Defenseman Paul Derby made it 2-0 at 9:39, drilling home a 50-foot shot after set-up feeds by John Lyons and Lee Apgar.

Auspicious Return

The lone goal of the second stanza was by Alex Milne, who had missed several games with a broken bone in his hand.

Milne's seventh goal was an unassisted effort at 4:59, as he intercepted a clearing pass and stickhandled around several Hampton players before scoring from short range.

Volcanic Eruption

Andover produced a third period eruption that would have done Mount Vesuvius proud, slamming home six goals which included five within a six-minute span.

Redman initiated the deluge on 0:24, taking a pass from defenseman Bill Best at center ice and moving in to blast a 45-footer to the goaltender's right.

Redman boosted the lead to 5-0 at 5:09 with an unassisted tally, carrying the disc from his own blue to close range before flipping in his 17th red-lighter.

Gurry's second of the game at 6:49 made it 6-0. John Fahey started the play by digging the puck from the corner and skimming a pass out front. Gurry took control and rammed in a 10-footer.

A scant 25 seconds later Gurry had his hat trick, tapping the plug into the net after a scramble out front. Both Fahey and Sirois notched assists.

Lee Apgar interrupted the Garry-Redman show at 8:34, snapping a 15-footer into the twine following passes by John Lyons and Paul Derby.

Redman's 18th and third of the game capped things at 11:11. Keith Eosefow and Kevin Moore collected helpers on the 20-foot wrist connection.

Seventh Shutout

Hubbell and April again shared the cage chores, combining for a second straight shutout, the third in the last four games and seventh of the season.

Canadian Recap

A recap of the three-game series against Oshawa reveals that defenseman Joe Pasquale pocketed two goals in the three games. Singletons were added by Alex Milne (shortly before he fractured his finger), John Fahey, Kevin Moore and Keith Eosefow.

The 6-4 setback to Oshawa was the first loss ever by an Andover Bantam team against an Oshawa squad. In six seasons prior to the setback the record had been 23-0-1 including 20 straight wins.

"After leading 3-0 in the first game we started to take it too easy, and after the midpoint of the second period we became very disorganized," recalled Neal. "The disciplined play broke down completely and we scrambled from there to the end."

"In the second game (0-0 tie) we played much better positional hockey and had the better scoring chances," continued Neal. "The overall defense was excellent, especially Jeff Hubbell in goal."

"The final game was the best of the three (2-2)," added Neal. "We came up with a good two-way effort and much more drive. Hubbell played another strong game."

"Dave Farrell and Joe Gurry played well in all three games, while Paul Derby gave 100 per cent at center after being converted from defense to replace the injured Bob Daly."

"Keith Eosefow and Lee Apgar worked particularly hard in the third game, while defensemen Pasquale, Mike Cullinan, Bill Best and Kevin Moore were outstanding in games two and three," concluded Neal.

Schedule

Upcoming on the agenda for the Bantams is a Saturday afternoon game at Merrimack College against the Melrose Junior Reds. The opening faceoff is set for 12:30 p.m.

Andover West All Stars Advance In Tournament

The Andover West Stars playing in the 8th grade Division of the Wakefield-Reading Youth Basketball Invitational Tournament won their preliminary contest over St. Joseph's of Somerville 58-37, and followed that up by topping the Wakefield graders 43-34 in the quarterfinals this week. The team is being handled by Coaches Frank Monette and Don Terrion.

In the game against Somerville the West Stars were led by high scoring guard Joe Sydlowski who scored 18 points. Steve Serley who plays the guard position also chipped in with several assists and drove to the basket drawing many fouls on the Wakefield team and dropped in 3 points. T.J. Cavaney and Bob Kramer utility guard and forward respectively also did a fine job as Cavaney played the playmaker and stuck like glue on the Wakefield guard as the point man on the 1-2-2 defense. Kramer pulled down his share of points

In the 43-34 victory over Wakefield it was a superb effort by the Andover boys. Wakefield had just come away with the championship in the North Andover 8th Grade Tournament played in North Andover and the Andover boys knew this was a very aggressive team that played a double-teaming man to man defense, but in this contest the Andover Boys were not to be denied. They only allowed Wakefield to lead once in the game that was the first point scored in the game, but from then on the Andover Stars quick passing, fast-breaking game just about ran Wakefield off the court along with an excellent 1-2-2 zone defense that kept Wakefield's guards from penetrating and bottling up their big center Sydlowski who was kept scoreless in the first half. He did manage 12 points after Andover's forwards were in foul trouble, in the second half.

Coaches Monette and Terrion agreed it was one of the finest team efforts they have seen this year. Leading the team again was the steady leader of the team, guard Joe Terrion with 19 points and to add had the flu but refused to let it bother him during the game. Dan Hayes who played guard during the season for Andover 9th grade (eligible because of his birth date) had been switched to forward in this tourney and did an excellent job rebounding against taller players and zinged in 9 points in clutch situations that kept Andover's momentum going. Also doing a big job off the boards with a quick release to the fast breaking guards was Andover's small Center (A-la Dave Cowens lefty and all) Bob Zwicker who also banked in 8 points, south-paw style. Geoffrey Bragdon Andover's other forward who also has a good quick release of the ball off a rebound chipped in with some fine assists coming on the long pass variety while on the move and also added 4 points. Steve Serley who plays the guard position also chipped in with several assists and drove to the basket drawing many fouls on the Wakefield team and dropped in 3 points. T.J. Cavaney and Bob Kramer utility guard and forward respectively also did a fine job as Cavaney played the playmaker and stuck like glue on the Wakefield guard as the point man on the 1-2-2 defense. Kramer pulled down his share of rebounds while bottling up the lane on defense. Andover now will play in the semi-finals Friday night at 7:30 in the Reading Field House against the winner of the Lynnfield - Winchester game.

The Andover Shamrocks, Andover's 7th grade entry in the 7th grade Division also were winners, winning their preliminary game against St. Catherine's of Somerville by the count of 57-28 and did it without their high scoring guard Dave Farrell who was home with the flu. Dave was a guard for the 8th grade team this season but is eligible for this team because of his date of birth. Andover's center, Jim Arnold, played a superb game tossing in 18 points, followed by "Steady Eddie"

Collins 12 points, Tom Curtin 10 points and numerous assists. "Tall Todd" Orlando 7 points and key rebounds, and hustling - tuff defensive guard Dave Alexander 6 points, scrappy forward Frank Pelletier 4 points and Cokey Callahan who set up some fine plays for the guards.

The team is being coached by John Curtin and assisted by Frank Monette. The Andover Shamrocks who were known as the Andover Y All-Stars in the Somerville tournament will be facing St. Ann's of Wayland Friday evening at the Reading Field House with a 7:30 starting time. The Wayland team won the Somerville tournament and was the only team to beat Andover in the tournament as Andover finished in third place out of the 26 team Tourney so this will be a rematch and you can bet the Andover team will be ready to avenge that loss.

Ever wonder why a nightingale sings at night? A medieval story goes that the nightingale is afraid of snakes and keeps awake all night by pressing her breast against a thorn, singing mournfully because of the pain.

All Stars Finish In Third

The Andover-North Andover YMCA All-Star Basketball team coached by Frank Monette and Charlie Conlon won their consolation game recently over East Somerville 46-25 and finished third place out of the 26 teams that entered the Greater Boston Pre-Teen Tournament. The only team the local Stars lost to was St. Ann's of Wayland 44-37 who ended up champions of the tournament.

In the game with East Somerville the local Stars led in every quarter and substituted freely throughout the game as everyone played a good share of time. Ed Collins led the first quarter surge as Mike Costello took over in the second quarter, Jim Arnold spearheaded the third quarter and Paul Willis finished the fourth quarter barrage. The Stars led 9-5 after the first quarter, 19-13 at the half and 31-19 by the end of the third quarter. The team was led by Eddie Collins and Jimmy Arnold with 10 points apiece followed by Paul Willis with 8 points, Mike Costello 6 points, Tom Curtin and Todd Orlando 4 points each, Dave Forzese and Dave Nardone 2 points each and fine all-around play by Jim Grover, Will Washburn, Cokey Callahan, Terry Reilly, Kevin Bartolotta and Bob Patterson. Two members of the team who could not make the final game but chipped in with fine play during the Tournament were Bob Meier and Frank Pelletier.

Coach Monette stated the boys played very well as a team and the score was well balanced during the four games that stars played in. In the first contest 11 boys scored for the Locals as they topped Wakefield 42-19 with Eddie Collins tossing in the game high of 14 points. In the second game 9 boys scored as Dave Forzese led the club with 6 points in a 32-22 victory over St. Pauls of Malden.

In the Semi-Finals the Stars were beaten 44-37 by the Wayland Champs as Ed Collins scored 12 points and Mike Costello 11 points. In the final game 9 players again scored for the local stars who were led by Eddie Collins and Jim Arnolds 10 points and Paul Willis 8 points.

This marks the fourth straight year that the Andover YMCA Stars have participated in the Greater Boston Pre-Teen Tournament under Coaches Monette and Conlon and they have never finished lower than third place. In 1971 they won the championship.

Coach Monette said that this is the first time a combination of Andover and North Andover boys played together as a team and the relationship and working together was well worth the effort of bringing the boys together and thanks Coaches Joe Walsh and Noonie Costello of North Andover for their co-operation.

The boys were brought to see the Globetrotters and Celtics double-header by Coaches Monette, Conlon and Serley and were treated at Brighams by Mr. Orlando. Following is a total summary of scoring in the four games:

Player	FG-FT-PTS
Eddie Collins	17-6-40
Mike Costello	12-1-25
Jim Arnold	10-1-21
Paul Willis	8-0-16
Tom Curtin	5-1-11
Todd Orlando	4-3-11
Dave Forzese	3-4-10
Jim Grover	3-2-8
Dave Nardone	3-1-7

By Helen M. Eccles
J stands for justice. J also stands for jail.

Stubby, confident James Hoffa stepped out of a Cadillac at Phillips Academy Friday with a message for his adolescent audience -- there's no justice in jail. A prisoner doesn't get rehabilitation, just a stigma that takes away his chance to earn a living when he finally gets out. "It's worse than the worst

Hoffa Speaks At Academy

FORMER Teamster President Jimmy Hoffa, now campaigning for prison reform, addressed students at Phillips Academy last week. With him during his campus visit was Richard K. Gordon of Andover, who heads the New England Chapter of the National Association for Justice.

nightmare you could think of," the former Teamster boss told the PA boys and girls. "At a snap of a finger, for possession of marijuana or some other minor first offense, you could be sent to the nearest jail manacled, with leg irons on, in some parts of this country, stereotyped for the sole purpose of containerization, to be lumped together with hardened seasoned criminals -- repeaters, addicts."

Hoffa is ex-head of the powerful International Teamsters' Union, but he was speaking to the PA students as an ex-convict, and as president of the National Association for Justice, a recently formed prison reform group.

Hoffa was released in 1971 by President Nixon's executive act of clemency in mid-sentence, after serving 56 months in a Federal penitentiary for jury tampering and mail fraud; he was released on condition that he be barred from official Teamster office for ten years. Since then he has initiated and led the NAJ, "working to change the complex of punishment for the sake of the crime into rehabilitation for the sake of society," in Hoffa's own words. The NAJ seeks a policy of parole, probation and supervision for most first offenders.

With Hoffa at Phillips Academy Saturday was Richard K. Gordon, Andover's own articulate spokesman for prison reform. Following prison experience of his own, Gordon has spoken widely to church, civic and legislative groups, urging rehabilitation programs and other reforms in the prison system.

Gordon has just been named president of the newly formed New England Chapter of the National Association for Justice.

Jimmy Hoffa came to Boston last week to kick off the fledgling regional NAJ chapter, added visits to Walpole Prison and Phillips Academy, where Gordon's son is actively involved as a senior day student. Hoffa's talk and lively question and answer session in George Washington Hall was sponsored by young Dick Gordon's PA dormitory living group, Pine Knoll Cluster, for the whole school.

The students' questions were respectful but mostly sharp and informed. The jaunty ex-Teamster boss's answers were an extraordinary mixture of John Boone penal liberalism, hard-hat conservatism, pragmatism, plus some polysyllabic economic and labor movement theory, with a few references of Watergate characters thrown in. But Hoffa was completely consistent in condemning prevalent U.S. prison policies as unenlightened and ineffective, and condemning prison administrations as unenlightened and self-promoting. "The least you can do is to segregate hardened criminals. They are willing to trade a third of their lives to jail for what they at least say they gain from crime in the other two thirds of their life outside. And they sell that philosophy to other prisoners," and "I was in a prison with 2,000 in a building built for 900, this crowded population all controlled by guards who normally are misfits for society. A normal person rarely volunteers for serving eight hours a day behind bars."

Hoffa sounded like Massachusetts recently ousted Corrections Commissioner Boone as he recommended a reduction in the prison population through parole, probation and supervision. "California has closed four prisons and isn't even opening one of its newly built facilities. If it's true in California, why not export it elsewhere?" and "I believe an enlightened Congress, if ever there'll be such a thing, will eventually make it a constitutional violation, and cruel and unusual punishment, not to give the right to parole, probation and supervision before a jail term." Hoffa also wants equal sentencing in all states -- for example, a five year maximum for a first violation.

But on a capital punishment question, Hoffa was more hard-nosed. He'd keep it for "kidnappings, shooting the victim during a holdup, and premeditated murder." He agrees with Philadelphia Mayor Frank Rizzo that "capital punishment won't eliminate crime, but it will make sure that the same people won't repeat it." After someone's murdered once, he remarked, it's easier the second time.

On the pragmatic side, the convicted Teamster official hates stool pigeons, electronic bugging, the watered down conspiracy charge and immunity and plea-bargaining. "We're surrendering our freedoms as electronic equipment gets more sophisticated. We're surrendering them to bugging, stoolies and immunity. Young people must accept the basic concept of freedom to associate and behave in conformity with accepted norms of society, but not accept it through threats, pressure, intimidation and the fear that someone will turn them in and take away their right to make a living."

Turning economic theorist, Hoffa told the kids "Automation cybernation, (ed. note: automation plus computers) and consolidation already have cost this country a loss of $100,000 a week in losses, and another $100,000 in new plants that haven't opened, as a result. Reduced work weeks, early retirement -- if we fail to act, these are part of the basic problems you kids are going to live to regret."

How about Hoffa's early release from prison, a student asked. Was Nixon's act of clemency political? Was it motivated by the generous Teamster contributions to Nixon's re-election?

"500,000 of the Teamster rank and file signed petitions. There

Dear Neighbors:

We are the proud owners of 4.3 acres of land which is bordered by Route 93 on the East, the Knights of Columbus building on the North, Route 93 South-bound off ramp on the South, and Frontage Road on the West. It is quite a distance from any active residential property and we sincerely feel you would be pleased with our plans for this land.

A "Yes" Vote for Article 54 (as amended on the floor of Town Meeting) will allow us to build a beautiful small office building for ourselves with enough rental to offset our expenses. All details concerning this will be presented at the Town Meeting.

We sincerely feel this property, above any other in the Town of Andover, should be zoned for an Office Park, with a good size tax return to our Town and without any expense to you.

Above all we have spent a great deal of time looking for an ideal location and feel that what we have to offer this property and our Town, and what this property has to offer us in such a beautiful location, make it an ideal situation.

Please come to the Town Meeting -- Vote "Yes" for our change and let us live and work in Andover.

Very truly yours,

Jan & Ben Waters

Attendance

Attendance at Monday night's first session of the annual town meeting was disappointing to say the least.

When such numbers as 648 registered voters examining a potential annual budget of $16 million in what is termed true democracy, namely town meeting, one wonders if the system is really effective.

Curiously enough, we dare say that if there were a proposal before town meeting to change the form of government, to say, representative town meeting, the session would have been crammed with many more voters, no doubt, objecting to any alterations to their municipal operations.

Controversial items do not spice this year's warrant as much as in past years, but this still leaves no excuse for the sparse attendance, particularly on such matters as budget considerations.

This year, the town's administrators, we think, did an excellent job of budget work, doing their homework to the fullest and eliminating any frills in departmental monetary requests.

Prior to Monday night, the selectmen and finance committee were able to resolve many of their differences of opinion and presented a unified endorsement of most all items.

As for the voters who administer the final stamp of approval to the figures of which their tax rate will be composed, they weren't there.

There was the usual complement of regular town meeting attendees, those who view this annual exercise in democracy as a civic responsibility.

With at least two more sessions due before the annual business session is completed, we would hope that attendance will improve.

A year ago with decision due on such matters as resolving the dump issue, approving the entrance of Hewlett-Packard into the community, in addition to the annual budget, average attendance was in the vicinity of 1,400, a much more representative gathering.

There still remains in excess of $12 million in budget items as well as all the articles in the warrant to be decided upon when the meeting resumes on Monday.

We trust the response will be greater.

Junk Cars

About this time every year the building inspector, on orders of the selectmen, begins his rounds of the town looking for so-called junk cars.

The annual drive is conducted with twofold benefits.

First, of course, is the retention of a neat appearing community. The junk vehicles left in yards or vacant lots cast a less than attractive appearance for any community.

Second, the owners of such vehicles realize some savings along the way. Until such time as a vehicle no longer in use is officially removed from the tax rolls, the owner will be receiving a tax bill for same.

The process used by the building inspector in his annual visitation throughout the town, is an orderly one and is based somewhat on the assumption that violators of the bylaw which prohibits storage of non-useful vehicles, are unaware of the infraction.

The owner is sent a notice and provided sufficient time to have the junk vehicle removed.

As soon as the request is complied with, the assessors office is notified of the action and the item is removed from the tax rolls.

Failure to comply, within a considered reasonable time, or contact with the building inspector's office, results in the town filing for court action against the violator.

Basically this annual program is a simple check for compliance with the town bylaws which result in a more attractive Andover and, in most cases, a little unexpected cash benefits to those who comply.

Thanks

We would like to express a little appreciation to those voters who approved of a continuing of the mosquito control program for another year.

Success of the program to date of course can not be measured, but psychologically, if nothing else, it has appeared to help.

In the many months that have followed the first suggestion of some kind of program to abate the pesky little buzzards, there has been constant debate as to the effective value of spraying and larvaciding programs.

At one selectmen's meeting this past year, someone even offered an explanation of the aerodynamics of the mosquito, accompanied by wind factors.

As is generally the case offered by theorists, all sorts of explanations are fine, but the facts remain that the mosquitoes in Andover have been plentiful. Some relief was offered last year. Further is promised this year and the voters at prior town meetings provided funds for the program.

As for theories of the "skeeters" being blown from one town to another, their flight patterns, etc., we are bitingly aware that they are around and any relief is most welcome.

Off The Top Of The Desk

Knitting must be going out of style.

As a rule, Andover town meetings generally have many in attendance busily composing various items with busy needles as the business is transacted.

This year there was but one person spotted in the audience working away on some form of needlework.

Professional sports really went completely out of hand this week with the $3 million signing of Csonka, Kiick and Warfield of the Miami Dolphins by the Toronto club of the World Football league.

What makes the matter distressing is the fact that the fans will wind up shelling out the funds for these exorbitant receipts but television contracts result in the consumer paying more for various products which sponsor the games.

The defection from the NFL also waters down that league.

With the expansion leagues, such as the World Hockey Association and the American Basketball Association having financial and fan problems, there is every indication that the public is getting a little fed up with the high salaried players in sub-par competition.

In what strikes as a little women's lib in reverse, a decision was made at Providence College last week allowing girls to wash dishes there henceforth.

Up to last Thursday, girls were not allowed in the dishwashing room. An all-male college up to three years ago, the men had retained control of this particular activity in the dining room chores, for which the students are paid.

Last week, however, one of the co-eds was refused employment there and protested to the president of the college. Very Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.P. met the challenge and announced that as of Thursday, March 28, 1974, Providence College girls are allowed to wash dishes.

Champions join champions, could be the theme of the latest edition of "The Squire," the North Andover High school student publication.

Featured in the edition, of course, is the state championship basketball team. But the staff of the newspaper is also honored for their having won honors in "excellence in editorial writing" including a $1,000 scholarship at Suffolk University in Boston.

Editorial writers for the issues which won the awards were written by Mary Trombly, Rosemary Brien, Brian Steinberg, James Caron and Robert Ceplikas, the latter two, co-editors-in-chief of the paper.

Boston's Museum of Science announces a return to regular hours which had been curtailed since December to conserve energy.

Effective immediately, the Museum will be open Monday through Saturday 10 to 5, Friday night to 10, and Sunday, 11 to 5.

The previous early closing Monday through Thursday is no longer considered necessary in view of the government's relaxing of stringent energy restrictions and more availability of fuel.

The Museum will continue, however, to operate the heating and ventilating equipment in accordance with the FEO, which requires that temperature be maintained 10 degrees below previous setting and air-conditioned spaces no lower than 78 degrees. It will also retain several other measures adopted last fall to save energy.

Building and Grounds Superintendent Edward H. Konetchy estimates the measures effected a 35 per cent saving from October through February over the same period last year.

A statewide program designed to benefit the work of the Massachusetts Easter Seal Society will seek to raise and display two million pennies ($20,000), it was announced by Miss Beth Phinney, chairman of the Northeast regional effort.

Miss Phinney serves as a member of the Easter Seal Society's Northeastern Massachusetts Regional Youth Committee.

Called a Penny Sack Parade, the event is enlisting the support of high school and college level students who will collect the pennies in clear plastic sacks. Eventually, the pennies will be deposited into two-foot cube plexiglas containers and displayed at the North Shore Shopping Center, Peabody and the Burlington Mall.

According to Miss Phinney, "Each container when filled will hold approximately 250,000 pennies, weighing nearly one ton."

The committee is currently approaching schools in the area to obtain participation from the student bodies and individual Easter Seal volunteers.

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago, April, 1899

The annual four day Andover Cricket Club fair opens in town hall today. The hall is attractively decorated and the spirit of unity among town organizations abounds. On hand for the opening the Andover brass band will provide for an auspicious opening at ceremonies tonight.

The move at town meeting this year to create an auditing department is a wise one. It was thought of a few years ago but never accepted.

An agent of the New England Beet Sugar Co. is to meet with local farmers at the Andover Grange tonight to tell of the plans to build a plant in Groveland which should prove beneficial to local growers.

The foundation for a steam laundry is being put in on the land to the rear of the Musgrove building. Hardy and Cole are to erect the building.

Co. L of the 8th Regiment is coming home and four local boys, John Smith, George F. and John Henderson and Raymond L. Buchan will soon be with their families again.

50 Years Ago - April, 1924

The Punchard High School Girls basketball team wound up their season with 11 straight wins, closing out the year with a 40-32 win over Lowell High at Lowell Saturday night.

Rep. Charles E. Abbot says Punchard High School may legally charge admission to events at the playstead. He checked the legality at the state house after there was question since the board of public works has charge of caring for the fields.

The Punchard High School baseball team began practice this week under Coach Eugene V. Lovely and Captain John Souter. The team will work out at the cage at the academy for about a week before going outside.

Appointed Charles G. Gilliard as building inspector, Dr. Jeremiah J. Daly, town physician and Samuel P. Hulme, registrar of voters.

Teachers were granted a $200 increase in salary, provided they were on tenure by the school committee. It was the first increase since 1922.

25 Years Ago - April, 1949

Police are investigating a series of breaks in camps along the Shawsheen in Ballardvale and at Foster's Pond.

The Board of Public Works and Recreation Committee met at the Playstead Saturday to plan for the annual cleanup of the area, particularly the section where skating was allowed this winter.

Frank P. Markey was honored with a life membership in the American Legion at an anniversary program held in Memorial Auditorium.

Selectman Roy P. Hardy, J. Everett Collins and Sidney P. White vote to continue the policy of holding closed meetings. They will issue reports to the press periodically.

The school committee met this week for a discussion of the high school English program and approve the monthly warrant in the amount of $2,402.

10 Years Ago - April, 1964

Raytheon has been given permission to use 14.3 acres of land off Fleming Ave., as a parking lot.

Recreation Committee members James D. Doherty, Durwood Moody, Walter Pearson and Stephen Sarota submit their resignations to the town manager.

Building permits for March totalled $186,735.

Police to take action against youths loitering in the downtown area, particularly in the vicinity of "The Wall."

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Frankly, I read your lead editorial of March 28, 1974 with anger and not amusement.

It is difficult to believe that your newspaper would condone clandestine school committee meetings, while admitting that they are illegal.

Are you seriously suggesting that disregard of the law is to be commended?

There are several prominent national figures in jail or on their way to jail for practicing a similar philosophy.

You are asking the taxpayers of Andover to abrogate their rights as citizens to a school committee who feels it cannot carry on its work in full view of the electorate.

As a concerned parent, citizen and taxpayer, I am dismayed.

The school committee was elected to represent us all. It cannot do its work behind closed doors.

The majority of the present committee was editorially supported by the Townsman. This is your right and your privilege. You have neither the right nor the privilege to condone unlawful activity on the part of elected officials.

I do not find your editorial AMUSING! it might better have been titled FRIGHTENING.

Barbara Harcastle
4 Fulton Road
Andover

EDITOR'S NOTE: We regret the misinterpretation. We do not condone secret meetings. Our point was that such activity has happened in the past and we have been aware of 'clandestine' meetings.

To The Editor of The TOWNSMAN:

Andover held its annual town elections on March 4 and the facts on which candidates were elected were known the same day. However, three weeks later, we are still observing the school committee race being refought as to its definitive outcome. Using numbers as instruments, these people prove again and again that Dr. Griggs and Mr. Oleson have won their seats by an interesting type of default. Actually, these people weren't really elected to the offices they now hold, we have all these things like mandates and quotas and percentages that prove otherwise. I refer primarily to the most incorrect of all, former school committeeman William King's letter which appeared in the Andover Townsman on March 21. Mr. King has, by blithely snatching numbers out of thin air and placing things out of context, proved that Frank Griggs and George Oleson were soundly trounced on election day. Isn't modern math wonderful?

In eighth grade, I remember by history teacher repeating to us over and over how numbers could be used to say anything, to mean anything, however misleadingly. This man is now assistant principal at Andover High.

Let's now look at Mr. King's use of numbers. He writes - "Sixty per cent of those who bothered to vote amounts to about one-fourth of the registered voters. That is, one person in four favored the top vote getter."

Now, this implies at first sight, that one out of four voters in the whole town voted for or liked Dr.

Griggs. This would mean that three fourths of the town disliked or voted against Dr. Griggs, which must certainly be impossible since he was elected. Immediately, we say, hey something's wrong! It is Mr. King's use of numbers.

Election day in Andover was a beautiful, mild spring day - the weather had no effect on the vote not being strong. Still, turnout was very light and thus everyone complains that the results of the election are not conclusive.

Wrong again. Aprox. 43% of all eligible voters cast ballots. These are the people who cared enough about the issues to vote. By not voting, the other 57% of the eligible voters have nothing to do with any further statistics. Any statistical results and conclusions drawn from the election should only include the 43% who did vote.

Of these aprox. 5,130 people, who did vote, 3,622 voted for Frank Griggs, clearly better than sixty percent. Of the same 5,130, 3,082 voted for George Oleson, again sixty percent. In anyone's book, that is a clear majority. Griggs and Oleson were elected because the majority of those who voted, voted conservatively. We cannot make any statements about those who did not vote, because by passing up the opportunity to express themselves, they are no longer in our statistical consideration.

This same number 3,622 also represents about one fourth of all eligible registered voters. It could also represent the number of people in this town who brush with Crest. But to say that one person in four favored Dr. Griggs would be as ridiculous and as incorrect as saying that everyone who brushed with Crest voted for Dr. Griggs.

Mr. King should be more careful in his use of numbers and statistics instead of trying to mislead many people. One can do anything with numbers and make them say anything one wants, but it all boils down to facts.

The facts are that Dr. Griggs and Mr. Oleson have been elected to the school committee. The people who were concerned enough to vote elected them by large majorities.

The facts are also that ever since 1971, the majority of votes cast in a school committee election have been for candidates who were "conservatives". I will gladly prove this to anyone interested, using facts, not just numbers.

The fact is, we now have a school committee. The election's over, let's stop fighting about who won and why, but let's concentrate instead on working with the school committee we have to make a better educational system in Andover.

North Essex Open House Tonight

Northern Essex Community College, 100 Elliott St., Haverhill, will hold its second Open House on Admissions on Thursday evening, April 4, from 7-9 p.m. in the College Center.

The meetings give the community the chance to meet the Admissions staff and with faculty members from the various programs of study. Financial aid information is available and tours of the campus are provided.

During the second open house, information will be available on late admissions procedures for Associate Degree programs still open for the Fall, 1974 semester. These programs include the Liberal Arts program, programs in the Business and Technical areas, Engineering Science, and some programs in the Human Services and Allied Health areas. Data will also be available on innovations in approaches to study and new courses which will be offered at Northern Essex next fall.

Miss Cecilia Furlotte, Director of Admissions said that at this time of year many students who have not set study plans for one reason or another begin to become anxious about entrance into the college. "These students should come to the Open House," Miss Furlotte said.

Meal Price For Elderly Increased

Anthony Mangifesti, Cafeteria Director for the Andover Schools was informed by the Department of Nutrition that the supplementary funding for the Elderly Feeding Program has been discontinued until further notice.

This means that the Senior Citizens luncheon will have to be increased by 25¢ making the cost of each meal 75¢ effective April 1.

We apologize for this imposition and hope that in the near future the funding will be reinstated.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

Because state subsidy funds for the Hot Lunch Program have ceased, Andover's senior citizens will be required to pay seventy-five cents each day for their hot meal at East Junior High. But even at seventy-five cents, the food put out by our Andover School people and Tony Mangifesti, is a real bargain and a delicious one, too. Reservations for this program may be made by telephoning The Haven by two o'clock the day before you intend to go. The Hot Lunch program is open to all Andover residents over sixty.

The Monday evening swim at the Vocational School pool is becoming more popular. Every Monday from 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. the pool is open for free swimming for Andover's senior citizens. Come on in! The water's fine!

Thursday, April 4, Robert Finneran, Editor of the TOWNSMAN, will speak at The Haven at 2 p.m. All are invited.

Tuesday, April 9, the Recreation/Community Schools Dept. will sponsor an Easter Egg crafts project at 2 p.m. It is possible that this program will have to be held at Chestnut Court because of the expansion program at The Haven. Through the Vocational School carpentry department, stairs are being constructed to enable The Haven to use the lower level of its premises at 25 Barnard Street. Those interested in the Easter Egg project should make reservations at The Haven so that adequate materials will be on hand, but they should also call The Haven the day before to make sure whether the project will be at The Haven or Chestnut Court, because of the construction.

Making An Impression

Rhonda Perron

It is not very often that freshmen make a big impression on a College Varsity team. The "Rookies" usually come in a bit timid, and require a period of time to pick up the skills that college competition requires.

But, at Boston State College this past winter, the Perron twins, Randi and Rhonda of Andover, made a big impression on the Women's Gymnastic team, and with another Andover product, Captain Ann O'Reilly, this trio promises to do great things for the Warriors in years to come.

"I have been more than pleased with these three girls," commented Coach Maggie Pappalardo, "Ann has been a definite asset to our program over the past couple of years, and with the addition of the Perrons, I feel that the town of Andover will be very well represented at Boston State College."

Ann O'Reilly has really been an outstanding gymnast at Boston State. A Physical Education major, Ann was the high scorer on the team this past winter working on the balance beam, and in the past two seasons has been a real team leader. "Ann is a real joy to have on the team," said Coach Pappalardo "She works very hard and helps out the other girls."

A real pleasant surprise for Coach Pappalardo this past season was the work of the

Randi Perron

Perrons. Both girls competed on the Bars and the Vaulting events, and were outstanding performers for the Warriors. "Like Ann, Rhonda and Randi were real workers," said Pappalardo, "both came to me with outstanding backgrounds from their high school coaching. As a matter of fact, Randi was the Captain and the senior year at Andover High." The Coach went on to say "both girls had real good technique and outstanding basic skills, and working with them has been a real pleasure." Looking towards next year, the Coach hopes that the Perrons will compete in the All-Around category.

If there is one outstanding feature with these girls, observed Mrs. Pappalardo, a graduate of Indiana University, "is their attitude towards gymnastics. They all have a good basic understanding of the skills involved, and they work at it, and I feel that a lot of this comes from the background that they received at Andover. The program there has really prepared them for college competition." The Coach added "and if there are any other girls interested in Boston State Gymnastics, I would be more than happy to have them at Boston State."

Challenge Met By Donors

Governor Dummer Academy of Byfield, recently met a $100,000 challenge grant from the Edward E. Ford Foundation to be added to its endowment for faculty salaries.

Under the provisions of the grant, Governor Dummer had to equal the $100,000 in matching gifts from its alumni, parents, and friends. Twenty-five donors responded with a total of more than $101,000.

In announcing the successful completion of the gift, Headmaster John W. Ragle emphasized that "in this time of unpredictable costs for everyone, this most generous grant is quite timely. We are very grateful for the support which the Edward Ford Foundation and the donors who completed the matching gift have given."

Governor Dummer Academy, which is now a coeducational boarding and day school, was founded in 1763 as the first independent boarding school for boys in the United States.

Paintings On Exhibit

The Andover Gallery of Fine Art is currently presenting a one man show of the recent paintings of David Sullivan through April 20.

Mr. Sullivan, an Andover resident, is considered to be one of the most promising young artists in the country. He has exhibited his paintings and won prizes in several national showings, including the Wichita (Kansas) Centennial Exhibit, the new England Guild Invitational Exhibit, the National Academy of Design (N.Y.), and the All-California Exposition.

His works are of the contemporary realism school and are done in egg tempera, oil, watercolor, pastel and mixed media.

The Andover Gallery of Fine Art is located at 93 N. Main St., Andover, and is open Tuesday through Saturday from 9 to 5:30, Sunday from 2 to 5.

Mr. Sullivan resides on North Main St., Andover.

were 100,000 letters. You bet it was political. It was more expedient for him to leave Hoffa out of jail than to say "Drop dead" to all those people." Hoffa said he had brought suit against Nixon and against his ex-aide Charles Colson, who arranged the release, for the "prejudicial and discriminatory" nature of the ban on his Teamster activities. Hoffa attributes this to the client association of Colson with the present Teamster leadership - Fitzsimmons, his former subordinate, wants to stay president. Hoffa also took a swipe at another former Nixon aide, Donald Segretti, the so-called "dirty trucks" expert. "He was released from prison after only 4½ months in a model prison. It's enough to disgust any young person who, for a little pot or a joy ride in someone's auto, can get two to five years."

Labor movement loyalties seem to run deep. When asked about United Mine ex-president Tony Boyle, accused of arranging the murder of his election rival, Yablonski, and his wife, Hoffa replied, "Tony Boyle is as innocent as you are." Hoffa and Fitzsimmons may be rivals for the Teamster presidency, but Hoffa insists that his only disagreement now with his subordinate of 40 years standing is that Fitzsimmons has decentralized the Teamsters, when labor needs to consolidate more, for power to deal with management. "The U.S. has 120 unions. It ought to be 30 or 40."

"Do you think it would be possible for labor to become too consolidated, too powerful for the balance of power between labor and management?"

That one really triggered off Jimmy Hoffa. "Look at the Chamber of Commerces.

Look at the National Association of Manufacturers. Why doesn't anyone complain when they're consolidated all across the country? What about the multiple-owned companies? We need more power to match the power of the employer. The big corporations are proud of the fact that they control the economic life of America!" Why are you worried about our consolidation and not theirs?"

In prison reform, Hoffa has a cause that could keep a man busy for years. He's done his homework, he has his facts. "Do you realize that 85 per cent of the prison population never had a steady job or earned $5,000 in one year?" But he limits himself to four speaking engagements a month so as not to over-expose too early, he says, he gets his healthy tan from dolphin fishing in Florida in between. The kids at P.A. get the feeling that he really cares about penal reform, and give him a good hand. But you also know, as that Cadillac pulls away from the curb, that he's never stopped caring about being president of the International Teamsters' Union for one minute.

Abstract Paintings On Exhibit

An exhibition of recent works by leading abstract sculptor Michael Steiner opened March 22 at the Museum of Fine Arts and continues through April 28. Two of the monumental metal constructions on view in Gallery CC have never before been exhibited in the U.S.

The sculptures on exhibition span a four year period from 1970 to the present and represent the artist's recent 'elevated' period. Raised off the ground, Steiner's new pieces look like diagrammatic line drawings "filled with matter". Thick metal planes overlapping and tilting at various angles give his sculptures a feeling of open-ness and energy. They achieve expressiveness through the use of surface and edge.

Steiner works first in wood, to scale, then has the thick rectilinear slabs fabricated in corten steel. This technique allows him the freedom to manipulate his design while developing it and accounts for the clean, precise lines of the finished sculpture.

Although only 28 years old, Steiner represents an important alternative to Anthony Caro who has dominated the field of sculpture for the last decade. In the catalog published in conjunction with this exhibition, Kenworth Moffett, Curator of Contemporary Art at the Museum, traces the development of Steiner's work and discusses his role in contemporary art.

Home Gardening May Be A Popular Pastime

This will be a big year for home gardening, if the response to the free soil testing offer by the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture is any measure, the MDA reported last week. Samples came in to the state's exhibit at the New England Spring Flower Show almost faster than they could be handled, and now the soil testing lab at Waltham is working on a huge backlog.

Both the MDA and the Suburban Experiment Station at Waltham plead patience, promising results in the mail in two to three weeks. Further, they ask that you do not telephone for results. Samples are taken on a first come, first served basis, and all will be processed shortly.

California asparagus is plentiful on produce counters now, of excellent quality and reasonably priced, with some special sales offered. The crop precedes our own native asparagus harvest, which appears in early May.

Asparagus has very good nutritional value, and is an extremely versatile vegetable. It can be served hot or cold, with sauces, garnishes and various dressings. Fresh-cooked, it goes well with lemon butter or topped with a hollandaise sauce. Add diced, hard-boiled eggs to a medium white sauce to top boiled asparagus for a main or side dish. Or sprinkle it with crisp bacon bits for added flavor - or toasted, blanched almonds. It can be cooked, chilled and marinated, then topped with French dressing and snipped parsley. Asparagus and eggs provide plenty of vitamins as well as protein.

Iceberg lettuce is in heavy supply and most reasonable. Navel oranges are plentiful, and well priced. Carrots and turnips are also in very good supply.

On the meat counter, leg of lamb, ham and chickens are moderately priced. Chicken can usually be found on special sale.

If you find meat too high for your budget, remember that there's plenty of protein in milk, cheese, eggs and such crops as soybeans, chick peas, dried beans and peanuts. Combine cereals or vegetable foods with a little milk or cheese for balanced meals. Combinations like rice with fish, meatballs with spaghetti, meet all body needs.

Folk Dancing Scheduled

The Andover Recreation/Community Schools Department is again offering folk dancing on Tuesday evenings from 7:30-9:30 p.m. at West Jr. High School. Dorothy Christopher will be the coordinating teacher for the eighth-week term which will begin Tuesday, April 2.

A great deal of enthusiasm for this activity was generated in the winter term. Class participants who came from Andover and surrounding communities enjoyed a great variety of dances from many parts of the world. This is an activity which has no age limitation. The winter term included high school and college people as well as golden agers. Basic instruction is given each evening. No previous experience is necessary to enjoy this invigorating activity.

Beginners are especially welcome and participation is not limited to Andover residents. Registration for the spring folk dance term may be completed at the class on Tuesday evening or at the Recreation/Community Schools Department, Stowe Administration Building, 36 Bartlett St., Andover.

All American Rose

Here is the only hybrid tea to win a 1974 award and surely it should please just about everyone. Perfume Delight is an exquisitely formed, clear pink rose with such a rich tea fragrance it is actually startling when it strikes the nostrils, and a garden performance that is satisfactory just about everywhere that roses can be grown.

Of recent years there have been many complaints that the newer roses have lost the virtue of fragrance. Evidently the breeders have heeded the mounting criticism, as all three 1974 winners possess all the fragrance anyone would wish for, particularly this new hybrid tea.

The most desired type of hybrid tea bloom starts with a classic urn shaped bud and Perfume Delight will give complete satisfaction in this requirement, having long, pointed buds of rich, deep pink, gradually opening to a beautifully shaped, high centered flower of clearest pink.

This winner is a pink rose all the way from the outer tips of the petals, clear through to the heart of the bloom. The thirty petals have a thick, satiny texture and form roses some 5 inches across, usually on single stems.

Perfume Delight forms a vigorous well-branched, medium height plant, well clothed with large, leathery dark green foliage.

In all probability, Perfume Delight will develop into a favorite rose for cut flower arrangements as well as general garden use, particularly because its beauty is enhanced by the most outstanding fragrance of any rose now on the market.

Always plant this rose in the front of a bed, along a walk, or by an entrance where its beauty and magnificent perfume can be readily seen and appreciated.

This only hybrid tea 1974 winner is another in the increasing list of award winners of O.L. Weeks, rose breeder of Ontario, California. Perfume Delight is the result of crossing Peace with a complex hybrid (Happiness X Chrysler Imperial) X El Capitan. The rose has every right to its magnificent perfume as in its ancestry are to be found Charlotte Armstrong, Mirandy, Chrysler Imperial, Madam Butterfly, Joanna Hill, Crimson Glory, Rome Glory and Night, all deliciously fragrant and beautiful roses.

It is expected Perfume Delight will be in evidence in the coming years in gardens, as a cut flower favorite, and in competition on the tables of the rose shows.

Area Students Chosen For College Who's Who

Three area residents are among 31 juniors and seniors at Merrimack College, North Andover, who have been selected to appear in the 1973-74 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," it was announced by Rev. William J. Murray, O.S.A., vice-president for student affairs.

The area students are: Edward

P. Garon of North Andover; Miss Ann R. McGrahey and Frederick Neergaard of Andover.

The basic concept of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" is to provide a democratic, national basis for recognition of outstanding campus leaders. The directory has appeared annually since 1934 and now includes listings from over 1000 colleges and universities in all fifty states, the District of Columbia, and several foreign nations in North and South America. Students represented in "Who's Who" are selected by committees on their campuses and are able to make use of reference and placement exclusively for members.

A Dean's list student and a Presidential Scholar, Edward P. Garon was the 1973-74 recipient of the $1500 Western Electric Co. Scholarship at Merrimack. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Demers, 7 Chapman Ave., Andover.

A senior Economics major who recently achieved a 4.00 average for the fall semester, Garon has served as a staff member of The Warrior the weekly student newspaper, and The Merrimack Review, the college literary publication. He has also contributed articles for Impact, the Alumni magazine of Merrimack College.

He plans to pursue graduate studies and aspires to a career as a managerial economist.

A 1968 graduate of Andover High School, Garon served in the U.S. Army in 1969 and 1970. He was awarded the Army Commendation Medal and the Bronze Star while serving in Vietnam.

A resident of North Andover, Garon is married to the former Patricia Bayliss. The Garons have one daughter, Lisa Marie.

Miss Ann R. McGrahey, the daughter of Prof. and Mrs. James McGrahey, 21 Enmore St., Andover, is a junior Chemistry major. A Dean's list student for five semesters, she has attained a 4.00 cumulative average at Merrimack. She is a member of the Benzene Ring, the student affiliate chapter of the American Chemical Society. She is also a member of Alpha Iota Delta, the campus tutoring society for fellow students.

A 1971 graduate of Our Lady of Nazareth Academy, Wakefield, Miss McGrahey aspires to a career in Medicine.

A junior Biology major, Frederick J. Neergaard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Neergaard, Summer St., Andover. He is a member of the Educational Policies Committee of the Academic Congress. He currently serves as station manager of WMMC, the campus radio station.

An advisor to the Class of 1977, Neergaard is co-chairman of the Commuter Council and the head usher at the S. Peter Volpe Athletic Complex. He is a 1971 graduate of Austin Preparatory School, Reading.

Each draft (check) you write is 15¢, but not until you write it. There is no monthly service charge. On the contrary, we pay you 5% a year interest, compounded monthly, but with the added convenience of being able to write what we call drafts (like checks or money-orders) whenever you want.

To complete this convenience, we mail you every month a simple Statement showing all your deposits to this Account; all the interest they've earned for you; a listing of your paid drafts (checks); and return the paid drafts for your personal records.

As always, you continue to use your Regular Savings Account and any other Accounts you have, building them up as fast as you wish with deposits and our monthly compounding of interest. Any and all such Accounts are entirely separate from our handy N.O.W. Account.

The Freshest Easter Flowers Come From Valentine's

Dewy fresh, colorful flowers help to make the Easter season one of the most joyous of the year. Valentine Flowers at One Elm Street, opposite the Standex Bldg. in Andover, has a direct flower supply that enables them to offer the freshest flowers and plants in the area. Stop in at Valentine's when you are downtown and view the handsome displays in this friendly shop around the corner.

Be sure to order all Easter flowers as early as possible; this is a busy time for florists. Valentine's makes deliveries 2 and 3 times daily in Andover and Greater Lawrence, and they are also a member of F.T.D. This is a national flower service with over 11,000 members . . . which permits delivery of your floral gift anywhere in the U.S. or Canada with a simple phone call to Valentine Flowers.

Say "Happy Easter" to someone you love with a cheerful plant to be enjoyed now and for many months to come. Or choose from the traditional Easter lilies, fresh and blooming in a variety of sizes; daffodils; tulips; hyacinths; azaleas; hydrangeas and African violets, all attractively potted for gift-giving.

A colorful floral arrangement from Valentine Flowers always makes a welcome gift. Their experienced florists will make up a bouquet of the freshest flowers in a beautiful mixed arrangement or in flowers of your specific choice.

Another Easter suggestion is a corsage such as exquisite orchids in white or lavender or the pretty cymbidium orchids in white, pink, green, yellow and brown.

Telephone Valentine Flowers at 475-2929 or stop in at the shop and make your choice . . . One Elm Street, just off the Square in Andover.

Recycling Committee Made Program Work

"Persistence, perseverance, keeping town officials informed about recycling ideas and opportunities, and well, just plain pushing us along" that's the town manager's assessment of the contributions of the town's Recycling Committee, which he appointed a year ago to coordinate the town's recycling program.

In its first year, the committee of five women and numbers of helping volunteers, divided into task forces, has publicized and explained recycling procedures to citizens, sought out new markets and better prices for recyclables, coordinated student recycling efforts, and developed some new recycling projects.

One of the new projects is a lucrative new collectible - corrugated cardboard. The Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce Retail Task Force is behind the new corrugated cardboard program from Andover merchants.

The town wide Municipal Recycling Auction on Saturday, April 27 at the Recreation Park is the latest project of the Recycling Committee. It has town hall blessing, since the idea is to sponsor a great spring cleaning collection of useful articles donated by everyone in town who has useful things no longer needed, then sell it at a carnival day of auction to the highest bidders, with all profits going into the town's Free Cash, used to reduce the tax rate. Wanted by the town are TV's, toys, games, appliances that work, furniture, kitchen, garden and household items, outgrown sports equipment, anything in good usable condition.

If you don't need it, and since you no longer can take it to the dump, save it for the auction; it's better conservation to donate it for auctioning (recycling) it to someone who needs it, than it is to discard it. And it helps the town tax rate, that's the Recycling Committee's philosophy.

How and when can you get useful items out of your home, attic, garage or cellar to donate them to the Municipal Auction? Bring them all to the Lodge at the Recreation Park a week before the Auction, on Saturday, April 20, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Or bring them the following Wednesday, Thursday or Friday, April 24, 25, or 26, from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Town personnel will be there to receive them.

For pickup of articles you will be unable to bring to the Lodge at the Recreation Park, call John Lewis at Town Hall, 475-5864, or call 475-4618, beginning now, so that town pickup can be arranged. Then come to the Auction on Saturday, April 27, when the Recycling Auctioneers, Ralph Sharpe and Philip K. Allen will sell everything to the highest bidder, to benefit the town's Free Cash fund.

Mmes. Elaine Katz, Gail Armstrong, Lolly Sumberg, Alix Driscoll and Susan Dennett are the original members of the Recycling Committee, and their forces have grown. Mrs. Katz works with John Lewis of Town Hall to seek out new markets and the most favorable prices for recyclables. Lewis reports that the selling price for recyclables, particularly paper and cardboard, is constantly going up and contracts have to be renegotiated each month. The income from recycling, which began last July, now brings more cash into the Free Cash Fund than the town spends for collection of recyclables. According to Town Hall, a sizeable net profit can accrue to the town - if more townspeople (the other 50%) will only take the trouble to separate out newspapers, flattened cans and bottles, and set them out with the red bags, on the proper collection days. (But get them out by 7 a.m. or the night before, since Donald Craig's Industrial Services trucks usually come earlier than the red bag collection trucks.)

Corrugated cardboard is now extremely profitable. The town's merchants, not included in residential pickup, have been mobilized for corrugated cardboard recycling by the Task Force, under Charles Heseltine of Dana's Sport Shop and Paul Gmyrek of the shoe department of Elander & Swanton. Since driver Thomas Christopher has offered to pick up cardboard from the merchants as a service to the town, the $40 a ton for this material is clear saving for the town.

The subcommittee for organizations under the Recycling Committee's Mrs. Bloch has been meeting with each town organization to make a speech or announcement before each group - more citizen education, to promote and explain recycling. Mrs. Sumberg works on new recycling projects with the schools, along with Heather Moody of the high school, who takes one course at Phillips Academy and represents the ecology groups of both schools which now meet jointly.

Another Recycling subcommittee has members down at town hall stuffing recycling schedules into residents' water bills each month.

Andover has become one of Massachusetts' leading towns in recycling, reports Town Manager Austin, who attended a solid waste conference in Boston last week. While the town was not one of the pioneers on recycling, it may now be the only town which has a complete municipal pickup recycling program for all three of the most profitable recyclables - newspapers, glass and bottles.

Town Hall officials note a further benefit, as Merrimack Valley approaches a regional solid waste disposal program. Each town will have to pay by the ton for regional waste pickup and disposal. In half a year, Andover has already recycled 600-800 tons of material. When regional waste disposal comes, every ton of recycled material will be a ton of "trash" Andover will not have to pay the region to haul away and dispose of right now, Lewis predicts that "Andover's municipal trash collection contract can be renegotiated at a more attractive rate next year, because our town recycling program hauls away so much so-called trash, and sell it at a profit to the town."

Review:

"The Real Inspector Hound"

It's been seven years since a Stoppard Production stirred American audiences. The sabbatical is over. Lucky Tom, his 1967-1968 "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead" won the Tony and Drama Critics' Award for Best Play. And Americans are gabbing over the cocktail hours about his wit, involvement and confusion as they view "The Real Inspector Hound" and lucky Washingtonians watch "Jumpers" produced as this play was by the Kennedy Center Production, and now on the D.C. stage.

No ordinary writer, this lad. Mark him down for ambiguity, drollness, wit, pun and hamming.

Robert Vaughan, of "The Man from U.N.C.L.E." fame is the National Tour star of this play. He revels in it. And we revel in watching him.

Vaughan plays a second-string critic, "Moon." He is at a play. A fellow-reviewer, Michael Egan as "Birdfoot" sits next to him. They share thoughts and candy. Meanwhile on stage in the most high-handed acting we see the Lady of Muldoon House, her maid, tennis partner, Guest, and local mad-man act out the most pretentious, pompous satire of an English, murder-mystery complete with an Inspector - seen this side of the Atlantic. The cast outshines Agatha Christie's "Ten Little Indians." The audience roared at the heavy stylization and mugging.

Opening night critics from the newspapers and television stations - were the focus of attention as well, since the plot deals with their craft. They were in for some punning and fun, as Moon and Birdfoot analyzed the play, with cliches now so well known.

An excellent cast in this play fill a marvelous set by William Ritman. No stranger to English town-houses he previously was nominated for a Tony award for his lighting design for "Sleuth."

It's a tight little evening - two British plays and out by ten. If perchance you were an Exeter fan twenty years back and couldn't get enough Alec Guinness - then this is your graduate course follow-up. Go and be refreshed. Stoppard's the center of of theatre talk again, across the country. At the Colonial through April 13.

T.M. Lectures are you chicken about putting all your eggs in one basket

Some property owners get the deep horrors about listing their property exclusively with one broker. They have visions of him fleeing to a vacation in the Sunny South, leaving them out in the cold, out of touch with the Real Estate market.

Can such a thing happen? Not if you're a Victor customer. We work as a team. Although we like the warmer climate as much as the next man, we don't depart en masse. A team member is always working in your behalf. Does it mean we're the only company actively interested in you? No. Once listed with us your property needs and objectives are publicized to a wide group of brokers. They work with us to get immediate action and results for you.

When you put all your eggs in the exclusive* Victor basket, things begin to happen. Try us and see.

League Issues Support Positions On Warrant

The League of Women Voters will support 9 articles and oppose 2 articles on the April Town Meeting warrant.

According to Nancy Mulvey, league president, the decisions to support or oppose articles are made by the League only in those areas that have been previously studied and approved by the members.

The League will support the following articles:

Article 25 and Article 61 - conservation purchases off Jenkins Road and off Lucerne Drive. The League supports an active open space land acquisition program in Andover.

Article 31 - Poms Pond development and Articles 32 - repair of tennis courts. The League has a long-standing position favoring the development of public recreational facilities.

Article 15 - rezoning on Central St. and Article 33 - rezoning on North Main St. The League believes these rezoning articles will encourage a high standard of commercial development in Andover. Article 15 will further strengthen the central business district while Article 33 will give the town more control over the future development of the Harding - North Main St. area.

Article 69 - flood plain zoning. This change in the zoning bylaws will give the town some control over future building on the flood plains of the Merrimack and Shawsheen Rivers. Although it does not prohibit building in the designated flood plain, it will require construction to meet certain requirements. Support of this article is in accordance with the League's national policies and procedures which promote comprehensive long-range planning for the management of water resources.

Article 43 - finance committee reports. The League of Women Voters believes that democratic government depends upon the informed and active participation of its citizens. These reports are a valuable aid to those attending town meetings, can save time in presentation, and are therefore a justifiable expense.

Article 45 - sanitary sewer. The League supports measures to improve water quality. The Ballardvale Sewerage Treatment Plant is presently the prime source of pollution to the Shawsheen River in Andover.

The League opposes the following articles:

Article 46 - amending the zoning bylaw for tennis clubs. The League feels that this article will not maintain the control of zoning necessary to insure a high standard of commercial development.

Article 54 - rezoning on Frontage Road. This change would adversely affect the residential character of the neighborhood. There is already a sufficient amount of industrially-zoned land available in Andover.

Rabies Clinics Scheduled

Dr. Robert A. Walsh, chairman, Andover Board of Health announces that the Board of Health will sponsor an animal rabies clinic to be operated by Dr. Richard D. Lindsay, Animal Inspector.

The clinic will be held in the East Jr. High School Shop Area between 8:30 a.m. and 12 noon on April 6, and again on April 13.

Sailing

permission is the placing of the new water treatment plant into service.

Testing of the system and putting it on line is expected to take about six months.

During that time, the proponents of the sailing proposal expect to officially introduce their plan to the selectmen, who will be asked to rule on the possibility of using the pond for such activity.

DPW Director McQuade, asked about the possibility, said he was definitely opposed and felt the state regulations would prohibit such activity.

McQuade cites the fact that Haggett's is a public drinking water supply as being an overriding factor in the decision at both the local and state level.

He points out there are sufficient opportunities on ponds in nearby towns on which sailboating is allowed. Also, McQuade says, Poms could be used.

The DPW director commented on the fact that as a representative of a consulting firm, Camp, Dresser and McKee, prior to his coming to his present position, he had recommended against sailboat permission for a lake in New Hampshire. The selectmen there rejected the recommendation and shortly after the permission was granted, there was an outbreak of illness directly related to the water supply.

McQuade states that regardless of how much protection and regulation is promised by the proponents there is too much danger of pollutants entering the public water supply through such recreational activity.

Bible School Scheduled

Andover Baptist Church will hold its annual Vacation Bible School for anyone in the community between the ages of 4 and 12 from June 24 to 30. Sessions will be held from 9:30 a.m. to noon and will use an undenominational program published by the Gospel Light Publishing Company of Glendale, California with songs, stories, Bible studies and crafts.

The director of the school is Mrs. Charles Towne assisted by a large staff of teachers and other workers.

In past years, nearly every church in Andover has been represented by children.

Pre-registration of pupils will be made early in June and advanced notice will be given.

Selectmen Study Regional Disposal Site For Andover

The job of finding a tentative site or sites for a regional solid waste disposal plant in Andover, was delegated to Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, and DPW Director Robert McQuade Tuesday night, by the Andover Board of Selectmen.

The motion for a preliminary site study was made by Selectman Edmund Sullivan, after his report as the board's representative to the Greater Lawrence Solid Waste Committee.

Any tentative sites, the board said, must meet the criteria of the state - namely that they be adjacent to a major interstate highway.

Personnel Shifts On Steamy Agenda

All indications pointed to an explosive school committee meeting Wednesday night, after the TOWNSMAN went to press.

Personnel items were on the agenda, with possibilities of demotion of administrators within the school system.

Chairman Francis Griggs, Jr., of the committee, late Wednesday, would neither confirm nor deny the possibility of some wholesale realignments in administrative personnel, indicating that such items might be in executive session.

Complete details will appear in next week's edition of the TOWNSMAN.

Since the town election, the school committee has met on Wednesday nights, due to Committeeman George F. Olesen's employment requiring him being out of town on Tuesday nights. The committee is expected to return to meeting earlier in the week as soon as rescheduling of employment activities can be worked out.

Completion of all but a few items in the municipal budget at Monday night's resumption of the annual town meeting, coupled with some favorable figures on state reimbursements received this past week, presents a forecast of a possible one to two dollar decrease in Andover's $54 tax rate in the coming fiscal year.

With 597 voters on hand for the second session Monday night, approval was given to an operating budget of $13,805,703, which included passage, almost without question school costs of $8,341,795.

The voters also whisked through 28 articles in the warrant, which included rezoning of land on Central and Chestnut streets, continued the annual surface drainage program, and some street acceptances.

Andover's 1974 annual town meeting will resume on Monday, April 22, at 7:30 p.m. at which time some budget deferrals regarding the debt service totalling in excess of $2 million and $30,000 for outside water meters may be acted upon.

Town meetings of recent years in Andover have featured lengthy debates on the school budget. This year, the figures almost passed without question when presented at the first session a week ago, with only a lone voice in the audience preventing a carte blanche for public education in 1974.

Monday night, Chairman Dr. Francis E. Griggs, presented information on how the committee composed this year's budget and commented that recent figures showing state assistance increased, would result in a no tax increase budget - a goal of the committee.

The $8.1 million plus request received quick approval.

A cut in the budget for the regional vocational school was debated slightly before the Finance Committee agreed to restore the funds.

District Sets Sights On Award

The Essex Conservation District has its sights on a first place finish in the 28th annual Goodyear Conservation Awards Program.

According to John L. Roberts, North Andover, chairman, the district will match its record of service to land users with other districts in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut. An independent judging committee will select the two top districts in the contest sponsored by The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company in cooperation with the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD).

Each first place district, in addition to a plaque, will receive expense-paid, vacation study trips for its outstanding cooperator and a member of the governing board. Representatives of the 53 first place districts nationally will be Goodyear's guests on the grand awards tour to Marco Island, Fla., in December.

The Essex Conservation District's outstanding cooperator for the year also will be honored as part of the awards program. He or she will be selected by the board from among the many land users enrolled in the district's program.

The Essex District was a first place winner of the Goodyear Conservation Award in 1963. The late James Wrest of Danvers, chairman at that time, participated in a tour to Goodyear's conservation farm in Arizona.

Walk-ins from the community will be more than welcome or appointments may be made by calling the Andover Red Cross. Blood is still in undersupply and all possible donors are urged to register.

An Important Address On Lowell Street

By Linda S. Corbett
Getting into the Andover IRS, as the April 16 deadline nears, is a bit, one suspects, like getting into the inner sanctums of the Pentagon.

There's the guard at the gate, the guard-backed receptionist to whom one gives his vital statistics, and a possible search of belongings. At the very least they'll hang a tell-tale badge around your neck before whisking you off via escort, inside the Lowell Street building large enough to hold five professional football fields.

Once inside there may be even more security checks, to off-limits areas such as the computer room, where even other employees aren't entitled to go. "No one could break in here," a spokesman says proudly.

After all, he says, Uncle Sam has vowed to protect the confidentiality of every taxpayer's return.

Individual 1973 tax returns -- coming from Upstate New York and all over New England -- will total some 7.7 million at the Andover Service Center, this year. More than 3.5 million had arrived by Monday, and the load is expected to increase through the weekend, up to a million in one day.

While April 15 is the traditional deadline for filing, put-it-offers have an extra day's grace this year, since Monday, April 15, is a legal holiday in Massachusetts. That means that returns must be postmarked before midnight Tuesday, to avoid penalty.

But the security is essential also for all those tax dollars -- though most of them come in by check and there's "very little money" lying around.

In fact, some million dollars worth of payments are being deposited every day from Andover -- while millions more in refunds are being mailed back to taxpayers.

"One of the incredible things about this business," the spokesman continues, "is that we owe people money and they don't send for it."

While earlybirds have already been refunded $1.3 billion from IRS weighs returns to get a "first count." There are 44 to a pound this year. Photo shows Shirley Belbin, Haggetts Pond Road, Andover, showing some returns to Assistant Director Joseph H. Cloonan.

Andover, many late filers will also "get money back" which, as the spokesman says, could have been sitting in their respective banks collecting interest all this while. Some $3 billion will be refunded this year all told.

In addition, Uncle Sam's helpers in Andover have already this year refunded $2,277,379 to 33,102 taxpayers who overcharged themselves on their returns -- mostly through simple mathematics.

Sending taxpayers their due is the number one priority, the spokesman continues -- and the prime reason the Andover Center is now running at full steam, around the clock, with some 3,100 employees on board.

While incoming checks are deposited right away -- as required by law -- the processing of those returns is held up until the others are completed. Refunds should all be mailed out by May 30, the spokesman said.

That is not to say, of course, that anyone inclined to be less than honest is home free by summer.

"If you haven't heard from IRS in three years," the spokesman says, "you're pretty safe."

He goes on to add that it is to the credit of the American people that some 97 per cent voluntarily comply with the income tax laws. Only about three per cent of the returns nationwide, are audited. Of those, about half remain unchanged after further investigation.

There's no such thing as a "spot check" any more, the spokesman says; the need for that went out with the installation of more sophisticated computers.

After returns pass preliminary scrutiny in Andover -- and at nine other such centers around the country -- for mathematical errors, or allowable deductions and the like, the important information is transferred to magnetic tape, and flown off nightly to the National Computer Center in Martinsburg, W. Va.

Computers there, more than a host of tax examiners, know about what a person with a certain job and responsibilities should be paying, or getting back. If figures don't quite jibe, that coded return is pulled out and sent to a District Office -- this region's is in Boston -- where the decision to audit or not to audit is made. It is not, the local spokesman emphasizes, decided on Lowell Street.

While computers have streamlined operations immensely, the human element is still vital, the spokesman adds. Some 10 to 12 persons actually handle each individual return, from the time it arrives in the mail room (some 20 million pieces come in a year, directly from a regional postal branch in Woburn because IRS here has its own ZIP), is sorted, opened, weighed, numbered, examined, refunded or charged and put on tape -- until it disappears into the IRS archives in Waltham -- hopefully never to be needed again.

A new look at miracles

About two thousand years ago, lepers, life time cripples, and the insane were healed by Christ Jesus and many of his followers

But somehow their accomplishments have not become a natural way of life for most people, who regard them as strictly a phenomena of the past.

The fact is, though, that instances of healing and regeneration through enlightened prayer are going on today. Every day.

You can hear some outstanding examples - and how they were brought about - in a talk by

Cote Is Appointed Water Superintendent

Ernest J. Cote, Jr., a construction inspector for the consulting engineer firm of Camp, Dresser & McKee, has been appointed Water and Sewer Superintendent for Andover.

Cote succeeds John MacIntosh, who held that position for two years and will be moving to Florida.

The Selectmen also named Albert Cullen Jr. to the Zoning Board of Appeals, with Mrs. Virginia Hammond as an alternate. Cullen had formerly been an alternate to the board, as was Mrs. Hammond.

"John MacIntosh has been a very capable and available person and we're very sorry to see him go," Town Manager J. Maynard Austin said this week.

MacIntosh had first worked for the town as an engineering aide in 1957-58, and had been an inspector on many projects in Andover, while working for Camp, Dresser. He was in charge of the construction of the six million gallon reservoir by Bancroft School, among other water and sewer projects. He will leave April 26.

Cote, of Hampton, N. H., is expected to report for duty April 16. Cote has worked on six projects in Massachusetts and New Hampshire for Camp, Dresser, including water and sewer mains and pumping stations. Previously he worked in surveying with civil engineering firms.

He graduated from Central High School in Manchester, N. H., and took machine and tool design courses at New Hampshire Technical Institute, and mechanical engineering studies at Lowell Tech.

In still other action, the Selectmen voted to set up the July Fourth Committee as a town board, and named James McLeod as chairman. Other members will include John D. Lewis, William Martin, Francis Riley, DPW Director Robert McQuade, and Gary Ralph director of Recreation / Public Schools.

Chosen for jury duty in Salem, May 6, were John Grecoe, 17 Florence St., and Clinton D. Shaw, 40 Wildwood Road.

have an opportunity to approve any final plans, they said, before a tentative site was submitted, as has been requested, to the Greater Lawrence committee.

Among possible "pros" of being "host" town to a regional facility, they said, was in revenues received from other communities, and savings in of transporting transportation of Andover's solid waste.

The selectmen also formally signed a much discussed agreement, with Franklin Trust

Arkwright-Boston, on the riverfront land to be deeded to the town. The contract essentially says that once the town starts construction of the West Andover sewer, the owner will deed to the town a 100-foot strip along the river between Route 93 and Hewlett-Packard. The riverfront of 50 feet will be for town use, and the 50 inner feet will serve as a "buffer."

After some discussion, and with a policy motion forthcoming, the Selectmen okayed a request by the Andover League of Women Voters to use the Town Seal on the updated publication of their "Know Your Town" booklet.

In making the motion, Mrs. Janet Lake said that the League had provided a great service for many years, and that its last booklet, dated 1961, had been used as a "text book" and "valuable tool" by many groups. It's "carefully done," she added, and "to the town's credit," the seal was also used on that last booklet, she said.

Selectman George Heseltine indicated opposition to use of the Town Seal on anything that doesn't come officially out of Town Hall. He and Sullivan voted "no" on the motion.

The Selectmen also, on the request of nearby residents, designated Dascomb Road, just north of the Route 93 bridge, as "no parking." The parking ban will extend on the west side of the road from Cardinal Lane to the bridge, and on the east side, from Surrey Lane to the bridge. Residents of the area had complained of public parking that was creating a "nuisance."

In still other action, the Selectmen declared today as "Coffee Day for Crippled Children," on request of the Easter Seal Society, approved a street opening to install gas service for Leonard Boucher at 30 Chester St., and removal of Mass. Electric poles on the east side of Hidden Road northwest of the Lantern Lane corner.

Coffee For Mothers Scheduled

Several months ago the Religious Education Committee of the Unitarian Universalist Church, 244 Lowell St., Andover, implemented a morning program for church school mothers, in order to better acquaint them with the program curriculum and to stimulate exchange of concerns among members of the religious education committee and the congregation.

Under the direction of Mrs. Carolyn Buss, Director of Religious Education for the church, this program has been extremely successful and attendance has been increasing as participants seek to investigate ways in which the church can be more effective in nurturing children in their developing concepts of a religious experience both in the church setting and the world around them.

In response to the needs of mothers with pre-school children, baby-sitting services will be available at the church, with snacks and juice provided for the youngsters. Coffee and pastries will be enjoyed by the adults in attendance. The April 23 morning program will begin at 9:30 a.m. and all interested members of the community who wish to learn more about the Unitarian Universalist program of Religious Education are cordially invited to attend. Hostess for this month's meeting will be Mrs. Robert H. Stier, Jr. of Andover.

LEARNING THE TRADE - Kenny Long of the Bancroft School in Andover is instructed by Plimoth Plantation's resident thatcher, Peter Slevin, (left, in costume) in making brooms made from birch twigs, while his classmates eagerly wait their turn during their visit to Prudential Center on March 26. The demonstration of broom making was part of a month-long exhibit featuring Plimoth Plantation in the lobby of the Prudential Tower Building, which the youngsters took in during their special visit to Prudential Center.

A History Lesson

The history and times of America's first settlement at Plymouth, Mass. came to life for 10 students from the Bancroft School in Andover visiting Prudential Center recently.

The students and their teachers made the field trip to the Hub to view a special exhibit presented by Plimoth Plantation in the lobby of the Prudential Tower Building.

Highlighting their visit were live demonstrations of 17th century crafts presented by Plimoth's staff, who were dressed in authentic costumes for the occasion.

Jim Blogg, one of two known coopers in the United States specializing in 17th century wooden objects, showed the children how to make a wooden barrel just as it was done by John Alden in the original Plimoth colony. Jim is a native of London who spent seven years of indentured apprenticeship in coopering before being employed by an English brewery.

Equally as fascinating to the students were demonstrations of roof thatching, broom making and the construction of a wattle and daub fence by Peter Slevin. Peter's Irish brogue charmed the youngsters as he told them how, like his father, and his father before him, he was trained to be a thatcher in Donegal, Ireland.

The young girls particularly enjoyed watching Plimoth's Suzanna Davis explain embroidery done with silk thread on linen that was used by the women in the Pilgrim village. She also showed them popular patterns and colors of the times.

For the youngsters, the stars of the Plimoth program were the two goats, three chickens and "Cricket," Plimoth's canine mascot grazing in the Tower Lobby. Curator of Livestock, Bill Dawson quelled the students' natural apprehension and coaxed them to pet the animals.

The Plimoth exhibit, which is open free to the public through April 12, also included a display of authentic 17th century artifacts such as household items and costumes as well as photo murals depicting the lives of colonists.

Beginning April 1 the display highlights Plimoth's new Wampanoag Indian Village and features live demonstrations of mat weaving, fish netting, canoe making and decorative porcupine quill work. Both the colonial and Indian demonstrations are presented daily, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays and 1 to 5 p.m. weekends.

Not only was the exhibit a learning experience for the youngsters but it proved to be equally as enjoyable, evidenced by the students' excitement in telling each other what they had seen as they left to return to school.

Auditions Due

Auditions for outstanding musicians at the high school, college and professional level to participate in Boston University's summer programs at Tanglewood, in the Berkshire mountains of western Massachusetts, will be held at the School of Fine and Applied Arts, 855 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, on Saturday, April 27 and May 11, from 9:30 to 4 p.m.

Persons wishing to audition should contact Larry Hecker for an audition appointment.

Gardeners To Organize Tuesday

A group of Andover residents who hope to garden on Conservation Commission land near the Merrimack River, will hold an organizational meeting Tuesday, at 8 p.m., at Memorial Hall Library.

The gardening program is the brainchild of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Gendler, 227 Haggett's Pond Road, and Mrs. Angel Garcia, Foster's Pond Road.

While their primary concern is the preservation of farmland in Andover, there are also the side benefits of getting people together, getting exercise, and having fresh homegrown vegetables, Gendler said this week.

They got permission from the Conservation Commission to use its land adjacent to the Deerjump Reservation, off Brundrett Ave. at River Road, and Gendler said that anyone interested, who hasn't yet spoken up, should contact him or come to Tuesday night's meeting.

There are five or six acres that could be plowed up, he said, into "quite a nice section" for gardening. Some of the land is seeded in hay; most of it would remain as it has been.

One item on Tuesday's agenda will be the possibility of charging a minimal fee to persons who use the land -- to provide for plowing or other services, such as rental of a chemical toilet.

What people planted would be up to them, Gendler went on, but the group might set aside one end of the land for people who wanted to grow their vegetables organically, with plots at the other end for people who wanted to use chemical fertilizers or sprays.

Some 15 people have already indicated interest in the project, Gendler said, and while he has been acting as coordinator, he doesn't plan to garden there himself.

He and his wife already do so on their own five acres in West Andover.

"What we hope," he said, "is that the residents of Andover will do whatever is necessary to preserve some of the old farmland. If people were more aware of the treasures that we have now, and act to preserve them, the better off we'll be in the future."

Once the land is taken for development, he said, there's no reclaiming it.

He added that the gardens are in no way meant to be a threat to small farm stands, but will be strictly small gardens for home use.

Community farms already exist in Concord and Lincoln,

Girl Scout Council Meets

The Merrimack River Girl Scout Council held its annual meeting recently in Haverhill at the Whittier Vocational High School. Mrs. Ruth Godin of Andover, Council President, presided.

Committee yearly reports were given. The Chairman of Camping Services reported that Mrs. James (Milicent) Plant of Andover is now in charge of the White Mountain Peaks event for 1976, a backpacking expedition involving not only girls from the Merrimack River Council, but from various councils throughout the country.

Elections for members of the board of directors and the council nominating committee were also on the agenda. Local people elected or re-elected were James Doherty, Andover, to the Board of Directors. Mr. Doherty is a member of the Finance Committee and has been active in Scouting for ten years. Mrs. Ronnie Rawson of North Andover, presently on the Program Services Committee and a member of the Shawsheen Valley neighborhood Service Team, was also elected to the Board.

Elected to the Nominating Committee for a three-year term was Mrs. Charlotte Tarbox of Andover. Mrs. Tarbox is currently Vice-Chairperson of the Shawsheen Valley neighborhood, and has been an organizer and troop leader.

Year pins, commemorating years of service in multiples of five, were awarded to Mrs. Plant, neighborhood chairman for Shawsheen Valley, five years; William Hickey of North Andover, treasurer for the Council, ten years; Mrs. Shirley Jackson, North Andover, 20 years; and Mrs. Tarbox, for 25 years.

The Shawsheen Valley neighborhood, which covers Andover and North Andover, serves 1,186 girls from ages 7-17 in 54 troops as of March 1. Each troop usually has two co-leaders or advisors. These adult volunteers are in turn assisted by the Neighborhood Service Team which generally consists of a chairman, one or more troop organizers, and one or more troop consultants. The Service Team receives assistance from the Council through the Field Directors, who carry out direction from the Council Board and Committees, the national Branch Office in Boston, and the National Office in New York City.

The Merrimack River Girl Scout Council has a total of 2,200 adults and 10,328 girls registered as of March 1 in 479 troops in 28 towns of the Merrimack River Valley. The council has been operating for 10 years and has, at present, a staff of six professionals, an Executive Director and four clerical staff.

Church Lg. Season Ends

By Rick Harrison

The West All-Stars, St. Augustine A and Billy Hall were the big winners last week as the Andover Church Basketball League concluded its 1973-74 season with three All-Star games and the annual shooting contest in the Intermediate Division.

A pair of semifinal All-Star contests were played, and the two winners then squared off in the 'Star final at the West Junior High gym.

The West All-Stars whipped the East 30-17 in one semifinal, and the South 'Stars trimmed the North 31-22 in the other semi.

In the finale the West squad cruised to a 24-8 victory.

Strong Showing

The West All-Stars jumped out to a 7-1 first quarter lead over the East, and stretched the margin to 17-9 at halftime and 26-11 after three periods.

Steve Morin (St. Augustine D) paced the well-balanced attack with 10 points for the West, all coming on quick-driving lay-ups.

Steve Moriarty (St. Augustine D) was next in line with 6 points, while John McNamara (St. Robert's C) bagged 5 points and Carmen Frederico (St. Robert's C) tossed in 4 markers.

Solo buckets were canned by Scott Praetz (St. Robert's A) and Doug Kirkland (Free), while Dan Bradley (St. Robert's A) notched a third quarter free throw.

Also turning in fine floor games for the West were Paul Weeks (St. Robert's A), Todd Zimmerman (St. Robert's C) and Will Dufresne (St. Augustine D).

The East charge was sparked by Bob Oelwang (St. Augustine C), who pocketed 6 points including 4-of-5 from the charity stripe.

Richie Marciano (St. Robert's B) chucked in 4 points and had several steals and assists, while Bob Fitzgerald (Baptist) stuffed 3 markers and single baskets were garnered by Jay Dilorio (St. Augustine C) and Mike Chase (St. Robert's B).

Defensive standouts for the East were Mark Bedell (St. Augustine C), John Amboian (St. Robert's B), Ted Liszewski (St. Robert's B), Tom Stedman (Baptist) and Tim Whitton (Baptist).

South Rebounds

The South All-Stars fell behind the North 5-4 after one stanza and 13-12 at halftime, but rebounded for an 8-2 third period spread to grab a 20-15 edge after three frames. The South never trailed thereafter, winning 31-22.

Big Bob Kilgo (South B) guided the victors' offense with 10 points, but he had plenty of support from six other teammates.

Gary Johnson (West Parish A) flipped through 5 points, while John Walsh (St. Augustine B), John Sagaser (South B) and Mike King (Free) dunked 4 markers each.

Chipping in two-pointers were Jody Yameen (West Parish B) and Tim Plass (South B).

Also contributing to the winners' barrage were Paul Sirois (St. Augustine B), Tom Walsh (St. Augustine B) and Bruce Belbin (West B).

The North quintet received 6 points apiece from Billy Hall (West Parish A) and Mark Weiner (South A). Jeff Rosen (West A) popped through 4 points and deuces came from Pete Newton (West A), Andy Cobin (South A) and Rich Gusmini (St. Augustine A).

Other North 'Stars who played well were Tom Haskard (St. Augustine A), Jim Gardner (South A), Doug Awley (Free) and Dave Gusmini (St. Augustine A).

West Unwinds

In the championship final, the West exploded for a quick 10-0 lead and then coasted to its 24-8 triumph.

John McNamara, regular-season scoring champ, pumped in 10 points for the wild West. Scott Praetz and Dan Bradley poured through 4 markers apiece and other marksmen were Steve Morin, Steve Moriarty and Will Dufresne with two-pointers.

AWARD WINNER! Melissa Hostetter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hostetter, 128 Argilla Road, Andover, was the first recipient of the Scott Young Award in the Buddy Werner League. The award is presented to the most co-operative skier for the 1974 season.

Bantams Pound Opponents

By Rick Harrison

Like an avalanche gaining speed and power as it rumbles down a mountainside, the Andover Bantam 'A' traveling hockey team bowled over two more opponents last week and is heading down the homestretch playing its finest hockey of the season.

Latest to fall were Portsmouth, N.H. by a 7-0 score and the Melrose Junior Reds by a 10-1 count.

The double-barrelled triumph gave Andover a winning streak of four straight, an unbeaten skein of six games and an overall record of 18-8-4.

During that six-game undefeated stretch the club has posted four shutouts, and allowed only three goals while scoring 30.

Goaltenders Jeff Hubbell and Steve April had a string of three successive shutouts and 11-plus periods of scoreless hockey snapped midway through the final period against Melrose, when a shot kicked off Hubbell's skate and trickled over the goalline.

Andover was slated to put its impressive ledger on the line last Tuesday night, after TOWNSMAN presstime, against the Lowell Bantams in the opening round of the Merrimack College Invitational Youth Hockey Tournament.

Lyons, Gurry Produce John Lyons and Joe Gurry powered the 7-0 victory over Portsmouth with two goals apiece at Great Bay Arena in the Granite State.

Gurry, whose pair gave him five in two successive games, opened the scoring at 2:35 with assists to John Fahey and Alex Milne.

Chuck Redman followed with his 19th at 4:00 from Paul Derby and rear-guardman Bill Best, and John Lyons' red-lighter at 10:10 from Lee Apgar provided Andover with a 3-0 first period cushion.

Lyons' second of the game and seventh of the season was an unassisted effort at 1:00 of the middle frame, and Gurry pocketed the locals' fifth lamplighter at 5:26 to complete the second stanza fireworks.

John Fahey found the range at 6:50 of the final period after a set-up feed from Kevin Moore, and Keith Eosefow's sixth seasonal tally creased the twine 10 seconds prior to the final buzzer.

Goaltenders Jeff Hubbell and Steve April combined for what was their third straight shutout. It was also the team's eighth, one short of the club record of nine set last year.

Apgar Explodes

Proof of Andover's vast improvement was evident last Saturday afternoon at Merrimack College when Melrose succumbed by the 10-1 score.

The same two teams clashed earlier this season and the end result was a 2-2 deadlock.

Lee Apgar, making up for some of the time he lost to an injury much earlier in the campaign, erupted to pump through five goals.

"The team played exceptionally well," remarked coach and new father Dick Neal. "Apgar has run into some tough luck in the scoring department all year, but he surely broke out of it in this game."

Believe it or not the score was just 1-0 after the opening canto. Apgar netted the sole goal with 45 seconds remaining in the period, taking a pass from John Lyons and breaking a five-footer through the goalie.

Chuck Redman started to open the floodgates at 1:01 of the second period. He gathered in a lead pass from Paul Derby, broke over the blue line, cut in front of the Melrose netminder and jammed a five-foot backhand past the goalie's skate.

Apgar followed with rapid-fire goals within a 20-second span at 8:03 and 8:23. The first was a simple forehand finish after slick passing by Mike Cullinan and Kevin Sirois helped free Apgar in deep, and the second was initiated by John Lyons who dug the puck out of the corner and fired a perfect pass to Apgar cutting across the slot for a 10-footer.

Team scoring leader Chuck Redman notched his second goal of the game and 21st on the season at 10:20, boosting An-

Earns Amherst Letter

David Hixon, a junior at Amherst College and son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur G. Hixon of 155 Shawsheen Road, Andover, recently concluded his first season as a member of Amherst's varsity basketball team. At the annual winter sports banquet, he received his first varsity "A" along with warmly expressed praise from his coach, Rick Wilson.

"Dave more than once turned a game around for us with his spirited defensive play and hustle. He is a pleasure to coach and I am looking forward to working with him next year." In recognition of his fine play this past season the six-foot guard has been elected co-captain for the 1974-75 season.

The Amherst basketball team capped an up and down season, broken in the middle by a five-week layoff due to a College-wide energy conserving shut-down, by winning five of its last seven games to finish at 6-12. Highlights of the campaign included victories over highly touted Middlebury and Little Three rival Wesleyan, and a near upset of E.C.A.C. tournament host Union.

Hixon was among the top ten students in the 1971 Class of Andover High School, where he served on the student council and captained the basketball and football teams. At Amherst, he has also run track and served as rushing chairman for Delta Upsilon fraternity.

dover's lead to 5-0.

Keith Eosefow fed Joe Gurry at center ice, and he in turn hit Redman at the Melrose blue line. Chuck skated in and fired a 20-footer into the upper right corner before the goalie could react.

Apgar continued his barrage at 0:15 of the third session, driving a seven-footer home to the far corner following a feed from the point by Kevin Moore. John Lyons also drew an assist.

Eosefow pumped in a 10-footer from the right side for a 7-0 bulge at 2:47, but then the Junior Reds cut the scoreless spell at 5:45 by pushing a goal past Hubbell.

Apgar got that one back at 6:26, his fifth of the game and 12th on the season. Kevin Sirois skimmed the disc to defenseman Joe Pasquale at the point. Joe spotted Apgar in tight, and once Lee had the puck he moved the goalie out and deposited the plug into the far corner.

It took Paul Derby 15 additional seconds to make it 9-1, popping through a 10-footer from the slot for his seventh goal.

The final marker came with 61 seconds remaining in the game, as John Fahey deflected a drive from the point by Mike Cullinan for his 13th lamplighter.

Babe Ruth League Tryouts Due

The Andover Babe Ruth baseball team will hold tryouts for its 1974 squad on Saturday and Sunday, April 20 and 21, at the large Playstead Field behind the East Junior High.

Sessions on both days will begin at 1 p.m. and end at approximately 3:30.

Coaches Joe Grillo and Rick Harrison stress that all 15 positions on the team are open and the best 15 ballplayers will be selected.

Any boy who has not reached his 16th birthday prior to August 1, 1974 is eligible to play. A special invitation is extended to all Little League graduates of last season.

Many former Andover High baseball standouts and the majority of this year's school team, including All-State performer Bob Burrow, are Babe Ruth League alumni.

Anyone wishing further information may contact Joe Grillo or Rick Harrison.

Shamrocks Tourney Winners

By Frank Monette

The Andover Shamrocks coached by John Curtin, assisted by Frank Monette and General Manager Dick Collins swept to the seventh grade Divisional Championship in the Wakefield - Reading Youth Basketball Invitational Tournament this week with a 46-26 victory over Wakefield in the finals.

The quarter final game turned out to be the key game of the tournament. Andover was facing St. Ann's of Wayland. Wayland had topped Andover in the Greater Boston Pre-Teen Tournament 44-37 in the semi-finals to take the Greater Boston Championship.

The game started with Andover jumping off to a 10-0 lead as they combined aggressive man-to-man defense with a conservative offense. Wayland chipped away at the lead Andover had, but at the half it was Andover 12 and Wayland 8. In the second half Andover got the 10 point lead back and finished the game with a final 30-20 victory and had avenged their only loss in tournament play this season.

Dave Farrell was top scorer with 12 points, followed by Eddie Collins 10, Jim Arnold 6 and Dave Alexander 2. While Farrell and Collins were paving the way on offense, Arnold was holding their top scorer Hiatala to 10 points, far under his average. Tom Curtin was one of the key factors in the game for Andover as he held Wayland's big strong scoring forward Tim O'Shea scoreless for a fantastic defensive job. In the semi-final game, Andover exploded offensively as they ran Reading off the court by a 72-36 score. In this game the scoring was well-balanced for Andover as Dave Farrell tossed in 18 points, Eddie Collins 16, Tom Curtin 16, Dave Alexander and Frank Pelletier 8 points each, Jim Arnold 4, Todd Orlando 2 and Colin Callahan numerous assists.

In the finals for the championship, Andover started out cold as they led by the slim margin of 11-7 after the first quarter but then outscored Wakefield 16-6 in the second quarter for a 27-13 half-time lead.

Andover then went ice cold in the third quarter as Wakefield outscored Andover 7-4 as Andover led 31-20 entering the final quarter. Andover then got their eye back and outscored Wakefield 15-6 in the final quarter for their 46-26 twenty point victory, and the championship. Jim Arnold led the scoring attack with 12 points followed by Dave Farrell's 11, Eddie Collins 9, Tom Curtin 7, Frank Pelletier 3, Cokey Callahan and Dave Alexander 2 points each, with Todd Orlando grabbing the rebounds. Tom Curtin also did a fine job rebounding.

The Andover West Stars coached by Frank Monette and Don Terrior bowed out in the eighth grade division of the semi-finals against a taller Winchester team by the score of 58-49, as the Andover team could not cope with Holland who went to the boards for 24 points.

Bike To Be Awarded At Jaycee's Rodeo

The Andover Jaycees are doing something about the rising rate of bicycle accidents in town. A Bicycle Safety Rodeo at the High School Parking Lot on April 20 will help the bike riders of Andover understand the new bicycle traffic regulations.

Mark Manley, Rodeo Chairman, has set the starting time at 9 a.m. Riders may enter their bikes anytime through the day, to 3 p.m. The rodeo will have safety and mechanical check stations, and riders may test their riding skills on one of our two skill courses.

Andover Police Safety Officer Dick Aumais will be on hand through the day, and residents who wish to register their bikes with the town may do so at the rodeo. The fee for this service is 25 cents.

Free patches are going to be given to all participants. Expert riders in the skills course will be awarded an Expert patch. Awards Chairman Dave Workman will have a team of judges for each course.

Skills Chairman Jeff French and Registration Chairman Richard Lundgren are preparing a course that will smoothly handle 600 riders during the day. Each registration form will have a number and this number will be entered in a drawing at the end of the day. The Jaycees have had donated to them a 10 speed bicycle and several McDonalds gift certificates that they will give away.

Chairman Mark Manley reminds everyone that the Bicycle Safety Rodeo is free to all registrants and is being hosted by the Jaycees as part of their community involvement. The Jaycees are young men between the ages of 18 and 35. Anyone is welcome to ask more about the Jaycees at the Rodeo.

Rain date is April 21.

National Library Week

The week of April 21-27 is National Library Week and, at Memorial Hall Library, we are dedicating the week to the memory of Harry Sagris, director of the library from January 18, 1971 to March 21, 1974. The week opens with a chamber music program on Sunday, April 21. At 4 p.m. in the Hall the Gallery Consort of Phillips Academy will perform and the Friends of the Library will serve tea and sandwiches. Small tables will be set up so the audience can enjoy tea and listen to the music at the same time.

On Monday, April 22 at 8 p.m. Andrew Coburn, an Andover resident who pursues a dual role as newspaperman (with the Boston Globe) and author (his first book will be published by Houghton Mifflin this fall), will speak about these two careers.

The Chamber Jazz Ensemble, directed by Michael Finegold of the music faculty of Northern Essex Community College, will present a program on Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. Mr. Finegold describes the session as Jazz reflections on classical and folk music.

Wednesday will have the continuation of Alistair Cooke's "America" series at 1 and 7:30. This episode, entitled "The First Impact" is Cooke's personal memoir of why he came to America and then became an American citizen.

The Andover Community Theatre will present a one-act play, "The Ugly Duckling," directed by Rick Winterson on Thursday evening at 8. The group will present this play again in late May in competition with other community theatres at Brandeis.

We hope you will join us in celebrating National Library Week by attending several of these programs.

America Series

The "America" series continues at 1 and 7:30 on Wednesday, April 17 with the segment entitled "The Arsenal," about the development of the American way of war.

Gardening Program

The next program in the series of Monday evening lectures in gardening theories will discuss plant selection and care. John McLay of North Andover will conduct this class on Monday, April 15 at 8 p.m. There are two more gardening classes after this one and all are free and open to the public.

Campaign Financing Petition

The Andover League of Women Voters will take part in a nationwide petition drive from April 8 to April 22. The petition will be circulated on Thursday, April 11, Saturday, April 13, Friday, April 19 and Saturday, April 20.

The petition urges Congress to enact a comprehensive campaign financing law which would include provisions for:

1. Combined private and public financing of all federal elections;
2. Limits on contributions and expenditures;
3. Full and timely disclosure and enforcement.

Last fall members of the League conducted a six month in-depth study of campaign financing and have reached national consensus on this issue. League members hope to enlist public support and to urge constituents to make their views known to their senators and representatives. Congress is actively considering legislation in this vital area, and a successful petition drive would be a dramatic indication that now is the time to act.

Shows Slides Of Appalachian Trail Hike

On Friday, April 5, at 7:45 p.m., Jim Mendos, a college student in Massachusetts, gave a slide show at Christ Church about his hike of the entire Appalachian Trail. A large audience composed of Boy Scouts from several Andover troops saw 119 slides of the 2,035 mile trail. The slides showed tumbling streams, crude bridges, steep cliffs, picturesque scenery, rugged terrain, and encounters with various forms of wildlife, including bears.

Jim started his trip on May 6, 1973 at Springer Mountain in Georgia, the start of the trail, and hiked an average of about 20 miles per day to finish 2,035 miles later in late August at Mount Katahdin in Maine, the end of the trail. He had several adventures on the trail, including the assistance he gave near a lean-to helping Andover's Troop 70 across a treacherous, turbulent stream during the latter's 50 mile hike of the trail. This had been in Maine when Jim was nearing Mount Katahdin.

Troop 70 got to know Jim and it was through this troop that the scouts in Andover were able to see the slide show.

Katherine M. Donovan

County Commission Candidate

County Commissioner Katherine M. Donovan (D-Lawrence) has announced that she will seek the Democratic nomination next Fall to fill the remaining two years of the term of her late husband, Commissioner William J. Donovan, who died Jan. 20.

Mrs. Donovan, the former Katherine Boschetti, declared that she wishes to fulfill what she feels to be "a sincere obligation to complete my husband's term of office." She is now serving by appointment as replacement for her late husband.

Mrs. Donovan has been serving as a County Commissioner since January and since April of 1973 as acting county commissioner.

A native of Lawrence, she holds a B.A. degree from Regis College and a masters in education. She has taught for twenty years and says she is "very much concerned with the welfare and education of youth today." As a County Commissioner she brings her educational background to the forefront as one of the Trustees of the Essex County Agricultural and Technical Institute.

Mrs. Donovan is also a member of the American Federation of Teachers AFL-CIO and numerous other organizations. She is the mother of two children a son, William J. Donovan, who is married to the former Carol Greeley, is district manager for the Atlantic Richfield Arco Refinery. A daughter, Kathleen Donovan, will graduate in June from Regis College.

Commissioner Donovan declared "I'm asking to be given this opportunity to be elected to the two years remaining in the term of my late husband. I will pledge to continue to dedicate my time and efforts to improving the quality of services to the needs of the citizens of Essex County. And also to administer these services as economically and efficiently as possible to the best of my abilities."

surrounding metropolitan areas were treated as a single labor market. Such consolidations are used in New York-New Jersey and Chicago-Indiana areas.

To Revise Employment Figures

New Measures of the unemployment rate just announced by the Massachusetts Division of Employment Security reduce previously stated rates for several areas around Boston, according to the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston. The new method of measurement is considerably more accurate, states Frederic Glantz of the bank's research department, in "Measuring Unemployment in Eastern Massachusetts," an article to appear in the April issue of the bank's New England Economic Indicators. On the other hand, these lower unemployment rates may deprive these areas of special Federal grants.

The old procedure did not consider commuting patterns and because a substantial number of people living in the Brockton and Lowell metropolitan areas work in Boston, the unemployment rates in those towns have been significantly overstated, according to Glantz. Conversely, the rate for metropolitan Boston itself has been understated.

The new method will measure the number of unemployed as a proportion of the total labor force (rather than work force) and thus will be directly comparable with the national unemployment rate. With the new method the unemployment rate for Lowell in December dropped to 7 per cent from 9.7 per cent under the old procedure. In the same month, the Brockton rate was 7.2 per cent compared with 8.9 per cent under the old procedure.

The author also suggests that the economic health of the region as a whole could be more accurately shown if Boston and the

Maundy Thursday Service

On Maundy Thursday evening, April 11, at 8 p.m. at South Church, United Church of Christ, Andover, there will be the traditional service of the Last Supper of our Lord with His Disciples. New members will be received at that time.

The Office of Tenebrae, which follows the Lord's Supper, is an adaptation of an ancient rite established early in the fourth century. The distinguishing feature is the symbolic extinguishing of lighted candles, signifying the approach of our Lord's death and the flight of the disciples.

Tenebrae means "shadow." As such they gather until the moment of total darkness recalling the days our Lord was in the tomb. The relighting of the central candle is prophecy of the Easter so soon to dawn. The word Maundy is derived from the Latin word for "commandment," and refers to the "New" commandment given by Christ on this night. "A New Commandment I give unto you, that you love one another."

All in the community are cordially invited to worship with us.

Easter

What would Christ find were he to walk that long road to Calvary in this modern world?

The Savior of mankind, might ponder the worth of his magnificent sacrifice, were he to view a world wanting of the qualities of love and trust.

He would find a world beset with problems, shaken of confidence through mistrust, devoid of the love His sacrifice expressed.

But, contemplate a bit. This man faced a Judas, saw one of his disciples deny Him thrice, before he made that long mournful trip to Calvary, burdened by the heavy Cross placed there by the frailty of mankind.

His great triumph, observed this Sunday, His resurrection, as he had promised is the most magnificent example of a man of love and trust.

What better time in our lives than on this Easter Sunday, to join in the Alleluia chorus, joyously announcing His triumph, as an expression of our rededication of our lives toward Him in an effort to bring about the peaceful world He sacrificed to create.

Openness

Some weeks ago a new school committee took over the direction of Andover's public education program.

Armed with a new majority, a novice victor, George F. Olesen, proceeded to inflict his thoughts upon his colleagues, one of which appears to be most dangerous.

Olesen has instituted a clamp on school officials talking with the press, without first checking with the school committee chairman.

Chairman Francis Griggs of the school board seems a bit at odds about the matter. A check with him some weeks ago on a matter dealing with a school matter revealed that Griggs had not instituted the expressed policy of granting approval for school administrators to discuss matters with the press.

This, of course, finds us in the position of dealing with Mr. Olesen, whose prior school committee experience has been service with the Cambridge school board.

We must remind Mr. Olesen, that he is now serving in Andover and that his practices in Cambridge should be forgotten.

We do not coddle to any muffling of news sources.

Quite frankly, until these past few weeks there has always been an openness between the media and the school department at all levels and regardless of the issues being pursued.

It is the only way the public is to be informed of the goings on in the public schools, Andover's most expensive annual financial obligation.

We have noted that endorsement of candidates by this newspaper does not carry with it blanket approval of any future actions of the successful office-seeker.

With this in mind, we would like to remind Mr. Olesen, that his "Cambridgese" is not welcome in Andover.

Preferable, is a retention of the openness which has been prevalent in the past, along with meeting nights not guided to one member's occupation, which was in conflict prior to Mr. Olesen's seeking office.

Pleasant

Viewing snow-capped crocus, spring buds shivering in their slushy coats, makes it difficult to have a pleasant outlook as one ponders a New England spring.

But, there is good news this week.

Action at town meeting to date gives an indication that local taxpayers may be getting a break this year, with a reduction of a dollar or two when tax rate setting time arrives.

This, of course is a credit to the work of local officials who toiled over budget figures arduously for many weeks and to the voters who turned out at town meeting to support their actions.

Then, there are the reports dealing with plans moving forward on the development of the Hewlett-Packard plant in West Andover, which will be a substantial improvement to both the town's tax base and employment for the general area. H-P expects to be giving visible signs of development this summer.

The Weather?

Well, there's not much we can do about it, except wait a minute. In New England, it changes that fast, we are told.

Off The Top Of The Desk

Postponement of the season opener by the Red Sox due to snow, is not the first such happening in recent years. Back in the 50's, when the Braves were still in Boston, both season openers were delayed due to successive snow storms.

Still, the weather certainly should be a factor in the minds of baseball schedule makers. Not only is New England generally a tough place for a baseball game this time of year, but such other places as Milwaukee, Minnesota, and Montreal, can certainly be more attuned to football than baseball, weather-wise.

We beg the indulgence of those readers who have corrected our knitting count of a week ago at the Andover town meeting.

There were at least three needle practitioners in operation at the first session. This past Monday there were numerous additional examples of fine needlework being done, which continues a part of the tradition of Andover town meetings of recent years.

Weather and business often go hand in hand.

A hardware store dealer reports that weekend business these days is quite dependent on the sun. For a brief spurt last Saturday, for instance, while the sun was shining, there was a great rush on lawn fertilizers, and outdoor work materials.

A return to inclement weather, however, dampened the spirit sufficiently for the remainder of the day.

Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary is planning a special day of nature games and crafts for boys and girls aged 6 to 8 on Tuesday, April 16. Spring Thing is a one and a half hour program of special spring events for children at the Nature Center on Cherry Street in Wenham which will be held at 10 in the morning and again at 1 in the afternoon. Activities will include an egg rolling contest, a treasure hunt and a "wild" flower workshop. Limited to 15, advance registration and payment are necessary. For further information, call the Sanctuary office.

Especially for children, the New England Aquarium is featuring Eskimo culture, - "the way it used to be" - April 14 - 20, 1974.

Eskimo children's games, chants, songs and stories, along with a special film series featuring "Tuktu," a little boy, are part of the week long look at Eskimo culture, as seen through the eyes of a child.

"Tuktu and the 10,000 fishes," and "Tuktu and the Great Kayak" are part of a series from the National Film Board of Canada and are on loan for the week's program through the courtesy of the Canadian Consulate General in Boston.

Special exhibits of artifacts and a display from Harvard's Peabody Museum round out the week long look at Eskimo culture from a child's view.

The Aquarium's special programs on Eskimo children are scheduled for 10:30 a.m., 11:30 a.m., 1:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m.

A new 81,800 square foot wholesale building materials distribution center, doubling the original inventory space, has just been opened by Georgia-Pacific Corp. in the Boston area, according to F.K. Schleicher, Northeast regional manager at Clifton, N.J.

The warehouse, display and office complex is located at 250 Ballardvale St., Wilmington. It replaces the former center at 60 Kendrick St. in Needham Heights. The distribution center is served by the Boston and Maine Railroad.

The relocation and expansion, reports Center Manager John H. Sullivan, offers building material dealers and industrial accounts an increased inventory of wood and gypsum building products, including hardwood and softwood plywood, lumber, hardboard, particleboard, prefinished plywood paneling, gypsum wallboard and plaster products, and a variety of other building products.

Architect for the new facility was George M. Linningstone, Jr., Wakefield, and the contractor was Connolly Brothers, Inc., Beverly Farms.

Georgia-Pacific is a major producer of forest products, building materials and chemicals with sales in excess of $2.2 billion. The company has other operations in Massachusetts, including a chemical plant at Tewksbury, and a building materials distribution center in Springfield.

A 1968 Cadillac and a cricket bat are only two of the intriguing variety of items that have already been received by the Museum of Science's Service League for the Giant Garage Sale next month. Volunteers throughout Metropolitan Boston are busy preparing for the sale, to be held in the Museum giant garage the weekend of May 18 and 19.

The sale will feature everything from an antique telephone and a rowing machine to a conglomeration of household items, toys, magazines, and other objects no longer of use to their donors. With the emphasis on science oriented books, mechanisms and collections, the Museum's volunteers are also seeking sports and camping equipment, bicycles, furniture, tools, small appliances, and almost anything else, with the exception of used clothing.

Volunteers who live in Boston and all surrounding areas have been appointed collecting captains, and they are ready and eager to arrange for pickup of donations.

The Museum points out that not only is every contribution a boon to the sale, it also helps donors with their spring cleaning and gives them an opportunity to increase next year's federal tax deductions.

Mrs. Michael Wiseman, 6 Sheffield Circle, Andover, is the captain for this area.

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago - April, 1899

The redistricting which was inflicted on this town a few years ago is due to result in fierce competition for a seat in the General Court. Several North Andover men are interested in filling the post which serves Andover and Middleton as well. Andover still has the majority of the votes and it behooves local officials to get busy.

The $30,000 sewer loan was awarded to E.H. Rollins and Son of Boston who bid $101.58. The loan is for three years at three and one half per cent. The premium will amount to $474.

The New England Telephone Company representatives are canvassing the town and if 50 subscribers can be obtained, the company will begin an exchange here. The service is offered at $25 for the lowest to $57 for the very best long distance service.

Andover is to have a May breakfast this year, with the Gen. W.F. Bartlett Relief Corps in charge. It will be served in town hall from 5:30 to 9 a.m. on May 1.

The grocery stores and meat markets will be closed all day Wednesday in observance of Patriots Day.

50 Years Ago - April, 1924

Radio night at Legion hall was enjoyable and well attended. Considerable static made it difficult to understand the orators, but the music was good on several bands.

A New Haven man was arraigned in court on Monday after bilking several local residents in the name of a non-existent charity. He had over $50 of the $100 plus collected with him when arrested.

All information relative to shares and operations of the Atlantic Co-Operative bank will be available daily at the C.A. Hill Electric Shop, 54 Main St. The bank will maintain regular hours there soon.

Rev. Clifford Reynolds, pastor of Ballardvale Methodist Church, has been reassigned to Osgood, Indiana.

Edward F. Hatch of Florence St., has been elected to the student council at Sheffield School of Science, Yale University.

25 Years Ago - April, 1949

Graduation honors at Pynchard High School have been gained by four young ladies. Top members of the class, announced as honor graduates are Patricia Black, Ruth Anne Chadwick, Dorothy Christie and Janice Bower.

The selectmen and Police Chief George Dane agreed on a new work schedule for the department this week, implementing the new 40-hour week approved at town meeting. Chief Dane was also appointed dog officer.

Tree Supt. Abbot has asked the selectmen to consider raising his salary from $56 weekly to $70, stating there is money in the budget for this.

The annual gymnastic exhibit was held in Memorial Auditorium this week and featured Pynchard High, the junior high, Wellesley, and Lawrence Turn Verein teams.

10 Years Ago - April, 1964

The selectmen have designated specific steps to be taken by town boards or committees acquiring land, all to pass through their perusal before final action.

The school building committee is seeking a reduction in the fee to be paid to the architect.

An art exhibit at the Esther Gallery of Abbot Academy features materials obtained from the Andover dump.

The board of appeals has granted approval for the construction of additional apartment buildings at High and Haverhill streets.

Easte

By Jacqueline Markels

If you are a child and for "child" in us all, the folk and festivity surround Easter very nearly equals religious significance.

First observed as a holy in the second century, it was until 325 A.D. when the Byzantine Emperor Constantine his Council of Nicaea decided that the observance should be on the Sunday after the first moon after the vernal equinox.

The word "Easter" is a derivation of the Scandinavian word "Ostra" and the Teutonic word "Ostern," both names the mythological goddess signified the coming of spring. Its usage was first recorded some three and one-half centuries later by the Benedictine historian Bede.

As the holiday is a movable feast, it is also a spring festival with pagan customs and legends closely tied to nature worship. From antiquity the hare has been the symbol for the moon and represents fertility. A hare is a nocturnal rodent born with its eyes open. A rabbit, also of the rodent family, is born blind and not suited for the legend. Common usage in the United States, however, has replaced "rabbit" for the "hare."

Children like to believe after a long winter's night, rabbit will lay eggs for Easter if they are good and behaved. In Fredericksburg, Texas, bonfires are built of flowers to make dyes for eggs.

The Romans held foot races with eggs for Easter, as practice today, in the Black Forest of Germany, children race bicycles and horseback gaiting the gaily painted eggs enroute.

In medieval times, eggs were not eaten during Lent but were sent to the local priest to be blessed and returned on Easter Day. These were dyed red for joyousness and in memory

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

It is important to note changes in normal procedure for the week of school vacation April 15 - 19. There will be no lunch program at East Junior High and the swimming program at the Vocational School will be held for that week. regular hot lunch program at East Junior High and the swimming program at the Vocational School will reconvene on Friday, April 22.

On Wednesday, April 17, Andover's senior citizens are invited to a pot luck lunch at Haven at 12 noon. Call The Haven for details.

The special program scheduled for Friday, April 19, "The Br and Me" has been indefinitely postponed because of the illness of the speaker. This program is one of a series sponsored by Recreation and Community Schools Department of the town.

The April 23 program in series is entitled, "The Chances" and will be given by attorney Andrew Shea at 2 o'clock at Chestnut Court Recreation Room.

Easter Folklore, Festivity

By Jacqueline Markelson

If you are a child and for the "child" in us all, the folklore and festivity surrounding Easter very nearly equals its religious significance.

First observed as a holy day in the second century, it wasn't until 325 A.D. when the Byzantine Emperor Constantine and his Council of Nicaea decreed that the observance should fall on the Sunday after the first full moon after the vernal equinox.

The word "Easter" is a derivation of the Scandinavian word "Ostra" and the Teutonic word "Ostern," both names for the mythological goddess who signified the coming of spring. Its usage was first recorded some three and one-half centuries later by the Benedictine historian Bede.

As the holiday is a movable feast, it is also a springtime festival with pagan customs and legends closely tied to nature worship. From antiquity, the hare has been the symbol for the moon and represents fertility. A hare is a nocturnal rodent born with its eyes open. A rabbit, also of the rodent family, is born blind and thus not suited for the legend. Common usage in the United States however, has replaced "rabbit" for the "hare."

Children like to believe that after a long winter's night, the rabbit will lay eggs for Easter, if they are good and well-behaved. In Fredericksburg, Texas, bonfires are built of wild flowers to make dyes for the eggs.

The Romans held foot racers with eggs for Easter, as prizes and today, in the Black Forest of Germany, children race on bicycles and horseback gathering the gaily painted eggs enroute.

In medieval times, eggs were not eaten during Lent but were sent to the local priest to be blessed and returned on Easter Day. These were dyed red for joyousness and in memory of the blood Christ shed for all Christendom. Today, two yolks in an Easter egg is a sign of coming financial prosperity and to refuse an Easter egg is to endanger your friendship with the person offering it.

Games associated with Easter eggs are based on a combination of religion and folklore. Rolling egg contests on the White House lawn and in New York's Central Park are annual Easter festivities, yet they symbolize the rolling away of the stone from Christ's sepulcher. Variations on egg rolling are as myriad as the sport is universal. In "Canigeln," eggs are rolled through rings paced several yards apart, the distance based on the child's size. In another method, eggs are guided by wooden spoons along a 40 yard lane. "Spachen" is a popular duel where the small pointed end of the egg is stabbed against the opponent's. The child who cracks the most eggs wins. In "Jarring," hard-boiled eggs are held in the right hand with the elbow pressed stiffly against the body. With wrists only, the child attempts to crack open the top of his opponent's egg. In "Egg-Winking," an egg is placed on the ground and a blind-folded child is led three paces back. With stick in hand, he takes two steps forward and attempts to crack the egg.

Easter egg games are endless, limited only by a child's imagination and the supply of eggs. With price in mind, it may be preferable to employ an art form developed by Polish peasants. Highly glazed white or colored paper is cut in personalized designs, then pasted on a hard-boiled or artificial egg. Using an artificial egg, the design is varnished over making a permanent ornament to be enjoyed for games as well as their decorative beauty.

Unfortunately, two yolks will never be found in an artificial egg!

"More than a Superstar" is the title of a free public lecture on Christian Science to be presented in Andover on Tuesday, April 16. George Louis Aghamalian, D.S.R., a Christian Science lecturer from New York City, will explain the healing impact of the life of Christ Jesus on people today.

"For Jesus to have so completely changed people's lives," he will state, "he'd have to truly be a superstar in the highest sense of the word. But to also heal the sick of incurable diseases -- to even raise the dead -- he'd have to be more than a

Mr. Aghamalian will speak under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist in the church edifice, 278 North Main St. at 8 p.m. Kenneth Wilson of Andover, First Reader, will introduce the lecturer.

Mr. Aghamalian will bring out that, "Jesus never did any of the things we usually associate with human greatness. And yet, he has done more to influence the thinking and lives of men, women and children than any other person in the history of mankind."

Long active in the healing ministry of Christian Science, Mr. Aghamalian left the manufacturing business in 1951 to devote his full time to this activity. In 1964 he became a teacher of Christian Science. He was named to The Christian Science Board of Lectureship in 1971.

Roses

Roses back in the early 1800s had intense colors, very sweet fragrance and bloomed for a brief period. Empress Josephine imported roses to France from all over the world. At her gardens, the rose of Provence (cabbage rose) was crossed with the vigorous China rose, creating the pale, longer blooming tea rose, the Massachusetts Audubon Society tells us.

The Triangle Waist Co. fire in New York in 1911 caused the death of 146 workers and led to a move for improvement of factory conditions, according to "Important Events in American Labor History," a U.S. Department of Labor publication.

Unemployment Continued Increase In State

On a seasonally adjusted basis, the Massachusetts unemployment rate inched up to 7.5 per cent of the labor force in January from the 7.4 per cent level prevailing in December, according to Richard C. Gilliland, Director of the Massachusetts Division of Employment Security. At the same time the comparable rate for the United States increased significantly to 5.2 per cent in January from 4.8 per cent in December.

Energy Impact

Energy shortages appear to have affected Massachusetts earlier than the rest of the nation with a stabilization occurring in January, Director Gilliland noted. While the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate in Massachusetts rose 0.4 per cent from October to December, a statistically insignificant increase of 0.1 per cent was recorded in January. For the entire United States the adjusted rate rose 0.2 per cent from October to December plus an additional 0.4 per cent in January.

Total nonagricultural wage and salary employment reached the highest January level in history, 2,328,400, and might have risen higher if energy supplies had been completely adequate. Unemployment in the Commonwealth attributable to energy-related problems was between 5,000 and 10,000 persons in mid-January. Major layoffs were limited to the auto assembly industry, but thousands of small scattered layoffs took place in plastics, automobile sales and service, transportation, construction, retail trade, roadside shops, restaurants, travel agencies, etc.

Analysis

Manufacturing employment dipped by 4100 from December to January. Three-fourths of this loss was attributable to normal seasonal declines in plants making nondurable goods which were somewhat worsened by energy-related unemployment in plastics and apparel. In the last year, however, manufacturing added a substantial 16,000 jobs despite a decrease of 2000 jobs in nondurable goods resulting from the long-term decline in the shoe and apparel industries. Durable goods manufacturing posted significant gains in machinery, instruments, electrical machinery, and electrical equipment and components reflecting the continuing strength in capital investment.

Employment in nonmanufacturing industries dropped by 53,400 from December to January, but the size and industrial composition of the decline were only slightly different from normal seasonal patterns. Over the year total nonmanufacturing employment increased by 26,900 and, despite the effects of energy shortages, reached the highest January level on record. All non-manufacturing industries showed gains during the year although some were held down by energy-related problems.

New Methodology

Major changes were instituted throughout the United States in January in the definitions of employment and unemployment and in the techniques used by the States to estimate them. These changes were designed to provide greater uniformity in estimating and to permit the use of unemployment data in the allocation of Federal grant-in-aid monies among the States. The methodology was developed for State Employment Security agencies by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, U.S. Department of Labor. Commencing with this release, estimates will be published on the new basis and previously published figures will be revised to conform to the new methodology.

For the first time, it will be possible to compare directly unemployment rates for Massachusetts and its labor areas with those for the United States because both are now measuring unemployment as a per cent of the labor force (total persons employed and unemployed) rather than as a per cent of the work force (total jobs plus persons unemployed). All series will also be benchmarked once a year to the household survey of employment and unemployment conducted across the nation for the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. A technical supplement will soon be issued by the Division of Employment Security explaining the changes in detail.

Major Areas

Unemployment rates in all eight major metropolitan areas increased from December to January, primarily as a result of normal seasonal patterns. The strength of the capital investment boom kept the Worcester area at the lowest unemployment rate (6.1 per cent) of the large areas and the Springfield - Chicopee - Holyoke SMSA at the medium low rate of 7.7 per cent.

In areas which have extensive out-commuting such as Lowell and Brockton or incommuting such as the Boston area, the switch to estimating employment by area of residence rather than area worked resulted in major shifts in the unemployment rate. For example, unemployment in the Lowell area in December was 9.7 per cent on the old work force concept and 7.0 per cent on the new labor force concept. The Brockton area rate was 8.9 per cent old basis and 7.2 per cent on the new method. Both areas have heavy outcommuting. In the Worcester, New Bedford and Springfield SMSAs, the small per cent of net commuting resulted in similar rates under both methods.

Don't store extra gasoline in your car's trunk. That good advice comes from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. Not only could a rear-end collision set off an inferno, but sparks from a short in a taillight or brake light can ignite the gasoline fumes.

Bald Eagle's Future Uncertain

By Wayne Hanley

Although the bald eagle survived the U.S. silver dollar that it adorned, the bird's future remains uncertain.

Both the dollar and the bird have suffered from paper promises that lacked substantial backing. The struggle to save the bird has been the more vigorous, because of the many people involved. But the government always winds up ambivalent when the chips are down.

At the moment, the federal government offers the rosier prospects for the bald eagle that it has advanced in several years. It suggests that there are 1000 nesting pairs of bald eagles in the lower 48 states. The Fish and Wildlife Service reports that last year it found 627 nests and placed production of young birds at "more than 500."

The report sounds honest enough and the guesses have some validity. But it does not tell us as much as we need to know, largely because the understaffed and underfinanced eagle work in the past by the federal service consistently fell short of an actual survey. Put more simply, no one actually knows whether 1000 nests are more or fewer than existed the previous year.

The Service's report concludes that "the outlook for the future of the bald eagle is mixed." It said that eagle populations in Chesapeake Bay, parts of Florida, the Pacific Northwest, and the northern interior of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan are holding steady with possible gains in the Minnesota population.

"On the other hand," the report continued, "eagles in the Northeast, Great Lakes shores, and Southeast (except parts of Florida and Louisiana) are either declining or gone."

The report gives as three reasons for losses of bald eagles: Pesticide pollution which results in reproductive failure or direct mortality, habitat destruction and human disturbances at nest sites, and shooting.

Most conservationists looked forward to better conditions for bald eagles a few months ago when DDT was banned as a pesticide in the United States. The expected coming ban on dieldrin and aldrin also increased hope, for they too are important chemicals in depressing eagle populations. However, a bit of the cheerful outlook disappeared when the timber barons it serves pushed the U.S. Forest Service into demanding permission to spray DDT on tussock moths in the forests of Washington, Oregon and Idaho. There are at least 80 bald eagle nests in those states, and DDT has a way of spreading beyond the area in which it is applied. Last month the EPA yielded to economic pressure and granted the DDT spraying permits.

If there are 1000 active eagle nests then the population of bald eagles may be somewhere near the 5000 eagles which were estimated for the lower 48 states in 1965. The 1965 estimate was at best an informed guess, but there was considerable evidence that eagles declined at least until 1970. The 1000 nests mean that 2000 adult eagles are involved in breeding. Since eagles do not breed until they are five years old, there must be about 3000 eagles in the sub-adult pool working their way toward maturity. These eagles would be in various age classes and the mortality among the young would be high.

Should the government decide to keep some of the promises written on paper, there is hope that the bald eagle may be saved yet.

April 10, 1892 is the birth date of William Booth who founded the Salvation Army. He was an English religious leader.

Lund Chorus In Concert At Academy

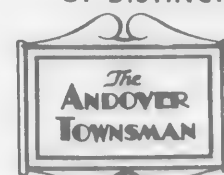

Sweden's Lund University Male Chorus, which first appeared in concert in 1831, will be singing in Andover on Friday, April 19, at Davis Hall on the Abbott campus of Phillips Academy. The public is invited and there is no charge for admission.

The appearance of this renowned university chorus in Andover under its director, Folke Bohlin, is a feature of the fourth Lincoln Center International Choral Festival. The Lund Chorus' American tour of seven eastern campuses will culminate at the Lincoln Center in New York. There the Swedish male choristers will give an individual concert and participate in a gala International Choral Festival concert of 500 voices with 12 other university choruses from around the world.

The Lund University Chorus is one of three which has built Sweden's great male chorus tradition in the 19th and 20th centuries. For this fourth visit to the United States since 1904, the Lund repertoire emphasizes the works of Swedish composers, but also includes works by Sibelius, Bartok, Schoenberg and Stravinsky.

Director Bohlin earned his Ph.D. in musicology at the University of Uppsala, where he studied choral conducting under Eric Ericsson. Bohlin served for 14 years as assistant conductor of Ericsson's Uppsala University Male Chorus, "Orpheus Dranger," before coming to Lund University. Lund University, one of Sweden's most important, was founded in 1668, and has 18,000 men and women as undergraduates and graduate students in divinity, law, medicine, dentistry, the humanities, the sciences and technology.

ANDOVER PERFORMERS. Chuck Baxter, played by Dan McDuffie and Fran Kubelik, played by Sue Finn, are in a pensive mood in this scene from the North Shore Players production of "Promises, Promises" to be held April 18, 19 and 20 at Veterans Memorial Auditorium in Peabody.

Andoverites In Production

Two Andoverites will be performing the lead roles in the North Shore Players production of the Neil Simon - Burt Bacharach smash hit musical, "Promises, Promises."

Dan McDuffie of 75 Maple Avenue portrays Chuck Baxter, a young ambitious executive with a certain popular "key." Chuck is more than casually interested in Fran Kubelik, a hostess in the executive dining room. Fran is played by Sue Finn of 18 Downing Street.

Both Dan and Sue draw credits from a wide range of theatrical experiences. Dan played lead roles of Finch in "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" and Roy Hubley, the distraught father of the bride in "Plaza Suite." Here in Andover, Dan was seen in the Andover Community Theatre Production, "Jury Room" and last year, he directed ACT's presentation of "Barefoot in the Park."

The multi-talented Sue Finn, in her teen years was a regular featured singer at Central Catholic record hops with Bob Clayton, then disc jockey with WHDH. She worked with the late Lee Daniels in many of his productions and has portrayed roles of Rosemary in "How to Succeed," Mollie Forbush in "South Pacific;" and most recently was Charity in Neil Simon's "Sweet Charity."

"Promises, Promises," which ran for four years on Broadway, combines the incomparable Neil Simon wit with the rollicking and syncopated music of Burt Bacharach. The North Shore Players will present this show on April 18, 19 and 20 at the Veterans Memorial High School Auditorium in Peabody at 8 p.m. each evening.

Snyder Exhibitor At Concord

John W. Snyder of Andover, a photographer who has had many exhibitions in the area, will be one of six exhibitors in "An Exhibition of Photographs" which will open Sunday, from 4 to 6 p.m. in Concord.

The exhibit will continue through May 5 at the Concord Art Association, 15 Lexington Road, Concord. The gallery is open from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays, and 2 to 4 p.m. Sundays.

Film Series At Museum

Two of Luis Bunuel's most rarely shown films have been secured to highlight the Museum of Fine Arts' film series, Luis Bunuel, Surrealist and Film-maker. After much negotiation, L'Age d'Or (France, 1930), the surrealist film manifesto created by Bunuel and Salvador Dali, has been released for this series. The Museum's screening of Madrid 1936 (France-Spain, 1936) will be the first ever in the United States.

This retrospective highlights every period in the career of Spain's greatest director. From April 4 through May 23 films will be shown on Thursday evenings at 6:30 p.m. in the Museum Lecture Hall, which is equipped with custom-built 35 mm projection facilities.

Bunuel is one of the most profound and mysterious artists in the history of cinema. In seeking spiritual liberation, he has dealt obsessively in his films with individual frustration and social repression.

His uncompromising portrayals of modern Europe's bourgeoisie make performances by Jeanne Moreau, Michel Piccoli and Catherine Deneuve unforgettable. While Bunuel's moral and intellectual attitudes are consistent, his variety of approach and subject matter indicate the breadth of his vision.

Film notes, distributed at each performance and compiled for subscribers, have been prepared by Bunuel specialist, Randall Conrad. Conrad is an instructor of Film at the Museum School and author of a forthcoming book on Bunuel.

The Spring film schedule at the MFA is as follows:

April 18 - This Strange Passion (El, Mexico, 1952)

April 25 - The Criminal Life of Archibaldo de la Cruz (Ensayo de un Crimen, Mexico, 1955)

May 2 - The Exterminating Angel (El Angel Exterminador, Mexico, 1962)

May 9 - The Diary of a Chambermaid (Le Journal d'une Femme de Chambre, France, 1964)

May 16 - The Milky Way (La Voie Lactee, France, 1969)

May 23 - Tristana (Tristana, Spain, 1969)

Each program runs 60-100 minutes, with English subtitles or notes. Reductions are available for series subscriptions; individual tickets are sold at the door one hour prior to each performance.

Postponement

The Recreation / Community Schools Department sponsored Senior Citizen Workshop scheduled for April 19, will be temporarily postponed. Russ Conway, who was scheduled to speak at The Haven on "The Bruins and Me," is in the hospital. The Workshop will be rescheduled and publicized at the earliest possible date.

Beef Prices Are Down

With beef production increasing sharply this month, and meat counters generally well-stocked, meat prices are actually coming down, reports the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture (MDA) this week. At this time last year, the first of the revolts against high beef prices had begun, meat was in short supply, and prices were little short of astronomical. Today, wholesale prices are down some 20 per cent, and retail prices have dropped ten to twenty cents a pound . . . making beef one of the few food items that cost less today than a year ago. Because they have to move their cattle, most feed-lot operators are marketing their stock at a loss, it is reported.

This could be an excellent time to stock the freezer with beef, pork and poultry.

You'll find excellent stocks of Easter plants and flowers on hand right now . . . daffodils, Easter lilies, hydrangeas, mums, tulips and assorted mixed plants . . . most having been grown in Bay State greenhouses.

The USDA Food and Nutrition Service advises that food stamps - in those localities where they are issued - can be used to buy seeds and plants for home gardens, where the food grown is for family use, and not for resale.

Some vegetable seeds can be planted as early as mid-April, says the MDA, provided the soil is not too wet to handle. Beets, carrots, peas, radishes and spinach generally do well with early planting. You could also plant lettuce about now, but both head lettuce and cabbage need lots of growing space, and constant care and protection.

For the backyard garden that will supply most of the fresh vegetable needs of a family of five or six from early summer to first frost, the MDA suggests the following: 1 doz. tomato plants; 1 doz. eggplant; two or three vines of Zucchini or yellow summer squash; one row pole (green) beans; two hills cucumbers; two hills butternut squash (mature in fall); 1 doz. green peppers. If you want some fast action, and like them, plant a row of radishes as early as possible, and pick them in 35 to 40 days.

Lawn enthusiasts can still get the free pamphlet, "Steps to Building a Good Lawn," by sending your request, with a stamped, self-addressed envelope, to Division of Markets, MDA, 100 Cambridge St., Boston 02202.

Secretarial Workshop

among the participants for job placement by mid-August."

"The Secretarial Workshop is open to all people in the community - college students and graduates as well as people in current job placements needing to increase their skills, housewives desiring to enter the job market, and high school seniors preparing for job placement," added Fr. Aherne.

Addresses Accountants

Professor John N. Slipkowsky, assistant professor of accounting at Merrimack College was the guest speaker at the March 1974 meeting of the Merrimack Valley Chapter of the National Association of Accountants.

His speech was directed at many contemporary issues facing the accounting profession including the ethics of the professional person; the expanded role of the woman in accountancy; the explosion of knowledge in accounting curriculums and the new ways in which accounting will be taught in the future. Professor Slipkowsky expressed enthusiasm about the cooperative five year program in Business Administration currently offered by Merrimack College.

Professor Slipkowsky is a graduate of Bentley College, Suffolk University and Boston College. He is a certified public accountant in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. He resides in North Andover with his wife and four children.

The rose was not always universally revered. Because of its lavish use in the excesses of pagan Rome, the rose was condemned by the church. By the Middle Ages, however, the flower became accepted as a part of Christian culture. Eventually white roses came to symbolize the purity of the virgin Mary, and red roses the blood of Jesus.

ABC Group May Expand Program

The Andover A.B.C. (A Better Chance) program will hold a special meeting on Tuesday, April 16, in the West Elementary School Auditorium at 8 p.m.

This special meeting, to which the general public is invited, is called to discuss the expansion of the present all male program. The A.B.C. Board of Directors has voted to expand the present 14 males to include female students. The special meeting program will announce its expansion plans to invite six to eight female students; comments from Eleanor A. Weber of the National A.B.C. Staff; Dana McCurine of the Wellesley all female program; and Gary Ralph, chairman of the committee for the proposed expansion. Refreshments will be served following the special meeting program.

In the seven years that Andover has had an A.B.C. program, 35 students, including the present fourteen, have or are attending Andover High School. The Andover High School has graduated 21 students of which twenty-one have gone on to further education. These students have attended such educational institutions as Clark University, Yale, Tufts University and Harvard College to name only a few. With a 100 per cent of the graduated A.B.C. students entering institutions of higher education, the Andover A.B.C. program has established a fine tradition of helping young men successfully prepare for their further education. As we have served these young men in the A.B.C. program, they in turn have served our school and community well.

It is the A.B.C. Board of Directors' decision to extend the same opportunities for education and commitment to young women students for the 1974-75 academic year. But there are many critical decisions to be made prior to the new academic year and the arrival of new A.B.C. students. The A.B.C. Board invites those individuals of the Andover community interested in sharing their ideas and energies for this program to join the Board at this special meeting on April 16.

Town Meeting

being done by the vocational school but also felt that the program would not be harmed by a $5,000 cut in Andover's participation in the regional school.

Fred Tarbox, Andover's representative to the regional school committee spoke briefly and outlined the growth of the school and its program. He said the program and the facilities had expanded to beyond the original expectations of a decade ago, and outlined the service the school is providing to the area.

Chairman Frank Byrne of the FinCom, after consulting with Town Counsel Alfred Daniels, noted that the regional committee could obtain the funds, if they desired, thus the motion to cut the budget would be withdrawn. Byrne issued a warning, however, that the intent of the FinCom was to bring to the attention of the public the need for closer attention to regional operations, such as the vocational school.

Karl Haartz of High Plain Road, questioned the need for outside water meter readers, mechanical devices which would allow correct readings without disturbance to the occupants.

This was in a $60,000 account for equipment outlay, of which the meters represented $30,000.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin expressed the need for such service and the initiation of an annual program of installation of such mechanisms.

Tabled

Haartz felt the item costly and coupled with maintenance would represent more funds than would be spent on providing salaries to water meter readers.

The item was tabled to the next session at which time officials were asked to present more data on the meters.

Getting into the articles in the warrant, the voters whisked through to almost the halfway point, encountering little debate along the way.

By a vote of 397-74, approval was granted for rezoning from residential to general business a key lot on Central street which will provide access and parking for a large business lot to be developed by the Andover Savings Bank.

The proposal was presented by Robert M. Henderson, president of the bank and Richard MacGowan, vice president. The petition was presented by ABS Development Corp., a wholly owned subsidiary of the bank.

Final Rabies Clinic

The final rabies clinic, sponsored by the Board of Health, and conducted by Dr. Richard D. Lindsay, will be held on April 13, 1974 between 8:30 a.m. and 12 noon in the East Junior High School Shop Area.

Under General Laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Chapter 217 of the Acts of 1969, all dogs 6 months of age or older should be vaccinated against rabies and all vaccinated dogs must be re-vaccinated at intervals not exceeding 24 months.

At the first clinic held a week ago, 188 dogs received shots.

Henderson and MacGowan told the voters that the lot would provide the necessary access to the development of the land between their bank and the alley across from town hall fronting on Main street.

Atty. Marco Pettoruto, representing opponents to the plan, termed the proposal spot zoning, in that it singles out one lot to be different. He also said there was access via the Merrimack Valley Bank parking lot and questioned the economic gain to be realized from the rezoning and subsequent development.

Rezoned

The planning board had given approval to the proposal and Mrs. Margaret Keck, chairman, commented that the planners would look unfavorably on a plan which would result in traffic flow in and out of Main street which would be necessary if the lot was not rezoned.

As for lots on Chestnut street, between the Prudential building and St. Augustine's school, these, too, were rezoned to general business, but it remains for the proponent and local officials to work out covenants as dictated at Monday night's session.

John M. O'Boyle, the petitioner, agreed to an amendment presented by Chairman Milton Greenberg of the selectmen that provides a covenant being given the town that the exterior of the existing buildings would not be substantially changed.

The rezoning then passed 278-105.

But, Moderator William Dalton informed the meeting that the legal matters must be tied together by the April 22 session in order that the decision can be binding.

John Doyle questioned the annual expenditure of $100,000 for surface drain improvements. Doyle said that it would take years to properly carry out the program and felt deferral would be in order.

Public Works Director Robert McQuade said the program was following a master plan approved by the town several years ago and an orderly improvement of conditions, as has been taking place since acceptance of the report, was in order. The item was approved.

A new bath house for Pomp's pond, in the amount of $50,000 was approved. This matter, and the recreation department budget, was presented by Douglas Mitchell of the Recreation / Community Schools Department. The recreation department budget was questioned briefly but approved.

The ANDOVER TOWNSMAN

Our 87th Year
Issue No. 29

Editorial Comment

The Reason

A week ago the majority of the Andover school committee decided not to rehire Edward P. Regan as an assistant superintendent of schools, which may be their right.

What is not right, and any effort to remedy the situation at this late date is insufficient, is the failure of the majority to put forth a specific reason for not rehiring a man who has had top recommendations from the professional educators under whom he has served in Andover.

The public has a right to know what the motivating factor was in not returning this man to the position created with the approval of a prior school committee.

The majority of John Wragg, George Olesen and John F. Lyons, who deposed Regan, did not abolish the position, thus indicating that the position itself was not to be abolished.

Dr. Richard A. Katz, a former school committeeman, and who was serving on that board when Regan was elected to an administrative position in the Andover school system, asked some rather pertinent questions last week as a private citizen.

"If he (Regan) did an inadequate job as an assistant superintendent, then we should know what the inadequacy was?" Dr. Katz asked.

The former school committeeman went on to question if the move was a political one.

"If indeed, it is the superintendent of schools they are after, then remove him and let the public know why," Dr. Katz charged.

Underlying the entire action of the majority of the committee is the failure to state any specific reason. It was an emotionally charged session, but so was a school committee meeting of a decade ago when the majority of the school committee at that time voted to demote a principal in the Andover system.

That committee offered reasons for its action which resulted in the administrator not gaining tenure in his post.

Last Wednesday night the majority decision was not accompanied by such action. Pledged to economy in the school system, even abolishing of the position may have been sufficient reason.

But the position remains in the system, as of the moment, and only the occupant has been removed.

Which casts considerable doubt as to why the action was taken.

We think the public has a right to know, and also, that the reason should have been brought forth last Wednesday night.

Regan And Becker Seek Legal, Moral Recourse

By Linda S. Corbett

Edward Regan and Bill Becker were still seeking word this week on hearings into why they were dismissed from their positions as assistant superintendent and English Department head respectively.

The School Committee stripped them of those responsibilities in a stormy meeting last Wednesday night, before nearly 500 townspeople and teachers, and without publicly giving them reasons why.

While Regan said he hadn't formally requested a public hearing within a School Committee agenda, he said it would probably be forthcoming.

He said he "may call and tell them of my situation," but that he had not yet sought legal help from the Massachusetts Association of Superintendents of Schools (MASS). If denied a hearing by the School Committee, then, he said, he "would want some legal counsel."

Becker, meanwhile, has taken steps to air his complaint through regular grievance channels - beginning with the Andover Education Association. The Massachusetts Education Association is now acting in an advisory capacity.

While Regan indicated he probably had no legal right to a hearing, he said, "I feel I have a moral and civil right. The school system owes me that."

School Committee Chairman Frank Griggs also indicated this week that he felt Regan had that "moral right." He said he personally favored a private hearing with the Committee first, and if

Town Meeting May End Monday

By Robert E. Finneran
Managing Editor

Andover's 1974 annual town meeting could come to an end next Monday night when the session is convened for the third time.

Moderator William Dalton reports this week that he is hopeful that the session can be concluded with the Monday night meeting which is scheduled to get underway at 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Auditorium.

If it is concluded Monday it will bring about a reduction in the number of nights required to complete the town's annual business in recent years. The past few years have required four and five nights.

Dalton, who has been ending the meetings at about 10:30 the first two nights, reports he will keep Monday's session going later, if there is the prospect of finalizing the business.

Still to be acted upon are 30 articles of a 72-article warrant, some of a controversial nature, particularly the one dealing with flood plain zoning proposed by the planning board.

The particular item is Article 69, thus leaving the debate until late in the session, depending on action on the remainder of the warrant.

Flood plain zoning was rejected at the October town meeting, but the planning board has resubmitted the item for consideration again.

In October it was rejected, particularly by those within the proposed flood plain zone.

The planners insist that such zoning provisions are necessary for the protection of the town and provisions of the federal government which administers flood relief funds.

Opponents at the October meeting commented that the Shawheen river which flows through the designated flood plain zone area, has not been a problem since the late 30's.

But, the planning board and proponents of such provisions for the town, indicate that the area delineated as in the flood plain zone has been so designated by the federal government and Army Corps of Engineers as potential flood threats and as such should be protected.

Another article expected to create some debate, is one which would provide funds to acquire the Doyle property off High Plain Road, for school site or other municipal purpose. Price tag on the article is $310,000.

Voters will also be asked to appropriate $130,000 to close down the Ballardvale Sewer Treatment plant and tie the area into the town utility lines. The plant is currently polluting the Shawheen River.

Non-money articles which may cause some discussion include those which would increase the size of the finance committee to

In addition, Albert A. Gammal, Jr., regional administrator of the GSA, revealed 46,635 fewer gallons of fuel oil were used in the first three months of this year, compared to the corresponding period of a year previous. Building temperatures were reduced from 76 to 68 degrees.

One of the electricity - saving devices was the reduction of candle foot lighting standards which enabled GSA to remove 8,666 40-watt fluorescent tubes. In the parking area seventeen 400 watt lights were removed reducing 6800 kilowatt hours usage.

Gammal also announced air conditioning at the Service Center will be held at 80-82 degrees during the summer.

New England Town Meeting

By David Austin

From Salem to Pembroke, from Natick to Dover

The annual Town Meetings are just about over;

But the March classics have something that's not to be forgotten,
For there is something about the way they raise money that's really rotten.

The Town Moderator, at the front of the hall, wields his gavel high
For he knows at the end, everybody's going to get a piece of the pie.
It's like an old-fashioned auction, where the people bid - -
Only its objective for spending is to keep on the lid.

For the town's officials can spend and spend, you know,
Unless the residents with their interest they do show
That they don't want the town to continue spending,
Unless it's for the school that their kids are attending.

You see school costs have doubled over the past five years
And for those without kids, who own a home, it's enough to bring tears

That the School Committee budget is usually more than 50 per cent
Of all of the money the town will have spent -
But it's for the education of our young, or so we're told
And the entire budget we're usually sold.

And you know there need not be a breakdown of the school budget report;

That you can attribute, my friends, to the great and General Court
But the issue of education is one that's not to be neglected
It just seems that we ought to spend more time to perfect it. . .

And so on we go at the town meeting with articles two through fifty,
While the residents are trying to determine methods of being thrifty:

The Police Departments usually want one more unmarked car
To chase around those crazy kids on the highway departments' roads of brand new tar.

The Tree Warden would like that brand new sprayer
Oh yes, and one five-thousand dollar pick-up truck for the highway surveyor.

The Town Treasurer and the tax collector want that new mini-computer, While the Fire Department needs a ladder truck that's quite a bit newer.

The Planning Board needs money for all of its expenses,
While the Town Charter Commission must collect for bringing the town, finally, to its senses.

And though it's only 500 dollars, the money goes to the Mass. Historical Commission,
For if there is one thing you learn about living in New England, it's tradition.

The Dog Officer must be paid for having his cages - -
And just a slight increase in his wages. . .

Now no one is against the Board of Health and the role they must play,
And so the town accepts whatever the Commissioner has to say.

And who's to criticize Veterans Benefits, and all that they do - - Making that returning Serviceman happier, financially, too.

And when it comes to the Elderly, you certainly can't push them aside,
For they are the very backbone of our nation, and our town's pride.

And if you did your homework, and you read the Annual Report,
You'll realize as the articles come up, the chance to distort.

The Advisory Board recommends in our favor, or so they say,
But somehow, the police, firemen and town employees always get more pay.

Now I know the cost of living is always going higher,
But must we always grant them raises as we did in the year just prior?

And as the month of March slowly comes to a close,
I can't help think of who's got whom by the nose.
For the towns will always spend and spend, as if there's no end in sight

And the apathetic residents will sit back and watch just for spite;
But unless we get a hold of what the town is doing with our money,
As April blossoms into spring, every day will be just a little less sunny.

Historical Group Meets

James Garvin, curator of Strawberry Banke in Portsmouth, N.H., will be guest speaker at tonight's meeting of the Andover Historical Society at 97 Main Street.

This is also the Society's annual business meeting and election of officers, which will begin at 8 p.m.

Garvin will show slides of the progress to date in the restoration of 30 structures which comprise the Strawberry Banke settlement. It covers 10 acres of the original 1630 settlement and is renowned for its crafts, exhibits, General Store and Guild Shop, as well as its restored houses.

TEACHER TRAINING. Susan Grant, class of '75 at Lesley College, works with students at Sanborn school. Lesley/Andover have developed programs in teaching and learning to teach relationships. Miss Grant is one of several Lesley students who have been participating in the program at Sanborn where Joseph P. Normandy is principal.

Getting Their Training Early

(Special To The Townsman)
Most college freshmen and sophomores learning how to become teachers do very little teaching; they talk about it, think about it, but do not experience it until their junior or senior years.

At Lesley College, beginning in the first semester of the freshman year, students teach elementary children in about 25 communities in and around Boston. In the academically oriented, old community of Andover, freshmen are teaching at the Henry C. Sanborn and the West schools.

At the crack of dawn, once a week, fifty freshmen travel by bus to Andover for 12 weeks. They are assigned to a K-6 classroom in one of the two cooperating elementary schools, which differ in physical and pupil population size as well as in teaching philosophy. While most students studying to be teachers have little opportunity to correlate theory and practice, the Lesley girls have that opportunity and, according to their own reports and those of their Andover teachers, they love it.

Once the buses arrive at Sanborn and West, the girls do much more than "observe;" they help teach reading, plan curriculum, paint with the children, work with them individually or in small groups, organize a Christmas party, teach them how to care for gerbils, etc. Also important, they lunch with teachers from the cooperating schools, with full-time junior or senior student teachers (there are four in Andover from Lesley College), and with colleagues. On the way back to the campus, the girls discuss the day's activities, analyzing and evaluating each other, planning for next week's day of teaching.

A day or two later, a lengthy methods class held weekly enables the girls to learn how to create a lesson plan, video-tape lessons, talk about the development of self concept for the children and for themselves; to tie in their teaching experience at Andover to the sociological and psychological foundations of education. Guest specialists are frequently invited.

The girls work informally and closely with the two Lesley College faculty members and two senior teaching fellows. Bridging the generation gap with what is at once a leadership training program and an integral part of the curriculum, the seniors serve as seminar leaders and consultants for the group. Catherine Deloury, Marcy Rubin, Myrna Perkes, Gail MacKinnes and Karen Dresner, for example, shared tremendous responsibility for the Andover group while they were senior teaching fellows. With six groups of freshmen and sophomores going to different communities such as Andover throughout the semester, as many as 300 of Lesley's 640 undergraduates may be teaching on the same day. The College's ties with Andover go even deeper: A senior at Lesley, Nancy Katz was a student teacher in Andover for two years. Recently she has been hired by Andover's Bancroft School as an Instructional Aide. With 50 juniors participating in the Andover-Lesley Junior Laboratory Program, the Cambridge-based college has students throughout the year teaching in Andover.

The senior teaching fellows receive academic credit for a course in "Advanced Curriculum Methods and Procedures." They assist in the planning and implementations of the Core Program, and serve as valuable resources to the freshmen.

In addition to the Core Program, the Andover School department and Lesley are cooperating in an integrated laboratory experience which combines Educational

Psychology and Student Teaching. Subscribe to the TOWNSMAN 3

Hundreds Attend Stormy School Session

By Linda S. Corbett

Some 130 Andover teachers and other school personnel may have breathed a sigh of relief as their positions were secured for another year, en masse and with little ado by the School Committee last Wednesday night.

For six, however, it wasn't so simple. Edward Regan, himself relieved of assistant superintendent's title, voiced distress to the 500-odd teachers and parents who lined the bleachers of the high school auditorium, that the other five had been publicly embarrassed by having their reappointments questioned without explanation.

The others, however, fared better than Regan and William Becker, who was stripped of his English department head honors. Gerald Silverman was elected to tenure as assistant principal; John Woodward, South School got a first re-election as principal, and Grace McCabe of Shawsheen and Helen Gaunt of West Elementary, both were elected to tenure as teachers.

After the host of teachers had been okayed, Committeeman John Wragg moved to go into executive session, only to be interrupted by William Lane's request that the names to be discussed in the session be made public. Wragg's motion then failed to get a second and he withdrew.

After a "high endorsement" by Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert, the re-election of Woodward was approved 3-2, with Wragg and George Olesen voting "no," and "yesses" from Lane, Lyons and Chairman Francis Griggs.

Regan's second re-election was then defeated 3-1, amid boos from the audience, with Olesen, Wragg and Lyons voting to unseat him and Lane, the lone "yes" man. Griggs, as chairman, is not required to vote except to break a tie.

Silverman, who was already on tenure as a teacher, was then elected so as assistant principal, by a 3-1 vote, with Olesen voting "present" and Wragg, "no". Helen Gaunt was elected to tenure as a teacher, 3-0, with Wragg and Lyons only "present," and Grace McCabe, 3-1, with Olesen "no" and Wragg

Dr. Richard Katz, who served on the Andover School Committee when Ed Regan was hired by the System, asked the present committee, "Why?"

"present." Olesen then moved to amend a motion to elect Becker to tenure as a teacher, to also specify that the Superintendent, before April 15, would notify him that he would no longer be department head. Much of the crowd rose to applaud after High School Principal Philip Wormwood praised Becker's effectiveness as a "manager," despite his coming into a new program, and his strengths as a teacher "of all kinds of learners."

"I know at this time that English SAT's are being questioned," Wormwood went on, then read a letter from the president of the College Boards, indicating that SAT's "were never intended to be a measure of the school," but a measure of a child's accumulation of knowledge over a lifetime. . . "which is affected by many outside factors including home environment."

Olesen, Wragg and Lyons voted to "yes" to the amendment to strip Becker of his tenure, with Lane the lone "no" vote. On the vote to grant him tenure as a teacher, the 3-0 vote included Wragg, Lyons and Griggs. Olesen and Lane, who claimed "you're damned if you do and damned if you don't," voted "present."

A Lane motion to reconsider Regan's re-election was declared out of order, and Regan then took the microphone to declare that he still had tenure as a principal, "but we have this problem and I don't want to be part of this problem. I would rather sweep streets than work in this climate." Two untenured principals could be demoted to make room for him.

Griggs Denies Plans To Reorganize

School Committee Chairman Frank Griggs this week denied that the School Committee has any "reorganization" plans in the works - such as replacing the assistant superintendent's position with a deputy superintendent who would be responsible, like the superintendent, to the School Committee.

"One person suggested it as a possibility once," Griggs said. "Now it's a fullblown figment of someone's imagination."

There might be a redefinition of tasks, he added, since a second assistant superintendent spot fell the victim of a budget cut. The organization chart had called for one assistant to be in charge of elementary schools, the other, secondary.

"Regan was basically trying to fill both shoes for the past year," Griggs said.

He also called the deputy superintendent plan "a two-headed monster" that "wouldn't work."

Meanwhile, he said, it would be business as usual next week, when the School Committee meets Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. in the high school. Expected on the agenda is a final report of the testing subcommittee and a discussion of the security system.

superintendent invited committee members to respond to the question "Who has the major responsibility for the elementary schools, the secondary schools, and the system at large?" At that time I said I would discuss a plan but only in the privacy of the executive session. Later while discussing re-election of non-tenured personnel I asked Mr. Regan to leave the room - a customary and routine request in personnel matters.

"In executive session I outlined the plan to the superintendent and the members in a very general way. Some members requested time to reflect on its implications. The superintendent asked those members who were undecided on the plan, or on certain re-elections to call him with their decisions on both matters. This they did on Friday afternoon, April 5. What happened between that afternoon and the April 10 meeting is a problem to which the committee must immediately address itself.

"The format for the April 10 meeting included an executive session prior to the public vote on Mr. Regan's re-election - a procedure perfectly in order, and Dr. Griggs so stated at the start

Olesen Defends Position

George F. Olesen, Jr., recently elected member of the Andover School Committee, this week defended the Committee's "executive sessions" and his action against returning Assistant Superintendent Edward Regan to that post next year.

At last Wednesday's meeting, (see separate story), the three members - including Olesen - who voted against Regan, ignored requests from the floor to give the reasons for Regan's dismissal.

"Because I believe preserving the integrity of the executive session is a grave responsibility I have not revealed, and will not reveal any of the conversations which took place between Dr. Seifert and the school committee at the April 3 meeting," Olesen said this week.

"Early in my term and early in the meeting of that evening, the community to tell me, not George Olesen."

He added that there had been an "honest misunderstanding of intent" surrounding last Wednesday's meeting. "It was not my idea to forestall the going into executive sessions," he said, "but I felt it was incumbent upon the committee to read the names of the people who would be discussed in executive session."

Regan, Becker

that didn't prove satisfactory, a public one" if the Committee wants to give it to him."

While a hearing is a second goal, Regan said that reinstatement to the position of assistant superintendent which he has held for two years was secondary.

"If no substance to their reasons is turned up at the hearing, he said," then it would make sense that I be reinstated.

However, he said, "as a non-tenure person (as assistant superintendent), 'I don't have a lot of rights.'"

Regan, does have tenure as an elementary principal, but falling back to a principalship would supplant another person, and Regan said last Wednesday night that he "would sweep streets" before he'd let that happen. Two elementary principals are without tenure and therefore subject to demotion to teachers positions.

"In any case," Regan said, "don't forget I'm master of my own destiny. He added that he was heartened by community and teacher support, and that he had "total support at home."

Becker, meanwhile, said he was buoyed "by the idea that I'm not alone in this." Not only had 150 teachers voluntarily turned up last Friday afternoon for a pre-vacation meeting to discuss what action they should take on the situation, but several hundred students signed petitions backing him.

"That's based on my teaching," he said, "what I'm trying to do at the high school." "No one's said" what the reasons were for his dismissal from the department head position, though Becker said he had heard "innuendoes and rumors"

Last Chance To Purchase Doyle Land

Andover Selectman French this week urged current Town Meeting voters to take "a last chance" for the town to purchase the "Doyle Land" for recreation and conservation.

French, along with Virginia Hamann, Conservation Commission, has long been an advocate of the purchase of the property, which consists of 75 acres on Lowell Street and Andover Road, with access to the streets.

He described the land as one of the last remaining pieces of land to be purchased by the Center of Andover.

The land, now partly rough pasture and woods in years past, is a shortcut from the farms to the Center, and also two small properties.

"Mr. Fred Doyle town to own the land, but added that he would make a decision."

IRS Gets New Director

Eddie Heironimus, 41, director of the National Computer Center in Martinsburg, W. Va., has been appointed director of the Internal Revenue Service Center in Andover.

He succeeds Director Frank L. Browitt of Andover who has been appointed director of the San Francisco District Office.

Heironimus recently graduated from the Internal Revenue Service Executive Selection and Development Program, for which a small number of federal employees are competitively selected from hundreds of eligible for the training program.

He began his IRS career in 1960 as supervisory computer programmer in the then Service Center at Lawrence. In 1961 he was promoted to chief, Data Processing Division, a position he held until named assistant director at the National Computer Center. He became its director in 1971.

Before joining IRS he was with the Air Force. At Portsmouth AFB, N.H. he was a first Lieutenant and later served at Eglin AFB Fla., as a mathematician. He is a native of Springfield, Ohio, and a 1955 graduate of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, with a B.A. degree in mathematics.

The Andover Service Center processes tax returns for all of New England and northern New York. In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1973, the Service center processed 10.9 million tax returns representing $20.9 in Federal taxes.

Last Chance To Purchase Doyle Land

Andover Selectman Alan French this week called the current Town Meeting the "last chance" for the town to acquire the "Doyle Land" for conservation and recreation purposes.

French, along with Mrs. Virginia Hammond of the Conservation Commission, has long been an advocate of the town purchase of the property, which consists of 75 acres between Lowell Street and High Plain Road, with access on both streets.

He described the property as one of the last remaining open pieces of land to connect the Center of Andover with West Andover.

The land, now forested, was partly rough pasture and partly woods in years past. An old cart road on the property used to be a shortcut from West Andover farms to the Center. There are also two small ponds on the property.

"Mr. Fred Doyle would like the town to own the land," French said, but added that "he has to make a decision."

If the town does not buy the land, he said, it would be sold to developers by the end of the year.

Article 48 on the Town Meeting Warrant, which will likely be up Monday night, deals with the Doyle purchase. However, French said the selectmen hope to amend the article.

First of all, he said, they want it to read that the purpose of the land will be for conservation and recreation only - that is, for trails, athletic fields, skating rink, and other active recreation facilities, as well as conservation use.

The amendment would take out references in the article as now printed, to school site or other municipal building use.

Another change, he says, would be indication of the intent of the Selectmen to spread the cost - $310,000 - over a number of years by bonding, so that in any one year the impact on the tax rate would not be great.

He emphasized that if the Selectmen are given a go-ahead to negotiate for the land now, it would have no effect on the new 1974 tax rate at all, since the first payment wouldn't come due until 1975.

Furthermore, he said, there will be reference to the fact that the Selectmen be authorized to seek federal and state reimbursement for the purchase price of the land

It depends on how the package is put together, French explained, how much space for passive conservation use and how much for active recreation. But, he said, reimbursement could be up to 75 per cent from federal and state sources.

French, who also heads the Andover Trails Committee, says trails known as the "Doyle Link" already exist on the property, through permission of Mr. Doyle. Via High Plain Road and the Harold Rafton Reservation, he said, Andover Center and the West Andover are connected, and via Fish Brook and existing trails, one can travel it from Shawsheen Village up to the Merrimack River.

IMS Study Group Meets

Letter To Parents Is Due

A "policy letter" citing the redirection of the Andover School System toward basic skills, and cosigned by School Committee Chairman Frank Griggs and Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert, will be carried home by school children Monday.

The letter, read at the close of last Wednesday's explosive open session over school personnel, indicates a greater emphasis will be placed on basic skills of language and math, teacher-directed activities, parental involvement via increased homework assignments and improving student conduct. A more structured approach to electives at the high school is also expected.

"A devisive school system - community relationship does no one any good, especially our children," it says, and it also reaffirms the financial goal of maintaining a no tax increase budget for the near future.

Seifert closed the session last week by adding that the problem is not just in education but in the community, and a wish "that people would become more involved and more interested in what's going on."

"If the School Committee's desire is basic skills," he added, "then we'll have the best in the state, if not the nation. It is time to emphasize where we agree, and not where we disagree."

Strawbery Banke Marks 10th Anniversary

Strawbery Banke, the historic preservation project in Portsmouth's South End, will open for its tenth season on Wednesday, May 1.

A number of unique new craft activities and unusual special events and exhibits will mark the anniversary occasion at this small maritime community on the Piscataqua River, steeped in the tradition of two centuries ago, with its original homes and shops where sea captains, packetmasters, sail and mast makers, cordwainers, coopers, blacksmiths and boatbuilders once plied their trades and raised their families near Puddle Dock.

Four new arts and crafts are being introduced at the Banke this season including cabinet making; the hand manufacture of Windsor chairs; portrait painting in the style of itinerant artists of the mid-19th century; and leather working.

Thomas Moser, Master Cabinet Maker and his apprentices, produce fine furniture based on the designs and construction techniques of the 18th and 19th centuries - each piece being constructed as it would have been 150 years ago. Only air cured and kiln dried pine, birch, beech, oak, maple, cherry and walnut are used in each design which is restricted to a limited edition. Hand dovetails, mortise and tenon and dado cuts form the joints. No two pieces of furniture are alike and each is numbered and signed.

Craftsman Michael Dunbar fashions various types of Windsor chairs by hand, using green ash for the components that require steaming for flexibility in shaping. His pieces may be finished in a variety of stains and varnishes.

Mrs. Nathalie Turner of Durham, N.H. had joined the staff of Strawberry Banke as a 'limmer' closely copying the techniques of the primitive itinerant artists of the mid-1800's. Working swiftly but painstakingly with a palette knife she will produce portraits of visitors upon request at her studio in the Marden House.

At the Leather Shop, Robert Neumer will hand-craft pocket-books, sandals, ditty bags adapted from 18th century patterns and other leather regalia.

In addition daily demonstrations will be presented by the spinners and weavers who produce traditional and contemporary designs on their looms; the blacksmith, whose hand-forged products include such ornamental wares as door knockers, candlestands, andirons and sign fixtures; and the Master Boatbuilder who, with his apprentices at the Boat Shop, hand-crafts full-sized punts, skiffs and Strawberry Banke and Grand Banks dories ranging from 12 to 18 feet over-all.

Special Events

Special events for the 1974 season include seven special full days of activities presented by the First New Hampshire Regiment, Inc., Colonial troops costumed in authentic uniforms of the Revolutionary War. Their program includes parades and flag raising ceremonies; military demonstrations; fife and drum music on occasion; bullet molding; cartridge making; sabre and spontoon drills and Colonial outdoor games such as 'Balling the Jack.' Wives of First New Hampshire Regiment members, garbed in appropriate Colonial-dress, will demonstrate cooking - making use of traditional early receipts - and, when possible, candle making. Dates for these programs are June 9; July 6 and 21; Aug. 11 and 24; Sept. 14 and Oct. 13.

Volunteers Needed For Area Projects

Spring is an expansive period, Miss Miriam Putnam said this week, and National Volunteer Week, April 21 to 27, "the perfect time to expand horizons by signing up as a volunteer."

Miss Putnam is office coordinator for Volunteer Inservice Program - VIP - and says there are dozens of opportunities - different, varied and appealing to all interests and talents.

"If you are of an organizing bent," she says, "there is the important role of volunteer chairman of the Service Committee of the Greater Lawrence Cancer Society."

"If you like to cook, why not share your talent with the young people at St. Ann's Home?"

"Meals On Wheels has a great need for drivers and people who can take the hot meal from the van to the people receiving it. Many of the recipients would go without the necessary nutritious meals were it not for this program. "Do you like to help out in emergencies? Agencies like Red Cross and FISH depend absolutely on volunteer drivers."

"Can you imagine the number of sick, lonely and handicapped people whose daily life would be brightened by just a small expenditure of hours on your part in hospitals and nursing homes."

"Mary Immaculate Nursing Home needs volunteers to take patients to therapy and back. If you are in good health, you can get great satisfaction from participating in this essential service."

"If you love to swim, the Plains Community Center can use swim and gym instructors. The Easter Seal Society uses swim volunteers. The YWCA is always looking for swim instructors who hold the WSI certificate."

"The Community Day Care Center would like to find people who could share a talent or an interest with small children from three to five. If you play an instrument, work with clay, do carpentry, here is a place to share your enthusiasm."

"Often you do not need to leave your own home to be of service. If you have small children or can not get out, consider offering your service to telephone an elderly person daily, or to knit or crochet for Bedford veterans, or to sew puppets for hospitalized children."

Can you imagine the Greater Lawrence Community without volunteers? Churches, schools, social agencies, character building agencies, health agencies and more all need volunteers. What are you going to do about it?

"The Volunteer Inservice Program" is a community agency and will try to help you find a satisfying volunteer role. Call the VIP office between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Preschoolers Flock To Eye Exams

Some 202 youngsters had their eyes checked for Amblyopia recently in the ninth annual Preschool Vision Screening program, sponsored by the Andona Society.

Mrs. Barbara Reichter was chairman of the project, assisted by Mrs. Joan Barrett and Mellie Coon. Andona members, trained by the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Blindness and the Andover Board of Health, conducted the screenings at the local nursery schools and in open screenings at the Christ Church.

Amblyopia, sometimes called "lazy eye" is a condition of dim vision in an eye which appears to be normal. Left undetected, it often causes blindness. However, it can be corrected if discovered early enough. Any questionable screenings were referred for professional help and eye examination.

Andona members who volunteered as screeners and in other capacities were: Mary Bartow, Sarah Goldberg, Judy Merrill, Alberta Stammers, Mary Gail Fleming, Betsy Serbagi, Chris Fernandez, Donna Parker, Arden Reynolds, Connie Reddington, Sandy Bertetti, Jeanne Normandy, Sylvia Tallman, Diane Hill, Dori Tassinari, Laura Lattanzia, Suzanne Price, Fran Secord, Diane Appleton, Norma Seifert, Elaine Barrett.

Law Is Haven Topic

The Andover Recreation Community Schools Department will hold another Senior Citizen Workshop on Tuesday, April 23, at 2 p.m. with Attorney Andrew Shea talking on "The Changing Laws."

A Phillips Academy and Harvard graduate, Shea has been an attorney in Andover for the past six years. He will discuss recent developments in different areas of law, demonstrating that the law is responsive to the changing society and its needs.

The Workshop will be held at The Haven.

A final reminder - "The Bruins and Me," scheduled for Friday, April 19, is temporarily postponed due to Russ Conway's illness.

Parental Course Offered

Being a parent is one of the most difficult things we do. Where can we learn to do it better? In Dr. Thomas Gordon's Parent Effectiveness Training, an eight week course in family relationship skills which focuses on communications, problem-solving techniques and methods for the productive resolution of conflicts. P.E.T. is a basic course in how to raise responsible children - kids that are a joy - happy, responsible, cooperative, and close to their parents. The course will be offered at the Unitarian Universalist Church, 244 Lowell St., Andover starting on Thursday, April 25th at 7:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. The first meeting is open to the public, and tuition, which includes the text and course workbook, is $65 per person.

Mrs. Patricia Bashford, teaching associate and instructor for Effectiveness Training Associates' programs in Weston, will be the instructor. She is on the faculty at Graham Jr. College, Boston, in the School of Communications and is a parent of two boys, 17 and 7. Mrs. Bashford calls the course a "no-lose" system for resolving all conflicts between parents and their youngsters so that both feel satisfied and both are willing to carry out the agreements reached.

'Village Smithy' To Exhibit

Have you ever wished that you could step back into the days of the village smithy? Your chance has arrived. Mike Myers, owner and operator of the Sundow Silver Shop in Andover, will appear at the Homelands Festival April 25-28 at the Lawrence YWCA, 38 Lawrence St. to demonstrate the art of silversmithing.

Myers, who lives in Andover, says his first interest in the craft was just plain curiosity. "For the most part, I'm self taught," notes Myers. He opened shop in Andover, on Park Street, almost two years ago, after having shared a shop in Jamaica Plain, with another smith.

Mike teaches his own silversmithing course. It is a three-hour, one night a week, seven week course.

Every craftsman has his own special tools and Mike will be at the festival equipped with "oak stump and anvil," demonstrating how to make hammered bracelets. Also, he will display some hand-made wares from his shop. The most popular item that Mike sells is earrings, which make nice gifts. Mike carries a large selection of jewelry at the Sundow Shop. He also does work with precious and semi-precious stones.

Another item to be found in Mike's Andover Store, is a wall hanging, created by using silver, mahogany and poetry. It took four months to complete.

Myers is only one of the many craftsmen who will be at the festival demonstrating their trade. In addition, ethnic singing, dancing and food will also highlight the celebration. The Homelands Festival will be held at the Lawrence YWCA, 38 Lawrence St., Lawrence, from Thursday, April 25, through Sunday, April 28.

The Essex County Commissioners will continue a hearing on the widening of River Road between I-93 and Brundrett Avenue, on April 30, at 1 p.m. at the Court House in Salem.

Andover Town Manager J. Maynard Austin said the commissioners continued the hearing without a decision Tuesday, after objections from residents on the north side of River Road, west of Brundrett.

He said the residents asked that the road be widened on the opposite side of the street, since there are no homes in the section, instead of taking it from their "front yards."

John F. Minihan, a teacher of anthropology and world cultures at North Andover High School, will return next year to the Philippines, where he will study Asian History and language at the University of the Philippines. Minihan was awarded the sabbatical year by the school committee at a recent session. Minihan formerly served on the Island of Mindinao, Philippines, in the Peace Corps after graduating from North Andover schools and Bridgewater State College, in history. He taught English to native children and teachers, as well as taking on various community details from raising chickens to planning and digging sanitary facilities.

The village he served in was the center of a fishing and agricultural area, six hours by bus from Davao, which was called "Little Tokyo" before World War II. The climate there was moderate heat, with absolutely no mosquitoes, despite being just six degrees north of the Equator.

The natives, he said, liked the U.S., and were greatly saddened by the news of the deaths of General Douglas MacArthur and President John F. Kennedy, which reached the islands while he was there.

Also near his town was an area on the map called "Unexplored Territory" where the primitive tribe, the Tasaday, were recently discovered.

After a year back in North Andover, Minihan, who is now 33 and still single, went to Libya where he taught in a junior high school for dependents of the U.S. military and oil company employees.

He said Libya was a particularly good place "from which to travel," but he spent much time exploring the ruins of towns built there by the Romans.

"There just is no better way to learn about a culture," Minihan says, "than actually living in the country - no book or course comes close."

In 1969 he received a masters degree in Non-Western Culture from Salem State College, and he has taken several courses at the University of New Hampshire. Last summer he attended the University of Sophia, a Jesuit school in Japan.

How all this has affected him as a classroom teacher, Minihan says, is hard to say. "A teacher never knows what influence he has on his students. But having been to and lived in places about which I teach certainly allows me to give insights into cultures and history that most teachers just can't give."

At the University of the Philippines, in Quezon City on the Island of Luzon, Minihan will be part of the Center for Asian Studies. The program, established in 1954, is managed and taught by professors from all over Asia and is attended by students from all over the world.

Educational Involvement

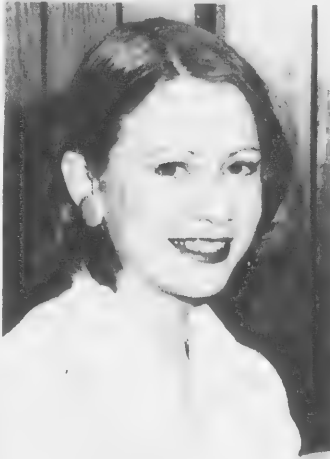

By Vallerie Pierrat

Gerald Silverman, assistant principal of the Andover High School, is currently offering a course in Educational Involvement to students wishing to become involved with the public elementary school system. For a period of 18 weeks students taking this course are dismissed from school for approximately one hour. One group goes to Bancroft Elementary and the other group to the South School. There they are to work closely both with the teachers and the children.

It is Mr. Silverman's wish to provide his students with a sense of responsibility and intellectual growth outside of the classroom. In turn, both principals of these schools believe this program will stimulate youngsters to putting more zeal and devotion into their work. It is also believed that in times of crisis they may better resolve their problems communicating with someone who is not a symbol of authority.

This goal is not idealistic providing of course that students involved in this program are responsible enough to achieve it. That may be the idealistic part. What could be more stimulating for a youngster than to see someone not much older than they feverishly busy? Unfortunately, it isn't all that simple.

Insofar as the teacher is concerned, it is awfully hard for her to depend on her aide to set up a work program for her students when the aide shows up only two out of five days to participate. What does this do for a child's motivation? Too often, students coming from Andover High are used as glorified babysitters or are used to correct papers. High school students can hardly be expected to be stimulated by that. So much useful time is wasted.

Does the problem stem from the lack of responsibility and drive on the part of the student aides or is it the lack of interest and concern on the part of the elementary school teachers? One girl I spoke to who was in the program complained: "All I ever did was sit in the teacher's room and smoke cigarettes because there was nothing else to do."

The factor that seems to keep the program going is the occasional, exceptional student who has genuine drive and pushes his way into the elementary school life. Someone who is dead set on what he wants to accomplish for those 18 weeks and is ready to impose his demands on the faculty can really accomplish a lot with this type of program. But it is idealistic to assume that every student is like that. Therefore, some kind of requirement on the part of the student aide should be made by the administration. As it stands now there are none.

Educational Involvement is a very rewarding experience for those who are willing to perform. For those who are not willing it can have cancerous effects.

The program has some very valid intentions but in order for it to succeed, better planning must be executed by the faculty in coordination with the student aides.

Seminar participant Phyllis Rosen is a partner in Marcus, Krakow, Rosen and Sonnabend, 167 Newbury St., Boston, the city's largest gallery of contemporary art. Two painters taking part will be Susan Shatter, a realist, and Natalie Alper, an abstract painter and teacher at the Museum of Fine Arts, whose work is now on display in the Addison Gallery.

China Altman, who has her own talk show on WEEI, is a freelance writer and poet and the Boston correspondent for the new magazine, People.

Bantams Winning Season Ends

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Bantam 'A' traveling hockey team wrapped up a highly-successful 1973-74 season last weekend by splitting a pair of games, and advancing to the semifinal round of the first annual Merrimack College Invitational Youth Hockey Tournament.

Coach Dick Neal's pucksters opened tourney play with a convincing 8-0 quarterfinal victory over the Lowell Bantams, but bowed out with a 5-0 setback at the hands of a powerful Cambridge sextet.

Streak Extends... Ends

The romp over Lowell stretched Andover's late-season unbeaten skein to seven straight games, and its winning streak to five consecutive tilts.

The loss to Cambridge ended both streaks, however.

The shutout against Lowell was also the fourth in five games and ninth overall for goaltenders Jeff Hubbell and Steve April, who matched the team record for blankings set last season.

The final Andover ledger was an impressive 19-9-4.

Apgar Unloads

Highlighting the Lowell game were three more goals by Lee Apgar, which gave him eight over a two-game span before Cambridge arrived and stopped everybody cold.

Flue No Problem

Backed by red-hot Apgar's three-goal "hat trick" and single tallies from five other players, Andover experienced little trouble en route to the tourney-opening 8-0 quarterfinal romp over Lowell.

"The team played quite well in spite of the fact that about half the players had the flu," noted Coach Neal. "Defenseman Joe Pasquale was unable to see any action, and several others were quite sick."

"Nevertheless we were able to force the play all night, and easily could have doubled the score."

"Defensemen Bill Best, Kevin Moore, Paul Derby and Mike Cullinan, along with Apgar, Chuck Redman and Lennie Foote, all came up with strong efforts," lauded Neal.

Quick Lead

Chuck Redman boosted Andover into a fast 1-0 lead at 3:56 of the opening period, notching his 22nd seasonal goal just 14 seconds into an Andover powerplay.

Joe Gurry initiated the scoring play by skimming a pass to Bill Best at the point. Best unloaded a long slapshot, and Redman stepped in to deflect the puck home.

Apgar continued his personal assault on rival goaltenders at 6:54, flipping a 10-footer into the upper left corner after set-up passes by Foote and John Lyons.

Keith Eosefow closed out the first period at 3-0 Andover, depositing a 15-footer from a wide angle for his eighth tally. Redman collected the lone assist on the goal.

Best Delivers

Best got into the scoring act for the third time this season, producing the lone red-lighter of the second period at 9:09.

It took some good digging in the corners by linemates Gurry and Eosefow to get the puck to the point, and from that spot it was Best coming through with a 55-foot slapshot.

John Fahey opened the third period barrage with his 14th goal, a 20-footer from the slot after Alex Milne pushed a pass out front. This goal at 1:16 of the final upped the spread to 5-0.

The victors' second powerplay score of the game followed at 2:49, with Apgar doing some fine stickhandling around the Lowell zone to set up his own seven-footer. Kevin Sirois notched the only helper.

Defense Takes Over

The locals had a chance to test their penalty-killing prowess when Joe Gurry and Paul Derby both received minor penalties at 5:14, leaving Andover two men down.

Not only was Lowell unable to score, but they didn't manage a single shot on net as Apgar, Best and Moore did some fancy puck maneuvering to keep the losers well out of range.

Shortly after the coincidental minors expired, Lennie Foote punched in a five-foot rebound for his fifth lamplighter. Apgar and Moore also had shots during the scramble and garnered assists.

Apgar closed the scoring at 7:31 with his 15th seasonal tally, jacking the final score up to 8-0.

Bill Best dumped the puck from the blue line to Foote in the corner, and Len in turn spotted Apgar in the slot for a 15-foot connection.

Cambridge Arrives!

Cambridge produced what proved to be its winning goal 19 seconds after the game-opening faceoff, and by the end of the first period it was 3-0. The winners netted their last two goals in the second stanza, and after that it was merely an exchange of penalties.

No less than 19 penalties were whistled during the contest, with 10 going against Andover and nine against Cambridge.

"They just kept coming at us all night," admitted Neal. "They were strong skaters who beat us to the puck consistently and continually moved in on our goal."

"We had a few good scoring chances but couldn't finish them off. Chuck Redman had a breakaway in the third period, pulled the goalie out, but then missed the net with a backhand," added the coach.

It was simply one of those long, long nights.

Jeff Hubbell worked the first 2½ periods in the Andover net, and then Steve April mopped up over the final six minutes.

Final Statistics

Chuck Redman finished as the individual team scoring leader with 22 goals and 39 points.

Redman shared the assist leadership with John Lyons and Keith Eosefow, both of whom also handed out 17 helpers.

Lee Apgar was the most penalized player with 39 minutes, followed closely by defenseman Paul Derby with 34.

In 32 games the club scored 126 goals for an average of just under four a game. There were also 176 assists handed out.

No. 1 goaltender Jeff Hubbell posted a superb 1.91 goals-against average, while back-up netminder Steve April had an excellent 1.17 mark in limited service.

Together the net tandem allowed just 56 goals in 32 games, and tied that team record for shutouts with nine.

Basketballs Bounce For Heart Group

The Andover Heart Association will hold a Heartbeat Basketball Bounce Sunday, April 28, from 1 to 4:30 p.m. in the East Junior High School Gymnasium.

Anyone capable of bouncing a basketball is invited to sign up pledges for the number of minutes for continuous bouncing. Any kind of a bounce which is legal in a basketball game is legal in this fund-raising activity. The bounce, once broken, stops the running time and each sponsor pays for the minutes bounced times their pledges.

It is recommended that pledges generally be kept to no more than five cents per minute. Entry blanks are available at each of the Andover public schools, the Recreation / Community Schools Department office, or the Heart Association Building on Main Street.

The longest continuous bounce known in Andover was six minutes, recently done at the West Junior High Gymnasium by a fifth grade student. Basketballs will be supplied for those interested in accepting a challenge to beat the record. Any age and either sex are invited.

For further information, please contact Gary C. Ralph, Recreation / Community School, program chairman.

Between 1950 and 1970, state parks increased by 80 per cent, attendance increased 300 per cent. Acreage increased 29 per cent in the National Park system, and visitors increased more than 400 per cent, the Massachusetts Audubon Society reports.

Babe Ruth Tryouts Set For Weekend

The Andover Babe Ruth baseball team will hold its 1974 tryouts this Saturday and Sunday, April 20 and 21, beginning at 1 p.m. at the Playstead Field behind East Junior High.

Managers Joe Grillo and Rick Harrison will supervise the workouts, which will run until approximately 3:30 p.m. each day.

All youngsters between the ages of 13 and 15 years are eligible, including any boy who will not have turned 16 prior to August 1, 1974.

These are open tryouts with all 15 positions on the team roster up for grabs.

A special invitation is extended to all Little League All-Stars from last summer.

Any boy trying out for the Babe Ruth team and not chosen will then be eligible for the Senior League tryouts to be held in a few weeks.

The Andover Babe Ruth team plays in the eight-team Greater-Lawrence Babe Ruth League against Methuen, North Andover, Tower Hill, North Lawrence, South Lawrence East, Prospect Hill and South Lawrence West.

The season consists of a 21-game schedule plus playoffs for the top four teams. The opening game will be early in June and the league will conclude play the final week of July. The league will also suspend play for the first week in July.

Andover Babe Ruth players will be eligible for two All-Star teams, which will compete in State and possibly National tournaments.

Three players will be chosen for the Greater-Lawrence All-Star team, which has been a traditional winner and two years ago advanced to the finals of the State Tournament before bowing to host team Leominster.

Plans are also underway for a similar All-Star team composed entirely of 13-year-old league players.

The Andover team sports blue double-knit uniforms acquired last season, and there is no registration fee attached for players.

Further information may be had by contacting either Rick Harrison (475-2007) or Joe Grillo (475-2814).

Women's Hiking Program

Two of the Andover-North Andover YMCA's Spring programs provide exercise for women of the two communities. Already under way is a 10 week hiking program under the leadership of Marlene Sanders which include walks on successive Tuesdays through June 11. Included are walks at the following spots: Baker's Meadow and Indian Ridge, Ward Reservation, Deer Jump Reservation, Rafton Reservation, Farnham Trail, Harold Parker State Forest, Lake Cochichewick, Rocky Hill Reservation. The group leaves the Andover YMCA building at 9 a.m. and returns by 11 a.m. Optional longer trips to Dogtown at Rockport and to the Wildlife Sanctuary at Plum Island will require a return to the YMCA at about 2:45 p.m.

More strenuous exercise for women in fairly good physical condition is provided by a climbing program under the leadership of Barbara Lybrand. This five session program starts April 23. The climbs will be taken on Tuesdays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Two bicycling programs for women are also conducted by the Andover-North Andover YMCA. One group will leave the Andover YMCA under Caryl French and Audrey Kenney on Wednesdays 9-11 a.m. for seven weeks starting April 24. Beginning on that same day a similar group will start from the North Andover YMCA building (Community Center) under the leadership of Eva Westphalen.

Registration for the above programs are being accepted only at the Andover YMCA office.

THE ANDOVER EDUCATION ASSOCIATION would like to pose the following questions to the ANDOVER SCHOOL COMMITTEE

“Why the apparent, unjustifiable dismissal of the Assistant Superintendent in the Andover Public Schools?”

“Why the apparent capricious methods of evaluation used in the granting of tenure to the professional staff in the Andover Public Schools? If the decisions are not based on administrative recommendations then from where do you, the School Committee, receive your information to make value judgments on staff performance?”

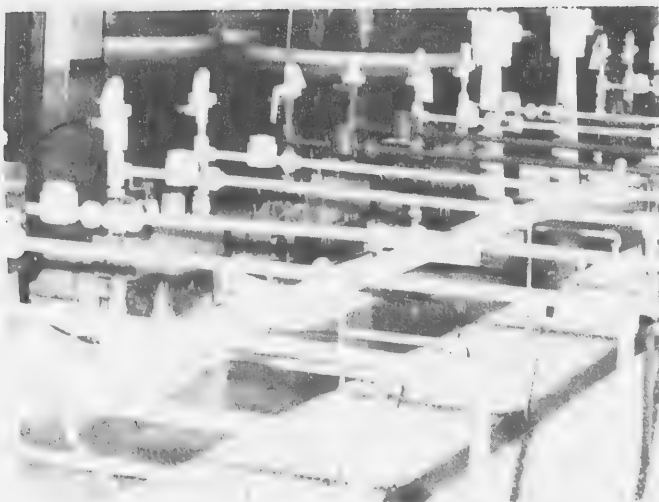

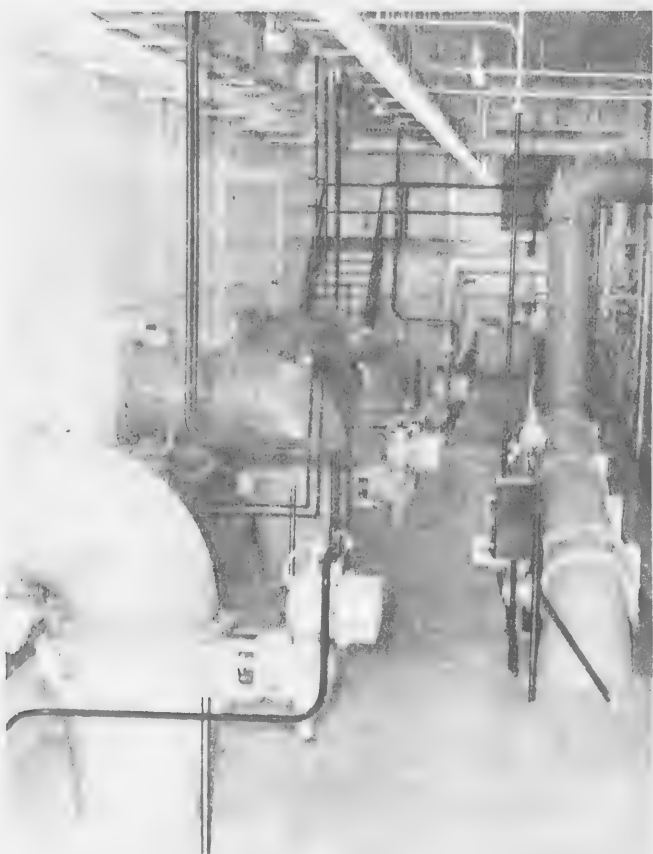

“Why the refusal to be accountable to the taxpayers by not responding to citizens’ questions at a School Committee meeting?”

The Andover Education Association is vitally concerned with preparing the young people of Andover to take a responsible position in society after completing their years of education in the school system.

In the past, the Andover School Committee has set an example of openness with the Town and with the professional staff as to the reasons for their decision-making policies. We continue to expect to be guided by an educationally-minded Administration and School Committee. The Andover Education Association calls upon the present Andover School Committee to be fair and responsible.

Ready - Almost - And Waiting

The long-awaited Water Treatment Plant at Haggett's Pond, Andover, is just about ready to go. The building has been accepted by the Town and contractors are finishing up with a small "punch list" of inside items, landscaping, and the like, while the Water Division of Public Works tests out various parts of the equipment. Eventually water from this plant will be the only supply for the entire town. The old brick building nearby, which has served so long, will be used only for storage. Shown on this page, are some of the new facilities in the plant which was started in 1971 and has cost the town $5,150,000.

Shearing a 100-pound sheep takes a tough back, strong arms and a sure hand -- just the job for a 15-year-old girl.

Mickey Cerino is one of a five-member team from the Golden Fleece 4-H Club of Topsfield who will demonstrate clipping techniques in the Third Annual Sheep-Shearing Day on the Merrimack Valley Textile Museum grounds, North Andover, Sunday.

Following the demonstrations, to be held every 45 minutes from 1 to 4 p.m., visitors can follow the fleece through its natural process: sorting, picking, carding, spinning and weaving.

Although not the most seasoned shearers, the crew will show how to grapple with a 70 - 100 pound lamb and come out the winner.

Although sheep naturally shed their fleeces with the coming of warm weather, man has historically removed the wool for his use. First it was pulled off, then carved off from the pel with a knife -- the practice among western Indians. Now it is removed either with manual shears or power shears which clip the wool much as a man's hair is shorn by barber's clippers.

Shearing with electric clippers -- which came into existence in the 1900's -- is faster, saves more wool and causes fewer cuts. An expert power shearer can handle as many as 200 sheep in an eight-hour day, while the experienced manual shearer can do 125-150 in the same time. Manual shearing, however, leaves more wool, allowing the animal to withstand a sudden drop in temperature.

Sunday's demonstration will feature electric power shearing by the five team members which include Mickey Cerino, Topsfield, her 16-year-old brother Chris; Andy Cox, 13, Topsfield; Pammy Hay, 13, Topsfield; and Shelley Smith, 16, Boxford.

Sorting the fleece, the next step in the process, will be demonstrated by Ed Senior, Lawrence, a veteran of more than 50 years in sorting and grading for textile industries in Massachusetts.

"You look for a certain quality in the fleece," Senior pointed out. "This is basically determined by its length and texture."

The very fine wool, according to the Senior, is spun into worsteds. Medium-grade wool, such as Shetland, is used for socks, sweaters and other coarser fabrics. The thickest wool usually winds up in rugs and other heavy-duty articles.

A NEW EWE: Mickey Cerino shows a new kind of woman's work which she'll demonstrate at the Third Annual Sheep-Shearing Day, set for Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Merrimack Valley Textile Museum grounds, Massachusetts Avenue, North Andover.

Other demonstrators for the day include Alice Maloney, Middleton, hand loom; Mary Ann Baron, Middleton, flax spinning wheel; Tom Rockwell, North Andover, carding machine; and Emil "Red" Lustenburger, Salem, N.H., power loom.

There is no charge to watch the sheep-shearing.

Haslam Discusses Oil 'Myths'

An Andover spokesman for the Massachusetts Petroleum Council has claimed that the current energy problem "will never be solved" until four "myths" are exploded: that oil companies have contrived to create the energy shortage; that they are making exorbitant profits; that they failed to warn the public; and that the U.S. may run out of petroleum.

Speaking before the Lawrence Rotary Club, Robert T. Haslam, of 116 Dascomb Road, said "there's not a shred of evidence to support the contrivance charge, yet it has been repeated so often that it has gained a seeming credibility." He said the immediate critical shortage is the result of the Arab embargo, and "no one in his right mind" would contend that the oil companies contrived that.

Haslam, who is senior public relations representative - Northeast area, for Exxon Company-U.S.A., listed some "real" reasons for the shortage, none of them the result of oil company action: the long delay in starting the trans-Alaska pipeline; the moratorium on drilling in the Santa Barbara channel, and delays in granting leases in the Gulf of Mexico; regulations artificially controlling the field price of natural gas, and application of price regulations to crude oil; record-breaking sales of new cars with gasoline - consuming optional equipment, and emission control devices.

Haslam answered the "exorbitant profits" charge by noting that, although 1973 figures indicate a gain over 1972 for the industry, profits, as a percentage of net worth, were at a ten year low in 1972. Thus, 1973 barely brings the industry back to levels of previous years, he said, and this level is "still quite a bit below" the average of other manufacturing industries.

As for the third myth, Haslam contended that the shortage did not develop suddenly. Although it became critical in a hurry because of the Arab embargo, he said, it has been developing for 20 years, and during that time the petroleum industry has consistently issued warnings.

And finally, Haslam stated, the U.S. is not running out of oil and gas. "What we're running out of is available supplies. The U.S. Geological Survey estimates the Outer Continental Shelves of our nation contain almost twice as much crude oil, and more than double the amount of natural gas, produced in the U.S. from the start of the petroleum industry in 1859 through 1972."

For many years to come," Haslam said, "the best and most efficient solution to our energy problem will be found in efforts to stimulate expansion of discovery and development of oil and natural gas in our own country, and off our own coasts."

Raytheon Earnings Increase

Raytheon Company today reported first-quarter earnings per share up 19 per cent above the year-earlier level.

In the quarter ended March 31, the company earned $12,263,000, equal to 82 cents per share on the 14,977,028 average number of common shares outstanding during the period.

In the comparable 1973 quarter, Raytheon earned $10,747,000 or 69 cents per share on 15,562,083 common shares, the average number then outstanding.

First-quarter sales were $429,088,000 in 1974, compare with $368,145,000 in 1973. Sales, net income, and earnings per share were all records for a first quarter.

First-quarter gains were paced by stepped-up activity in all three of Raytheon's energy-related subsidiaries, by further buildup in production of the Improved Hawk air-defense system and by new increases in demand for Amana appliances.

Raytheon's total backlog in the first period rose to a record $1.6 billion, compared to $1.3 billion a year earlier. The government-funded portion was $665 million, compared with $588 million at the end of the comparable 1973 quarter.

Provision for federal and foreign income taxes in the first quarter was $9,910,000, compared with $9,182,000 in the 1973 quarter.

Dear Neighbors:

We are the proud owners of 4.3 acres of land which is bordered by Route 93 on the East, the Knights of Columbus building on the North, Route 93 South-bound off ramp on the South, and Frontage Road on the West. It is quite a distance from any active residential property and we sincerely feel you would be pleased with our plans for this land.

A "Yes" Vote for Article 54 (as amended on the floor of Town Meeting) will allow us to build a beautiful small office building for ourselves with enough rental to offset our expenses. All details concerning this will be presented at the Town Meeting.

We sincerely feel this property, above any other in the Town of Andover, should be zoned for an Office Park, with a good size tax return to our Town and without any expense to you.

Above all we have spent a great deal of time looking for an ideal location and feel that what we have to offer this property and our Town, and what this property has to offer us in such a beautiful location, make it an ideal situation.

Please come to the Town Meeting -- Vote "Yes" for our change and let us live and work in Andover.

Very truly yours,

Jan & Ben Waters

Areas to be covered are low meadows, fresh water marshes, swamps and bogs, and the salt marsh. The course is open to the public and attendance at the first meeting is required. One or more field trips are optional. A small fee will be charged ($2 per session, $8 for the whole course) and prior registration is necessary. For further information, call the Sanctuary office.

maintenance man, and Philip K. Allen, perennially effective as an auctioneer for the Channel 2 TV Auction, will do the honors for Andover's Municipal Recycling Auction on Saturday, April 27, at Recreation Park.

That's the day the Recycling Committee hopes to bring in lots of money to reduce the town tax rate while it helps people get rid of useful articles they don't want. Sharpe and Allen will auction items citizens have donated off to other citizens in a giant Bring-And-Buy, with coffee, soda pop and hot dog lunches for sale on the side.

Auctioneer Ralph Sharpe says he already has been receiving calls from prospective bidders.

Have you any refrigerators? A toaster? I'd like to bid on a single bed. Have any come in yet?" Sharpe tells them he can't say yet what's been donated to the auction; most of the goods will be brought to the Recreation Lodge on the Saturday (April 20) before the auction, and even on the three days immediately preceding the event.

But you come right along to the auction. I know folks are going to bring things, and I never knew an auction yet that didn't have a refrigerator or a bed or a toaster for sale."

Sharpe's father was an auctioneer before him, selling horses, wagons and harnesses for Andover and Lawrence farms and homes. By the time Ralph started in, horses were out of the scene, but he has been eliciting the bids for years, specializing in working for charitable institutions "that can't afford a fancy auctioneer." Fancy or not, Ralph Sharpe has made his reputation; "A bunch of dealers follow me now."

You have to be an extrovert to be a good auctioneer. Sharpe's maintenance shop at the rear of the Police Station is a dead giveaway of his personality - a happy clutter of hundreds of pictures, souvenirs of the police department, where he has worked for 25 years, family life (a son's wedding clipping, pictures of grandchildren) and also maps and pictures of old Ballardvale; framed letters, poems, gadgets and a giant amaryllis blooming in the window.

Beneath are the tools of his calling - vices, chisels, hammer, pliers, and the metal nameplate he is engraving for a police officer's door or desk. At the other end of the room is his sign-lettering department, with decals, paint and a large heating element. He'll show you how he bakes a bright red "Watch Children" on signs to protect the kids on the town streets.

What does he have to say about auctioneers? "Some people couldn't sell ice cream cones in the desert. But a real auctioneer can tell by the expression a face who's going to bid. I get up and put the crowd in a happy mood, tell a joke, get a laugh, to get it started; then just talk with the person who's bidding." He doesn't do it all alone, and he'll tell you his help is the best - Ruth Sharpe.

"Ruth does the cut glass,

depression glass, carnival glass and all the small stuff. She really knows her glass. She could take over anything, do the whole auction. Wonderful woman."

The history of old Ballardvale is an abiding interest of the Sharpes, particularly Mrs. Sharpe, who was born there, her husband confides. "Right now we are making a special effort to gather together everything we can find about old Ballardvale for display -- we want to locate pictures, bottles, lamps and stoneware made in Ballardvale, and old pieces of the flannel made in the Bradley Mills there, that won prizes all over the world. If you have any old maps or papers about Ballardvale, please let us know."

Has the Police Department maintenance man any other sidelines? "Well, yes, but I don't know whether you ought to print it. I'm a professional Santa Claus. He looks the part indeed. And what a tag for an auctioneer -- "Step right up and bid. Santa Claus is giving things away today!"

The extrovert who will share auctioneering duties with Sharpe is Philip Allen, former chairman of Andover's Selectmen, who has impressive qualifications for being persuasive with the public, such as getting elected to the Massachusetts Senate, being chosen as state chairman for the Republican Party, and winning election and re-election to the Andover Board of Selectmen.

Allen's auctioneering gifts became evident at former Abbot Academy, where he was president of the Board of Trustees, and auctioneer at several of the annual Abbot Bazaars. He also was instrumental in the negotiations combining Abbot and Phillips Academies, and has been persuasive also in raising money for such philanthropies as the Boston Symphony, the Museum of Fine Arts and WGBH-TV, where he once was assistant general manager.

Philip K. Allen

It is on this educational television network that his auctioneering talents have beamed across Massachusetts, in the annual springtime Channel 2 Auction, auctioning off donated items for the financial support of the educational television station. This is marvelous practice for Andover's first Municipal Recycling Auction, the Andover Recycling Committee decided, and they signed him on. He is known to own a thick Irish brogue, which he can put on at will, to entertain audiences, and this just might crop out at the Auction April 27.

You can get town pickup of items for the Recycling Auction if they are large items, or if you cannot get them to the Recreation Lodge yourself on April 20, 24, 25 or 26. Just call 475-5864 or 475-4618 for town pickup of your donation.

Early Greeks sent town criers through the streets shouting the virtues of their products, while Roman bakers baked their names on each loaf of bread.

Observations

Some observations appear warranted after the last meeting of the Andover school committee meeting.

First, of course, is the questionable effectiveness of secret meetings.

There has been comment that Asst. Supt. Edward Regan was unaware of the action that was about to befall him last Wednesday night.

Yet, there were petitions presented to the meeting signed by a number of the professional staff, who must have been aware of what was about to happen.

The turnout for a school committee meeting was far beyond what is considered normal - close to a thousand, thus there must have been advance information to warrant such attention.

In addition to the worst kept secret in recent years, there have been complaints about some school committee members going into the public schools and conducting so-called inspections, as well as admonishing some teachers in front of others.

While such action is wrong for one, it also seems equally wrong for other school committee members to be visiting schools during class hours for whatever reason.

We mention such things in an effort to move Dr. Francis Griggs, as chairman of the school committee into the leadership position to which he was elected by his colleagues.

We would like to see the chairman move with haste toward establishing an overall policy with regard to all meetings of the board, dissemination of information to the media, school visitations, etc.

Efforts toward unity in the school system, from the school committee, through the administration into the schools, is a dire need at present.

Issuance of direction and goals of the system, as outlined this past week is helpful, but a more positive leadership role by Dr. Griggs at the school committee table would be most beneficial.

Rodeo

A rather important event is scheduled for Saturday at the Andover High school parking lot.

The Andover Jaycees, in co-operation with public safety agencies and officials, will be conducting a Bike Rodeo, with prizes to be awarded.

More important than the prizes to be awarded, however, are the lessons to be learned through the event.

The Jaycees are conducting this safety effort in order to provide for the bike riders of Andover important lessons to be followed in pursuing this healthy exercise.

Bicyclists have rules and regulations to follow the same as operators of motor vehicles. They have rights the same as pedestrians. As long as each understand their roles, communities are safer.

Unfortunately, such is not always the case, as evidenced by such statistics as 40,000 bicycle accidents nationally last year, with 480 deaths. There were 20 accidents involving bicycles in Andover last year.

Flagrant violations are present on Andover streets daily, as some cyclists fail to obey rules of the road, and also cause hazardous conditions by riding on downtown sidewalks.

Attendance at the Jaycee sponsored event at the high school Saturday afternoon, then, can be rewarding in many ways, the most important of which, of course, is the acquiring of proper safety laws to make bicycling a healthy, enjoyable exercise for all.

Off The Top Of The Desk

Turning over the soil is the hardest part of gardening, so it should be done a little at a time, says Guy Paris of the Mass. Department of Agriculture. The ground before planting should be open and fluffy, or the seeds will not do well.

Another rule of thumb is to cover seeds with not more than twice their diameter of soil. Seeds germinate faster when planted at proper depth. Also: lay out the garden with rows running east and west, so the sun will strike all the rows throughout the day. North-south rows of plants cast shadows on each other, and make for uneven growth.

The Massachusetts Division of the American Cancer Society will be conducting its annual House-to-House night Tuesday, April 30. Approximately 95,000 volunteers will be wearing identification badges as they solicit.

The post office has added a few new services including heavy padded mailing bags handy for sending small or odd-shaped items and books. "Stamps By Mail" now allows housebound people to shop at home by calling the post office and asking for an order form. "Mailgram" allows users Western Union telegrams to help speed your message.

Details are available in a booklet, "A Consumer's Guide to Postal Services and Products and Packaging for Mailing" at the post office.

As some 45 million power mowers are brought out of winter storage, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission warns that more than 60,000 accidents each year cause injuries that require emergency care - serious cuts, punctures, fractures, amputations, loss of sight, for instance.

To protect against accidental contact with moving blades, and propelled objects, the Commission warns operators to wear sturdy shoes, never mow when tired or in a hurry, rake the lawn carefully before mowing to remove any debris, be sure others are out of the area, never leave the mower running and unattended, never tip or lift it when running, never refuel while the mower is running or hot, wear safety glasses, and never permit children to operate a mower.

Operators of electric mowers should use brightly colored cords, to avoid accidentally severing them. The machine should be grounded, and they should never mow in wet grass.

"The bicycle driver is not only responsible for sharing the road with traffic; he must also collaborate with other motorists in obeying traffic signs and signals. This is especially important due to the rapidly increasing number of cyclists in the United States today," remarked David J. Christensen, Executive Vice President of the Automobile Club of Merrimack Valley.

"Parents should make children realize that a bicycle is a vehicle just like any car, bus or truck, and that they are responsible for their activities on a bicycle," continued the AAA official. "Bikes driven in traffic areas are governed by the same rules and regulations as other traffic vehicles. Cyclists must therefore signal all intentions to stop or turn, obey all road signs and cross only on a green light, after checking for turning cars. Since the bicycle is so much smaller and lighter than other vehicles, it is difficult for other motorists to see. As a result, cyclists should be familiar with all safe driving practices."

Profile

A Trouble Shooter Devoted To Education

Edward P. Regan, removed by a majority vote of the school committee last Wednesday night, became a prime trouble shooter for Supt. of Schools Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert in the past several years.

Prior to his appointment to the assistant superintendency with responsibilities in the area of curriculum and instruction, he had served principalships in three elementary schools.

Regan came to Andover in 1967, described as a man, "who loves education and wants to spend his life in this field," when appointed the first male principal of the Shawsheen school.

His appointment was recommended by the then Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson and Assistant Supt. Vaughn I. Clapp, no longer in the system. It was approved by a school committee composed of Louis Galbiati, chairman; Frederick Fitzgerald, Mrs. R. Milton Cole, Dr. Richard A. Katz and William A. Doherty.

When a vacancy occurred through retirement at the Central, now Doherty school, Regan was moved to the larger building from his Shawsheen position in 1970 under Supt. Seifert.

Problems at the Bancroft school resulted in his being assigned to that building, also under Dr. Seifert.

When the school committee, in the fall of 1972 voted to create the position of an assistant superintendent position, Dr. Seifert waited until February of 1973 to recommend to the committee the appointment of Regan to that post.

As the first choice of the administration to fill the Shawsheen vacancy in September of 1967, Regan presented credentials which included classroom teaching grades four through six in Stratford, Conn., for more than five years after receiving a B.S. degree in Education from Fitchburg State College.

After obtaining a Master's Degree from Fairfield University in Connecticut, Regan became principal of an elementary school in Stratford, Conn.

In 1964, he left the education field to accept a position with the U.S. Army Security Agency Training Corps and remained in that position until his appointment to the Andover principalship. He was a resident of Dracut at the time.

One of several candidates for the post at the time, Regan in interviews with administrators and the school committee, emphasized that he had found in his experience that his first desire was for the education field.

It was Asst. Supt. Clapp who extolled the educational virtues of the candidate and his love for education before the board made the appointment official.

Apparently, he will have to pursue his life's desires in other than the Andover system.

Having recently attended the April 10 meeting of the Andover School Committee and having not been given an opportunity to speak despite the fact that I stood patiently for some time with my hand raised waiting to be recognized by the Chairman, I am resorting to writing a letter to the Editor in order to express my views.

First, I believe that the members of the Andover School Committee are men of good will with a sincere desire to improve the educational system of the town of Andover. I also believe that I, as a parent with a desire for a top-notch education for my children but with little background in educational theory or practice, have a right to consult with members of my School Committee in an open and respectful manner regarding the development of a school system that will best prepare my children and my neighbors' children to assume their important roles as citizens and leaders of tomorrow's world.

Because of recent actions of the Andover School Committee, I am beginning to feel that my rights as a parent are being negated by power tactics and that my desire for "friendly guidance" from my School Committee is being disrespectfully trampled on. When I see requests for open communication, such as were expressed at the April 10 meeting, flatly rejected, I feel that I am being subjected to treatment that I cannot and will not tolerate.

I would like to request that the members of the Andover School Committee discuss with the parents of Andover the specific plan that they wish to implement (in both its long-term and short-term aspects) in order to improve Andover's educational system, including the rationale behind the recent decisions to change the employment status of Mr. Regan and Mr. Becker. If the Andover School Committee does not prove, in a thoughtful and democratic manner, its primary concern for fostering the intellectual, emotional and moral growth of Andover's young people, then the School Committee will generate a rising tide of antagonism among Andover voters, which may have unfortunate consequences on the eventual effectiveness of the Committee.

Secondly, with regard to Mr. Edward Regan and Mr. William Becker, I firmly berate those members of the Andover School Committee who voted to discontinue tenure of these men as Assistant Superintendent and Head of the High School English Department, respectively, without adequate prior communication. Such tactics, in my opinion, showed poor judgment and poor administration. I personally feel that the School Committee would have been well advised to explain to Mr. Regan and Mr. Becker the kind of educational policies that they want these gentlemen to implement, give them the choice of whether they wish to do so, and, if so, to evaluate their performance at the end of one year. I feel that the School Committee treated Mr. Regan and Mr. Becker with a thoroughgoing lack of respect and genuine human consideration, and I am ashamed that my children should see such methods of force used by those people who are pledged to guide their education.

The School Committee, by the way, still has time to rectify its error by providing for open hearings at request of the employees involved and agreement to reconsider its decisions if deemed necessary.

Heads up, gentlemen! A few major mistakes may be understandable at the beginning of a new term, but please proceed carefully. We have confidence in your ability to set high intellectual and moral standards not only for our children but for yourselves.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

With reference to your editorial "Openness" in the April 11 issue, and your previous editorial on March 29 concerning School Committeeman Lane's complaints, I must now ask "whose ox is being gored?" I didn't agree with your earlier snide editorial, nor do I agree with Mr. Olesen's current attempt to muzzle the press. After what I witnessed at last Wednesday's School Committee meeting, the need for openness is all the more important. I don't know what this love affair is that you have with Mr. Olesen's Cambridge School Committee record - your campaign endorsement made a big deal out of it and I suspect that his election was due in no small part to your endorsement which I am sure had great influence upon the complacent apathetic masses in Andover.

My complaint is that you only took notice when your sources were cut off - your "now, now, Bill, go back to your corner like a good little boy" editorial probably only spurred Olesen on to his attempted changes. If the free and open exchange of unpleasant views were defended earlier, I don't believe that this episode would have taken place.

How about some editorial comment on demands that the State law that requires executive session minutes to be released immediately after the need (if any) for secrecy is concluded. Specifically, we want to know why Mr. Ed Regan has been fired.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Andover has acquired a School Committee worth its salt. Let me say to the students gathering protest names, forget it, for after all the School Committee was elected to conduct the business of the school department, not the students.

It is reasonable to say, the School Committee will not hurt any student's education. They are men of ability and experience and will do what they deem best for the entire school department, so at least the taxpayer is getting a good deal and all schools will be working in harmony for better classroom department.

Robert V. Deyermund

Andover

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Writing strictly as a concerned Andover citizen and former chairman of the Andover School Committee, I support your editorial of April 11 on "Openness." In my view, school administrators should be given reasonable freedom as professional educators to discuss school matters with the press without clearing their comments in advance with any school committee playing the role of Sydney. To clamp an arbitrary censorship on the superintendent is clearly inconsistent with the spirit and numerous judicial interpretations of Chapter 71, Section 59 of Mass. General Laws which state that the Superintendent "shall have the care and supervision of the public schools" as well as the legal responsibility to "recommend to the committee teachers, textbooks and courses of study."

I was also appalled at the April 10 action of the School Committee regarding Assistant Superintendent Edward P. Regan. The School Committee has a legal right not to reappoint an administrator, but to take such action without addressing any complaints to Mr. Regan himself is incredible.

It is my understanding that Mr. Regan has been evaluated consistently as a superior administrator since 1960 including his Andover service since 1967. My own personal observations as to his performance and to his firm but understanding administrative ability have been equally favorable. With this kind of record, fair play would dictate an opportunity for Mr. Regan to have any alleged shortcomings brought to his attention for correction before being summarily removed for his position.

In the absence of any specified shortcomings, one must wonder whether Mr. Regan was removed as assistant superintendent because of service under a School Committee whose educational philosophy differs from that of the present committee. Such action is most inappropriate since the only fair and reasonable criteria for judging an administrator should be actual performance against the assigned responsibilities of his job description.

All of us sometimes make decisions in haste and I suggest respectfully that reconsideration might be appropriate in this instance. Chairman Dr. Frank Griggs has served the town well by articulating a conservative point of view on many school policy questions. He and his associates could further a balanced resolution of school policy questions if administrators and teachers with proven records as superior performers were not harassed with punitive action.

National Library Week (April 21-27) opens with a chamber music program for the whole family on Sunday, April 21. At 4 p.m. in the Hall the Gallery Consort of Phillips Academy will perform and the Friends of the Library will serve tea and sandwiches. The following day, Monday, at 8 p.m. Andrew Coburn will speak about the careers of a newspaperman and an author. Mr. Coburn currently pursues both careers, as a member of the staff of the Boston Globe, and as an author whose first book "The Trespassers" is due to be published in September by Houghton Mifflin.

The Chamber Jazz Ensemble, directed by Michael Finegold of the music faculty of Northern Essex Community College, will present a program on Tuesday at 8 p.m. Mr. Finegold describes the session as "jazz reflections on classical and folk music." Wednesday will have the continuation of Alistair Cooke's "America" series at 1.00 and 7.30. This episode, entitled "The First Impact", is Cooke's personal memoir of why he came to America and then became an American citizen.

The final event of the week is the Andover Community Theatre's presentation of a one-act play "The Ugly Duckling" directed by Rick Winterson on Thursday evening at 8 p.m. The group will present this play again in late May in competition with other community theatres of the New England Theatre Conference at Brandeis University.

Vacation specials continue this afternoon (Thursday, April 18) with the showing of Santiago's Ark, a delightful film for elementary school children, at 2.30. Tomorrow, Friday, April 19, at 2.30 we will be presenting the film Big Moments in Sports, which shows eight great events in recent sports history. All elementary school children are welcome. Meet us in the Children's Room just before 2.30 on both days.

National Library Week means that special programs will happen next week, too. On Tuesday, April 23, children in grades 1-6 are invited to join us for Growing, Growing, a program about planting seeds and springtime. It will start with a film; then everyone who comes will have a chance to plant some seeds of their own. Please indicate your interest so we will have enough supplies at our Circulation Desk.

Join us for our Hat Parade on Saturday, April 27 at 2.30. Children in grades K - 6 should come wearing funny hats for the parade (keep your fingers crossed for sunshine) which will be followed by films, stories and games - all about hats. Everyone is welcome so bring your friends.

Annual Arts Festival Set

Plans have been finalized for an annual "celebration of life in line, color, word and note" being organized by committee members of the Andover Unitarian Universalist Church, 244 Lowell St. Dates for the festival are Saturday, April 20 through Sunday, April 28.

Highlight of this unique area event is a juried art show of the works of many distinguished artists throughout the Merrimack Valley and from points north to New Hampshire as well as areas south of Boston. Both amateur and professional artists and craftsmen will display in a variety of media. All works are available for sale, in addition to affording browsing enjoyment to the congregation and general public.

On Sunday morning, April 21, the 10:30 a.m. worship service in the beautiful contemporary sanctuary will present the "Clearing", a group of multi-talented musicians in an inspirational program based on the mood, music and poetry of the American Indian. Coffee hour after the service will be held amid the art show. Sunday hours for viewers will extend from noon until 8 p.m. On other days, the show will be open from 2-5 p.m. and 7-9 p.m.

Another eagerly-awaited "command performance" during the festival will be the return of the internationally-acclaimed "New Black Eagle Jazz Band", who have received wide recognition for their rendition of traditional jazz in the New Orleans mood. This exciting ensemble will perform Saturday evening, April 27 at 8 p.m. Tickets, which include the price of light refreshments, are available by calling the Church office.

Completing the week-long festivities on Sunday, April 28 will be a gala Kite-Flying Party and picnic for youngsters and young-in-heart on the church lawn following the worship service. An award awaits the quick-minded participant who can invent the best "hard luck story" if disaster thwarts his attempts at successful soaring. Awards galore in other categories will add to the fun.

Rev. Richard Woodman, Minister of the Andover Unitarian Universalist Church, emphasizes that the celebration of the arts festival is planned not only for the fellowship of church members and families but for all interested friends throughout neighboring communities.

Christ Church Choir On Tour

The Christ Church Men's and Boys' Choir is on an invitational tour this week for a concert in Washington, D.C.'s Episcopal Cathedral, and in three other churches in Maryland and in New York City.

A chamber orchestra of 12 string musicians selected from the Greater Boston Youth Orchestra is accompanying the Andover choristers on their tour, and in their singing.

The invitation to give a concert and lead evensong in the Cathedral in the nation's capital is some indication that Andover's Christ Church Boys' Choir, under the direction of Jon Wattenbarger, has indeed come of age musically.

Another indication is the calibre of the late Renaissance and Baroque music of their repertoire: Bach's Cantata 4, known as the Easter Cantata, and the Brandenburg Concerto 3; the late "Renaissance music of Orlando Gibbons and William Smith, and Samuel Barber's Adagio for Strings."

"The exciting idea," says Choirmaster Wattenbarger, "is that these boys, from six to seventeen years old, are becoming intimately acquainted with exceptionally fine pure music -- some of the finest of the late Renaissance and Baroque periods, taking it into their lives and sharing the dynamics of that music with others -- a kind of mission to spread the good word. They have been working for weeks -- daily rehearsals for the last couple of weeks to ready themselves for the Easter services at Christ Church and for this tour." The choir left on its singing tour on Monday, after singing most of their repertoire at the 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. Easter services the day before.

The first concert of the Christ Church Men's and Boys' Choir was at Calvary Episcopal Church in New York, the second at St. Stephen's Church in Laurel, Md. A third performance of the choir is scheduled at St. John's Church in Oxon Hill, Md., one of the oldest Episcopal Churches in the country. Finally, the choristers will sing in concert, and lead evensong chants at the Washington Cathedral.

Choirmaster Wattenbarger studied choral directing and organ this past summer as a fellow at King's Chapel, Oxford, and at the Royal School of Church Music at Canterbury Cathedral. Last year he brought the former director of the Royal School of Church Music, an international center for church music, to Christ Church, a subscribing member church -- for a week of personal work with the Christ Church choirs and Wattenbarger.

Andover choristers making the Concert tour to New York, Maryland and Washington, D.C. this week are: Paul Brinkman, Fred Chase, Jim Dennis, Roger Fisk, Curtis Johnson, David Joy, William Joy, Alan Judkins, George Krivobok, Warren Patterson, Jeff Pierson, Mark Rogers, Ken Taylor, Jeff Wallace, Tim Wright, Andover tenor Richard Romeo, cantor for the psalms and soloist in the Bach Cantata, and Robert Goodwin are the men singing with the boy choir on the tour.

Organist and assistant director is Steve Kowalshyn of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Newburyport. Court Pfister of Christ Church went along as equipment coordinator. Parent chaperones accompanying the busload of choristers are Mrs. Dirk Brinkman, Mrs. Arthur Pierson, Kenneth Taylor and William Rogers.

A Sports Night will be held at Faith Lutheran Church in Andover Friday evening beginning at 6:30 p.m.

For supper the group will send out for pizza and hamburgers; for entertainment the group will view several sports films -- among them "Famous Home Run Heroes" and "Super Bowl Review."

The Women's Guild of the Ballard Vale United Church is sponsoring a Cake Decorating and Party Planning program on Monday, April 22 in Fellowship Hall at 8 p.m.

An eight inch cake, decorated during the evening, will be given as a door prize. There will be a display of dummy wedding cakes and children's party cakes.

The climax will be the releasing of 400 balloons by the children of the Oliver Hazard Perry School in South Boston at 2 p.m. on April 24 as those children open the 100th library in the Boston elementary and junior high schools.

Local volunteers in the Boston Schools' Library Program include: Mrs. Hart Leavitt, Chairman; Mrs. John Kimball; Mrs. Miles Pendleton; and Miss Doris Newton.

5th District Holds Front Seat In History

Congressman Paul W. Cronin said this week that the Fifth Congressional District will be playing a key role in the Bicentennial celebration which begins next year, because "It was here, in our district, that democracies foothold was established in 1776, when the first shots for Independence were fired at Lexington and Concord."

"This was the beginning of what came to be known as the American Revolution," Cronin said. "It was here, in our district that the fight first began for the principles of equality, justice, life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. These basic principles remain with us today as this relatively new nation continues to struggle to keep itself on an even keel."

"A Bicentennial celebration without serious and objective concern toward educating ourselves about our past, I think, misses much of the spirit of the celebration itself."

The federal government, he went on, "has allocated the Bay State the largest single amount of funding granted to any state, and a substantial amount of these funds has been earmarked for preserving historic landmarks under The Historic Preservation Act of 1966."

Cronin says $5900 has been allocated for acquisition of The Job Lane House in Bedford; another $6200 earmarked for the preservation of The Old Chelmsford Garrison House in Chelmsford; and $6600 is to go to the town of Lexington for historical preservation of Buckman Tavern.

Other efforts have proven to be equally successful as the Fifth District gears itself for Bicentennial 75-76, Cronin says, such as a project to complete the Minuteman National Park in Lexington, where, two 100-seat auditoriums are to be constructed, along with information centers, visitor parking facilities, and a myriad of exhibits depicting the shaping of America during the revolution, and the lifestyle and artistry of our forefathers.

Still another major project is the establishment of A National Urban Cultural Park in Lowell. Cronin has sponsored legislation that would authorize federal funds for acquisition, restoration and administration of the historic facilities and properties in the area bounded by the Pawtucket, Hamilton, Merrimack and Concord Rivers and The Eastern Canals. The legislation would establish The Lowell Historic Canal District Commission to oversee the development of the project.

"The Lowell-Lawrence area also played a key role in our nations history for it was here that the Industrial Revolution truly began," he said. "Under the Urban Cultural Park proposal, many of Lowell's historic structures would be restored and new life would be initiated so that soon, old mill buildings that are now on the verge of collapse would become tourist attractions to those who might wish to see not only where the Industrial Revolution began but how it has affected each of our lives. While some of the structures would house shops and small businesses, others would contain displays of the late 19th and early 20th centuries and the beginning of the Industrial Revolution."

Haverhill Group Plans Concert

"The Pentucket Choral Society and Whittier Chamber Orchestra of Haverhill, with soloists and guests, under the direction of Donald K. Maher will present J.S. Bach's "Magnificat," and Gounod's "Messe Solennelle" Saturday, April 27 at 8:15 p.m. in the Methuen Memorial Organ Hall."

Tickets will be on sale at the door.

Nature Course

With the energy crisis in mind, Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary is planning a course, "Dyeing with Native Plants," in conjunction with Northern Essex Community College, 100 Elliot Street in Haverhill, this spring. Under the experienced leadership of Mrs. Mildred

Tufts To Offer Courses

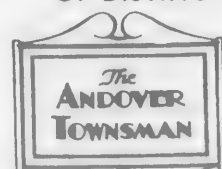

Tufts University will offer college credit courses to high school students seeking advanced placement in college during its 1974 Summer School.

Dr. Robert L.H. Miller, Summer School director, said the school will accept applications for undergraduate college credit courses from high school students who have completed the 11th grade and whose record demonstrates the ability to perform college work.

The school will offer more than 240 classes or workshops at all levels on the Medford campus. In deference to the needs of working people, many courses will be scheduled during evening hours.

Bike Rodeo Saturday

A Bicycle Safety Rodeo - - which will give townspeople a chance to check their bicycle safety and riding skills at the same time - - will be held Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the High School parking lot. Chairman Mark Manley expects up to 600 participants.

The Jaycee-sponsored event is open to persons of all ages, and offers an opportunity to have a bicycle checked for safety and mechanical condition. Then a rider can get behind the handlebars for a ride to demonstrate his skill and ability.

To those who master their machines - - and those who don't - - the Jaycees will award patches. A new 10-speed bicycle and McDonald's gift certificates will be awarded at the end of the day.

The East Junior High Bicycle Club will be on the Rodeo staff with the Jaycees, as judges and course guides to help the contestants go through the rodeo.

Andover Small Engine Service mechanics will also be on hand throughout the rodeo to provide minor on-the-spot adjustments, and give advice on major problems.

Dana's Sport Shop Inc. is providing a safety equipment display. The new laws, for instance, require additional reflectors on bicycles after dusk.

Andover Police Safety Officer Dick Aumais will assist with bicycle safety checks and registration of bicycle ownership with the town will also be available at the Rodeo for a small fee.

Jeff French, Jaycee Skills Chairman, has created two courses for the skill test, and Dave Workman, Awards Chairman, and his team of Jaycees and Bicycle Club judges will evaluate each rider on each skill.

Registration Chairman is Richard Lundgren.

The Andover Jaycees are a group of young men between 18 and 35. Further information will be available at the rodeo. Volunteers to serve on the rodeo staff are also welcome.

Rain date is April 21.

Town Meeting

nine members and also to abolish the FinCom veto power over money articles at the October town meeting. Both have been inserted in the warrant by former Town Manager Richard J. Bowen.

The selectmen are asking the town in an article, to permit them to petition the General Court to alter provisions of the appointing authority to members of the regional planning commission. The board wishes to have that authority rather than the planning board.

There are articles dealing with the consumption of alcoholic beverages in public. The police chief has requested the board of selectmen to provide him with sufficient regulations to act when necessary to prevent problems in such areas as The Park, or in downtown area. The selectmen have been somewhat reluctant to provide bylaws, rather designating areas as off-limits.

Completed to date is action on 31 articles and adoption of most of the annual budget.

Budget items deferred to the final session of the annual town meeting include the town's debt service, and an item dealing with the purchase of outside water meters. The debt service was deferred pending action of the legislature which would allow deferral of payment of teacher salaries, thus not requiring the town to bond the amount this summer. The water meter item was deferred on request of Karl Haartz who asked for additional information on the item.

In 16th century Ireland, a boy's right arm was not baptized, so he could strike harder blows with it.

School Committee

Mrs. Virginia Cole then climbed down out of the gymnasium bleachers to ask the School Committee to "please give us the reasons."

Lyons declared that he had given reasons in executive session. "In conformance to the law, I'm here to vote and I've just done so," he said.

Former Committeeman Richard Katz, tried to shush the crowds' applause as he approached the mike.

"It's your perfect legal right," he told the Committee, "but I am disappointed for Bill Becker because I think he's been a good English teacher and a super department head. His students have told us that."

"I feel very sorry for Mr. Regan," he went on, "and as a private citizen I'm alarmed at the decision. He said that Regan had been brought to the system while he was on the board and that Regan's recommendations from previous positions were perfect. His recommendations here were very high. Each year he succeeded in different jobs. If he really did an inadequate job as assistant superintendent, then I think we should know what that inadequacy is."

"If this is a practice of politics," he said, "then it's time the politics be published. If this is an attempt to replace him with another assistant superintendent in order to bypass the superintendent, then that should be spelled out."

"If, indeed the members of the Committee are dissatisfied with superintendent, then they should remove him as to cause and let the town known why."

He was followed to the mike by Ralph Wilbur, 2 Meadow Brook Drive, who declared that "a state of emergency exists in Andover Public Schools."

"Those who have elected this School Committee have given them a mandate to do a job," he said. "This job cannot wait until all of our children are through the school system and graduated. It would be a tragic betrayal if these School Committeemen were swayed by a disgruntled but vocal minority, away from the dictates of their conscience - - away from a course which they believe to be in the best interest of Andover Public School education and the voters who elected them."

"If the 'majority' who elected them were here tonight," he said, "they certainly would not be able to fit within the confines of these walls."

Mrs. Ruby Easton then added, "you still have not answered either question. You cannot answer behind closed doors because you are our representatives."

County Commission Candidate

Mrs. Anna P. O'Connor of North Andover announces her candidacy for County Commissioner to fill the vacancy left by the death of William Donovan.

Mrs. O'Connor has been a tester at the Western Electric in North Andover for 21 years and has been a member of the Executive Board of the Communication Workers of America for 14 years.

She is also the first woman president of the North Andover Board of Trade and a member of the Essex County Board of Trade.

She is a former president of the Gold Star Mothers Chapter 35 of Greater Lawrence and a former Chaplain of the state chapter of the Gold Star Mothers, Inc.

She is a member of the Democratic Women on Wheels and the Merrimack Valley Democratic Women.

She is a graduate of Haverhill High School and McIntosh Business College and attended Merrimack College for night courses in Labor Relations.

She has a daughter Anne married to Richard LaHaye of North Andover and a son Lt. Brian O'Connor who was killed in Vietnam.

Anna believes that in the last few years we have all seen a deterioration of the political systems we now live under and we must begin to elect people

Because Of New Job, He Couldn't Savor Victory

By Robert E. Finneran
Managing Editor

The man who had worked to eliminate the veto power of the Finance Committee at the October town meeting for the past few years, was unable to savor victory at Monday night's session of the annual town meeting.

Instead, Richard J. Bowen, former town manager here, was resting after completing his first full day on the job as the new city manager of Long Beach, Long Island, N.Y.

Bowen, who left the Andover manager position five years ago, was an advocate of dispensing with the FinCom veto power at the October town meeting, and had submitted it for consideration in this year's annual warrant, along with increasing FinCom membership to nine members and compelling the FinCom to issue reports and recommendation prior to all town meetings, regular and special.

The former manager was

successful, in absentia, in obtaining approval on all three issues.

Bowen, after leaving the Andover post, served briefly as city manager in Portsmouth, N.H. For the past four years has been Transportation Program Director for the New England Regional Commission in Boston.

He was appointed city manager of Long Beach and began his duties in the Long Island community of 35,000 on Monday.

The community is on the south side of Long Island and at the southern terminus of the Long Island Railroad. It is a predominantly residential resort community where the population swells to 70,000 in the summer time.

Bowen describes the area as one of beautiful beaches, clear,

Lyons, Wragg Offer An Explanation

School Committeemen John Wragg and John Lyons this week wrote an "Open letter to the townspeople of Andover," to set the record straight on their recent action regarding Assistant Superintendent Edward Regan and High School English Department head William Becker.

That letter, which was to have been distributed at the committee's open meeting last night, follows:

"There appears to be a decided lack of factual information and background material relating to the recent School Committee action regarding two non-tenured Andover school personnel. This is reflected, unfortunately, in the emotionalism currently being fanned in the community by certain elements.

"Let's first highlight three different areas in School Committee documents that relate to this matter. (1) generally accepted procedures, (2) Massachusetts Law and (3) the code of ethics.

"Fact 1: It is the generally accepted procedure of all school committees, including Andover's past and present committees, not to reveal to the public the reasons for non-election of personnel.

"Fact 2: The General Laws of the Commonwealth, Chapter 39, section 23A, state in part as follows: 'Executive sessions may be held only for the purpose of discussing, deliberating or voting on those matters... which if made public might adversely affect... the reputation of any person...'

"The intent is two-fold: (1) to protect the rights and safeguard the privacy of the individual and (2) to protect the Town or other municipality from misguided suits which could arise from comments, however well-intentioned, made in public session.

"Fact 3: There is a published code of ethics for all school committees which includes a firm moral commitment to 'uphold the intent of and respect the privileged communication that exists in executive session.' This moral commitment has been intentionally and flagrantly breached.

"Now, a bit of recent chronology, much of which is recorded:

"March 14, 1974: The Superintendent was formally requested (an unusual procedure in itself) to provide a list of those personnel being recommended for tenure and reelection prior to April 15. Comments prior and subsequent to this formal request provided him with strong indications that the perfunctory election procedure of past years was not to be repeated in 1974.

"March 20: Regular meeting of school committee... no

Andover May Not Offer Site

By Robert E. Finneran
Managing Editor

Andover has not as yet submitted a site for possible regional consideration of locating a Resource Recovery Plant, and indications are the town may not.

The Greater Lawrence Solid

Waste Committee, studying sites in the area communities has received suggested locations from Methuen, Lawrence and North Andover. Andover has yet to submit a proposed location.

Three sites were submitted by Methuen at a meeting of the regional committee last week, with Lawrence offering a section of Den Rock Park as its commitment, an unlikely choice, and North Andover offering its present sanitary landfill site as the community's site consideration.

The sites are to be considered by the regional commission and submitted to the Merrimack Valley Regional Planning Commission and an engineering firm. The ultimate site chosen

A Favorite Returns

Mrs. Emma G. Carter Tibbitts, shown here with Douglas N. Howe, president of the Punchard High School Class of 1939, returned to Andover last Saturday as guest of the class at the annual Punchard - Andover Alumni Association dinner dance. Mrs. Tibbitts, chosen as the favorite teacher of the class, held similar disinction for most all classes at PHS where she was head of the English department and girls guidance counsellor. Now a resident of Connecticut, the octogenarian took time from her duties as chairman of her 60th reunion at Mount Holyoke to attend the Andover affair. Another reunion photo is on Page 24.

4,615 Petitioners Ask For Public Hearing

By Linda S. Corbett

Petitions carrying more than 4,615 signatures -- for a public hearing for Assistant Superintendent Edward Regan and High School English Department head William Becker, were to have been presented to the Andover School Committee last night.

Regan and Becker were stripped of their respective titles at an April 10 meeting of the School Committee, which had refused to publicly give the reasons why.

Last night's meeting, moved to East Junior High School in order for an atmosphere of more decorum than that in the high school gymnasium April 10, was held after the TOWNSMAN had gone to press. Complete details, however, will be printed in next week's issue.

Also scheduled to be read last night was a "An Open Letter to the Townspeople of Andover," signed by two committeemen in an effort to relieve "the emotionalism currently being fanned in this community."

However, John Wragg and John Lyons said that they have been and will remain firmly opposed to open meetings on this and similar matters, and that they would continue to remain available at any time to discuss this matter privately or in executive session with the individuals involved, as we have been for the past several weeks."

That letter appears in full elsewhere in today's TOWNSMAN.

Meanwhile, Regan was waiting this week for a reply to a request he wrote to School Committee Chairman Francis Griggs last week, for a hearing. He said he would not seek aid from the Massachusetts Association of Superintendents of Schools until he did get a reply. While untenured as assistant superintendent, Regan does still hold tenure as an elementary principal.

Becker, meanwhile, was taking the final steps toward a formal grievance, as provided by the teachers' contracts. While dismissed from the department head duties for which he was hired three years ago, he was granted tenure as a teacher April 10.

Becker met Tuesday night with other members of the Andover Education Association and legal advisors from the Massachusetts Teachers Association, to put the final touches on a formal grievance.

Help For Children Program

The Greater Lawrence Council for Children recently approved funds for a "Help for Children" program to serve children and families in the area. Help for Children is an information, referral, and advocacy service administered by the State Office for Children.

This area's Help for Children program was initiated by the Council for Children, which approved a contract between the Office for Children and the Greater Lawrence Community Action Council. The Community Action Council serves as facilitating contractor, and provides office space for the program in the Bay State Building, Lawrence St., Lawrence.

Help for Children provides information about where to go for service, referral to an appropriate agency providing the service, and follow-up to insure that the service provided was satisfactory. It is designed to aid children and families in obtaining services in a system which can be very confusing to even a very determined parent or child looking for the right program.

The Lawrence Help for Children program, which is confidential and free of charge, can be reached by calling 685-0262, Monday through Friday, between 9 and 5. It serves any child up to age 18.

Marie Rawlings, who previously worked as community representative of the Council for Children, is the Help for Children advocate in the Lawrence program. William Armstrong, Help for Children regional coordinator, is the advocate at the regional level.

Help for Children handles problems related to education, medical services, diagnosis foster care, runaways, drugs, counseling, homemakers, day care, and many more. The program works in cooperation with local hotlines and advocacy groups, and intervenes actively with other agencies through administrative and legal channels. Where appropriate, Help for Children seeks funds to purchase specifically tailored programs for the child whose needs cannot otherwise be met.

Area Artists Exhibit In Lexington

Mrs. Allen Townsend of High St., Andover, and Albert Kozlovski of Brentwood Circle, North Andover, are members of the Painters Guild of the Lexington Arts and Crafts Society which is holding its Annual Spring Open House and Exhibit at the Art Center, 130 Waltham St., Lexington, on Friday, May 3 from 1-6 p.m. and on Saturday and Sunday, May 4 and 5 from 1-6 p.m.

Mrs. Joan Parker of Carlisle, is the dynamic chairman of a nine-man committee whose monumental task it is to coordinate all activities and arrange the work of the over 500 members.

This year's theme "Creative Energy 74" has been aptly chosen and is indicative of what can be expected of the coming exhibit, as the Society, outstanding and known throughout New England, has a large, newly completed wing, and a large and enthusiastic membership of talented people.

There will be daily demonstrations of painting, traditional and contemporary, in all media, ceramics, decorating, jewelry and enameling, needlework and rug hooking, weaving, spinning and woodworking.

Farms Topic For Annual Meeting

What are the social and economic values of operating farms in Essex County? What do they contribute to the monetary value of nearby residential development? What do they contribute to the character of a community? What do they contribute to the kind of suburban living that has brought thousands of families into the suburban towns of Essex County?

These questions will be answered by Professor Barry Fields, resource economist at the University of Massachusetts and Warren Colby of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society. They are the speakers at the Annual Election Meeting of the Essex Conservation District. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 1 at Berry Hall, Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute, Route 62 in Danvers. The meeting is open to the public.

In presenting this topic for discussion the Supervisors of the Essex Conservation District want to bring together community leaders farm operators and suburban residents to focus on what might be done to keep good farmlands in active production within the framework of developing suburban residential growth.

John L. Roberts of North Andover, present chairman of the Board of Supervisors has been nominated for re-election to a second five-year term to this state office. Unlike other state officials, supervisors of the 13 Massachusetts Conservation Districts are elected by landowners and land-occupiers residing in the district who attend the annual election meeting. Other candidates may be nominated on the meeting floor or by letter to the Division of Conservation Services of the Massachusetts Department of Natural Resources. Official public notices of annual meetings are published in two newspapers of widespread circulation.

Organ Concert At Castle

On Sunday afternoon, at four p.m. organist Douglas Rafter, of Portland, Maine, will present a concert of organ music in the Great Hall of the Hammond Museum, 80 Hesperus Ave., Gloucester.

Tickets for the concert are available at the Hammond Castle box office or by mail, P.O. Box 141, Gloucester, 01930.

High Wheelers Parade Sunday

By Charles L. Nugent

Antique bicycles ridden by members of a Greater Lawrence family will highlight the third annual Ride a Bike for the Retarded to be held this Sunday, April 28.

The first trip, led by the cycling Sullivans will move off at 8 a.m. from the Center for the Retarded, Burke Hospital on Marston Street, Lawrence.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Terrance Sullivan and four of their five children will navigate their antique high wheelers over a route through Lawrence, Andover, and North Andover.

Sullivan explained that he probably won't go more than 10 miles on the high wheeler since the gear system is quite different from those of modern bikes - the high wheeler operator supplies most, if not all of the power needed.

The Sullivans are members of a nationwide club which specializes in early examples of the wheelman's art. Among their proudest possessions is a 1900 model Pierce Arrow bicycle built for two and a Chilion, which is constructed of maple, hickory and brass. It is still runnable but very fragile.

Sullivan recounts that a fellow member has such a model on permanent display in his livingroom!

The original advertisement for the bicycle claimed the wood was stronger than the metal of that period.

The Sullivan family agree that the ride is for a great cause and expect many significant pledges on the part of the Greater Lawrence business community.

The Ride a Bike for the Retarded is being co-sponsored by the Massachusetts Association for Retarded Citizens.

Massachusetts Teachers' Association, the Junior membership of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs, Massachusetts Jaycees and the Massachusetts Wheelmen.

Each rider is to find sponsors who will make a pledge for each mile covered by the rider. There will be prizes for the most miles covered. The first prize will be, of course, a bicycle. Several trophies will also be awarded.

The monies raised will be used to aid retarded citizens through local chapters, citizen advocacy, prevention, research and legislative action. Throughout the state there are several workshops, day-activity centers, community homes and citizen advocacy centers all of which will be aided by this event.

EXPLAINING. John S. Sullivan explained the thoughts of former Town Manager Richard J. Bowen to the town meeting prior to the voters accepting a proposal to remove the veto power from the Finance Committee for the October town meeting.

clean unpolluted air.

It has been under the council-manager plan for about 20 years, and has an annual operating budget in the vicinity of $13,000,000. It is part of a large school district, including other communities. Long Beach is one of only two cities on Long Island and operates with a considerable amount of home rule, Bowen reports. County government provides some local services, such as health services, for example.

Among the problems to be faced is a narrow tax base, with a high provision of municipal services.

Bowen reported that he was pleased to return to the municipal management field, a vocation he has enjoyed since entering the profession after graduate school.

Out of the profession for the past four years, Bowen said Tuesday he had enjoyed the change of pace for the past four years working for the New England Regional Commission but happily returns to the municipal management field a lot more wiser and more disciplined.

Watching a 747 descending on Kennedy Airport from his office window in Long Island, Bowen chuckled a bit at the news of his Andover town meeting victories.

John S. Sullivan had read statements prepared by Bowen to the meeting, in support of the

Selectmen Concerned About Parking Loss

The Board of Selectmen this week gave an unofficial, preliminary nod to a plan to improve Route 28 as it runs through Andover Center - but they reserved official approval until they try to get back at least some of the 19 Main Street parking spaces that might be lost in the process.

The state-federal TOPICS study (Traffic Operations Program to Increase Capacity and Safety) suggests some street widening, changing of a few curbs, islands, lights and the like, from South Main at Highland Road, to North Main at Shawsheen Square, to facilitate traffic movement through the business district. There would be no cost to the town, except that of maintenance after the project was completed.

Major changes would include revision of the angle approach off of Main Street onto School Street, to a right-angle intersection; and changes at Elm Square including the addition of some islands between lanes and narrowing of the road at intersection at the Musgrove Building.

In the process, however, the plan as it stands would cost four parking spaces in front of the Musgrove Building, five between Park Street and Post Office Avenue, the Cole's Hardware block; four between the Andover Co-op and the Chestnut Street corner; and nine in front of the Andover Savings Bank, between Chestnut Street and Scanlon's Hardware.

The Elm Square bus stop might have to be moved from the Musgrove Building back in front of Town Hall, costing a couple of spaces there.

However, preliminary plans also show the town picking up three spaces between Chestnut and Barnard, from beginning at Dana's toward Town Hall.

The major concern of the selectmen was possible damage to central business district if, in improving the flow of traffic, Main Street becomes a "thoroughfare." They also suggested possible alternatives - such as routing through traffic over Central and School Streets, and closing off of Main Street exits from parking lots at the Andover Co-op and elsewhere.

Chairman Milton Greenberg, however, indicated that the state seems to have prepared this as the "plan, offering no room for alternatives.

Selectman Janet Lake said she found the loss of parking space without providing alternate off-street spaces, "of very serious concern to me."

She also questioned "whether I see the Town of Andover as a main thoroughfare from south to north. I thought Route 93 was going to do that. As for local traffic, she said, she would prefer to see some alternatives, "unless we're going to move the central business district."

Mrs. Margaret Keck, chairman of the Planning Board, said that "Main Street is, unfortunately, a through street, and something has to be done about it."

To bypass the center, she said, would result in the death of the central business district as much as losing a few parking spaces."

"There are some people who use it to get from one end of town to the other," she went on, "and we have to provide some way for them to do it."

"We have some doubts," she said, speaking for the Planning Board, "but as mild a form as this we are willing to try."

things - not just one little group that's been on one side all along."

She said the campaign had "sort of grown from all over town," and became unified after various petition - wielding groups "found out about each other."

One of the groups had been started by students in the high school, and through the students, Mrs. Cole said, the campaign literally reached every street in town. The youths also manned the supermarkets last Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Cole herself had taken the microphone at the April 10 meeting, asking for a reason why Regan and Becker had been so dismissed.

While they have no legal right to a public hearing, she said this week, "what's important is that the men know why they were dismissed."

She said she also feels that

She said the whole point of TOPICS was not to do anything very extensive, but to try by way of a fairly simple and inexpensive program to upgrade the way traffic moves through town.

"Our parking study shows that we actually have an excess of parking spaces in the central business district," she added later, "though they're not necessarily in the block where people might want them, so they have to walk."

Donald Mulvey, also of the Planning Board, questioned if an improvement in the flow of traffic down Main Street would actually increase the amount of traffic, as feared.

Furthermore, he said, "How many people are now discouraged by the downtown congestion, who might come there if it were easier to drive and park?"

Phillips Academy's Fred Stott said that the proposed junction of School and Main Streets would improve safety for pedestrian traffic which, he said, is now on a "scatter course" in the area.

It seems to make fairly good sense," he said.

In other action the Selectmen gave the Lawrence Gas Co. an okay to excavate on Summer Street near Pine Street, and Woodland Road near Highland Avenue, to repair gas mains; approved a request from the Massachusetts Electric Co. to excavate and run underground cables on the east side of Argilla Road, north of the northeast corner of Bateson Drive; and granted permission for underground cables for the New England Telephone Company on North Main Street, south of Lewis St., on Elm Street, along Summer Street, and Haverhill Street.

people should know that teachers are regularly evaluated by their principals, and that the results are passed on up the ladder.

If a problem shows up during an evaluation, she said, the regular procedure is to tell the teacher about it and give him time to correct it. If, then, it's not corrected, he should be dismissed.

"But to be simply thrown out without warning is appalling."

"There's no stopping something like this once it gets started in a system," she said.

In Kentucky, one can visit horse cemeteries and put flowers on the graves of nags he made or lost money on.

He expected that to be presented to Superintendent of Schools Kenneth R. Seifert yesterday.

Seifert said Tuesday he would try to process the grievance to process it as rapidly as possible and, if received in time, it could even have been passed on the school committee at last night's meeting.

The petitions were to have been presented during "Communications," near the beginning of the agenda, by Dr. William O'Reilly, "an interested citizen."

They "respectfully requested" that the school committee, with all members present, hold a public hearing within the next two weeks, giving the reasons for Regan's dismissal as assistant superintendent and Becker's as department head.

The group campaigning for signatures was unofficially headed by Dr. Thomas Swift, and described by Mrs. Virginia Cole, a former school committee member, as "people concerned about this way of doing

Paper Thieves Reduce Recycle Total

Paper thieves are apparently roaming Andover streets once again.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin reports paper collections the second week in April showed a considerable drop and that reports had been received about papers being picked up by other than the town contractor.

The first week of paper collection in April resulted in a total of 32 tons. The second week quantity dropped to 24 tons.

Police and town hall officials have been receiving calls relative to the illegal pickup of the papers left at curbside. The thefts represent loss to the town treasury.

New AVIS Reservation Honors Edmond Hammond

By Helen M. Eccles

A new Andover Village Improvement Society Reservation, lying in the area between Salem Street and Gray Road, is named in honor of the late Edmond E. Hammond, a former AVIS president and benefactor.

The Edmond E. Hammond Reservation, 21.4 acres of land abutting the present AVIS Skug River Reservation on Salem Street, now will be available permanently to the Andover public for hiking, horseback riding, and other recreational and conservation uses. The Skug River flows through the eastern end of the new reservation, which consists of wooded land, about eight acres of it wetlands in the spring.

Harold Rafton, chairman of the AVIS land committee, said AVIS has been seeking to acquire the property, part of the old Gould Farm, since 1963, because of its key location and features. The purchase from Mrs. Frederick Harris, who was a Gould, concludes eleven years of waiting for litigation tying up the parcel to be untangled so it could be sold to AVIS.

Nearly 50 acres, accessible from both Salem Street and Gray Road, now are open for public enjoyment, Rafton points out. The new Hammond Reservation lies between the AVIS Skug River Reservation and 10 acres of Conservation Commission land which separate it from the Chongris Development. These 10 acres were deeded to the Commission by Chongris as a green belt around the cluster-zoned development, and a public right of way leads from them to Korinthian Way, off Gray Road.

Access to the Hammond Reservation from Salem Street is through the Skug River Reservation, and from Gray Road through Korinthian Way and the public right of way to the Conservation Commission acreage which circles the Hammond Reservation on two sides.

A potential circuit of trails from Salem Street to the Gray Road area to complete a part of the town's trail program is one of the features that the new acquisition makes possible according to Rafton. Protection of a large part of the Skug River watershed is another accomplishment, in line with the AVIS purpose of helping to protect the town's water table.

Edmond E. Hammond, for whom the reservation is named, was president of AVIS in the 1930's and 1940's, a time when

Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Hammond, Jr.

AVIS had a small membership and concerned itself with street and park beautification. AVIS credits Hammond, a member of the Boston brokerage firm of Paine, Webber, Jackson and Curtis, with keeping AVIS going during this quiescent period, and swelling the amounts of small legacies through wise investment. Thus, when AVIS went into its active land acquisition program in the late 1950's, the non-profit organization had the wherewithal to begin.

The late Mr. Hammond's son and daughter-in-law are Andover residents. Edmond E. Hammond, Jr., presently is chairman of the Phillips Academy mathematics department, while Virginia Hammond is secretary of the Conservation Commission. AVIS recently benefitted again from the financial acumen of the senior Edmond Hammond when his son terminated a small foundation his father had established, and turned the assets over to AVIS.

AVIS has been looking for several years for an opportunity and a suitable piece of land properly to memorialize Edmond Hammond. Rafton told the TOWNSMAN, and has been seeking to acquire the land abutting the Skug River Reservation even longer. "The two purposes seemed to go together," Rafton said, "particularly since the new reservation will enhance public use of those Conservation Commission acres. Virginia Hammond is such a sparkplug on the Conservation Commission."

The deed to the AVIS Hammond Reservation stipulates that the land is to be held permanently for conservation and recreation purposes only, to be kept open to the public and no buildings are to be erected on it.

The Canoe And You

There are a few places left in the two session course on canoeing technique to be given at Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary on Perkins Row in Topsfield starting Saturday, May 4. Canoe Lessons, which is taught by Richard H. Mailey, Jr., Sanctuary Director, is an annual and ever popular course, offered this year to twelve mature teens and adults. Mr. Mailey, a registered Maine guide, has had extensive experience on the rivers of New England including the St. John. Emphasis will be on water safety and basic strokes for the beginner and the family group. The small size of the class requires prior registration and payment.

A Wide Variety Of Offerings

What's going to be for sale this Saturday morning at Andover's
Recycling Auction at Recreation Park, besides hotdog lunches, coffee and sodapop?

How about a trailer-camper, electric or gas stoves, irons and hairdryers? The auction starts at 10 a.m. and the Community - School Recreation Department will supervise games for the children during the auction.

Do you need office desks, a second refrigerator for the breezeway or basement for the hot summer months? The Auction has them. Bicycles, anyone, for your kids or yourselves?

TVs have come in at the Recreation Lodge, where articles donated to the auction are still being collected Thursday and Friday until 8 p.m., says Mrs. Virginia Cole, chairman of the Auction. Also driftwood lamps, aluminum storm window frames, rugs and many more items.

The collection Committee is still urging everyone to look over their house, attic, basement and garage to bring donated articles to the Rec. Lodge Thursday and Friday, from 9 a.m. until 8 p.m.
"The idea is to have as many good usable objects as possible change hands," said Mrs. Cole.

"That means as many people as possible bring things in that they don't need before the Auction -- as many people as possible find bargains they do want at the Auction and have a good time, -- and as much money as possible go into the treasury after the Auction. It's got to be a good big auction the first time, to make this an annual springcleaning event."

Rain won't stop this auction, since the town's Recycling Committee, which sponsors it, has reserved a giant tent to put up over the crowd of bidders if it rains.

Auctioneers are Ralph N.
Sharpe of Ballardvale and former Selectman Philip K.
Allen, who leads some of the bidding each year at the Channel 2 Auction.

to bring along to donate to the auction on Saturday morning? If it works, bring it along, the auc-tioneers will accept it for bidding. The bidding starts at 10 a.m. and will go on until everything is going, going, gone to the highest bidder.

Chamber Orchestra In Concert

The final concert of the Andover Chamber Orchestra, in its first season, will be on Friday,
May 3 at 7:30 p.m. at Davis Hall in the Abbot Cluster of Phillips Academy, on School Street in Andover.

The program will consist of the Beethoven Piano Concerto No. 2, with Brian Zeger as soloist, and Saint-Saen's "Carnival of the Animals," with William Cunliffe and Brian Zeger, duo pianists.

Brian Zeger has been heard often in the community. Last year he was a finalist in the Merrimack Valley Symphony

Orchestra's "young musician" competition. He has given several solo recitals in the area.
He studies with Theodore Lettvin of the New England Conservatory of Music.

Bill Cunliffe has been the regular accompanist of the chorus during his years at Phillips. He has been solo pianist with the Concert Band, and has been principal pianist in the pit orchestra for several musicals.
He studies with Albion Metcalf at Phillips Academy.

Orchestra members from the community include Louise Aitel.

The "Carnival of the Animals" is a series of musical portraits or parodies of animals. On this occasion, it will be highlighted by verse by Ogden Nash and by puppets. The puppets are in no way traditional, but are near life-size. They have been designed by Peter Sellars, class of '75, and have been built and will be handled by a number of his students from the "New School" (an informal extension of the regular school program in which students and faculty can share their particular interest and hobbies).

This short, informal, no-admission concert should have appeal to all ages, and all are welcome.

Alumni Dinner

The General Alumni Association of Suffolk University will hold its annual Alumni Day dinner dance Friday, May 3 at the Colonial Hilton Inn, Route 128, Lynnfield.

The evening will open with a 7 o'clock reception, followed by dinner at 8 and dancing to the orchestra of George Graham from 9 p.m. until midnight.

Joseph F. O'Rourke (J.D. '41) is chairman of the program committee. George N. Torrey (B.S.

Prizes will be awarded at the conclusion of the last race.

Planetarium Contest

Nearly 2000 entry blanks have been picked up for the "Little Green Men" contest at the Hayden Planetarium of Boston's Museum of Science.

Because of leapfrogging interest, the Planetarium has extended the deadline for entering drawings, paintings, or models of extraterrestrial life to May 15.

Prizes in three age categories from under 12 to over 18 are now on exhibit in the Planetarium lobby.

First prize in each category is a high quality, 2.4-inch Altazimuth telescope donated by the Unitron Instrument Company of Newton Highlands. Second prize is a profusely illustrated, 18x11 inch volume, "Moon: Man's Greatest Adventure," by Von Braun, Bedini, and Whipple. Third prize is a choice among three books donated by Sky Publishing Company: "Sundials" by Mayall and Mayall; "A New Popular Star Atlas" by R.M.G. Inglis; and "Norton's Star Atlas and Reference Handbook" by Arthur Norton. Winners will also receive a one-year Museum Membership.

The nine winners will be chosen from among a group of finalists, all of whom will receive passes to the Museum and Planetarium.

Community Clinic Offers Free Exams

"CHEC", A Community Hypertension Evaluation Clinic, is planned to offer residents in the area an opportunity to have their blood pressure checked conveniently and free of charge.

The CHEC program will be in operation at both the Methuen Mall and on Essex Street, in downtown Lawrence on Friday, May 10, and Saturday, May 11 from 9 p.m. to 5 p.m.

It will be sponsored as a community service by Bon Secours Hospital and CIBA Pharmaceutical Company, and in observation of National Hospital Week.

Everyone tested will be given a card with his blood pressure recorded on it to be given to his private physician. When an individual's pressure is considered too high for his age and weight he will be encouraged to consult with his physician as soon as possible. However, more than one high reading is necessary before it can be determined whether a person is hypertensive.

It is estimated that at least 20 million Americans have high blood pressure and that half of this number remain undetected. Moreover, only about half of those whose hypertension has been detected are under treatment. High blood pressure is often symptomless.

Medical findings have pointed to the knowledge that early detection of hypertension in most cases permits control with appropriate antihypertensive drugs and modification of diet.

The American Medical Association recently reported that early detection and treatment of high blood pressure lessened the probability of heart disease and stroke, two of the leading causes of death in the nation.

A series of CHEC Clinics around the country will be sponsored by local health organizations and CIBA Pharmaceutical Company to help physicians uncover the estimated 10 million undetected hypertensive.

Investment Group Opens

A new investment counseling group, Harbor Advisory Corporation, aimed at the investor of moderate means, has opened in Andover with an Andover resident as president, and a North Andover attorney as one of its directors.

President of Harbor Advisory Corporation is Robert G. Butler, 5 Gardner Drive, Andover, MBA Harvard School of Business Administration, with 15 years experience with Merrill, Lynch, Penner and Smith, where he was senior institutional Account Executive and Manager, Institutional Services Department.

Atty. Brooks Potter, 400 Great Pond Road, North Andover, a director of the new investment counseling firm, is senior partner of Choate, Hall and Stewart, Boston's largest law firm.

President Butler calls Harbor Advisory Corporation a new kind of investment counseling firm catering to the moderate investor who seeks a professional alternative to relying on either his own research, a single broker or a mutual fund for a return on his investment.

"We advertised an educational forum at the Andover Savings Bank to show what we do and how we do it, how the financial community is changing and what services we can offer. We are having to run four forums instead of one, and may run more. It shows that there is a lot of interest in the Andovers in this kind of investment counseling."

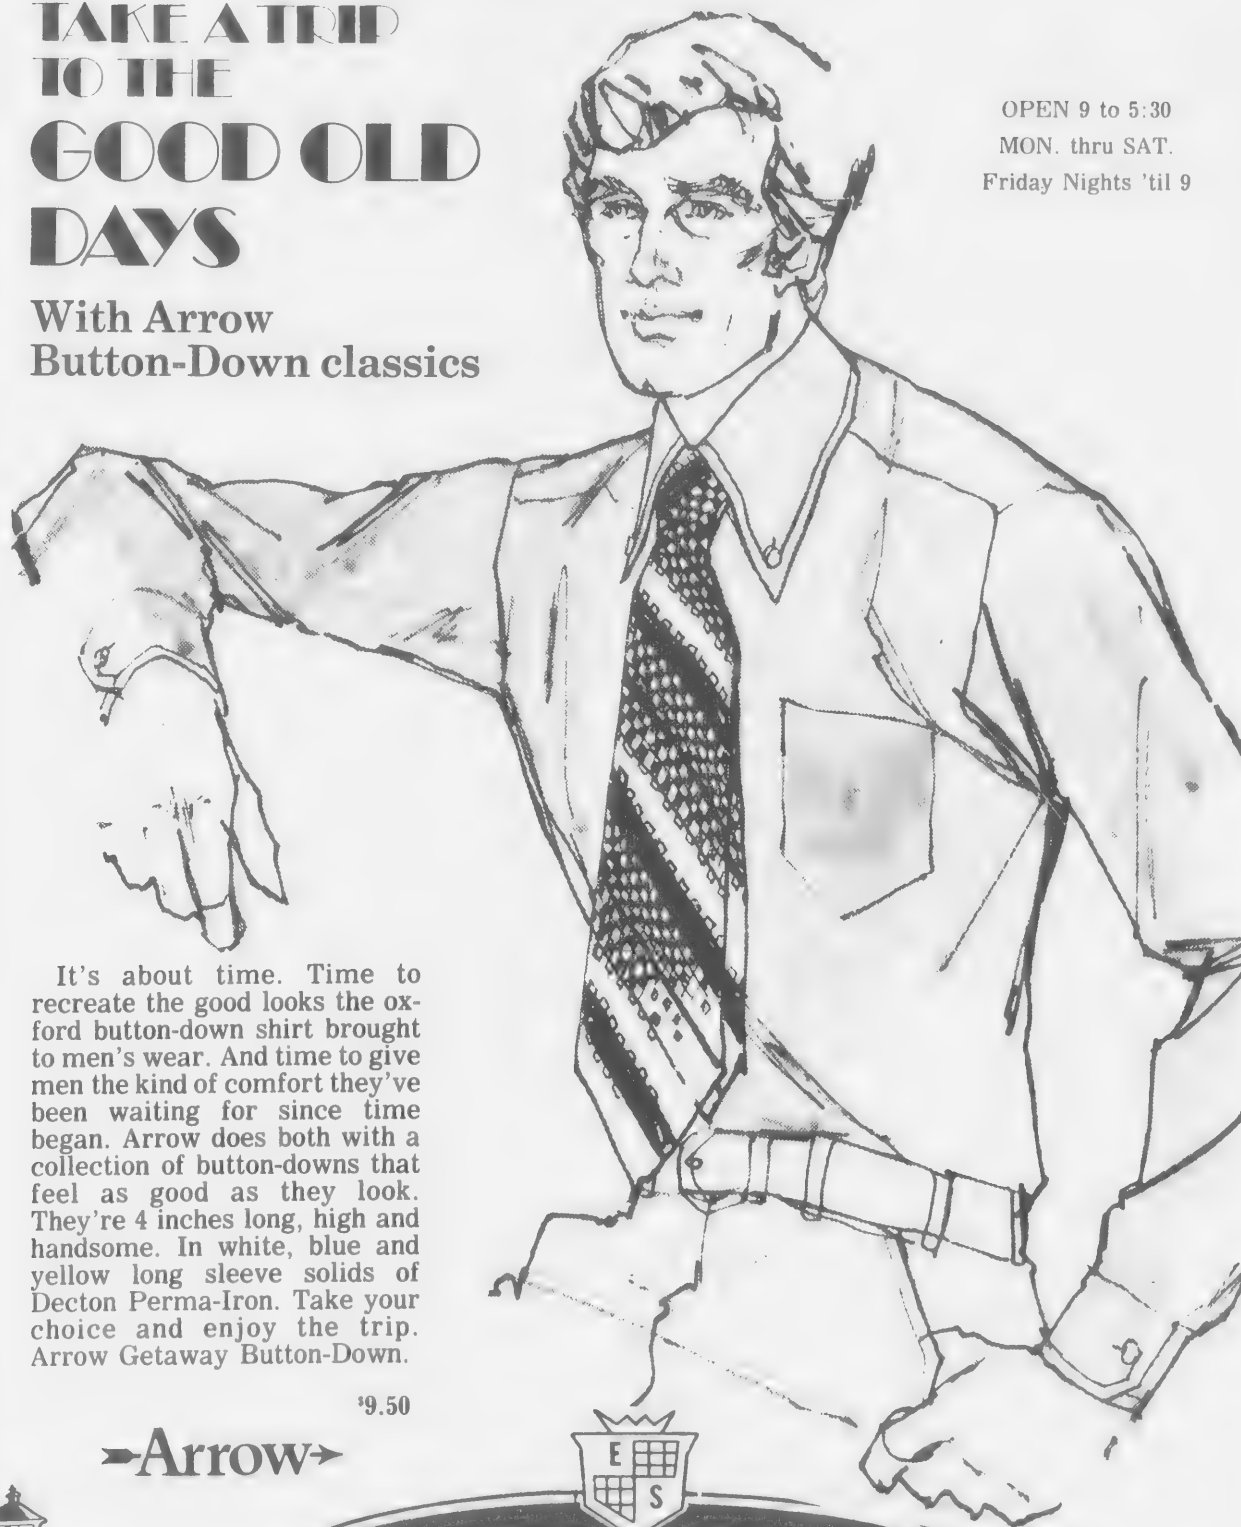

Harbor Advisory Corporation's investment committee is made up of Butler, Frederick Atherton, Boston University School of Business Administration, Vice President P.I.E.R. Associates, previously vice president and director of the Continental Oil Company; Douglas VanD. Leatham, C.F.A., president, P.I.E.R. Associates, previously investment analyst, Loomis-Sayles and Co. and Elizabeth Wells, security analyst, P.I.E.R. Associates, previously Bache and Co.

Directors of the new firm, besides Potter, are Donald S. Hutchinson, vice-president, Denison Manufacturing; Melvyn Klein, senior staff member, Arthur D. Little, previously vice-president New York Stock Exchange; Stephen Mandell, president, Joseph Mandell Co.; Alan Ross, director of Acquisitions, Tyco Laboratories, and William A. Andover Town Meeting Resumes Monday

It will require at least one more night to complete the business of the 1974 Andover annual town meeting as 473 voters this week trudged through some old business and acted upon 12 additional items in the warrant.

In the process, the voters dropped installation of outside water meters, reconsidered and rejected rezoning of a Chestnut street lot, stripped the Finance Committee of its veto power at the October town meeting and failed to rezone land at Harding and High streets.

On some advisory items, the town failed to adopt a resolution dealing with nuclear power plants and one which would have the state compensate the town for providing parking lots adjoining state highways.

Approved was a resolution to be forwarded to the state house and congress regarding increased costs due to the energy crisis, but there are no funds provided in the article to inform either legislative body of the action.

Monday night's third session of the annual meeting was hopefully to be the final one for 1974, but delays caused by waiting for a quorum, and reconsideration of the Chestnut street item and the water meters prevented getting into the new items of business until quite late.

Still to be acted upon and due for controversy is the issue of Flood Plain zoning and acquisition of the Doyle land for town use at a cost of $310,000.

With the action taken to date on the budget and other items, plus the anticipated action of the voters Finance Committee Chairman Frank Byrne feels the town will remain within the reduction of $1 on the mill rate.

Monday night's resumption of the session at the East Junior High Auditorium is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Reconsideration of the Chestnut street zoning change from residential to general

SPARSE CROWD. The gathering was small for the Monday session of the Andover town meeting. A total of 473 voters were present at the peak of the session. The meeting was delayed for 20 minutes awaiting the required 350 quorum before business could commence.

business, was the result of Town Counsel Alfred Daniels advising the meeting that a covenant approved by the April session was not valid.

John O'Boyle, the proponent of the zoning change, noted that there had been no opposition to the plan at planning board hearings and that the matter had been approved, with amendment at the April 8 session.

The article was defeated 122-282. The other zoning change proposed involved the shopping center property at High and Harding streets.

Proposed by the Planning Board, member David Erickson informed the session that the change from industrial to shopping center district, would allow for more control of the area.

Atty. Michael W. Morris spoke in opposition to the proposal, pointing out the problem which would result to the residents of Harding street, whose property lies within the effected area.

Also speaking in opposition was Harold Rutter, a tenant of the shopping center area. The item was defeated 345-78.

Three items dealing with the Finance Committee won approval.

J. Bowen, dealt with stripping the FinCom of its veto power at the October town meeting, increasing the membership of the group from seven to nine and compelling the FinCom to issue reports and recommendations prior to all town meetings.

John S. Sullivan read a statement from Bowen supporting the three items, since the former town manager was in New York in his new post as city manager in Long Beach.

The veto power evoked some debate before passage.

Chairman Frank Byrne of the FinCom objected, noting that the power had not been used arbitrarily and that when it had been used such as in the landfill issue of a year ago it worked to the town's advantage.

Mrs. R. Milton Cole gave a minority report of the FinCom stating that it did not seem reasonable that four members of a committee could prevent even discussion of an issue presented after considerable thought by town officials.

Bowen's statement pointed out that the October meeting is a matter of bylaw and all townspeople are aware of it being held, thus issues are not a surprise.

The item compelling reports prior to town meetings had some amendments such as including retirement committee recommendations and the report must be issued days prior to a town meeting.

While some felt the action necessary as a bylaw, all voters approved of the item.

Libby Seifel, an Andover student who was registering to vote on Tuesday, spoke on the nuclear power plant resolution. Miss Seifel, a member of the ecology club at the high school informed the meeting that the sense of the article was to provide a waiting period. "It says we're scared of nuclear energy," and asks for time to insure that adequate safeguards are provided before such plants become operable.

Despite her effective presentation, the item was defeated.

There remain 20 items to be considered when the session convenes for the fourth time next Monday night, with the prospects now appearing good that this will be the final session.

ducted on the upper Phillips Academy fields adjacent to Bancroft Road on Mondays and Thursdays 3:45 - 5 p.m.

Postal Savings

rates, there are still some ways to save money at the post office - such as "Book rate" which allows a book to go for 18 cents for the first pound, eight cents for each additional one, and "aerograms" for overseas air-mail. The pre-stamped, sheet folds into its own envelope and costs only 18 cents - compared to 21 cents to Latin America and 26 cents to other countries for the each half ounce.

Ship 101 Captures Lg. Title

The 10th season of the Explorer Basketball League came to an exciting close with Sea Explorer Ship 101 defeating Explorer Post 75 of St. Augustine's Church, Andover, 49 to 36 in their recent championship game. The score was tied at the half, and Post 75 led 24 to 23 at the end of the third quarter, but Ship 101 whose Explorers are from Dracut came through with 26 points in the final quarter for their victory.

In the consolation game Explorer Post 81 of the Trinitarian Congregational Church in North Andover won a thrilling 48 to 47 victory over 'The Anchors' of Ship 101 by scoring a basket in the final five seconds of the game.

The Explorer Basketball League games were held at the Andover South Elementary School gym this year, and over 100 Explorer Scouts participated in the eight-team league, which is part of the year-round Exploring Program of the North Essex Council, B.S.A.

Last Saturday, April 20, Explorers from Ship 101 participated in the basketball competition at the Eastern Mass. Explorer Games at Harvard University. This annual Explorer Olympics for units from over a dozen Massachusetts Scout Councils had 14 competition areas including: track and field events, swimming and diving, golf, chess, tennis, archery, rifle marksmanship, public speaking, general knowledge, street hockey, volleyball and basketball. Ship 101's basketball team played and won six rounds of games during the day, defeating all other Explorer teams from throughout the Eastern Massachusetts area which they played, earning the Explorer Games Gold Medal for basketball.

W. Parish Battles To Finish

The West Parish Intermediate basketball team (ages 10-12) concluded a highly - successful 1973-74 season last week by battling into the finals of the second annual Lawrence J.C.C. Biddy Basketball Tournament.

West Parish opened with a 14-12 quarterfinal victory over the Oakland quintet of Methuen.

The locals followed this with a 21-7 romp over the Marsh School of Methuen in the semifinals.

This set up another showdown battle between West and its season-long rival at the J.C.C., the Bruce School of Lawrence.

The powerful Bruce crew reached the title game by edging St. Michael's of North Andover, 24-21 in overtime, and defending champ St. Robert's of Andover, 18-12.

The championship game turned out to be a defensive struggle from start to finish, and West Parish's inability to put the ball through the hoop resulted in a 13-3 Bruce School victory.

To West Parish's credit, however, its players range in age from 10 to 12 while the Bruce team is comprised primarily of 13-year-old boys.

West's opening win over the Oakland team was sparked by Billy Hall, who dropped in 8 points including 4-for-4 at the free throw line.

Single baskets were added by Steve Doherty, Bruce Belbin and Ted Kelley.

The game was seesaw throughout, but a pair of buckets midway through the third period gave West Parish an 11-8 lead.

The semifinal romp over Marsh School was again powered by Billy Hall who dumped in 9 points.

Steve Doherty chipped in 6 points, Chris Doherty 4 and Ted Kelley again added a solo basket.

The title game was tied 2-2 after one quarter. Bruce School inched to a 5-2 halftime lead, a 9-2 spread after three quarters and a 13-3 final.

Billy Hall drove the lane for West's only basket of the contest, and Jimmy Stamas swished a fourth period free throw to complete the scoring.

The output in the tourney finale was by far the lowest by West all year.

The complete roster of the West tournament team included Billy Hall, Chris and Steve Doherty, Mike McDonald, Bruce Belbin, Ted Kelley and Jimmy Stamas. The club is coached by Rick Harrison.

Missing was a vacationing Dave Nardone, whose offensive punch could have made a difference. Nardone averaged 12 points per game during the regular J.C.C. season.

The tournament results left West Parish with a final 1973-74 record of 28-5.

West will be among the individuals and teams feted at the annual J.C.C. winter sports banquet on May 5.

British Historian To Speak

Dr. Kenneth Hudson, eminent historian and author from Great Britain, will speak on "Industrial Archaeology on Film" at the Stevens Memorial Library, Main St., North Andover, Monday evening, May 6, at 7:30 p.m.

The films Dr. Hudson will show during his lecture were made with the British Broadcasting Company to interest a mass audience in industrial archaeology. He has presented these films in the U.S. and in a number of European capitals.

"Making studies of industrial sites and buildings as well as their products while they are on the original sites and not waiting until they are erased by bulldozers and the evidence is lost is very important," Hudson said. "Industries of today are the history of tomorrow and now is the time to record it for posterity."

Long active in the preservation field, Dr. Hudson was a professor at Bath University and a lecturer at the University of Bristol, both in England, and is a former editor of the Journal of Industrial Archaeology. He is the author of two textbooks on archaeology and has just completed editing a Directory of World Museums.

Easter Week In Spain

Recently returned from a nine-day adventure in Portugal and Spain, were a tired but happy group of East Junior High students. The children, chaperoned by Mrs. Janis Baron, a teacher at Bancroft elementary school, visited Lisbon and Madrid during their Easter vacation week.

Some of the highlights included: A bullfight, Portugese-style, where the bull is not killed; tours to royal palaces, where they could admire elaborate tapestries, mosaics and furniture; a visit to Toledo, where some were able to purchase authentic Toledo swords; evenings listening to the Portugese fado singers and watching Spanish Flamenco artists; artistic tours in Spain, highlighting works by El Greco, Velsquez and Goya.

The children were impressed by the friendliness of the people they met, the excitement of the outdoor "flea markets," and the high cost of Coca Cola.

The group met weekly during the school year to study and prepare for the trip prior to departure.

They each recorded their daily adventures in a journal and took a quantity of pictures for lasting memories of their visit.

We asked for it. We asked many of our customers what they thought about our carpet showroom-warehouse store, our discount pricing policies, our selection, our service and our guarantee policy.

And frankly, we were more than pleased at what they told us. Here are just a few of the comments your friends and neighbors make about DAVIS CARPET DISTRIBUTORS.

"With the low prices you advertise, I didn't think your showrooms were so elegant and your carpets first quality."

"We would have been here sooner but we thought—from reading your ads—that you only carried inexpensive carpet."

"You have such a wide selection. If we can't find a carpet here, we won't find it anywhere."

"I was told you didn't guarantee the whole job, but I'm glad to hear you guarantee so much more than we were promised, elsewhere."

"All the salespeople are very nice—very congenial, so I like them very much."

"I have to compliment you on how polite and helpful your sales force is; not at all pushy."

"When you explain the 'Davis Way' of buying my carpet, it's so easy."

"We didn't think you carried such a wide selection of carpets and carpet remnants."

"With such low prices, how can you afford to give an additional discount the 'Davis Way'?"

"I was so surprised when my neighbor told me that you exchanged the remnant she bought—because it wasn't right for her room."

Expenditures of $1.4 billion on new plant and equipment is planned by New England manufacturers in 1974, a 15 per cent increase over the $1.2 billion spent last year, according to a survey conducted by the Business Research Department of The First National Bank of Boston.

Dr. James M. Howell, bank vice president and chief economist, said the planned increase, particularly when added to the 12 per cent increase in spending last year, "will mean new jobs and higher income for many New Englanders."

While the figures for New England were encouraging, Howell noted that they were somewhat under those for the nation as a whole. He referred to a McGraw-Hill survey in October - the same time the bank survey was conducted - that showed manufacturing firms in the U.S. planning a 24 per cent capital spending increase. A survey several weeks later by the U.S. Department of Commerce "showed manufacturers marking down their planned capital spending to a total increase of 19 per cent, reflecting the uncertainty surrounding the nation's energy problems," Howell said.

The New England study was the second semi-annual capital expenditures survey conducted by the bank as a part of a program to increase the economic information available about New England. Howell emphasized, however, that the survey was not a forecast and that the capital spending figures, based on businessmen's plans as of late last fall, could be subject to more than the usual revisions. "This year, energy problems and the anticipated shortages and delivery delays for a wide variety of industrial materials could lead to even more spending adjustments than usual," he warned.

"However, while some companies may adjust their spending downward, others may in fact increase their spending to modify plant and equipment in response to the projected higher cost of energy," Howell said. "Additional surveys made just a few weeks ago by McGraw-Hill and the U.S. Department of Commerce indicate that 1974 capital spending plans appear to be holding up so far."

The economist also declared that, whatever their limitations, "capital spending surveys have long been important tools for assessing future changes in the nation's - or region's - economic activity."

Howell explained that the 15

New Jobs, Higher Income Seen

per cent capital spending increase figure reflected a planned rise of 17 per cent by durable goods manufacturers and 13 per cent by manufacturers of non-durable goods.

For New England, the greatest percentage increases planned for 1974 by manufacturers in the durable goods area show up in such industries as primary metals, with 33 per cent, fabricated metals, 25 per cent, and a group of industries listed as "miscellaneous durables," 32 per cent. The dollar amounts expected to be spent by these three categories are $73.3 million by primary metals, $98 million by fabricated metals and $196.8 million by "miscellaneous durables."

The report also noted that two other growing durables industries planning substantial dollar investments in 1974 show relatively small percentage increases because these increases follow already large expansion of capital spending between 1972 and 1973. These industries are nonelectric machinery, planning 1974 capital expenditures of $148.9 million, a 16 per cent increase, and instruments, $65.2 million for a 12 per cent increase. But planning the largest capital expenditure of all is the electrical equipment industry - $193 million. Because of the continuing high investment by the industry over the years, this investment represents only a 5 per cent increase over 1973.

Among nondurable industries, paper and pulp is expected to spend $142.9 for a 22 per cent increase, the highest of any single industry in the nondurable category in both dollar amount and percentage increase.

Answers to a question in the bank survey regarding age of capital equipment disclosed that the average equipment age for Massachusetts manufacturers was 11.4 years, for companies in the rest of New England, 11.1 years. In response to another question, New England companies estimated the age of capital equipment in their plants outside the region to be 8.7 years.

"The continued reliance on outdated capital equipment is one of the reasons often given to explain the problems of our lagging industry in New England," the report noted in assessing these figures. "The rationale for such questioning rests in the fact that, over time, manufacturing technology changes can be significant and, unless new machinery is purchased periodically, a firm often will find itself unable to continue to compete in its market."

The report also showed marked differences in the age of capital equipment among specific industries in New England, stating: "For instance, in textiles, one of the traditional New England industries which have declined in the past 20 years, the average age of capital equipment was 16.9 years. Conversely, the electrical machinery industry revealed an average equipment age of 10.1 years and instruments manufacturers had equipment averaging only 9.2 years. Any disadvantage of excessively old machinery and equipment probably is concentrated in the region's traditional industries," the report concluded.

The bank also commented on the first results of a twice-a-year survey on electronic industry sales anticipation in which the bank's Business Research Department and the New England Chapter of the Electronic Representatives Association (NEERA) are cooperating. The results are derived from questionnaires sent to NEERA members in January with the bank acting as a third party collection agent to maintain the confidentiality of the individual firm's sales data, Howell explained. Tabulations and analysis are undertaken by the bank's staff of professional economists.

Among the conclusions reached in the report of the first survey were these:

"In a period when the outlook for the economy as a whole is somewhat uncertain, the sales expectations are generally optimistic for the four industries - fabricated metals, electrical machinery, non-electrical machinery and instruments. Following relatively strong sales in the final six months of 1973, the sales expectations for these four industries suggest only a minor slowing in sales in the first quarter, followed by sales strengthening in the second quarter."

"Approximately one-third of the NEERA firms surveyed expected computers and peripheral equipment sales to be the most promising market for 1974.

In History

The typewriter has been around for a lot longer than most people realize - or at least it would have been if it hadn't had such a haphazard history. The first known patent for a typewriting device was granted in 1714, but no record or description of this machine has been found. Then, one was patented in 1829, only to be destroyed in the Patent Office fire of 1836. There were no other models.

Flea Market Scheduled At College

The "Second Time Around" has now become the theme of the Class of 1974 at Merrimack College as its Antique Show and Flea Market returns to the college's North Andover campus on Sunday, April 28 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Antique Show and Flea Market will once again be located - - rain or shine - - on the parking lot between the McQuade Library and the S. Peter Volpe Physical Education Center.

Although the Antique Show and Flea Market was planned to be only an annual event at Merrimack, the Class of 1974 was pleased by their recent September 16 Flea Market which brought 61 dealers and an attendance of 1760 people to the North Andover campus. "You might say that we are back in business by popular demand. Because of our earlier success in September, the class officers felt that maybe we ought to make the Antique Show and Flea Market a semi-annual event at Merrimack," said Flea Market founder Charles Nicotra '74 of Wakefield. Co-chairman Anthony Fallisi of Lawrence echoes Nicotra's feelings about the success of the senior class business enterprise: "Our first Flea Market drew 24 dealers and an attendance of 500 people. Last year, we nearly doubled those figures with 43 dealers and 1000 people and our September gathering was even more successful."

The Merrimack seniors also mentioned that the Antique Show and Flea Market was originally instituted to bring people from throughout the North Shore and the Merrimack Valley to meet with Merrimack College students. Nicotra and Fallisi both agreed that the past Flea Markets have achieved the goal of "getting people to meet each other in a pleasant surrounding... with a little extra to our class treasury."

Committee members assisting Nicotra and Fallisi in the planning of the April 28 Flea Market are senior class officers: Patrick McLaughlin of Tewksbury, president; Thomas Sullivan of Wellesley, vice president; Nancy DiPaolo of North Andover, treasurer; and, Anne Marie Bonnano of Methuen, secretary.

The Class of '74 will once again provide a snack bar to serve shopkeepers and their customers. Admission to the Antique Show and Flea Market is free and North Shore and Merrimack Valley residents are invited to participate.

Silent Film Program Set For Castle

The Mark of Zorro, a silent film starring Douglas Fairbanks and Marguerite de la Motte, will be shown at 8 p.m. at the Hammond Castle, Gloucester, on Saturday evening, April 27. Fairbanks plays the mysterious Don Zorro who by night is a righter of wrongs and who by day is a weak and foolish young Spaniard, Don Diego Vega. He is a combination of the Scarlet Pimpernel and Superman, and this role proved one of Fairbanks' most durable vehicles.

In this film, made in 1920, Fairbanks puts on his most nimble demonstration of gymnastics, on the first studio sets that were specifically tailored to the reach of his athletic capabilities. As the Robin Hood of Southern California, Zorro rallies the caballeros to join their swords to his in the overthrowing of a tyrannical governor. The movie is based on "The Curse of Capistrano," a story by Johnston McCulley and in addition to Fairbanks and Marguerite de la Motte, also has Noah Beery in the cast.

Also on the program is Fast Freight, starring the Little Rascals. Little Farina rides the rails, in a new way, and with his own goody-gleaner. Destination is California, and the gang is going too but a haunted house and a pursuing railroad agent somewhat cools the excitement of the trip. This film will be remembered by 1928 moviegoers.

Al Winslow, the very popular accompanist for Hammond Castle silent films, will be at the console of the great pipe organ and there will be a sing-along plus the comedy and feature. Reservations should be made early by telephone or mail to the Hammond Castle, Gloucester.

Nine Cubs Receive Top Awards

At the monthly meeting of Cub Scout Pack 72, the highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Arrow of Light award to nine of the Webelos Cubs. This award is the highest which a Cub Scout can earn. As a final demonstration of their preparedness for the award, the Webelos opened the Pack meeting with an impressive flag ceremony which was followed by the presentation of the awards. The nine honored Webelos were Tom Stark, Mark Palmer, Bruce Barnhill, Dana Demers, Gary Hall, Richard Pereira, David Markow, Erik Doherty and Richard Secord. One additional Cub, Georges Krivobok, was presented with his Bear Cub award.

The evening was then turned over to Steve Buka who entertained the Cubs and parents alike with his mystical feats of magic.

Cambridge Group Presents New Play

The Cambridge Ensemble will open a new play, "The Southern Route," tonight, 8:30 p.m., at the Old Cambridge Baptist Church, 1151 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge. The play continues Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights through June 1.

The original play is an adaptation of a short story by Julio Cortazar, author of the movie, "Blow-Up." Through improvisation and workshop techniques, Ensemble actors and director Joann Green have created an unusual production about a traffic jam that lasts a year.

The Cambridge Ensemble has received grants from the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and the National Endowment for the Arts for the development of this original play.

Details will appear in next week's TOWNSMAN.

The dance request was not expected to be looked upon favorably, the dances were cancelled primarily because of reports of excessive drinking at the parties earlier in the school year.

Serious

We can not recall when Andover's public education system has been so fraught with such unrest as at the present time.

The matter is a serious one, and as the school committee prepared to meet on Wednesday night, the divisions within the school system, the administration and the school board appeared to be as unbreachable as ever.

The whole matter was initiated by the majority of the school committee two weeks ago when it failed to reappoint Edward P. Regan as assistant principal and William Becker as head of the high school English department.

Since that time, petitions have been in circulation, by educators and students, seeking to return the men to their former positions.

Motions run strong, it appears the feelings of those who made the decision on the school committee become more firm toward standing by their initial actions.

Reasons are that if reasons are to be given for their removal, they will be provided to the affected administrators in private.

It is a sad state of affairs, an observation of a school that the school committee members may have even found themselves in positions from positions in the school and administration should accompany such action.

Good Move

The removal of the veto power from the finance committee for the October town meeting appears to be a wise move.

Voters approved of the measure at the Monday night session of annual town meeting.

We had expressed some doubts about the stripping of such powers in prior editorial comments, but just proving we are of a mind to listen, we found Monday night's supporting comments for removal of the FinCom power sound.

Mrs. R. Milton Cole, expressing a minority view of the FinCom members, and, by the way insistent that either the minority or the female, have the last word, noted that the power granted to four members of the committee prevents discussion of items placed before the voters by municipal leaders.

This, in effect, strips the voters of Andover from even discussing an item.

We concur with the comments that Andover is indeed fortunate to have an informed and intelligent electorate. With the advisory function of the FinCom still present at the October town meeting, voters indeed could properly make up their own minds after listening to issues as presented by both the financial watchdogs and the town's elected and appointed leaders.

The FinCom retains its veto power at such special town meetings which may be called during the year other than the annual and October town meeting.

The October session, which is mandated through bylaw, is known well enough in advance for the electorate to be aware of the meeting and the issues to be acted upon.

Monday night's action puts Andover's municipal government, as presently structured, in its proper perspective.

The Finance Committee can still make its recommendations and strongly endorse or object to any financial item to appear in the regular or October town meeting warrants.

But, the decision-making process now rests where it properly should -- with the people who pay the bills, the taxpayers.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

FOR THE OLDER

Tuesday, April 30, at 2 p.m. Mrs. Mary Hamilton, Public Health nurse, will give an informative talk on "First Aid in the Home," the last in a series of courses given at The Haven under the sponsorship of the town Recreation and Community Schools Department. Mrs. Hamilton is well known to Andover's senior citizens as one of the three nurses who so generously participate in The Haven's mini-clinic. No reservations are required and all are invited to attend next Tuesday's meeting.

The Haven's cooks are at it again. They have scheduled a bake sale for May 10 - a Friday - and everyone interested is invited to provide goodies or buy them. Sale will start at 10 a.m. Proceeds will be used to help defray costs of expansion of The Haven. The Haven is sponsoring a theater party for May 16. A bus will take Andover's seniors to a performance of "Butterflies Are Free," Thursday, May 16, at the M.I.T. Kresge Auditorium in Cambridge. The bus will leave The Haven at 11:45. The performance will be over at 2 p.m. at which time the theater-goers will have lunch at the M.I.T. Cafeteria. Cost of bus and theater is $3.50, lunch extra. Reservations are being accepted now at The Haven, 25 Barnard St. Stop by and make sure of your place.

To lower the cost of serving pork chops, buy a pork roast and cut the chops yourself at home.

The same principle holds true for cold cuts and cheese. They usually cost less when purchased in "bulk." Slice them yourself.

Natural History Course Planned In Andover

Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary is offering a special field course for adults on plant and insect relationships in Andover this spring. Botany and Butterflies will be taught by Mrs. Elizabeth Darlington of the Hatheway Institute for Environmental Education for five weeks starting on Wednesday morning, May 1, from 9:30 to 11:30. The class will explore several different natural habitats to observe wild flowers and shrubs and investigate their relationship to various insects found in the same locations.

The course is open to the public as well as members of the Society but space is limited to fifteen. Prior registration and prepayment are required. For further information, please call the Sanctuary office.

Shade Trees Need Vigor

Building up vigor is most important to weakened shade trees. Trees struggling along on lawns, trees with dead or dying twigs and branches, those growing in poor soils, all require this life giving stimulant. Trees with wind-broken twigs and wrenched rootlets must have vigor to heal their wounds. Without vigor trees cannot combat diseases, especially those caused by parasites, or invading insects such as borers and bark beetles, says Robert A. Bartlett.

Weakened trees and especially those growing on lawns need to be fed periodically, once a year, and those in better soils, every two years. Now is the best time to do it. On the very first day the frost leaves the ground, trees can be fed. This will give them a quick start in the spring.

Tree food should be highly organic and well balanced, containing all essential trace elements. Place it in crow-bar made holes, 18 to 24 inches deep, beginning several feet out from the trunk of a mature tree. Continue these holes two feet apart to well beyond the drip of the outer branches. Never feed a tree close to the trunk, and feed amply. If the tree food is correctly balanced, it will become slowly available during the months ahead as the tree needs it.

Providing Lilies A Second Life

A little effort on your part will help those beautiful Easter Lily plants to bloom a second time, says an expert from the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture. The advice comes from Warren Shepard, Assistant Director of the MDA Division of Plant Pest Control.

First and foremost, says Shepard, is to keep them blooming as long as possible, by keeping them in cool, draft-free locations in the house. Keep the pot soil moist, never soaked; and never put the pot into water.

After the blooms are gone, keep the plant alive and well with the same care. Soil should still be kept moist, and the plant protected from severe heat or drafts, until all danger of frost has gone - probably about late May, when it can be planted outdoors.

It's best, says Shepard, to remove the plant from the pot, and plant and fertilize much like any other garden flower. Cut back to three or four inches above the original soil level. Give it normal care, and you should get a second blooming in late August or early September. That may be the plant's last hurrah, but it should be worth the small extra effort involved.

One home gardener reports perennial blooming with a different method. She lets the plant dry out in the pot after the blooms are gone, then cuts it back and stores it in a cool dry place until October, when she plants it in the garden. These plants bloom in the spring, and the record so far is five seasons.

Some gardeners have good luck transplanting their indoor tulip plants, though Shepard suggests that for the best outdoor tulips, buying fresh bulbs in the fall will bring better results. Experiment, if you want to: let the plant dry remove the bulbs, store them in a cool, dry place, and plant them outdoors in the fall. There's a 50-50 chance you'll get blooms in the spring.

MUSEUM VISIT - Local members of the Museum of Fine Arts enjoyed a stimulating lecture by Peter Corey, from the Peabody Museum, on the recent exhibit "The Far North." This traveling exhibition represents the first major effort to bring pieces together from four Alaskan cultures. Several hundred art works, drawn from numerous international collections, range from discoveries made in archeological excavation to clan and family heirlooms preserved by the native families. These decorative and functional objects, made from a variety of materials, display a high degree of artistic sophistication. The exhibit will continue at the museum until May 26. Viewing one of the exhibits are Mrs. Marco Pettoruto, Mrs. David Woodworth and Mrs. Samuel Rogers.

Developing Bird Atlas Planned

Before the beach season begins, you can get in shape for your bathing suit by joining a bird atlas survey.

By joining the survey, one can make a contribution to science, have fun, get plenty of exercise and reduce visual pollution.

So, you never heard of a bird atlas? Or, possibly suppose birds use the atlas when migrating? Unfortunately, "bird atlas" illustrates the degradation to which the language constantly is subjected. It's a human atlas cluttered with little dots that indicates where birds are breeding.

A bird atlas really should be developed for each state. Britain and Ireland have one and Montgomery County, Maryland, is two years into an atlas project. What is needed is state leadership and coordination of observers. In Massachusetts, the Massachusetts Division of Fisheries and Game and the Massachusetts Audubon Society are sponsoring an atlas project which begins immediately and will continue five years.

The object of the atlas is to determine not the numbers of birds but how many species are breeding in each square mile of the state.

In a pilot project carried out last year in Ayer, Gardner, Manomet, Newton, Springfield and Westport, the preliminary observers failed to find a few common birds. For instance, no one found a great horned owl's nest. Yet great horned owls supposedly breed in every town and city in the Commonwealth, core cities excepted. While it probably means that great horned owls rarely build a nest that overhangs a traveled road and can readily be seen from a cruising auto, it could mean that great horned owls are becoming scarce.

Indeed, most of what we know about bird distribution is based upon assumptions. Some of these assumptions are not too far removed from Aristotle's conclusions. In fact, assumptions are the bone of our culture, probably destroying more businesses than any other form of neglect.

Most ornithologists assumed that peregrine falcons were breeding somewhere east of the Rocky Mountains, even though none bred any longer in the states with which they were familiar. To the surprise of alleged experts, the truth seeped through a couple of decades ago that all peregrines had disappeared in that vast area.

Let us titter nervously while pooh-poohing the idea that a bird so common as the robin may not breed in our block this year. The idea sounds ridiculous. Yet the year arrives in all suburban neighborhoods when native birds pass by because the region has been modified below their requirements. I have lived in a house long enough to see the neighboring wood thrushes replaced by house sparrows.

If you care to join the survey, write for information to Bird Atlas, Massachusetts Audubon Society, Lincoln, 01773. Include a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and you will receive an interesting leaflet that will help you interpret the meaning of bird actions in the breeding season. It helps you decide whether the birds are visitors passing through or nest-keepers.

Woodpecker Is Curious

By Wayne Hanley
The pileated woodpecker keeps leaving calling cards.

At least once each week, one can see a new hole chopped into one of the dead trees along a woodland path that I travel about six times daily. "Chopped" is the proper word, because the pileated is a huge woodpecker. When it attacks a tree, the pileated whacks out huge chips, leaving behind an almost rectangular hole. One might mistake the wound as the work of an axe.

Yet, the pileated woodpecker itself never is seen. Possibly it hides behind the tree trunk when it hears my approach. Or, takes off before I achieve a sight line to it. Pileated can be very furtive. Oddly, they also can be quite brazen, even chopping out a nest hole in a tree beside an inhabited house.

Since the pileated woodpecker is about as large as a crow, one would suppose that the birds could be seen more often. While they never are truly abundant, neither are they really rare. Probably they are seen more often than they are recognized. One easily could mistake a flying pileated for a crow. It's true they have white wing-linings and patches of white in the black wings. But often they are seen in poorly lighted woods. The white then becomes less conspicuous. The total effect sums up as one large totally black bird, a crow. Pileated equals "crested." The bird is named for the bright red crest on its head.

In recent years, the pileated woodpecker has become more common in New England. One finds its carvings in many woods. The generation of ornithologists now recently deceased considered the pileated a wilderness bird. They lived, of course, in an era when New England was recovering from intensive farming and turning into second-growth forest. The reason pileateds lived in "wilderness" then was rather simple. The large birds need large trees, especially for nest holes. Such trees exist in only more mature woods -- and today the second-growth of yesteryear is becoming mature.

In fact, at the turn of the century the pileated woodpecker was considered so rare that the old Federated Bird Clubs of Massachusetts bought Mt. Watatic in north central Massachusetts as a sanctuary for what the members considered an endangered bird.

Finding a pileated woodpecker is not as easy as one might think. A deliberate search, with frequent visits to an area where a pileated has been working, seems the least rewarding. I tried that course several years. Then one day as I walked along a path on Mt. Tom, the first pileated I ever saw flew right over my head. Since then I've seen them fairly often and all over the East.

Except for a nest which contained four young and was tended by two adults, the largest group of pileateds I've seen at one time was five adult birds. They were foraging in live oak trees near a motel at Jekyll Island, Georgia.

The most unusual thing about the pileated -- except for its size -- is its long neck. One thinks of woodpeckers as rather neckless birds. The pileated has a serpentine neck, possibly suggesting that it is a holdover from an era before woodpeckers were remodeled by evolution.

Combined Chorus In Concert

Christ Church, Andover, and St. Paul's, North Andover, are among the 10 Episcopal churches that will be represented Sunday in the First Annual Music Festival sponsored by the District 1 of the Diocese of Massachusetts.

Jon Wattenbarger, organist and choir director at Christ Church, will direct the joint choir in the concert which will be held from 5 to 6:15 p.m. at the Chapel at Phillips Academy.

The groups will sing some of the great historic music of the church, as well as some contemporary liturgical music. They will be joined by the congregation in the singing of some familiar hymns.

Wattenbarger studied at King's College, Cambridge, and received his masters in music at the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N.Y.

Organist for the event will be Stephen Paul Kowalyshyn, music director and organist for St. Paul's Church, Newburyport. He studied at Lehigh University and received his bachelor of music degree in organ from the Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore.

Participating churches also include St. Augustine's, Lawrence; Grace Church, Lawrence; St. Andrew's, Methuen; St. James', Groveland; St. Paul's, Newburyport; All Saints', West Newbury; St. James', Amesbury and Trinity, Haverhill.

The public is invited. There is no admission charge.

Employment Levels Are Unchanged

Unemployment levels in the Bay State remained unchanged from January to February after allowance for normal seasonal changes, according to Richard C. Gilliland, Director of the Massachusetts Division of Employment Security. The unemployment rate for both months was 7.5 per cent while the comparable rate for the entire United States stabilized at 5.2 per cent.

Although the energy shortage continued to account for some unemployment, the snowballing of layoffs up to major proportions did not take place. Layoffs were generally temporary, pending the receipt of petroleum-based materials or fuel. Auto assembly, transportation, and retail trade and service establishments, all dependent on travel volume, continued to be the major victims of the shortages.

Over the past 12 months, increases in both employment and unemployment have occurred. While the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate was up from 6.4 per cent in February 1973 to 7.5 per cent in February 1974, statewide employment figures rose by 2.3 per cent or 54,000 jobs in the year. The climb in unemployment resulted from the very large increase in the State's workforce. Statistics indicate an increase of 91,000 or 3.7 per cent additional job seekers during the last twelve months. This increase is substantially above the State's estimated population growth and may be due to a greater percentage of women and youth who now desire employment, Director Gilliland noted.

Manufacturing employment in Massachusetts continued to show divergent long-term trends in the durable and nondurable goods sectors. Employment in the manufacture of durable goods rose by 16,000 in the past 12 months, recovering to the highest level for the sector since 1970 when major cutbacks in defense and aerospace procurement occurred. More than half of the gain over the year was in non-electrical machinery and in electrical machinery equipment and supplies. Other durable goods industries also strengthened over the year, particularly in primary and fabricated metals, stone, clay and glass, and instruments.

Employment in nonmanufacturing sector (trade, transportation, government, and services) was undoubtedly depressed to some extent by the energy shortages, but all areas except the Federal government increased their work forces since February of last year, with more than 33,000 jobs added.

Unemployment in most of the State's eight major metropolitan areas increased seasonally in the month. Seasonally adjusted figures are not available on a substate basis. Contrary to the effect of the winter doldrums in generally pushing unemployment up, the number out of work in the two Northeastern areas of Massachusetts - the Lowell and the Lawrence - Haverhill SMSA's - declined because of seasonal hiring by the Federal government in that area. The Fall River, New Bedford, and Brockton SMSA's had the highest unemployment rates in February; the capital-goods dominated manufacturing area of Worcester had the lowest rate.

St. Augustine's Campaign On Weekend

An Increased Giving Campaign will get underway for St. Augustine's parish this weekend when some 150 workers visit parishioners to distribute brochures and pledge cards.

The effort by the parish is to present to the parishioners the cost of operations of the parish.

It is a new concept aimed at responsible giving by the parishioners.

Rev. Jerome W. Holland, O.S.A., pastor, spoke on the program at all Masses this past Sunday and members of the parish finance committee will speak on the program this Sunday.

The program, it has been emphasized is not tied in with the financial conduct of St. Augustine's school, but is to outline the costs of parish operations and the need to project the costs of this. The school is a separate function and financed through tuitions.

It is hoped that through establishment of individual goals, there will not be a need for second collections to meet varied special expenses.

Cardinal Confers Sacrament

The sacrament of Confirmation was conferred on 211 young Catholics at Saint Augustine Church Andover, on April 19, by His Eminence Humberto Cardinal Medeiros. The Cardinal was the principal celebrant at two liturgies; one at 4 p.m., and the other at 7:30 p.m. He was accompanied by Rev. William Helmick who acted as Master of Ceremonies for the occasion. He was also assisted by Rev. Jerome A. Holland O.S.A., the pastor of Saint Augustine Church, who presented the candidates for Confirmation to the Cardinal. Other concelebrants at both liturgies were: Rev. Stanley Smith O.S.A., Rev. Michael DiGregorio O.S.A., and Rev. David Kelley O.S.A.

During the ceremony the group renewed their Baptismal Promises, and then each one accompanied by an adult sponsor went forward to be anointed by the Cardinal Archbishop in the presence of relatives and friends. The newly confirmed participated in the prayers and singing of the Mass, accompanied by Miss Mary Lanigan, organist. Several of the young people gave the readings and led the Prayers of the Faithful at the Offertory.

Spring Flowers

By Wayne Hanley

At this season, the dog-tooth violet is pushing green spears through the rain and thaw softened earth of New England, and in its southern locations, such as Georgia, has begun the production of florigen.

The dog-tooth violet, of course, also is the yellow adder's tongue of the north or the fawn lily of the south, or trout lily of many localities through its range. It can be found from northern Florida to Nova Scotia. In the south it hardly is worth looking for the plant along the coastal plain. Its home there lies above the fall line and into the mountains.

So much for an introduction to the dog-tooth violet. Now, what is florigen? The usual explanation is that florigen is what makes flowers bloom. But this tells us nothing about its chemistry. And, for a rather simple reason - although the search for florigen has consumed more energy than the Medieval search for the Holy Grail, florigen remains an indefinable "thing." Isolation of florigen as a chemical has defied the most elegant techniques of biochemistry. Yet few botanists would insist that it does not exist.

The Russian plant physiologist M.K. Chailakhyan, who was engaged in grafting experiments in the 1930s, suggested the existence of a hormone that induced flowering in plants and named it florigen. The odd thing about florigen is that it quite clearly is a product of plant leaves but never has been found in a leaf.

To associate with a leaf some "thing" that never has been found in a leaf requires the faith of a monk. Such faith normally is not associated with science, although in truth facsimiles of it occur more generally than the public realizes.

The reason that leaves have been assigned the role of florigen generators lies in the results of botanical experiments designed to ferret out florigen. In fact, the origin of the florigen theory arose from the Russian experimenter's observations that the grafting of leaves under certain conditions caused an unexpected flowering in a plant.

The influences upon a plant leading up to the act of flowering are so many and so varied in relation to the various species, that complete books have been written on single factors and the whole gamut that when leaves taken from a plant which is ready to bloom are grafted to a plant of the same species which would not be expected to bloom for weeks, the plant accepting the graft will quickly come into bloom.

Another experiment involves the plucking of mature leaves from a plant near the blooming stage. If leaves are plucked regularly, the plant will never bloom. If the leaves are permitted to remain two or three days before plucking, the plant will bloom. The experiment implies that florigen not only is generated in the leaf, but is translocated from the leaf into the plant stem and then flows to the flower bud. The delay of a couple of days gives time for both production and translocation.

Another weird aspect of the florigen theory. There is equal evidence that leaves produce a substance that keeps flowers from blooming prematurely. But it requires faith, too.

Organic Garden Club To Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Andover Organic Gardening Club will be held in the Print Room of the Memorial Hall Library Thursday, May 2, at 8 p.m. The evening will include a plant auction and discussion on a timely gardening topic. Plants for auction will be vegetable and flower seedlings and other plants donated by members for benefit of the club.

Leadership Or Limbo

To the Editor of the
TOWNSMAN:

Surely you aren't serious in your editorial of April 11, which states of George Olesen, "... he is now serving in Andover and his practices in Cambridge should be forgotten."

Only a few short weeks ago, the TOWNSMAN was pressing Mr. Olesen's candidacy for School Committee in an unprecedented front-page editorial. As I recall, the single specific reason cited in support of Mr. Olesen was his experience on the Cambridge School Committee.

In view of events at the April 10, School Committee meeting, I suggest strongly that the citizens of Andover should not forget for one minute that Mr. Olesen's campaign promises stressed his determination to "force the administration to be more responsive." How is that accomplished? The answer, as evidenced by last week's School Committee meeting is by threat, fear, repression, retaliation and evasion.

Anyone who attended that meeting might well observe that the spirit of Senator Joseph McCarthy is alive and well in Andover.

Most parents are aware that children learn by example, not merely by words. The School Committee, under Dr. Griggs' command, is sadly failing its moral responsibility if it continues to conduct itself by last Wednesday's methods.

Men and women of good will on both sides of this traditional / progressive issue need to be united in their search for solutions to Andover's educational problems.

This presents a rare opportunity to the members of the School Committee to display qualities of integrity, honesty, courage, understanding and leadership.

The monk, Thomas Merton, wrote many years ago, "Hell is where no one has anything in common with anybody else except the fact that they all hate one another and cannot get away from one another and from themselves." Again, one is reminded of the events of last Wednesday's School Committee meeting.

While I don't expect Andover to provide Heaven on earth for my children, I don't find the opposite an acceptable alternative to establish the environment in which our children can learn and flourish to the capacity each possesses.

It is long past time for putting children first and politics second. Gentlemen of the School Committee: which is it to be - leadership or limbo?

Deep Concern

To the Editor of the
TOWNSMAN:

As a clinical psychologist, school consultant, and most importantly an Andover parent, I must express my deep concern about recent trends shown by the Andover school committee, the personnel actions being only the most dramatic. The sentiments of the committee have consistently been those which promote anger and division. The conservative members of the committee certainly have every right to promote their conservative philosophy of education. However, traditionally conservatives have been among the most outspoken defenders of our democratic form of government, and I would hope that their actions would be within a similarly democratic context rather than one of secrecy, suspicion, divisiveness and unilateral action.

The strength of our system has been in its encouragement of free and open debate among people of differing ideas; out of the dialog may come a more reasoned conclusion. No one group has a corner on the market of ideas, and true concern for the future of our schoolchildren should involve a healthy doubting of one's own ideas and a request for a variety of inputs. Does any one member presume to force their philosophy of education upon all schoolchildren solely upon their own assumption that it will work best? Are they willing to take that chance with the futures of so many children without subjecting their ideas to a more open - and informed - exchange of ideas?

The past few years have seen an intensification of discussion and concern among educators. The material available regarding the relationship of different approaches to education and future preparedness of an individual student is extensive, and involves substantive research as well as more subjective material. I would like to see some evidence that our school committee is aware of such discussion. I am not ready to subject my children to an educational approach based upon a person's arbitrary assumption that what was good enough for their grandparents is good enough for today's students.

If there is any consensus among educators today it is that the fabric of our society, industrially and socially, is changing at a geometric rate; that published scientific information is doubling every eight years; that it is impossible to predict what types of storage of "facts" will in any way be relevant ten years from now; that what will be important ten years from now will be an individual's ability to think on his feet, to adapt to constantly changing circumstances, and to understand methods of information retrieval. None of this is to diminish the importance of the "Three R's," but to place them in a perspective related to their future usefulness.

Finally, I am puzzled by the school committee's concern with pupil deportment. My admittedly subjective impression had been of a quiet passivity dominating Andover schools, in marked contrast with many other school systems in the state, some of which have substantially higher college admission rates. Again, I don't wish to condone disruption and anarchy in the schools but neither do I wish to see a child's active, probing approach to the world stultified when it is this more active approach that will probably stand him in good stead in coping some day with a confusing, changing, and tough world.

Cambridgese

To the Editor of the
TOWNSMAN:

Since Mr. Olesen's election, the school committee as well as the townspeople, have been subjected to "Cambridgese" as pointed out in your editorial of April 11th. It has been suggested that Mr. Olesen's "practices in Cambridge should be forgotten." I suggest that before these practices are swept under the rug, two questions should be asked:

1) What is Mr. Olesen's track record; specifically what did he do for the Cambridge school committee; and

2) Since Mr. Olesen insists on revamping the Andover school committee to conform to the Cambridge school committee, just where does the Cambridge school system rank in the national average;

Maybe the asking of these questions is like closing the barn door after the horse is out, but the answering of them may eliminate more surprises by Mr. Olesen such as muffling of news sources and firing of an Assistant Superintendent of Schools without explanation. From his actions thus far, I'm sure Mr Olesen will ignore these queries, but maybe someone else in authority can enlighten the public. If Mr. Olesen is to remain in office for 3 years, we need to know, based on his past record, just what he has in store for the students of Andover and their bewildered parents.

Distressed

To the Editor of the
TOWNSMAN:

I am writing as one very concerned Andover citizen and parent because of my deep distress at what I see as a potentially destructive process taking place in our town. The outcome as I see it is that regardless of what individuals may gain (or lose) as a result of the changes in the school system, the town as a whole will have lost certain irreplaceable qualities which it now enjoys. All of us will be the poorer for it.

It is evident as one talks with others in the town that the unity of spirit which we share to some extent as Andoverites is being sorely tested at this time. I recall an address which Dr. Seifert made to the community in the Spring of his first year as Superintendent in Andover (a meeting, by the way, which was so poorly attended that it was embarrassing), in which he outlined his goals for the school system and for the community as it relates to the school-age population. He stated then that Andover needed a sense of community spirit and proceeded to define his 5-point "sense of community" and some practical suggestions for fostering this vital spirit. It is obvious that giant steps have been taken in this direction - e.g., the Community Schools program, family - oriented July 4th programs, ecology projects, etc. But have we really taken to heart the third point of his definition, i.e., to respect individuals without regard for differing points of view, and to permit competing factions to exist peaceably? Is each of our School Committee members really interested in what each citizen of Andover desires for his child? Are we as individuals really listening to others with tolerance and respect? Let's continue to build our sense of community and not undermine it.

Also, I have one brief thought concerning our professional school personnel. As a parent and volunteer in our local elementary school, I have had an opportunity to observe our teachers and programs in action. As a sometime volunteer tutor in the Boston area I have been able to talk with teachers who have taught in other schools. What we have had in Andover for the past few years in terms of programs, teacher excellence, morale, personal commitment and effort is unheard of (indeed, unthinkable) in most other school systems. In view of the general enthusiasm of the staff for their tasks and the personal sacrifice made by them to meet with children and parents on their own time, willingly, because they believe in and deeply care about what they are doing, one can only wonder what their feelings must be at this time. We all like to feel that our time has been well-spent and has counted for something. My heart goes out to these dedicated teachers and staff. How unappreciative we as a town must seem!

Slow Down

To the Editor of the
TOWNSMAN:

I'm distressed to hear about the trouble our new School Committee majority is bringing to some of the people who staff our schools, and, by extension, to the students they teach. Our children have been students in the Andover schools for eight years. During this time, the good schools they started out in have become excellent ones. The more public schools I have gotten to know well, the more grateful I am for their education here. Three years ago they went for a year to a well - recommended public school in California. Their experience there made clear to us how much better prepared in verbal and math skills is the average Andover child by comparison with his counterpart in their California school.

I appreciate the School Committee's desire to concentrate more resources on the teaching of basic skills. However, I feel strongly that good skill teaching depends on imaginative, knowledgeable teachers who enjoy their jobs and can work inventively together to stimulate children's interest in the uses of those skills. Neither imagination nor the high morale necessary to co-operation can thrive where teachers or administrators fear arbitrary removal from their jobs.

I welcome the Committee's wish to keep costs as low as possible. Unfortunately some cost-cutting (such as the removal of Learning Disabilities tutors) may result in expensive remedial programs later on. Few Andover students' school situations can be described as luxurious. Our youngest son has been for years in a Bancroft loft with 95 to 100 other children, 3 certified teachers and a teacher's aide. His teachers make it work by spending hours after school in planning. We can't buy that kind of commitment; but we can easily repel such special people by Star Chamber tactics that seem designed to intimidate teachers rather than help them do their best.

Sure, our system has problems. Is the School Committee helping to solve them or making them worse? Does the new majority really know what our schools are doing for children? I think it's time for us all to slow down and try to find out where our real problems and our real successes are. It would be a terrible shame to destroy in a few months what hundreds of parents, teachers and taxpayers have worked for years to build.

Back To Basics

To the Editor of the
TOWNSMAN:

The Andover School System is a multi-million dollar operation. As a parent and taxpayer in this school system I look to its policy makers (The School Committee) to reflect the "BASIC" traits of a "Professional" Manager. These characteristics can be summarized in four words. An effective manager:

1. Plans
2. Organizes
3. Leads
4. Controls

An effective manager thinks through, ahead of time, what he wants to do and spells out in concrete terms the goals he hopes to reach. He coordinates the work of his team toward common objectives. He entrusts responsibility and establishes accountability, but more important he promotes the conditions necessary for "Effective Teamwork." He leads through effective communication and motivation, by inspiring and encouraging people. He improves attitudes, knowledge and the skills of his people. Finally he controls by establishing yardsticks for performance based on the plans he has developed to guide his people.

In essence, the role of a Professional Manager is to find the men who have the particular characteristics and experience needed in each position to be filled and then to take the total number of men so employed and develop them into a trained, unified, efficient and "LOYAL" Team who are satisfied with their opportunities and their relations with the organization. This is the difficult task of management and the essential ingredient in the success of every business undertaking.

People of Andover, I ask you to weigh the recent actions and statements of our School Committee against the four characteristics of planning, organizing, leading and controlling - Then join with me and ask them to "Get Back To Basics."

Open Letter To Mr. Olesen

To the Editor of the
TOWNSMAN:

As a parent with two children in the Bancroft School, I would like to express my feelings about the present school system.

I have been very impressed with the quality of the education. I find that the programs are complete and flexible. The reading and arithmetic programs are outstanding. The writing program is amazing; my daughter, a fifth grade student, has written more than I did as a senior in high school.

The single most important ingredient in any school system is the quality and dedication of the staff. I have found at Bancroft at every grade level outstanding teachers that are always willing to go that "extra mile" to help a student or find a solution to an educational problem.

However, I feel that you were elected by non-parent voters (ill-informed and not interested in the school) that only responded to your promise to hold or reduce expenses. It is interesting to note that only 20 per cent of the voters of the town supported you.

Every parent I have talked with strongly disagrees with your educational philosophies. A case in point is your vote to dismiss Mr. Regan. Mr. Regan is a well known and outstanding administrator. Andover has lost the talents of one of our best professional educators.

I respectfully request as my elected representative that you:

1. Listen and respond to the parents of Andover school children.
2. Educate yourself on the quality and scope of the present educational system.
3. Reconsider your dismissal of Ed Regan.
4. If you reject the above requests, consider resigning as you do not represent the interest of quality education in Andover.

Vietnamese Leader, Top Woman Visits Her Students

THE TOWNSMAN, APRIL 25, 1974

(Special To The Townsman)
"This is the ideal place to study, to develop the capability to adapt oneself to the situation," said Mrs. Nguyen Thi Hai, mother of two students at Mount Holyoke, one at Amherst, and one at Phillips Andover, who visited the Connecticut Valley recently.

Mrs. Hai, with her husband, runs one of South Vietnam's largest pharmaceutical houses, and in addition she is the Vice Speaker of the Lower House in South Vietnam. The pharmaceutical company, which she and her husband, who also is a professor of pharmacology at the University of Saigon, began upon their graduation from the University, occupies their attention, but somehow both find time not only for their other occupations but for a number of volunteer and philanthropic activities in Vietnam. "My job is vice president - - always," said Mrs. Hai, who, in her role as vice president of the Vietnamese Women's Association in Service to Society, shall become even more involved upon her return in the building of the first women's college in Vietnam.

The family, obviously a close and happy one, is special. Each has a strong sense of responsibility to South Vietnam and a desire to serve it. Eldest son, Nguyen Trang-Tuan, is studying economics at Amherst College; daughters Nguyen Trang-Dung and Nguyen Trang-Hanh, are both chemistry majors at Mount Holyoke; and a second son, Nguyen Trang-Nguyen, is enjoying Phillips Andover. All of the children spent time at St. Michael's College in Winooski, Vermont, learning to speak English, prior to the arrival on each of the campuses.

The sending of her family to the United States to be educated was not an easy decision for Mrs. Hai, and it was after many long hours of conversation and consultation with Victoria Schuck, professor of political science at Mount Holyoke, that she decided to do so. Ms. Schuck and Mrs. Hai had become acquainted in 1967, when Victoria Schuck was conducting research in Saigon on the formulation of the new constitution of South Vietnam. Mrs. Hai attended a seminar for women at the Harvard Business School in 1967 and visited Mount VISITING. Nguyen Trang Nguyen, studying at Phillips Academy in Andover, with his mother, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Hai, visiting from Saigon. They are standing at the Bookshop Inn in South Hadley, where two of his sisters attend Mount Holyoke College.

Holyoke. In 1971-72 when Ms. Schuck spent six months in Vietnam, the two women discussed the possibilities of an American education for the four children (a younger daughter is still at home), and Ms. Schuck described the opportunities in the Connecticut Valley.

Mrs. Hai and the children all see their future roles in Vietnam as active participants in the affairs of their country. Both girls are majoring in chemistry which will give them the background to pursue careers in the family business. Although they expect to go on for advanced study, they expect to return first to Vietnam to work, "so that they can make a connection with the reality in Vietnam," said Mrs. Hai, and the reality in South Vietnam, said Tuan, is quite different from the reality of the United States.

The sense of service to her country is deep in Mrs. Hai, and it has been conveyed to the children. Her first political experience was to run as part of a slate for the Vietnamese Senate. The slate lost. She ran again with another slate a year later and although it, too, lost, the list came in fourth out of seventeen - it is the first three that take office. It was then that Mrs. Hai decided to devote that energy and effort toward running as an individual, and that meant running for the Lower House. She won and will serve until 1975. She represents four districts, including Saigon.

Mrs. Hai spoke of the role of women in Vietnam, and said that, particularly with 1,100,000 men away in the army, women were having to assume leadership roles to provide for their families. Tuan remarked that historically the Vietnamese women often became the providers as husbands spend their time in study.

Mrs. Hai sees that there may be a problem when those men in the army seek to return and assume their old responsibilities. She also noted that in South Vietnam women were not only working, but quite often they were leaders and as such were serving as models to those younger women who were just beginning to plan their lives.

Mrs. Hai's family is trilingual, at least, speaking Vietnamese, French and English. Son, Nguyen Trang Nguyen, who has two more years at Andover, has become accomplished in the three bus-change ride from his school to the valley where his brother and sisters are, and Mrs. Hai cited that it was a far shorter visit for her by travelling from Saigon to Paris rather than going round via Hawaii and the West Coast.

The students at Mount Holyoke, Dung and Hanh, live in the same dormitory, but each has a different room with a different roommate. They have quickly adapted to life at College.

Nguyen, at Andover, is having a marvelous experience, he says, and Tuan is quite happy at Amherst. For each, there is the problem of trying to talk about his or her country to an American audience with some very set and preconceived ideas, but the four, joined by their cousin, Oanh Va, who is the only woman graduate student in chemical engineering at the University of Massachusetts, have made many friends and expect to complete their educations here under the watchful eye of Victoria Schuck, who refers to them as her "Vietnamese family."

Earnings Decline

New England Electric System reports consolidated net income of $7,396,000, equal to 43 cents per share for the first three months of 1974 compared to $13,090,000 and 83 cents per share last year, on 1,250,000 fewer shares. The decline in earnings was attributable to the nationwide efforts to conserve energy, spiraling inflationary costs and, most particularly, the one month lag in recovering fuel costs.

Gillette Quarterly
Earnings Up

Net sales and earnings of The Gillette Company made strong gains in the first quarter of 1974, compared with the first quarter of the prior year, Vincent C. Ziegler, chairman and chief executive officer told the Annual Meeting of shareholders in Andover last Thursday.

Sales for the three months ended March 31, were $285,491,000, a 23 per cent increase from the $231,860,000 in 1973. Consolidated net income increased 14 per cent to $23,698,000 from $20,797,000 a year earlier. Earnings per share of $.79 increased 13 per cent from the $.70 in 1973.

"After finishing the year 1973 on a strong note, I am pleased with our performance in the first quarter, especially with the overall results of our foreign operations," Ziegler said.

"We feel that our geographic and product diversification provide both stability and strength to operations in today's complex world environment."

"In the domestic market Gillette products are leaders in 12 of the 18 product categories in which they compete. We sell 850 different items around the world, with more than 7 million daily purchases of our products."

There are serious external problems related to energy and inflation that require flexible management strategies to make 1974 another landmark year for The Gillette Company -- a goal to which we are strongly committed."

tenure reelection list provided by superintendent.

March 22: Chairman notified superintendent that reelection of certain individuals was seriously in question.

March 29: Re-election and tenure list received from superintendent.

March 30: John Wragg again notified the chairman of concerns related to certain positions and his intent to vote negative in certain cases. The chairman again relayed the situation to the superintendent. It is, of course, customary to provide advance information of this nature to a superintendent as a matter of courtesy when situations like this arise.

April 3: To provide the superintendent more time to respond to the growing concern of the committee, the elections were postponed to a special meeting the following week. At the April 3 meeting, discussions of over two hours duration were held in executive session regarding personnel. The superintendent requested a 'straw vote' be provided by each member by Friday, April 5.

April 5: 'Straw votes' submitted generally confirming positions indicated on April 3rd in executive session. Last submission was John Wragg at 3:30 p.m. At 7:30 p.m. telephone calls from citizens at large began to be received by school committee members relative to Mr. Regan and Mr. Becker.

April 10: Final attempt at reasonable resolution made by school committee when John Wragg moved for executive session prior to voting on the six candidates. Mr. William Lane aborted this attempt and the motion was withdrawn. The vote was then taken.

Finally, in conclusion, three points need to be accented:

(1) On April 3, in executive session, the superintendent was given an indication of the way the committee would vote and their reasons for doing so. It was the superintendent's option to relay this information to the individuals concerned and/or suggest they come before the school committee to discuss their cases privately.

The superintendent called some supervisors in and personnel discussions were held. To our knowledge, at no time prior to the vote on April 10, had the school committee received either a formal or informal request from any of the key personnel involved for a face-to-face discussion.

(2) In any difficult decision of this type many factors are involved. The Superintendent's recommendations, our personal view of the individuals' performance based on hard data and judgment, and the needs of the system and its young people are three of the key ingredients in such a decision.

(3) Based on the above considerations, detailing reasons for the action taken clearly would ill serve both the people involved and the Town. We continue to remain available at any time to discuss this matter privately or in executive session with the individuals involved, as we have been for the past several weeks. We have been and will remain firmly opposed to open meetings on this and similar matters to protect both the rights of the individuals and our Town.

Regional Site

will be developed by the state as a prime Resource Recovery Plant operation to solve solid waste problems in the area.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin reported this week that he, Public Works Director Robert E. McQuade and the selectmen are taking a serious look at the matter and the consideration of offering an Andover site to the commission. No decisions have been made. Cutoff date for proposed sites is May 16.

Austin and McQuade have been delegated by the selectmen to study proposed sites for offering to the regional commission. Selectman Edmund Sullivan is the board's representative to the commission.

There are particular factors which would indicate that the selectmen, when they get down to the decision making process on presenting a proposal, might just decide to not present a location.

Andover's zoning regulations appear too strict for permitting such an operation within areas accessible to the two major highways passing through town.

A criteria for site selection by the regional commission is close access to either Routes 93 or 495.

There are other sites available to the region, as indicated by the meeting of the study group last week when five were offered, all having good accessibility via either of the major highways.

Among the considerations at present is the offerings made by Methuen to provide a suitable site for such an operation. When Methuen was chosen by a regional committee a year ago as a prime site for a regional landfill operation, there was considerable opposition.

The new proposal by the state as a solution to the area's solid waste problems, becomes more palatable to community's through its method, plus the lure of revenue. It is proposed that the community where the plant is located would receive 50 cents per ton in lieu of taxes from participating communities, thus a bonus of sorts.

There will be no landfill operation connected with the recovery plant.

The three sites proposed by Methuen at last week's meeting, all seem to meet requirements established by the state and regional planners.

Another motivating factor which Andover selectmen may be considering, is the public reaction in Andover to its own solid waste problem of a year ago.

Fresh in the minds of the selectmen is the attempt in 1973 on three occasions at town meetings to obtain a new landfill site for the town after the state had ordered the Chandler Road site closed.

Refusal by the voters to buy either of two sites suggested, resulted in the town going to a municipal refuse collection with the materials to be deposited out of town.

It could well appear that Methuen has the edge as the 'select' community with its three proposed sites.

Six-Month Tax Rate Is $26

Andover taxpayers, already looking forward to reduced taxes in the year ahead, had some pleasant news this week, as the six-month rate was officially announced at $26 per thousand, a reduction of a dollar.

Assessor William H. Russell announced the six-month rate Wednesday morning.

Tax Collector Myron H. Muise announced at the same time that the six-month tax bill is payable within 30 days of receipt, or the date on the bill. Failure to pay the levy within that period will result in interest being charged at a rate of 8 per cent from the due date.

The new rate, which completes the town's commitments under the 18-month budget adopted a year ago and now places all communities on a fiscal year schedule with the federal and state governments, is a result of increased valuation in the town, according to Assessor Russell.

The total increase over the 1973 valuation amounted to $10,173,000, through new construction and major additions and alterations.

New valuation was placed on the town rolls as of January 1, and took into account considerable amounts of the record new construction authorized by the building department last year.

The total valuation of the town is now $231,712,900, Russell reported.

Breakdown of the tax rate for this six-month period shows school costs at $16.38 and general town expenses at $9.62.

The payments date for the new tax bills differs somewhat from past years when a grace period was contained in the billing period.

Previously tax bills were due on Oct. 1, but if paid by Nov. 1, no interest was payable.

This six-month period, however, the tax collector points out, will require the full payment within the 30 days of the billing date.

After this, the bills will more than likely be forwarded in sufficient time to again allow for the grace period. In other words, tax bills may be in the mails well before the six month payment periods, which will be in October and May.

Ah, Spring!

When spring bursts forth in New England, as it did this week, thoughts turn to the beauty of the season and taking time to enjoy the freshness blossoming forth. Tennis and just partaking the beauties of nature and the campus surroundings seem to be the thoughts of Valerie Corning, a student at Phillips Academy.

Seifert To Describe Number Two Post

By Linda S. Corbett

Andover Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert is scheduled to recommend duties and a title for a number two man to serve under him, at next Tuesday night's meeting of the Andover School Committee.

Seifert was charged to come up with the specifications for such a position at last Wednesday night's session, after Committeeman George Olesen's motions to abolish the existing assistant superintendent position drew fire from the audience and an "unnecessary" label from a colleague.

Seifert said this week that he had had "some direction" from the school committee, and that the position he would propose would probably be heavy in curriculum and research and development, and not in the area of personnel.

The meeting will be on Tuesday, according to the committee's vote last week to return to its first and third Tuesday schedule. Olesen had moved to change the meetings to Wednesdays during his first session on the board in March. Now, he said, he had "adjusted my sales schedule," and was moving to change back "because of criticism imposed on the whole committee."

Chairman Frank Griggs had called Olesen's moves to abolish the unfunded position of assistant superintendent for secondary schools now, and that of assistant superintendent for elementary schools in July, "unnecessary." The latter position is currently held by Edward Regan, but at its April 10 session, the committee failed to reappoint him to that position, effective July 1.

The crowd of 800-plus, which hung on till nearly midnight, seemed largely intimidated by a previously published Olesen reorganization proposal for a deputy superintendent who

Town Meeting Ends; Rate Drop Assured

Andover's 1974 annual town meeting came to a close Monday night after four sessions, marked by action which should produce a reduction in the tax rate.

Monday's action by the 448 voters present, completed a more or less rebuke of planning board proposals by defeating soundly the Flood Plain zoning issue. Approved was rezoning of a lot next to the K. of C. building off Osgood street for an office building, over planning board objections.

In financial matters, voters bought the Doyle property for conservation purposes at a cost of $310,000, a $130,000 tie-in of the Ballardvale Sewerage Treatment plant to the town system, and $140,000 for improvement of High Plain road at Cross street.

The meeting approved a change in the hours for serving alcoholic beverages, but was unable to act on two bylaws dealing with drinking in public or on public property as the two articles were withdrawn.

The two zoning issues, Flood Plain and the change in the Osgood street lot, along with the $310,000 acquisition of the Doyle land caused the most dis-

St. Augustine's Decision To Affect Junior Highs

By Linda S. Corbett

Some 60 additional youngsters from St. Augustine's School will be turned into Andover's two junior high schools at the end of next school year, causing further crowding and adding thousands of dollars to the school budget at a time when the School Committee is trying to keep its portion of the tax rate stable.

The Rev. Jerome A. Holland, O.S.A., pastor of St.

Augustine's, confirmed this week that the seventh and eighth grades will be closed beginning with the 1975-76 school year. The public junior highs, meanwhile, are at best "at capacity" and per pupil costs now average $1300 for the taxpayers.

Father Holland said that the Order of Notre Dame de Namur had notified him that it will not be able to provide sisters for the St. Augustine's staff as of September, 1975. The parish school now has 11 lay teachers, five teaching sisters, and one sister who serves as a teacher-principal.

While the order indicated to him that if an individual sister prefers to stay on, they would try to honor that decision, Father Holland said that finances simply require that salary and maintenance costs

Three Prime Sites For Regional Plant

Three prime sites for a Resource Recovery Center, to handle the solid waste problem for the Greater Lawrence area have been designated by the Central Merrimack Valley Planning Commission.

The three sites meet the standards set up by the state which will provide the facility for the area.

Site one is in Methuen and accessible via Route 495, while site three involves an area adjacent to Route 495 in the Ward Hill or Haverhill section at the North Andover line. Site two is the area of the present North Andover sanitary landfill operation.

Andover will probably not submit a proposed site to the Greater Lawrence Solid Waste Study Committee prior to a May 16 deadline for such. Current zoning provisions would not permit such an operation and would require a zoning change through town meeting. Three town meetings a year ago rejected a new sanitary disposal site.

In addition, Andover, while served by both Routes 93 and 495, is not in a central enough location to the participating communities of Lawrence, North Andover, Methuen and Haverhill.

Methuen has offered three sites to the regional study committee.

Incentive to communities includes no sanitary landfill operation, plus revenue of a half-dollar a ton for solid waste deposited at the plant from the communities using the facility.

Proposals submitted by communities, by the regional planning commission, will be studied by the state with an ultimate site determination possibly in June.

Three Named To FinCom

THE TOWNSMAN, MAY 2, 1974

Three new members have been named to the Andover Finance Committee by Moderator William Dalton.

One, Roger E. Haggerty, 25 West Wind Drive, will take office immediately, while Donn J. Byrne, 15 Lovejoy Road and Paul C. Dow, Jr., 19 Strawberry Hill Road, must await approval by the attorney general for the increased membership on the committee as approved by town meeting.

Haggerty will replace Chairman Frank J. Byrne who is completing his second three year term of the FinCom. Byrne, however, will remain with the committee for the next six months at the request of the moderator to assist the new members.

Haggerty, a supervising senior accountant with the firm of Peat, Marwick and Mitchell in Boston, has been a resident of Andover since 1970. He received a B.S. degree in business education from Babson Institute and served for three years in the United States Navy where he attained the rank of Lieutenant, J.G.

With the Boston accounting firm, he is responsible for corporate audit of Public Service Corp. of New Hampshire, King's Department Stores and American International Service Corp.

Donn Byrne, office manager for Barrett Warehouse, Methuen, was educated in Andover, St. John's Prep and received his degree from Merrimack College.

During service with the U.S. Army, he served in both intelligence and finance. He teaches accounting in adult education programs.

Dow, employed as director of Avco's tactical systems and applied technology programs, is a 1949 graduate of West Point and received masters degrees in aeronautical and instrumentation engineering from the University of Michigan.

In 1957 he received a Ph.D. degree in aeronautical engineering from the University of Michigan.

He attained the rank of captain while serving with the U.S. Air force from 1949 through 1960. Prior to joining Avco in 1960, he had served in the early military space program.

He is an associate fellow, AIAA, associate member, Sigma Xi, registered professional engineer and is listed in American Men of Science.

Town Meeting

cussion at the final session on Monday.

Doyle Property

Atty. Vincent Stulgis opposed the Doyle land purchase, noting that it had been appraised at $209,000 and that the price offered by the selectmen amounted to about $4,100 an acre.

When Stulgis interest in the matter was questioned by a speaker, he replied "as a taxpayer," and considered the comment a "cheap shot."

Selectman Alan French, who spearheaded the selectmen's support of the land acquisition responded to the questioned price of the land parcel that the price generally falls between what the seller is willing to accept and the buyer willing to offer.

Finance Committee Chairman Frank J. Byrne spoke of the advantages of acquiring the land on the "shortfall" principal. He said that essentially obtaining the property by the town represents a saving, since if it was developed residentially, the tax revenue would fall short of the costs of development to the community.

Ardent Conservationist Harold Rafton told the meeting of the need to acquire the property and asked the voters to "stretch your mind into the future." He commented on the need for acquiring land and quoted Will Rogers in his appeal for approval by noting the humorists remark, "land is always a good investment, cause they ain't making any more."

The item was approved 271-130.

The Osgood street rezoning was presented by Atty. Richard G. Asoian, representing the Novelty Ad King company, a firm now located in Andover but in need of additional space.

The Planning Board felt the change from residential to general business would be detrimental and some West Andover residents agreed noting the increased industrialization of the area in recent years.

David MacDonald, a member of the firm, told the voters that his company was willing to give the town covenants covering the property and guaranteed that the proposed construction and use would be a quiet operation compatible to Andover. MacDonald said he had been a resident of Andover for many years, along with his partner and emphasized that "we can not afford false promises," to the town.

The rezoning was approved 310-116.

The Flood Plain Zoning issue, up for a second time was proposed by the planning board again in the interest of presenting protection for the town.

Residents of the area effected by the zoning change, were opposed to the change, based on insufficient information.

Atty. John McGarry, as he had in the October town meeting, again represented the opposition to the proposal.

While planning board members offered rebuttals to such contentions as dangers to existing property in case of destruction by fire, the audience was obviously there for one purpose, defeat of the article which came by a 237 to 74 margin.

During the presentation, discussion and vote on the Osgood street rezoning issue, James D. Doherty acted as moderator. Atty. William Dalton, who is associated with Atty. Asoian in practice, felt it in the best interests to remove himself during the discussion.

At the close of the session, FinCom Chairman Frank Byrne who is retiring from the post, received a standing ovation for the work he has done with the committee for the past six years.

Also singled out for commendation was Roger W. Collins retired chairman of the selectmen, who had worked on the preparation of this year's budget.

On motion of Karl Haartz, the meeting also adopted a resolution praising Elizabeth Seifel, a high school student, who addressed the meeting on the nuclear power plant ban a week ago.

Final action of the town meeting makes official a budget for the next fiscal year of $16,959,884.

Monday night, voters approved taking $350,000 from the free cash account to aid in reducing the tax rate.

The action makes it fairly sure that the Andover tax rate for 1974-75 will be $53 per thousand, a reduction of $1.

would report directly to the school committee, rather than the superintendent.

Joseph J. Reilly of Kirkland Drive called that structure "mongrelized and unworkable," while still another citizen said it would destroy the integrity of the school system. He said employing two executive officers independently of each other was "illegal and unethical" and "would put Andover so far out of step with other school systems in the state that it would be impossible to recruit and hire professional help."

Griggs said that the "George Olesen's proposal never had my support and is never going to have." He also said that the public remarks were "really unnecessary" because it was "not the committee's sentiment" to establish a deputy-type arrangement.

While not a part of the motion, it was written into the minutes on Grigg's request, that the committee had no intention other than having the number two man report to the superintendent.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH, NORTH ANDOVER

The 32nd Annual May Breakfast of West Parish Church in Andover, to be held on Saturday, May 4 from 6:30 - 9:30 a.m. in the parish hall, will bring back memories of yesteryear to many, many people.

May Day was celebrated in the Town of Andover as long ago as 1881, possibly years before then. A "May Fair" was held in 1881, some of the attractions being, the "sale" tables, refreshments, a May Queen and the Good Supper, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The vitamin C of frozen, reconstituted orange juice is the same as the juice squeezed fresh from oranges.

On May 1, 1908, the Women's Relief Corps served a breakfast from 5:30 - 8:30 with the menu consisting of cold ham and tongue, baked beans, brown bread, rolls, pickles, fruit, cakes and pies of all kinds.

Perhaps some readers will recall an announcement by "The Andover TOWNSMAN" such as this:

In the 1930's and 1940's The Legion Auxiliary and the Sons of Veterans Auxiliary held May Breakfasts in the Legion's rooms. Breakfasts included fruit juice, ham, beans, rolls, pie and coffee for .35 cents.

For many years, the custom was to have the occasion on May Day and all streets in town were canvassed for food. However, in 1944, changes were made; the May Breakfast became a Mid-May Supper to be held the first Saturday in May and there would be no canvassing of food, due to war conditions.

In 1942, the Junior Women's Union of the West Parish Church in Andover, presently the Women's Evening Circle, held their first May Breakfast on May Day in the parish hall.

Still continuing as an annual affair, although not on May Day, but on the Saturday nearest May Day, the May Breakfast at West Parish Church is a very special occurrence.

Oh! The memories of the freshly squeezed orange juice, the doughnuts and muffins freshly made, the excitement of choosing the prettiest May Basket (or the one with the most fudge) while you waited for your bacon and eggs to cook and later, rushing off to school or work to tell everyone about it.

This year, on Saturday, May 4 from 6:30 - 9:30 a.m., the May Breakfast promises to be as good as ever.

Co-chairmen Mrs. Kenneth Fitzgerald and Mrs. Fred Tarbox are planning a menu which will include: orange juice, ham and eggs, bacon and eggs, or pancakes, homemade doughnuts and muffins, milk and coffee.

Chairmen for the various committees are: homemade bakery, Mrs. Russell MacLeish; old fashioned may baskets, Miss Mary Putnam; tickets, Mrs. Richard MacGowan; dining room, Mrs. Robert Cox; kitchen, Mrs. Robert McQuade and Mrs. Edward Warwick; aprons, Mrs. Olive Carruthers; plant centerpieces, Mrs. Wayne Newton.

A car wash by the Pilgrim Fellowship Youth Group will be held in the parking lot during breakfast hours.

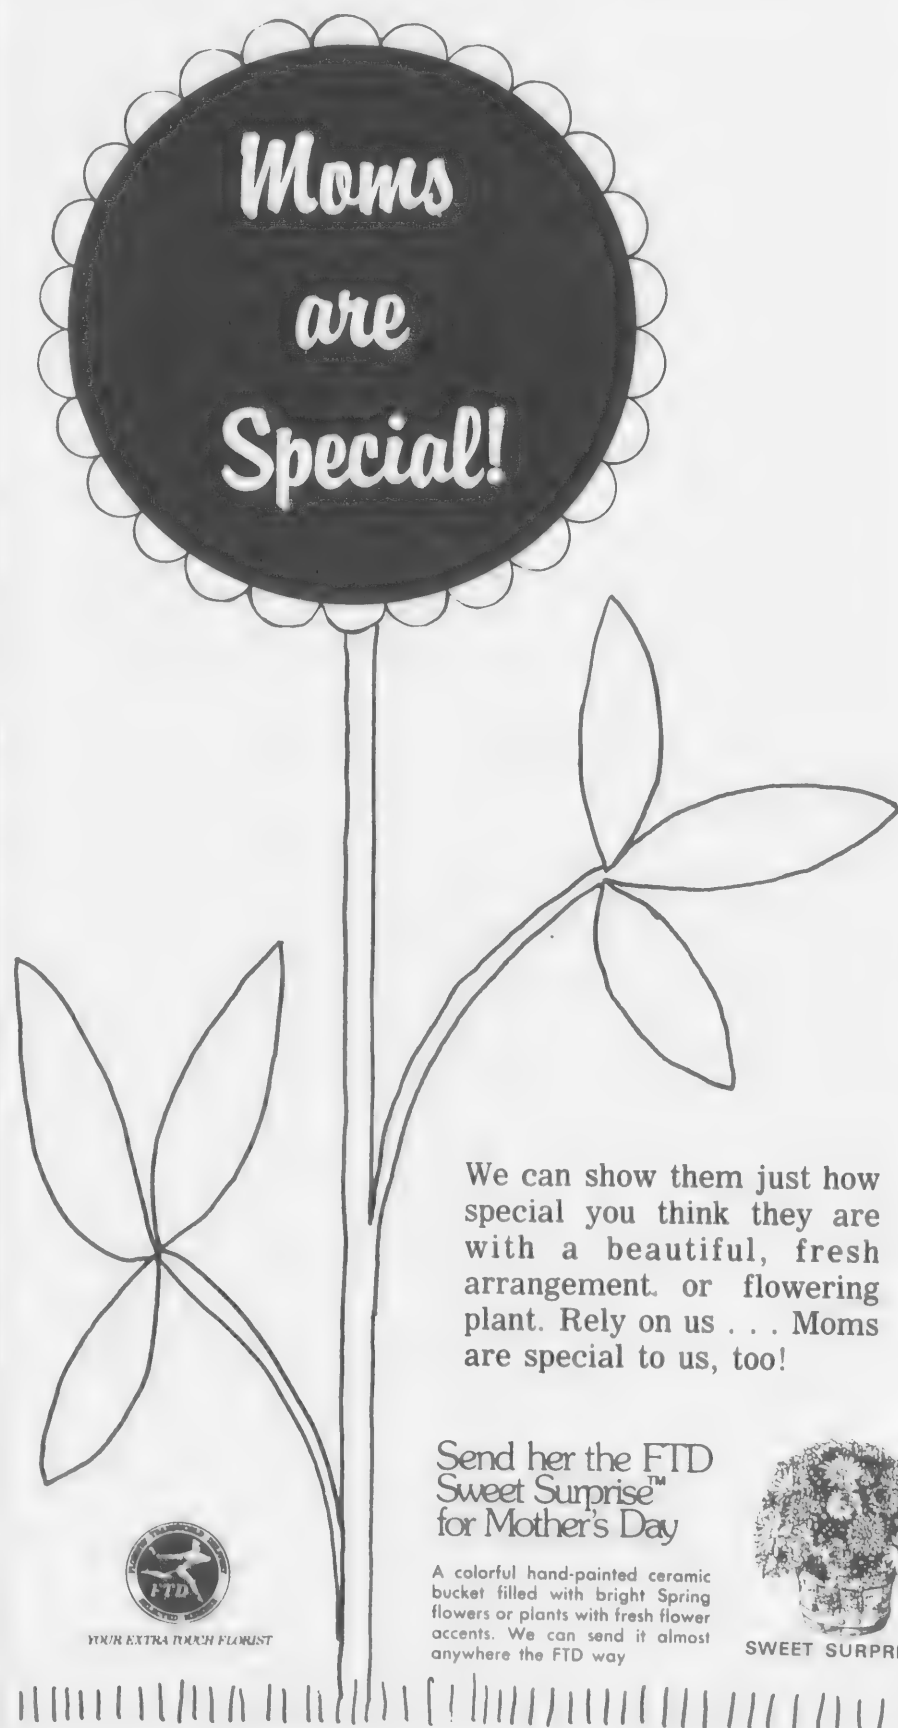

Tickets for the breakfast may be purchased at the door.

Won Painting

Charles W. Piper, 11 Royal Crest Drive, North Andover held the winning ticket for the award of the painting which Mrs. Marietta B. Amy donated to the Art Department of the November Club to augment the Scholarship Fund.

The painting has been on display at Elander and Swanton, Inc. for several weeks and members have been selling chances on the painting for the last few months.

Duane Welch and Alcide LeGendre were a tremendous help in the undertaking.

already is committed to a repeat Auction next year, according to Mrs. Elaine Katz of the Recycling Committee.

An estimated 15-20 tons of goods were auctioned off to Andover bidders at the Rec Lodge on a warm sunny Saturday, instead of being carted off to top off some landfill. The bidding brought in over $1,900 destined for the town treasury, according to Mrs. Katz.

"It was excellent, we were very pleased," commented John Lewis at Town Hall. "Everybody seemed to have a good time and people went away with things they really needed, things that otherwise might have been wastefully thrown away. This was true recycling. Now you get the idea of the good things some people have been throwing away all those years we had the dump. People got perfectly good televisions Saturday for $3 and $4, and good refrigerators for $5 and $10. We want to thank all the people who saved things for the auction, brought them out to the Rec. Lodge, helped with the Auction, and bought things there."

"Next year the Recycling Committee hopes the town will find some storage space, so we can have two or three pickups of auction articles during the year, instead of having to do all the gathering in the last two weeks."

Auctioneers Ralph N. Sharpe and Philip K. Allen donated their services to the town, kept the bidding up from 10 a.m. until late afternoon. They added lots of color. "See this mirror," Sharpe told a Recycling committee member before the auction. "I'll tell them Princess Elizabeth probably looked in this mirror before she went off to that cathedral to marry Prince Philip some years ago. They'll know I'm kidding, but they'll enjoy it."

Dealers bought, people bought for their own homes or cottages. A Phillips Academy duo partially furnished their cluster's new social center from the Recycling Auction on a tight budget. They were in a hurry, so they purposefully carried the things they wanted up to the auctioneer, as if carrying out instructions. "Their" items came up in quick succession, so they bid fast and furiously and needed to hire another bidder with a truck to get it all back to the campus. A mother who had got rid of two handcarved wooden trays by donating them to the auction was startled when she saw her own daughter successfully bid for them - to give to a neighbor.

What happened to the leftovers? A couch and chairs were donated to the Andover ABC House. Four or five TVs were left that needed repairs, and they are being donated to the high school electronics class, to work on. "That's recycling," coined Ed Witten, the Recreation Department's maintenance man "and it sure makes sense." Witten was praised by the Recycling Committee workers for enthusiastic and cheerful assistance in receiving and storing articles for the auction at the Rec. Lodge, and making sure they weren't stolen. "We had to watch out for that," commented Mrs. Elaine Katz. "It's like the newspapers. Since the newspaper prices went up, some poachers are stealing the town blind by picking up the newspapers Andover people put out for recycling. Well, as the auction showed last week, one man's trash is another's treasure."

View Early Species

Sunday morning the first spring bird walk of the Merrimack Valley Bird Club was held at Haggett's Pond in Andover. Although it was still cool at 6 a.m., with temperatures in the 40's and a light breeze, people in the Greater Lawrence area were not daunted. Fifty people hiked from the Rt. 93 bridge along High Plain Road to the entrance of the dirt path which leads to the pond. One dedicated member even walked from the Lawrence Public Library.

Thirty species which were mainly early spring migrants and permanent residents were seen on the two hour walk. Two herons - the Great Blue and the Green which actually appears blue were spotted on the edge of the pond. Black, Wood and Mallard ducks as well as the Canada Goose are residing on the pond. The most noisy songster was the Brown Thrasher which is a member of the Mimimidae, the mimiea of the bird world. It sang lustily from the tops of the tall trees around the pond.

A fascinating sight was the Yellow-bellied Sapsucker pecking a series of small holes in a branch not to drink the sap as its name might imply, but to make the sap flow so that the stickiness traps insects.

Y Plans Private Pool Program

This summer the Andover-North Andover YMCA plans to again conduct the Private Pool Swimming Program which has grown steadily for the past six years. Preliminary announcements have been mailed to all private backyard pool owners of Andover and North Andover, of record, requesting submission of a required application blank by May 15. Any other owners of private pools, who do not receive the application by mail, including both residential backyard pools and apartment complex pools, may obtain an information sheet and application blank at the Andover YMCA office, 10 Brook St.

Basically the plan calls for the loan of a pool to the Andover-North Andover YMCA so that swim programs may be conducted in that particular neighborhood. The pool is loaned for a period of three hours once each week during the summer period. In this time period the YMCA schedules for instruction classes. A certified instructor heads each class group usually with one or more assistants.

In its sixth season, last summer, thirty-eight pools were offered with 841 enrolled pupils organized into 104 class groups. Total attendance reached 6,589, with a ratio of 2.6 pupils per teacher.

Instruction will be offered to children 4-14 years of age, to women, to children 3 years of age with participating mothers, to certain specialized groups and to any others who may wish to be involved, by arrangement.

Interested pupils may register for the summer program when a time is announced, approximately June 15. Information will be mailed to all current YMCA members and may be obtained at the YMCA by others after June 15.

In May is annual vacation time for all kinds of house plants. Take them outside to sheltered, partially shady places. If possible, plunge pots into ground. Repot those in need. Feed and water freely.

A senior class dance may be the first such affair at Andover High School now that the ban on dances is lifted, Principal Philip Wormwood said this week.

The dances, cancelled earlier this year because of drinking, will be reinstituted with the burden of keeping order on the shoulders of the youths themselves, Wormwood said.

Students Bear Burden Of Conduct At Dances

Greg Brown of the Student Advisory Committee reported at the School Committee's public meeting last Wednesday night, that they would count on student supervision and additional adult chaperones to handle the dances. In addition, he said, lights would be brighter at future dances, but still dim enough to "retain the mood necessary to the success of a dance." The youths also would clean up the following day.

Brown said the youth committee decided against increasing the number of policemen above the two of former dances, and that the disadvantages of confining youths within the building once they arrived, outweighed the advantages.

They will rely instead, he said, on "peer group pressure" and two patrols of two youths each - one to make rounds inside the dance, and one for the parking lot. Anyone caught drinking would be readmitted to the dance if they stopped, he said, but if they refused to quit or leave, they would be placed on student probation and barred from future activities.

He said the new rules would apply to all students, whether from Andover High or not. Some of the violators in the past, he said, were from the junior highs or from other towns.

"Some adults have said that drinking isn't a problem in other communities," he went on, "but most other communities don't have dances either."

Wormwood added this week that the youths would be seeking 10 chaperones for future dances, including the two policemen, as recommended by the School Committee. He said that recruiting chaperones had been "a real problem" in the past. However, he said, after hearing of that problem at last week's School Committee meeting, several adults came forward and volunteered.

The high schoolers have missed "two or so" dances because of the ban, Wormwood said, but added that the seniors now seem to be interested in having a spring dance, though no date had been formally set.

To Discuss Epilepsy Association

On April 18, approximately 25 concerned professionals, parents, and interested citizens voted to establish a provisional Epilepsy Association for the Greater Merrimack Valley Area. Dr. David S. Shapiro, Executive Director of the Lawrence General Hospital Rehabilitation Center was elected provisional chairman of this group. At this meeting, representatives were present from the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, the Epilepsy Foundation, and the Epilepsy Society of Massachusetts. They helped to outline the dimensions of the unmet needs for service for individuals and families with various epilepsy conditions.

The professionals, parents, and others present at the meeting recognized that the lack of information, misinformation, superstitions and antiquated laws and regulations impose tremendous hardships on the epileptics and their families. With this in mind, it is the stated objective of this group to organize throughout the Merrimack Valley: to establish and promote responsible advocacy for this group; to conduct educational and training programs for the general community, for the medical community, the school community, and all others having responsibility for the welfare of these individuals.

A public meeting is scheduled for May 16, at which Dr. Roger Paradis, a neurologist, and a panel of professionals familiar with the problems and resources will provide information and answer questions. The meeting will take place at the Kurth Auditorium at the Lawrence General Hospital, at 7:30 p.m. Those people seeking information as well as those individuals who would like to help, are urged to come to this meeting.

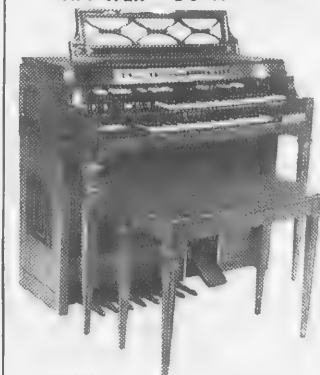

Insects

Most insects are attracted to blue-violet colors, and are blind to yellow and red. However, some butterflies are attracted to some red flowers, and the larvae of clothes moths prefer red materials to those of other colors. Bees may attack black and usually ignore white, the Massachusetts Audubon Society says.

On Friday the second annual Tri-County Business Skills Contest will be held at Andover High School. This year there will be many schools from the Merrimack Valley Area attending.

The Typing contest will consist of two five-minute timings allowing for only two errors. The Shorthand and Transcription contest will be one three-minute dictation at each of the following speeds: 120, 100, and 80 words per minute.

The following students will represent Andover High School: Typing: Pamela Martellucci and Donna Porcaro.

Shorthand and Transcription: Karen Nicholas and Karen Caughey.

This type of contest allows business students to see how they compare with students from surrounding schools as well as representing their school in the regional competition.

Leahey Lead Crimson Oarsmen

Andover's Bob Leahey, manning the bow position in the Harvard varsity lightweight crew, rowed brilliantly as the Crimson lights recorded their second victory of the season on April 20.

The Harvard boat cruised across the 2000 meter finish line in open water ahead of MIT and Dartmouth to capture its tenth consecutive Biglin Bowl, its seventeenth victory since the Regatta began in 1955. The Crimson posted a time of 6:06.2 on the Charles River course.

Leahey is a graduate of Phillips Academy in Andover. The son of Garret Leahey of 146 Argilla Road, he is concentrating in English at Harvard.

Food Stamp Session Scheduled

Governor Francis W. Sargent will speak to professionals, relatives, and people who are developmentally disabled at Boston State College on May 4, at 7:30 p.m. At this one-day conference, the Governor will ask for recommendations for programs dealing with epilepsy, mental retardation, cerebral palsy, and other neurological diseases.

Open Letter To The School Committee

Dear Chairman Griggs:

Although the school committee meeting of April 24th appeared to be more positive in terms of communication, we feel there is still a real unresolved issue of concern of the professional staff in Andover.

Primarily, we question the qualifications of the members of the school committee as individuals to evaluate the competencies and effectiveness of individual teachers and administrators based upon their lack of first hand knowledge of how these educators perform their duties.

However, given the fact that the school committee has assumed this right, presumably based upon the evaluations and recommendations given by each individual's immediate supervisor (who is in a position to observe and evaluate), we are addressing this letter to the issue of the criteria for these evaluations and subsequent recommendations and decisions.

Specifically, we wish to be informed of the method by which educators are chosen, elected to tenure, or re-elected to tenure and by whom.

At the school committee meeting of April 10th prior to the open discussion of the re-election of six of our colleagues, eight pages of names were accepted uncontested. Presumably, the undersigned were among those listed. We would like to be informed publicly on what basis the individuals named were acceptable while Mr. Regan, Mr. Becker, Mr. Silverman, Mrs. McCabe, Mrs. Gaunt, and Mr. Woodward were questioned. Was the evaluation process different for these six from that employed for the others?

It has been our understanding that an evaluation process has been clearly outlined whereby the criteria was the establishment of specific goals with administrative monitoring of these goals, culminating in a final evaluation and ultimate recommendation, again, by the immediate supervisor who is best in a position to determine the validity of the realization of the specific goals.

It has been brought to our attention (and that of the community in a public newspaper article) that this process was abolished in the consideration of the above-mentioned six colleagues and replaced by minimal personal observation and criticisms by non-educators of a teacher sitting on a carpeted floor working with a small group of children, a non-professional criticism of Mr. Becker's "liberal views", the disagreement with the political preferences of a specific teacher and other non-educational views. These allegations have not been denied.

In summary, we formally request, so that we may accordingly direct our future department and educational efforts, a public declaration of the performances which are acceptable for re-election and the listing of the specific criteria and process by which these decisions for re-election of the undersigned were made.

If the aforementioned allegations are true, professionally, we feel there should be more valid educationally sound criteria than an individual's liberal views, unshod feet or constitutional right to support an opposing candidate for public office. We request a formal statement of what you deem this criteria to be.

Editor's Note: This letter has been signed by in excess of 200 members of the professional staff of the Andover school department. The names are not published, only due to space limitation. They are on file in the TOWNSMAN office.

Letter To Dr. Seifert

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

I read with interest your letter of April 22 (co-authored by Mr. Griggs), which indicates to me a changing emphasis on the philosophy of public education in our town and its impact on the children of Andover. Although couched in a variety of high-sounding phrases, the letter expresses no bold new concepts but simply signifies a return to traditional values. Which, of course, is where we should have been all the time.

Putting it quite bluntly, Dr. Seifert, progressive education is a ploy foisted upon the intellectually strong by the self-righteous, self-moralizing representatives of the intellectually weak, those Cambridge-type snobs who always seem to have a tailor-made solution to every social situation which might possibly confront us. The only problem is, of course, that such ideas never work.

I offer instead my own set of truisms for effective education:

1. Competition is healthy.
2. Grades are necessary.
3. Not all people are educable.
4. The non-educable need not be educated.

For the good of society, natural law, as opposed to moral law, must prevail in such situations. If we are ever to reverse the steady decline which has afflicted our nation over the past four decades, and if we are to keep pace with the technology that is to be the building block of our future survival, we must assert leadership, we must have leaders.

For the type of input which you requested in your letter, I refer you to Darwin, Laura Huxley, Spengler, Houston Stewart Chamberlain, Max Rafferty, Shockley. And, of course, Jensen. It's all there in "Genetics and Education"; if only people will read it with an open mind. Perhaps they might learn something.

Time is running out, Dr. Seifert. Even if Johnny can't read, rest assured that Ivan can.

Charles A. Kanter
195 High Plain Road
Andover

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

I keep hearing that recent developments on the Andover School Committee have put Superintendent Seifert "on the spot." It seems to me it would be more accurate to say that Dr. Seifert has been taken "off the spot."

Until now Dr. Seifert has had to keep up with developments in the complex field of elementary and secondary education and, following policy guidelines set by the School Committee, he has had to choose the programs and methods that are best for Andover. He has made these professional decisions based on his background and judgment, and he has borne almost sole responsibility for their success. That, to me, is being "on the spot."

Now the direction of Andover's educational policy has changed. This should mean a new challenge for Dr. Seifert in making decisions to meet the new guidelines. However, a majority of the School Committee apparently feels that the town has given them a mandate to assume these responsibilities. Three men whose professional background is in business, with a combined total of two years experience on the Andover School Committee and six years training in the political jungles of Cambridge, are not only going to make the educational decisions, they are even going to make the administrative decisions about implementing them. Dr. Seifert and our staff of professional educators need only do what they are told - they will no longer be required to exercise their own judgment. In fact, if the April 10 meeting is any indicator, their recommendations may not even be listened to.

Dr. Seifert can have a well-deserved respite from the difficult decisions. If the effort to muzzle him doesn't succeed, he may get a chance to offer his opinions about the decisions of the non-professionals, but he won't be the one who can be blamed for their consequences.

So let's not worry too much about Dr. Seifert. Let's worry about the children and the teachers in our schools. They're the ones who are "on the spot." Let's hope it's not too long before Andover wakes up to what is happening to them and we can once again entrust education to our educators.

Donald J. Mulvey
104 High Plain Road
Andover

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

The people at Town Meeting were given a very instructive but unfortunately too brief description of the hazards facing them if the proposed nuclear power plants are built in New England.

Since this was probably the most important subject of the evening as it concerns everyone's life and property, a series of public discussions is being planned so that concerned citizens may know what faces them.

Andover public youngsters, grades 1-8, will be given the Achievement Tests, skills, and the Sequel of Educational Progress studies, language arts, this spring. The decision was made Wednesday night's School Committee session, following Douglas Mitchell, chair of the subcommittee on tests.

Andover youngsters tested annually, according to policy passed by the School Committee last fall.

This year's tests, as will be administered in the fall, despite a move by Committee member George Mitchell to the fall.

Mitchell said the tests, published by McGraw-Hill, provide a range in math, and validity when compared to content of Andover programs.

While he said the preferred STEP for three skill tests, he would prefer Stanford-Binet test could be purchased.

Smok At An

Smoking violations at school, particularly in classrooms, have decreased. Number of youths smoking decreased, Mark Hamilton, Student Advisory Council told the School Committee last week.

Hamilton, one of the chairmen of last fall's "Breathe," said a recent high school indicator week-long anti-smoking campaign has indeed helped back the incidence of smoking.

He said that 1200 of the students who responded to the survey while 28 per cent say they had smoked, 33 per cent had said "yes" last December. Several Andover public school youngsters, grades 1 through 9, will be given the Stanford Achievement Tests for math skills, and the Sequential Tests of Educational Progress, for social studies, science and language arts, this spring.

The decision was made at last Wednesday night's School Committee session, following a report by Douglas Mitchell, chairman of the subcommittee to recommend tests.

Andover youngsters are to be tested annually, according to a policy passed by the School Committee last fall.

This year's tests, as in the past, will be administered in the spring, despite a move by School Committeeman George Olesen to switch to the fall.

Mitchell said the committee felt the Stanford, published by McGraw-Hill, provided a greater range in math, and held more validity when compared to the content of Andover's math programs.

While he said the committee preferred STEP for the other three skill tests, he said they would prefer Stanford, if only one test could be purchased.

The Stanford could only be bought in whole, for $6467, while the STEP could be purchased in part. The three segments Andover will use will cost an additional $4667.

School Committeeman John Wragg questioned the establishment of the Stanford '74 norms, saying that the test results were extremely high in North Andover and in Bedford last fall. In fact, he said, only three school youngsters in North Andover were below the norms.

Mitchell said that one shouldn't try to predict how the youngsters would score on a test. He also said that the norms might have been in the experimental stage last fall, but now are firm.

"You seem to be hell bent for giving this test in the spring, and on questionable material," Olesen went on.

"It might be better to postpone any achievement test till fall, but administer the IQ test this spring, so you can relate the IQ test."

Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert said that the major reason for not testing in the fall is that the tests can't be given right away, in the first three weeks or so of school. Then, he said, three or four months out of the beginning of the year are lost in assessment.

"We give them in the spring so they can tell us what we have done for a year and help prepare for next year."

"If we test in the fall," Wragg said, "we can make adjustments with those students where necessary in the same year."

"We don't just use an achievement test to modify a program," Seifert said.

In addition, he said, to provide a valid comparison of the percentiles, tests should be given at the same time every year.

Assistant Superintendent Edward Regan added that it was "logical and normal" to give tests as late as we can in the spring. "In the fall," he said, "we're talking about a diagnostic test and looking for different results."

John Lyons made the motion, with a second from William Lane, to accept the Stanford for math, and STEP for language arts, social studies and science. The motion passed 2-1-1, with Olesen voting "no" and Wragg, "present."

Smoking Declines At Andover High

Smoking violations at the high school, particularly in the rest rooms, have decreased; as the number of youths smoking has decreased, Mark Hamilton of the Student Advisory Committee told the School Committee last week.

Hamilton, one of the co-chairmen of last fall's "Project Breathe," said a recent survey at the high school indicates that the week-long anti-smoking campaign has indeed helped to cut back the incidence of smoking.

He said that 1200 of 1400 pupils responded to the survey, and that while 28 per cent say they smoke, 33 per cent had said "yes" before last December. Seventy-eight per cent, he said, have at least tried smoking, and eighty-four per cent said they felt the project was worthwhile.

School Committeeman William Lane commended the committee and asked them to consider making Project Breathe an annual affair. If they would, he said, he would pledge the support of Bon Secours Hospital, of which he is administrator, and the Joint Hospital Committee.

Also at the School Committee session, Ann Palmeri reported that the youth group is working to present a program on venereal disease awareness, in conjunction with the health department and outside agencies.

Federal Funds For County

Essex County Commissioners will apply one million dollars in federal revenue sharing funds to help alleviate the burden on taxpayers in the counties 34 communities, it was announced Tuesday at the County Commissioners meeting.

The federal monies will mean that one million dollars less will have to be raised through the county assessment on the cities and towns.

Federal Funds Co-Ordinator John J. Quigley reported the county received in 1973 nearly $2 million in federal monies.

Quigley also reported that $10,000 is being allocated from revenue sharing for a recreational area at American Legion Park in Georgetown. The facility will be open to all county residents and will be the first joint town-county project funded with federal revenue sharing monies by a Bay State county.

In other action Philip Berry was appointed senior building custodian at the Peabody District Court and Kenneth Flynn a janitor at the same courthouse.

Teacher Training

Teacher Training Institute for persons wishing to be trained as tutors for children with specific language problems will be offered by The Carroll School, in Lincoln, this summer. In addition, the school will conduct its regular summer school and day camp for children with language problems.

A seven-week course based on the Orton-Gillingham teaching methods will be offered for qualified teachers and other candidates beginning June 24.

Private Hearings For Regan, Becker

Assistant Superintendent Edward Regan was scheduled to have a private hearing with the School Committee last night, but the question of a public hearing into the reasons why he was not re-elected to his position at the April 10 committee meeting, remained unresolved at press time.

The School Committee, before a partisan audience of more than 800 in the East Junior High auditorium last Wednesday night, and after receiving nearly 6000 petitions for public hearings, voted 3-1 to give private hearings "as soon as possible" to Regan and William Becker.

Becker, the high school English teacher who was demoted from department head at the same April 10 meeting, is expected to meet with the committee in executive session next Tuesday.

That session, Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert said this week, should not be construed as a "hearing." He said that sitting down with the committee was one of the steps in the formal grievance procedure which Becker is entitled to by his teaching contract.

Becker meanwhile has also been working with the Massachusetts Teachers Association's legal staff.

"It's difficult to prepare a defense, however," he said this week, "when you don't know what the charges are. We can only work on the things I've done and hope they'll counteract whatever charges there can be."

Last Wednesday's crowd was on the edge of their seats early in the meeting, when a Wildrose Drive resident stood to correct minutes of the April 10 session.

Why, he asked, were questions by Mrs. R. Milton Cole and Dr. Richard Katz, into why Regan and Becker were relieved of administrative duties, omitted from the minutes, when Ralph Wilbur's "self-serving statement" was included by name.

Committeeman William Lane said he had already seen to a correction.

Letters

Chairman Francis Griggs asked the group for "restraint," then read letters from Regan, asking for reasons for his dismissal because it could "have serious implications on my professional future," from Becker, giving formal notice that he was pursuing the matter through the formal grievance procedure; and from Committeemen John Wragg and John Lyons, continuing to oppose open hearings.

That letter, printed in last week's TOWNSMAN, stated that a private session was designed "to protect the rights and safeguard the privacy of the individual."

Wragg then moved to entertain an executive session to discuss personnel matters with Regan and Becker.

In ensuing discussion Griggs said that he did not necessarily agree with the judgment made by his colleagues, "but they have every right to make it." He said he hoped that the matter could be resolved by a closed hearing.

Olesen added that he "feels very sorry for Mr. Regan because he did not know what was going on," and that he hoped Regan would meet with the committee and that he would reconsider and stay in the Andover School System.

Regan does still have tenure as an elementary principal, though he said at the April 10 session that he would "rather sweep streets than work in this atmosphere," and that he would not cause any problems for principals currently assigned to buildings.

Olesen said that he had proposed a reorganization and that in the course of it, "it meant not reelecting Mr. Regan." He indicated that the purpose was to "get the elementary program back on track."

"That," he said, "has to be done with someone who has not participated in making it what it is."

While Regan has been assistant superintendent for elementary schools, the secondary spot has remained vacant and Seifert said that Regan, in essence, has been filling both spots for the past year.

Petitions

First up with petitions - 4,706 in all - was Dr. William O'Reilly, who said he did not know either Regan or Becker personally.

"Nor have any of my children been under their direct tutelage," he said. "But I see the lives of two men being shrouded in an air of mystery. I see two men facing the future asking themselves simply, 'Why?'"

"The air of mystery surrounds you, too," he told the school committee, "because your motives are being questioned."

He said there "does exist a great deal of tension which I feel needs to be removed."

"You ask to return to the three R's of Reading 'Riting and 'Rithmetic," "I ask you to return to the three R's of rights, respect and reconciliation."

But, he concluded, "it is for the group of 6200 young people in Andover schools that I agreed to speak as a non-partisan. Gentlemen, the time is here to clear the air."

Following O'Reilly's standing ovation from much of the auditorium, Lyons said that he disagreed "with the philosophy of the petition and the intent behind it," but that he was pleased at the participation and community effort. He said he felt an open hearing "would not be in the best interest of the people involved."

"I realize this is a difficult time," Wragg added, "but if you want five men up here who agree with everything the superintendent says," he said, "then you don't need a school committee." A scattered applause and laughter followed, along with the audible comment, "you're right, we don't."

Michael Doran, "representing a majority of students at Andover High School," then presented a petition of 979 signatures which began, "We the students are displeased with the results of the last meeting and the way in which it was conducted."

It voiced their support and gratitude for Regan and Becker, "two exceptional administrators," and asked "why they were dismissed and demoted."

Rights

Attorney Carmine DiAdamo, said that Regan would waive his individual rights, and that he would sign an agreement not to sue for anything that was said in a public hearing.

Again taking the microphone, Olesen said that he had "nothing personal against Regan," and that he was "perfectly willing to go along with a public hearing," provided he was willing to sign a waiver of defamation.

"Things will come out that have happened subsequent to a vote of the committee," he said.

"If it is the intent of the School Committee to hold a closed hearing to protect my rights," Regan said, then he would waive those rights," in order to protect the rights of the citizens of Andover. "They must hear the reasons for my dismissal," he said.

"I hear something tonight that makes me very alarmed," he went on. "I have a feeling there are new and added charges."

After the vote for private hearing, Griggs said he could accept a public hearing, but felt that prior to an open session they should sit down face to face.

Lane then asked that the executive sessions with the two parties be recorded either on tape or by a stenographer. Olesen said he saw no reason to have either, but Griggs agreed to the recorder.

Dr. Seifert, referring back to Dr. O'Reilly's comments, said "I too love Andover. I hope to have a Paul Revere bowl for 35 year's service here. We're all trying to do our job." But, he said, one of the problems that we have is that the school committee does not have a policy on teacher evaluations.

"We're talking about more than Regan and Becker," he went on. We're talking about a professional staff that has some questions.

In every appointment we involve as many people as possible. When Ed Regan was appointed, he had been approved by every principal. More people have their say here than in any other school system.

"But if we don't get moving on," he said, "creativity in this system will be curbed." He said he felt there might also be a talent drain, and this week, again citing low morale, he said he felt there would be some "very, very serious problems" if this matter were not resolved soon.

In conclusion last Wednesday, Seifert said that "ability to compromise is something we all have to learn. We have to consider a higher priority - the 6400, not 6200 - kids."

I hope," he said, "that the school committee will reconsider its position."

New Directions For Andover Schools Outlined

New diploma requirements will be part of the new direction the Andover School System will be taking, Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert elaborated last Wednesday night during the School Committee meeting at East Junior High.

The general steps had been outlined in a letter that went out to parents last week, and included greater emphasis on basic skills, more teacher - directed activities where students are not progressing appropriately in individualized programs, greater parental involvement, more structured approach, more deliberate evaluation of the high school curriculum and electives, and increased emphasis on improving student conduct.

The letter had been co-signed by Seifert and School Committee Chairman Francis E. Griggs.

Seifert explained that parents would soon have more say in the placement of their youngsters in various programs.

For instance, he said, "if we feel a youngster should be in a given program, then we will recommend it." But, he said, the school would also say what all it has to offer, and it would then be in the parents' last judgment to determine where the child should be.

Seifert said the schools will be coming out with a parents' manual to describe the various programs in the system, and explain what they can do to get more involved.

Another way, he said, is through homework. "I believe," he said, "that there are a number of parents in the community who like to work with pupils at home."

Seifert said that a system-wide writing and spelling program will be integrated into the new reading program, and that basic skills assessments will be given in grades six, eight and 11. In grade six, he said, these will be functional tests, to monitor the everyday things that people should be able to do, such as tell time, basic addition, and the like.

The new eighth grade testing, he said, will allow the schools to sit down with parents and discuss the possibilities for the future, such as the course the youngster should take in high school.

Eleventh grade testing, he said, will give one more year to correct deficiencies, when found.

He said he would also like to institute both college seminars, to give students advice on college boards, the application process, how to interview, what college tests to take and the like, and occupational seminars.

Seifert called student conduct "a very severe problem that we must deal with in the community," and said that there are some students who have no respect for their parents or the faculty. He said he sees an increase in this at all levels, and that while putting such persons outside the system doesn't help the individuals, keeping them in the classroom is disruptive to others.

The letter to parents has been referred to as a "unity" message, and Seifert concluded Wednesday that he will have "no difficulty in implementing the things that have been mentioned here."

Good Signs

Amid the tumult of the school committee controversy these past few weeks, has come what we feel is some sensible direction and an attempt toward unity in the school system.

The attention to such things as school committee personnel action, has probably commanded attention away from the letter forwarded to parents last week and co-signed by Chairman Francis Griggs of the school committee and Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert, superintendent of schools.

Outlining the direction the school system is to take, the combined directors of the town's school systems set the educational course on one aimed at emphasis on basic skills, teacher directed activities to assist students in need and most importantly greater parental involvement.

Also to be attended to are serious student conduct problems.

Supt. of Schools Seifert comments that he would have no difficulty in implementing the things mentioned in the guidelines.

We would hope that such will be the case, and the theme of the overall letter and directional outline, namely, unity, would begin to prevail for the benefit of those most concerned - the students.

Among some of the items that stand out in the proposal, just from a quick glance, are such items as evaluating a sixth grade student to see if the youngster can meet the everyday requirements, such as tell time, basic mathematics, or testing at the eighth grade level and reviewing the results with parents to discuss possibilities for the future for the child.

Somehow, we view this as the type of "Back to Basics" that school people have been talking about - back to the basic units of family and school working for the proper development of the child, as opposed to the merits of McGuffey's reader.

We have never looked upon the new majority of the school committee as being the predecessor of the demise of the Andover school system.

Rather, a school committee regardless of composition, is but an instrument of the overall education provided in a community.

In the final analysis, if a child has the desire to learn, avails himself of the opportunity, is guided by interested parents ready to assist and provide the time, has the direction and guidance of qualified teachers interested in their profession, then Andover, as all communities is afforded a proper learning climate.

The directional guidelines offered and discussed at last Wednesday's school committee meeting fall into this category, we feel.

The FinCom

With town meeting once again a part of the town's history, until at least October, it is only proper to give some credit to a loyal group of unpaid overseers of the town's finances - the Finance Committee.

It is a thankless job and one which bathes annually in controversy.

Elected and appointed officials justifiably seek as much as the traffic will bear, in a sense, to fulfill what they rightly feel the citizens of the community desire for services.

And, annually, the FinCom members sift through the myriad of figures to come up with what they feel more adequately meets the taxpayers pocketbooks.

It is not a type job that fits snugly into the Dale Carnegie mold by a long shot.

But these seven members have been at the job for countless hours and have taken the harassment, bowed to the plaudits when they came their way, which was not often.

With town meeting attendance at a low point this year, and a trend in that direction, unless some great controversy is on the agenda, townspeople rely heavily on Fin Com members for their advisories.

This year, the FinCom, per usual, won some and lost some on the town meeting floor, but no one could say that the final decision of the voters was made without adequate presentations on both sides.

Minority reports from FinCom members dissipated any misnomers that a particular cause faced a stacked deck at town meeting.

Andover can be most appreciative of the "homework" done by its officials in preparing for town meetings, but we would like to single out the FinCom members particularly for their efforts in carrying out a difficult assignment in democratic fashion.

Profile

Bowing Out On A Winning Note

Bowing out on a winning note is a good way to leave public service, and if the very real possibility of a reduced tax rate for Andover this year is significant, than Frank J. Byrne, retiring chairman of the Finance Committee is a winner.

Byrne has been a member of the FinCom for six years, the last two as chairman. Fluctuations in the town's tax rate have taken place during that period, but the rate has never dropped.

This year it is expected to drop at least a dollar.

His term of office has been marked by a sincerity to oversee the town's finances, offer his views on creeping regionalism and a few broadsides at the county form of government.

Monday night he received appreciative standing applause of those attending town meeting for his efforts.

Mrs. Virginia Hammond of the Conservation Commission, after the meeting had adjourned, offered her congratulations as well as thanks for some favorable remarks and explanation made by Byrne on the $310,000 approved for purchase of the Doyle property for conservation purposes.

Her remarks made Frank feel good, because the FinCom chairman took his duties seriously and winning and losing to him was a lot like being on the sidelines the Saturday after Thanksgiving when his alma mater, Holy Cross ran up against Boston College. Even if the odds were against you, the effort was always there to put a winning point across.

A week earlier, he had fought to protect the FinCom's veto power on money articles at other than regular town meetings and lost.

He disliked the decision greatly, and the pleasant words Monday night sort of salved that loss.

Byrne has been interested in Andover's municipal operations for some time. He was a candidate for selectman one year and has served with several civic associations in addition to his FinCom service.

He succeeded Dr. Albert Greenberg as chairman of the FinCom and Monday night, when his term had come to an end, Byrne said he never realized how much work was involved.

He described the work of his colleagues on the committee as industrious and co-operative. Despite differences of opinion on issues, there was always rapport, he said.

An engineer with Raytheon Company, Byrne, after graduating from Holy Cross, went on to obtain a Master's Degree from Boston State College and has taken additional graduate courses.

Prior to joining Raytheon, he had been a teacher in the Chelmsford school system.

He has agreed to remain a member of the Finance Committee for another six months to assist the new chairman and new members who will find him a taskmaster for detail.

The novice FinCom members could do worse than pick up the Byrne attribute about being deadly serious about their responsibility to watch over the town finances.

Founders Day Observed By Beta Sigma Phi

Beta Sigma Phi, a social, cultural and service organization for women, plans the celebration of Founder's Day. The organization has 250,000 members in 10,500 Chapters organized in 24 countries of the free world. The organization is not connected with any school or college. It is non-political and non-sectarian. The keynote of Beta Sigma Phi is friendship.

Chapters of five different degrees meet the growing needs of various age groups. Members are active in small Chapter groups and each Chapter adapts the plans for social, civic, and service and cultural activities to fit the interests of its own members.

When Beta Sigma Phi events or civic endeavors are larger than one Chapter can plan alone, all Chapters in a city or area may combine their strength. There are State Conventions each year which any member may attend.

Internationally the Chapters have created three special funds: The International Loan Fund, through which members help one another; the International Endowment Fund, through which vast sums have been donated to cancer research, cystic fibrosis, homes for under-privileged children, and many other causes; and the Exemplar Fund, which helps to support Literacy Village in India.

Outstanding projects and activities of the local Chapters are the Pink Champagne Ball to benefit Cerebral Palsy Clinic and a Telephone Bridge for the benefit of the Heart Fund.

The Founder's Day celebration on May 1 at the Lanam Club marked the 43rd Anniversary of the founding. The organization was founded in Abilene, Kansas, by Walter W. Ross. The Anniversary was observed by the three Chapters in Andover hosted by Preceptor Zeta Chapter, and by all Chapters around the world.

Mrs. George F. Farrell was Chairman of the Founder's Day activities. The toastmistress for the evening was Mrs. George Ainscow. Other members taking part in the program were the presidents and vice-presidents of the other Chapters.

Mrs. J. Duncan Black was selected for the honor of presenting a special message from the sorority's President. She received the message from the World Headquarters in Kansas City, Missouri. Awards were presented to local members and outstanding members were recognized.

Dig Dandelions?

Spring has really come to these parts when dandelion greens are on the produce counters, as they are this week, says the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture (MDA). Lawn freaks greet this annual news with sneers as they watch the rascals pop up before the grass greens, and with complete astonishment as they see others buying them for food.

But the dandelion - - cultivated for centuries in Europe and Asia, and increasingly as a cash crop in the U.S. - is one of those plants that supplies both food and drink. You can eat the greens raw, as a salad; cooked, as a vegetable; mixed, as in a delicious omelet; fermented, as a wine that most nearly resembles champagne.

If your objective is the wine, you'll have to dig them yourself. It is simply made, but from the flowers only. The commercial grower markets only the greens, which are packaged by the pound, and priced quite reasonably at supermarkets and roadside stands right now.

A despised weed it may be to some, but the dandelion - - the name is a literal translation from the Latin meaning "Lion's tooth," for its sharply serrated leaves - - provides more vitamin A than lettuce, and as B, C and B-complex. The best are large, tender, fresh green plants, picked before they flower.

Available from the MDA are some Earth Day recipes for dandelion salad, scrambled eggs a la dandelion, dandelion coffee - - and, of course, dandelion flower wine. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to MDA Division of Markets, 100 Cambridge St., Boston 02202.

Fresh, native rhubarb is also arriving in the market, says the MDA, and it's another sure sign of spring. It will become more plentiful as the days lengthen, and continue well into late spring.

Rhubarb from Bay State growers is tart-sweet and juicy, makes truly delicious sauces and pies. Look for stalks that are red or bright pink, and fairly thick; they should be firm and crisp. A little sugar will tame the sharpest rhubarb for a very pleasing flavor. Rhubarb juice - usually discarded when straining to desired thickness - - makes a different appetizer.

Many of our Massachusetts roadside farm stands are now open.

House, Garden Tour Set

The Governor Dummer Allies will hold a House and Garden tour on Saturday, May 18, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. for the benefit of the Scholarship Fund.

Founded in 1763, Governor Dummer Academy, Byfield, is the oldest boys boarding school in the United States, now co-ed. Many early Academy buildings will be open including the original school house built for Master Moody in 1761 and containing the original furniture and Master Moody's desk.

The Mansion House built in 1712 by Lt. Gov. William Dummer for his bride. Many generations of Headmasters and their families have enjoyed the beautifully proportioned rooms with their fine paneling. The Morgan Tower on the school grounds was built as a replica of Carl Jung's study in Switzerland. It contains an unusual art collection and unique carvings. Stop here a moment and enjoy the peaceful view of the Parker River as it winds its way through the marshes. The Boynton House is owned by the Academy. It is a stately double chimney Georgian dwelling built in 1764 and contains fine paneling, many fireplaces, and a beautifully carved staircase. There will be a display of art and crafts here. Stonewall Farm is approached through the marshes over Thorlay's Bridge, which has been in continuous use for over three centuries. A panoramic view of the Parker River is seen through large glass windows. The main portion of the house was dragged over the frozen marshes by a ten yoke oxen team from Newbury 100 years ago. A happy example of old and new.

The Riverview farm house is a 1728 saltbox. This is a working farm and there will be exhibits of wool spinning from the home flock and a log house under construction using early methods and tools. The Saunders House is an early 18th Century center chimney country house. Exposed hand hewn oak and pine beams and white plaster walls give a primitive character to this simple dwelling - includes hall stenciling, painted chests, fine fireplace paneling and needlework tapestry. The Lacey House built in 1967 is a twin chimney reproduction colonial home. The plan is that of an 18th century dwelling house with a spacious central hall adapted and expanded for a contemporary family.

Again, fine views of the marshes and river. For holders of Sponsors tickets only, the Wild Flower Sale

Finding plants for the wild flower garden or just to naturalize in the woods or fields is often very difficult. For people who are interested in this sort of gardening, Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary is sponsoring a wild plant sale on Wednesday morning, May 8, from 10 to 12 at the Sanctuary Barn in Topsfield. Gardeners are asked to bring surplus plants for the sale, the proceeds from which will be used to purchase rare species for the Sanctuary Wild Flower Garden.

Spencer - Pierce - Little House. This Elizabethan Manor House was built on a King's land grant in 1635. The Architecture of this 17th century first period stone manor house is unique in New England. Tea will be served. Tickets may be purchased on May 18 at the Academy in Byfield or any of the houses on the tour, with the exception of the Spencer - Pierce - Little House.

Newcomers Luncheon, Installation

The Newcomer's Club of Andover - North Andover will hold its annual May luncheon and installation of officers Tuesday, May 14, at the Lanam Club, North Main Street, Andover.

The affair will begin at 12 o'clock with sherry and hot hors d'oeuvres, followed by luncheon of chicken divan or baked stuffed fillet of sole.

Mrs. Michael Foske, outgoing president, has requested members to make their reservations early, along with their luncheon choices, by calling Mrs. Raymond Nash of Andover. Reservations for babysitting services may be made with Mrs. Thomas Walsh of North Andover. Deadline for both is Thursday, May 9.

Mrs. Ernest Flewellin of Andover, first vice-president, is in charge of arrangements for the luncheon.

Take Honors In Flower Show

The Four Seasons Garden Club of Andover won a first place award for their entry in the Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute, and the Northern and Northeastern Districts of the Massachusetts Garden Club Federation Show held on Saturday and Sunday, April 27 and 28 at Hathorne.

Classified under Miniature Gardens and entitled "You are My Sunshine" the exhibit, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Warren Oldaker, Mrs. Ariel George, Mrs. John Webster and Mrs. Alexander Schott, featured an herb and salad vegetable garden with most of the planting material grown by club members.

Rows of vegetables and related herbs were attractively arranged in an 8x8 triangle backed by a natural stockade fence. A raised planting bed bordered by bricks contained a miniature orange tree, a strawberry jar filled with large strawberry plants, a large rosemary plant, scented geraniums, tomato and borage plants.

A trellis placed alongside one section of the fence held a large hanging basket of blooming nasturtiums and climbing Euonymus adorned both sides of the trellis. Another large basket of hanging nasturtium, complemented the remaining section of fence.

Assisting the above committee were club members: Mrs. Harry Church, Mrs. Harry Collins, Mrs. William McKissack, Mrs. Laurence VerPlanck, Mrs. Kenneth Suhr, Mrs. Henry Corcoran and Mrs. Michele Sapuppo.

A combined total of nine ribbons in various classes in horticulture were also won by club members Mrs. Robert Jergen and Mrs. John Webster.

Other area clubs participating were the Andover Garden Club, the North Andover Garden Club and the West Newbury Garden Club.

Michelin ZX steel-belted radials roll more easily than conventional bias ply tires. You go further for longer and use less gas on the way than with conventional tires.

The steel-belted radial construction of the Michelin ZX reduces rolling resistance, making it easier for your car's engine to push you along. Less power is needed so less gas is used. You get measurable gas savings.

Michelin's steel-belted radial construction also provides stabilized tread distribution so tread wears evenly — lasts thousands of miles longer than conventional bias ply tires.

Pianist At Castle

On Saturday, May 4, at 8 p.m. Ted Schempp will be performing at the Hammond Castle. Mr. Schempp will be the first pianist ever to be presented in concert in the distinguished great hall of the castle. However, when the late John Hays Hammond, Jr. was living, many of the great pianists visited him and gave private concerts.

Mr. Schempp's concert will include many of his own compositions as well as pieces from both classical and contemporary periods. Mr. Schempp is keenly interested in the blending of both piano and voice. He feels the Great Hall of the castle is ideal for his program, both acoustically and aesthetically, with the setting lending itself to a fully mystical experience for performer and audience.

For reservations for Ted Schempp's piano-voice concert at the Hammond Castle on Saturday, May 4, telephone the box office of the castle.
